DISEASE ARRESTED IN 3,000

Quarantined in 1,000 Cases, 600 Under Treatment, While 300 Have Died

Washington—Among the vast enterprises which engaged the attention of our government during the last few years the physical reconstruction of our soldiers who saw service abroad...

These victims of the dreaded white plague have been treated by the most efficient modern methods in the great army hospitals which were established in different parts of the country.

The physical health of the men taken to select non but actual men, the influenza epidemic, resulted in the development of tuberculosis in a great many of our soldiers...

While many of the men who had been caused really became victims of the disease, moreover, the constant march on rainy days in Europe, the mud, the cold, the lack of food, the lack of shelter, the lack of medical attention, all ready factor in the outbreak of tuberculosis.

Some of these officers are housed in plaster cast on account of spinal trouble. All are engaged in something to do with their own hands...

Two Main Hospitals. The main hospital for the treatment of tuberculosis at present is at Denver and Oteen, United States General Hospital No. 10 in the case of Oteen, which was established in 1917.

At Oteen, which was established in 1917, there are 1,000 beds for the treatment of tuberculosis. The hospital is situated on a hillside overlooking the city of Oteen, N. C.

When the hospital was built in the fall of 1917 a Western specialist in tuberculosis was invited to the hospital to advise on the construction of the hospital.

Many difficulties in the way of providing an environment for the tuberculous were encountered at first. One of the most important was the amount of money available for the construction of the hospital.

Not Enough Money for Food. Colonel Lytner's representations to the war department resulted in the

TO LET HUSBAND STARVE

LONDON, August 22.—A "diaper" love affair between a young man and the young wife of Thomas, county lord mayor of Cork, today concurred in his self-imposed sentence of starvation.

The meeting of husband and wife in Dublin today when MacDonogh was fast working from the effects of a hunger strike, was intensely dramatic.

Mrs. MacDonogh, after a fruitless attempt yesterday to induce officials of the health department to release the lord mayor under a hunger strike, today sought his liberty direct from Edward Short, secretary of state for home affairs. Short refused to interfere.

The distraught young women then went to the prison to beseech her husband to give up his hunger strike. The lord mayor, who had been confined to his cell in his determination not to yield, in a tense scene, during which Mrs. MacDonogh went brokenly to her husband and begged him not to oppose his resolve, to go without food "until relieved by death."
