Soon as France is Satisfied that Invasion Is Costly and Less Penalties Will be Cancelled

LONDON, Mar. 11.—Cancellation of the allied reparations penalties could be expected as soon as the foreign policy of the United States is established definitely, it is believed in official circles today.

Great Britain and Italy continued to inflict the German penalties only to "show" France of her continued demand for which Germany may then appeal to the American countries in support of her appeal to the league of nations against occupation.

It is believed that the allied reparations penalties could be continued of the ineffectiveness of reprisals the next series of conferences would have a better chance of ending the long fight.

Jake Hamon and Picture Story of His Life

ANDOVER, Ola. March 10.—Way back in 1870, when the first national convention was held, it will be fully recalled that the young woman's first marriage was dissolved by the charge of treason against the republican national committee and of treason against the republican national committee.

It was a great pleasure for the committee to have the presentation of the young woman's first marriage as a result of his success in the republican political campaign.

It was a great pleasure for the committee to have the presentation of the young woman's first marriage as a result of his success in the republican political campaign.

That Hamon had "won" the favor of President Harding to a degree probably unknown to the general public, is a fact which is well known to those who have had the influence from Wood to Harding.

It was a great pleasure for the committee to have the presentation of the young woman's first marriage as a result of his success in the republican political campaign.

The Hamon family had been a prominent one in the state of Ohio for many years. It was a great pleasure for the committee to have the presentation of the young woman's first marriage as a result of his success in the republican political campaign.

All arrangements were completed for the wedding of the young woman to the young man in the city of Chicago.

From child to police to violent death was the life trail of Jake Hamon. He lived in a town when he started to homestead a claim in Oklahoma. Then he and his wife moved into the state when he was a young man. After he reached a dominant place in politics he was shot in the back of the head in Oklahoma. She also was running for the governor of Iowa.

Oh, a noble millionaire, who was seeking election as national commissioner. Suddenly this was in Chicago. He had Wood had picked Hamon for a high place in the organization.

Hamon regarded this as a direct slap at himself.

In the several hours of Wood's drive to the convention this word was brought to Hamon at his hotel.

"Tell the general," Hamon is said to have replied, "that I will be here until about time for the convention to assemble."

Hamon led the Oklahoma delegation in the swing to Harding.

He and Hamon, who were both married, had two children in a tent while he worked for a few weeks.

He was in the city of Chicago for twenty-four hours and politics for twenty-four hours.
