TRIPLE ALLIES DISAPPROVE OF MINERS STAND

England Breathes Relief at Re-prise From Industrial Struggle Today

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Industrial production in Great Britain was revived almost at the first instant today when the triple alliance of miners, strikers and coal miners.

Declaring the miners were "not prepared to resume work until they had secured satisfaction with railway workers, railway and transport workers called off their respective strikes."

The decision came after hours of suspense which one time all hope of peace was lost.

"Ireland, Spain, Greece appeared to be the best of companies and it is probable that the miners had returned to regular production on the terms suggested by the triple alliance."

"The fact the miners fighting alone for their demands. These were regarded as more political than industrial. Miners ask that mining be throughout the nation, be postponed until a national wage board is established."

"The triple alliance demanded settlement of these two demands before doing work."
