HARDING CALLS DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE

RIOTS KEEP BELFAST IN DISRUPTION

De Valera Heads Delegation to London; Peace Parley Starts Thursday

BELFAST, July 11.—Violence and disorder continued in the north of Ireland up to the very hour the truce went into effect at noon today.

The morning mail train en route from Belfast to Londonderry was derailed near Carrickmore, in Tyrone. The crew was held up and the cars burned.

The rioting in Belfast, which broke out Saturday night and continued until suppressed by the military last night, was renewed this morning. There were sporadic outbursts in various parts of the city which continued until nearly noon. In one melee a bread wagon was burned, its driver beaten.

In addition to the 14 persons killed and 106 injured, it was stated that 200 were rendered homeless by fires.

DUBLIN, July 11.—As the clocks of Dublin struck the hour of noon today, the sound of their bells was drowned in the roar of flags unfurled that welcomed the truce between the British forces and the Sinn Feiners.

Citizens gathered excitedly on the corners. Shortly after 12 o'clock when the armistice became effective a group of unarmed black and tans strolled from their barracks. In a few moments they were fraternizing with the people, talking eagerly about prospects of permanent peace.

The soldiers' long conspicuous lightness in the streets disappeared today and in the places of the sentries with fixed bayonets, peaceful looking policemen paced their beats.

DUBLIN, July 11.—The Sligo Pilot pennce delegation, headed by Eamon De Valera, will leave for London tomorrow, it was officially announced here this afternoon. In addition to De Valera, the delegation will consist of Arthur Griffith and Messrs. Black and Barton. The latter two are members of the Dail Eireann.

LONDON, July 11.—Irish peace negotiations will open Thursday, Premier Lloyd George, president of the "Irish republic" today notified Premier Lloyd George that he would come to London on that date to begin the important conference.

Lloyd George had telegraphed De Valera asking the latter to name the date, this week, when he and any of his colleagues could come to London. The Irish leader's telegraphed reply was received shortly before noon.

JURORS HAVE INTEREST IN PENDING CASE

Entire Panel Gets Discharge; Send to Bull for Others; Fraud Is Claim.

Because every member of the jury was interested in a financial way, the entire panel was discharged by Judge W. A. Babcock during forenoon session this morning, at the conclusion of the examination by attorneys in the case of J. H. Wise, trustee, against Quincie Foster, Ida J. Foster, his wife, and J. W. Kohr, his father in law. Attorney Wise, the plaintiff, is trustee for the banks in Twin Falls, Kimberly and Filer, all of which are interested, and as all the jurors had deposits ranging from $0 cents upward in one or other of the banks it was held that the relation of debtor and creditor existed between the banks and the personnel of the panel. Judge Babcock ordered the drawing of a special venire from Hunt and as this was the last jury case for the term, the whole panel was discharged. The second jury was called for 2 o'clock and lawyers hope to fill the box from the list.

Issues in Case

Allegations of misrepresentation constituting technical fraud is claimed by the defendant in the case. The case was originally went by default but rehearing was granted. Quincie Foster was engaged in farming on a large scale and got into debt to the Twin Falls Bank & Trust company. His father-in-law, Kohr, went on his note to the extent of more than $7000. Foster asked for more credit, it while passing on the question of extending this, the Bank & Trust discovered that he also owed other banks in the places named, making obligations over $15,000. It was agreed that an assignment of the notes should be made to Attorney J. H. Wise, in consideration of an extension of credit to further amount of $5000.

Foster claims that at this time false representations were made to him.

Walters, Hodgin & Bailey represent plaintiff and Wolfe, Martin & Wade the defendants.

Two mortgages are involved.

BUYS RIGHT OF WAY

The Twin Falls district highway board has closed the agreement with Mrs. Bernard Kinkaid for a right of way through the 5-acre there. The matter of an addit of books was laid on the table for the present.

CLAIMS NO CAUSE OF ACTION

OGDEN MAN IS SPEAKER FOR KIWANIS CLUB

Sugar Company Official Is Admirer of Tract; Urges Diversified Farming

C. A. Boyden of the Amalgamated Sugar Company with headquarters in Ogden was the principal speaker at the Kiwanis club luncheon today. Mr. Boyden stated that the Twin Falls tract was the richest district in all the west. He stated that Cache Valley had boasted as being the richest spot in Utah and yet this great tract would swallow several such valleys and never gulp. He told a number of stories and brought greetings from the Ogden business men to the Kiwanis club.

He urged that more diversified farming be followed in this tract and that the dairying industry be developed as a means of helping this splendid community. He stated that his company was anxious to have as many sugar beets grown as possible and yet he wanted the farmers here to diversify their farming because it would make conditions better for all concerned. He spoke of other sections which had diversified farming and these farmers had a steady income the year around instead of having an income at only one season of the year.

President R. J. Ostrander presided and told briefly of his trip to California and spoke of the many sign posts which were noted along the highways in southern California.

The club voted to hold their outing at the natatorium one week from tonight.

Committee reports and other suggestions were made by various members during the balance of the time.

Briton Hears From Twin Falls and Is Anxious to Find Out

George C. Worters, of Uplands, Rotherfield, Sussex, England, wants to know something of Twin Falls. He knows that we have a farm "burned here and in a letter received by Colin Armstrong, of Twin Falls, they began to talk about the Twin Falls tract. Mr. Worters is anxious to get stamps for a copy of the "Farm Service News."

How he came to hear of or from Twin Falls, the letter does not indicate.

Why Keep Stamps

Why he sent United States stamps or how he got them is another puzzle. According to instructions of Mr. Worters, foreign stamps are not used here, as they will not pass. The arrangement of the International Postal Union an order for stamps can be sent to a foreign country. The stamps secured thereby. The first order of the sort received here during the term of Mr. Stronk was received for the benefit announcement. The stamps on the outside of the Briton's letter were, of course, English.

O. S. L. REFUSES ALL VOLUNTARY HAY REDUCTION

Rejects Request I. C. C. on Hay; Reuses Wants Spud Drop; Situation Bad

PRIEST INTERPRETS FOR REEVES—DENIES HE RECOMMENDS CUT

A dash of cold water was thrown today to the spud growers who had hoped for a potato rate reduction in consequence of the supposed recommendation of a lower freight rate from J. A. Reeves, when Joel Priest, general freight agent of the Oregon Short Line construed the position of Reeves and explained that his meaning was misunderstood by George E. Erb, president of the public utilities commission, who said that Reeves had actually telegraphed it, M. Adams recommending the rate cut. Priest said that Reeves did not recommend a reduction at this time.

NOISE—That the railroads have refused the formal request of the interstate commerce commission, made because of the plea of Idaho public utilities commission for a reduction on hay rates; that the commission must know a cut a regular hearing provided the evidence taken at Twin Falls is thought sufficient to call one; that the National Hay association is urging the spuds to voluntarily agree to a reduction; that Reeves refused to the interstate commerce commission, and to the public utilities commission; that a hearing granted now would not get in date in time to help move the crop for the present year, and that unless a lower rate shall be granted no hay will be moved and hay growers if not the entire state will go into bankruptcy, are facts ascertained from official sources here. In the meantime the fact that the rate on potatoes is so high as to prevent shipments, thus destroying any opportunity for the people to earn anything shipping them, has aroused J. A. Reeves, freight traffic manager, to agree to co-operate with public utilities commission in endeavoring to secure a voluntary reduction on the hay rate.

Rail Rate Says Cannot Be

Miles Cannon, state commissioner of agriculture, speaking of the condition says:

"Unless we are given a reduction in freight rates on hay, Idaho will go bankrupt. The condition in the state of Idaho is the worst in the west. 2,000,000 tons of alfalfa that will have to be shipped if it is used. Under the present rates the best will that the farmer can possibly make will cost him a ton of 20 cents a ton.

Sends Relief Broadside

George E. Erb, president of the public utilities commission referring to the matter says:

"We have little hope of a rate reduction that will help our producers this year, although we are using every possible force to bring about such action."

WORLD CRISIS SAYS SPEAKER

Dr. Mecklenburg at M. E. Church Warns Christianity Must Take Aggressive.

Dr. Geo Mecklenburg, executive secretary of the Methodist church for the Idaho district, delivered a powerful address at the Twin Falls church yesterday. Rev. Edgar L. Wiant, pastor of the local church, in presenting Dr. Mecklenburg stated that he was the youngest minister in the United States to his knowledge who had raised such large sums of money for church and mission work. Mecklenburg stated in his opening remarks that he felt that he was responsible as much as any other man for Dr. White being called to this district.

Dr. Mecklenburg complimented the local congregation on their beautiful sanctuary and the many floral decorations and the beauty and simplicity of their service. In part he spoke as follows on the subject, "Christianity and the World Crises."

"The world is in ferment, in the melting pot, sputtering, erupting, exploding. More is at stake than ever before.

"If the forces now in action are allowed to operate unhindered we shall have a universal war within seven years which will pale into insignificance the last World War.

"The world is at the Cross Roads of the Centuries and must now decide whether we shall go forward to a higher Christian civilization or recede into thousand years into barbarism."

"I have tried to probe deep into the cause of America's trouble and I have come to the conclusion that we shall never be happy and prosperous till we put God back into everyday American life.

Whole sections of American life have practically forgotten God. Every civilization before us has been destroyed when God was forgotten.

"The church should preach a great world dynamic theology these days. Any religion which is not world wide in its scope is incomplete.

"Christianity needs to be internationalized—but internationalism needs to be christianized. The outstanding feature of the nineteenth century was the development of sharp national boundary lines and sharp national hatreds. This led to the world war. The outstanding feature of the next century should be a development of international goodwill.

"The outstanding force working for good will among the nations is the interdenominational force of the Christian church. Foreign nations know the good side of American life through the missionary hospitals, colleges, churches. He relieves famine. He does real unselfish work. He lays

WANT WOOD IN MANILA

MANILA, P. I., July 11.—American exports in the Philippines are planning to make the immediate request of President Harding that General Leonard Wood be appointed governor general of the Philippine Islands.

The Americans here genuinely believe that General Wood is the only man who is thoroughly enough acquainted with conditions for the islands to direct the government in the present financial crisis.

FIVE POWERS INVITED; ENTHUSIASM IS SHOWN

Britain Virtually Accepts and Others Are Expected to Follow Suit France, Italy, Japan and China Are Included.

WASHINGTON, July 11. Approximately $11,000,000,000 has been appropriation for extension of the naval programs by the five countries, which are expected to discuss disarmament, Harding today disclosed. The United States leads with $3,000,000,000.

Great Britain is second with $4,000,000,000; Japan is third, with $2,000,000,000; France is fourth with $1,500,000,000, and Italy is fifth with $1,000,000,000.

Completion of the present building programs will show the five countries named on the scales as follows:

Great Britain, 955 ships; United States, 60 ships; Japan 221; France 253; Italy 246.

LONDON, July 11.—World peace depends more upon friendly co-operation between the United States and Great Britain than any other single factor, Premier Lloyd George declared in addressing the house of commons this afternoon.

The premier made this assertion during a speech in which he virtually accepted the Great Britain the invitation of President Harding to participate in a disarmament conference.

"The first principle of our policy is friendly co-operation with the United States," he said. "I am convinced that upon that more than any other single factor depends the peace of the world."

The premier said that, "we also desire to maintain our friendship with Japan."

"The Anglo-Japanese alliance not only is of great benefit to ourselves but to the peace of the Far East," he said. "The alliance remains in force and will lapse only 12 months after it is denounced."

"It is the desire of the British empire and Japan that the agreement shall be brought into complete accord with the league of nations covenant, which prevails wherever inconsistencies occur."

PARIS, July 11.—The French government has taken under advisement President Harding's proposal for a disarmament conference, it was learned here this afternoon.

Selden A. Whitehouse, American charge d' affaires, called at the foreign office on instructions from Washington to ascertain the French attitude.

The foreign office advised Whitehouse that a reply would be made later. The indications are that France will make reservations—owing to the proximity of Germany—if the conference should consider land disarmament.

LONDON, July 11.—Great Britain, through Premier Lloyd George, this afternoon virtually accepted Harding's invitation to participate in a disarmament conference.

Addressing the house of commons, Lloyd George said he "welcomed with the utmost pleasure" Harding's "wise and courteous initiative."

"No effort will be lacking on the part of the British empire," to make the proposed conference a success, Lloyd George said.

The Harding proposal has inspired genuine enthusiasm throughout the country, which is reflected in the press.

King George and Harvey are understood to have discussed the disarmament situation at a state dinner Thursday.

In dominion circles today it was frankly admitted that Premier Meighen of Canada had definitely upset any plans the government might have had for even conditional renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

The Weekly Nation issued the following warning:

"Canada will soon have her own ambassador in Washington and her own representative in Geneva. She is unwilling to imperil American friendship by following a Japanese policy which the United States would resent. We believe American friendship to be worth many times more than the very doubtful Japanese affections. The risk of driving Canada to assert her independence would prevent renewal of the alliance."

WASHINGTON, July 11.—This government expects a favorable response from all five nations which received tentative invitations to a disarmament conference in Washington.

The belief was expressed in a highly authoritative quarter today that all the powers invited will send representatives to discuss a cut in the world's armies and navies and to settle questions bearing on the Pacific and Far Eastern problems.

That such an international gathering will "secure the peace of the world" was the sentiment of an official in emphasizing the importance of the step the administration has taken.

It was also learned, why, the proposal for the conference was broadened to include land as well as naval armaments; why decisions other than the United States, Great Britain and Japan will be invited; why the Pacific and Far Eastern problems were included, and it was intimated that many of the obstacles heretofore appearing in the way of disarmament may be wiped out before the conference actually meets.

Officials also said, they are not yet clear as to just how soon the conference can be put under day or how it will be organized.

It was pointed out that the question of naval and land armaments would not be considered, that the principal naval powers were to get together, the question of land armaments being left to the conference which would convene soon after accepting the invitations issued from Washington.

CARAVAN HEAD SENDS ANSWER TO INVITATION

Will Be Glad to Stop for Dip —and Entertainment If Found Possible

Extending thanks for invitation to visit Twin Falls and for the swim at the natatorium, and giving assurance that word as to whether it will be possible to accept or not will be forwarded before leaving New York for the west end project on July 20, W. D. Scott, manager of the Modern Caravan, in a letter received by H. E. Powers, declares that it is yet impossible to say whether it will be possible to stop here in pursuance of the invitation promised. The letter, which dated June 30, at Brooklyn, indicates that further word would be mailed in about 10 days, as it is thought likely that final answer is now on the way.

The letter follows:

Brooklyn, N. Y., June 30, 1921.

Mr. H. E. Powers,
County Agricultural Agent,
University of Idaho,

Furthermore, it was especially ordered that you be thanked for your cordial invitation to bathe in your natatorium and enjoy the entertainment your letter suggests, but of which we cannot advise definitely for another ten days. For "Modern Caravan" Members.

Developments Since.

At the time that the above letter was sent it was not definitely known whether the caravan would come through Twin Falls or not. Since that time the matter has been taken up by the Chamber of Commerce and a letter is expected in a day or so, in which it is hoped assurances will be forthcoming that the caravan can take advantage of Twin Falls hospitality and enjoy the natatorium.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and luster to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. LOCAL ALL-STARS GIVE KIMBERLY CLUB FIRST BEATING; SCORE 8-TO 0

Moreley's Great Pitching Backed up by Brilliant Fielding and Savage Batting; Whitzel Goes on Batting Rampage; Big Crowd.

Some 150 carloads of Twin Falls fans who went to Kimberly yesterday had their suspicions confirmed. Twin Falls has a ball club. It gave Kimberly her first taste of defeat in a big league exhibition that ended 8 to 0, favorable to the All Stars.

Moreley, the smoke ball pitcher of the locals, held the Kimberly club across his knee while his mates did the spanking. In both respects the job was thoroughly done. It was an all-around well balanced display of tight pitching, snappy fielding and hard hitting that stamps the All Stars as one of the strongest clubs ever turned out by this municipality.

Moreley's day's work consisted of a two-bit game, with eleven strikeouts. He fanned five passes, probably because he needed more for work to keep him in trim and give him wind and control. But nothing came of these gifts as Moreley usually piled them off the base after he arrived.

The only time the plate was threatened was when Thompson, the Kimberly catcher came home with a run. Twin Falls uniform will be remembered, busted one for three bases at the start of the eighth. The challenge was accepted by the All Stars who showed what they could do in a pinch. Moreley struck out Claiborne for the first out. Riley bit a grounder to Thompson, casually tagging the runner at the plate. Moreley then fanned Halsey. Stuff was off.

Bob Whitzel's four knocks in five trips to the plate is mentioned including one homer and a double, was a sample of the miserable life led by Kimberly boxmen. The Stars accumulated 14 blows in all.

During the first three innings it was a beautiful pitching battle between Moreley and Thompson. Both have a lot of speed and neither spared their tires. In the fourth Twin Falls broke through for one run and in the fifth they added two more, Whitzel starting the round with his circuit poke.

The smell of blood sent the local gang crazy and in the sixth they whaled Thompson out of the box. Lemp, the 6-ft pitcher, waded into the middle of the slaughter and succeeded in quelling it after three more runs had scampered. He shut out the All Stars in the 7th and 8th and Thompson then ventured back into the box for the 9th, getting by without more difficulty.

"Among the wealth of fielding features that marked the contest there was one that stood out boldly. It came in the first. With a runner on first, a Kimberly batter sent a scorcher to Wilson, playing third for Twin Falls came in on the run with Moreley's heave. The bunt flipped into the air, making a ticklish job of shoestring fielding. Wilson came under it on the gallop and whipped the ball to first doubling the runner. This play put the Stars off on the right foot and they thereafter overrighted that Kimberly offered them during the rest of the game.

GIANTS-YANKS MUST WHIP UP

NEW YORK, July 11.—Gotham's hopes, the Giants and Yankees, will have to do some hustling if they are to get anything better than a runner up out of the world series money.

The Yankees have just about come and as a result of wasted chances and opportunities the Giants and Yanks are both three and back-ball games behind the two leaders with no immediate prospects of improving.

Following the miserable showing of the Yanks against the White Sox, New York fans just about forsaken the American leaguers and is looking to the Giants to bring the series to the Polo grounds.

The Yanks have the failing of cleaning up on the first class clubs and losing to the second, eating cream puff when the going is rough for the leaders.

Much of the blame is being attached by the fans to Miller Huggins, a manager who has never been popular. Although there is no official foundation for the belief, the bugs are expecting a boss shakeup to make a switch in the management.

Pittsburgh, now leading the National league, has an easier road ahead than the Giants. The Pirates finish the season with a long stay at home and although the figures do not show it, Pittsburgh is especially partial to the Polo grounds. The Giants have to finish the season on the road.

John McGraw, boss of the Giants, who still hands the orders from the bench, is showing signs of a realization that something has to be done. His latest trade, Monday and Winters for Ged Causey, the Philadelphia hurler, means that the Giant infielders is not satisfied with his play.

Good results of the trade which brought Johnny Rawlings to second base from the Phillies are apparent. The whole infield looks better and Rawlings is playing a great game.

Neither Pittsburgh nor Cleveland, the two league leaders, are showing any signs of cracking. This is true especially of Cleveland, which thrived on the ability of the great Speaker to weather any storm after a series of a way of accidents and erratic work of the pitchers. Both are playing real baseball and that explains it.

From the number of people Mrs. Eva Kuder is said to have implored to murder her husband she might have used a want-ad to advantageously. However, in this case we could not recommend The Times. Ours isn't that kind of a circulation, thank you.

Reports that pulpit shortages, dwindling congregations and contributions are forcing church consolidations in many eastern rural communities should be taken with a grain of salt, according to a prominent church executive who visited Twin Falls yesterday. Such reports savor of propaganda, he asserts, either on the part of enemies of religion or even from church workers who may be engaged in that form of occupation and desirous of promoting such movements.

HABITS

A railroad crossing watchman at West Chester, Pa., has worn two deep round holes in the brick pavement where he stands duty, by constant tapping with his heavy walking stick during four years.

We think any preacher in Twin Falls could use this as a text for a sermon on "Habit." Habits are like the stick tapping the brick. They bore into your character and finally the little holes become great cavities into which you fall.

INSTINCT

Many a parent in Twin Falls has grieved at a seeming delinquency in the conduct of his or her child.

These parents can get comfort from Dr. T. B. Birch of Wittenberg college.

He says stealing, and then lying about the thefts are natural traits in children.

There is no inherent sense of right and wrong in a child's mind. Parents should bear this in mind and, following the suggestion of Dr. Birch, teach their children not only that stealing and lying are wrong, but also that they "can't get away with it."

THE IRISH TRUCE

The dove of peace must tremble a little as it settles in Ireland. It could be excused, in truth, for declining to unpack its things and feel at home in its Dublin flat until it sees just what the Tuned lord may do.

There is a crushing silence in the Emerald Isle today. The Irish, likewise, could be excused if they jump when someone drops a pin.

Americans will watch with close interest the progress of the peace parley. The great sympathy for the struggling nation in this country will be directed toward the hope for a quick agreement upon the honorable terms which it is certain the indomitable Irish will insist upon.

VIEWPOINT.

Judge Nathan Smith, senator from Connecticut, was said to be "of the old school in his dress; a remnant of that race of men, the very form and fashion of whom are a passport to deference and respect; his white hair well powdered, a handsome blue coat with shining gilt buttons; drab hersaymere breeches, and top boots, the clean white tops of which were well contrasted by the elaborate black polish of the legs."

That was when he died in 1815.

One doubts if this fashion, worn on the street today, would win either deference or respect.

ANGLO-JAP ALLIANCE

It seems pretty certain that the British-Japanese alliance is to be renewed with modifications. Though the precise nature of these modifications has not been made public there is little doubt that their purpose is to make it more certain that the treaty can in no way disturb British relations with the United States.

This has been insisted upon by the premiers of the British dominions, who frankly told the British premier that they considered a continuance of good relations with America of far greater importance than a renewal of the treaty.

The British premier accepted this view.

Those prophets of calamity who have been talking about the probability of a war between America and Japan with Great Britain and her dominions backing the Japanese, have been undone by the events at the imperial conference which has decided the fate of the Anglo-Japanese treaty.

The Woman He Married

By Jane Phelps

Chapter 118

Junior was at home for the long summer vacation. I was delighted to have him. He had grown so manly, and was such a dear thoughtful boy that his company went far toward making me forget my unhappiness when with him.

At first Dick also seemed pleased to have him about, but after one or two tactless remarks Junior made about Juanita, he said to me:

"Your mother wants that she won't like Junior to spend part of his vacation with her. Why not let him go, Oh, I don't know! Later, perhaps."

"Why not, now? Then he can be with us just before he goes back to school."

I saw through Dick's willingness to part with Junior, but as I had no wish that the boy should suspect that more than ordinary friendship existed between his father and Juanita I felt in with the plan.

I felt sure that Dick would have liked me to visit mother also. But I had taken the contract to renovate two houses, so it would have been useless for him to suggest it—as he well knew.

Dick appeared to breathe more freely after Junior departed. He had refrained from visiting Juanita so often while the boy was home, but now he seemed anxious to make up for lost time. He went over almost every day to see her, either in the late afternoon or in the evening. Occasionally I accompanied him, but only when I suggested. He never asked me to go.

The long-but-summer passed slowly. Junior remained with mother until a week before school began, then came back to us. How I loved those seven days with my boy. I had arranged my work so that I might spend all my time with him. Junior urged his father to join us on a picnic, and in a ride over the mountains. But aside from that I do not think he was with Junior at all. He seemed, rather, to avoid being alone with him. I was not displeased. I feared Junior would say something about Juanita that would annoy him.

My boy had taken an intense dislike to the woman who was doing all she could to take his father from me. He absolutely refused to call her "Aunt Nita", as he had formerly, but addressed her as "Juanita", as we all did.

"What makes you pretend, mother?" he asked one day, apropos of nothing.

"I don't know what you mean, dear. Pretend what?"

"Oh, pretend you like Juanita! You know you don't."

"What makes you think I don't like her?"

"I guess I can tell!" was his boyish answer, and I said no more save to laugh at him for having foolish notions in his head. From my perspective he had shown me more cowardice than to let him leave me. I would win Dick back if it were humanly possible. If I did our boy need never know how nearly I had lost him.

Then came a time when I lost heart and courage.

Dick would spend evenings with Juanita, and upon his return look at me so strangely, as if he were trying to say something he knew would hurt me dreadfully, and hadn't the courage. Often he paced the floor of his study all night long. When I spoke of it he made a pretense his story was troubling him, I knew better. Juanita was becoming too strong for him—he could scarcely resist her. But his conscience was troubling him. Of that I was certain. He would not easily succumb to her fascinations, which I always conceded, even to myself, for it meant giving up Junior as well as me.

I would say to myself as I lay wide-eyed in the darkness listening to him walk back and forth, "He is struggling to make himself think he has the right to be happy with her. She has taught him her theories." Then I would pray that she would fail; that God would give him the strength to resist her.

Somehow, I had a feeling that it wasn't a real love that wrecked Dick—love for her. But that it was a sort of hypnotic influence she exerted over him, that drew him against his will—that she forced him—I never doubted.

When a woman loves a man as intensely as I loved Dick it is only natural for her to think that every other woman also finds him desirable. And Dick was really a lovable fellow, still boyish, full of ideals.

Then Juanita had an accident. At least she said it was an accident. Yet in my distress I accused her in my heart of doing it purposely, even though she must have suffered physical pain. But what was bodily pain compared to my heartbreak?

Tomorrow—A False Alarm.

Dr. Chas. Weatherbee has resumed his practice in Twin Falls after an extended post-graduate course in the east and is located over Booth's store.

IT WAS BETTER THAN A CHANGE

Declares Trip to Nevada Did Him No Good but Tanlac Restored Health.

"Since Tanlac relieved me of rheumatism and indigestion, and put me on my feet I feel that I just can't say enough for it," said W. Carson, 1904 Market St., Tacoma.

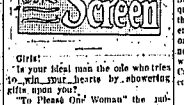
"For several years I had trouble with my stomach. About an hour after a meal I would bloat up with gas and suffer almost unbearable pain in my stomach, and then when I sat down to the table could scarcely eat a thing.

"I was so nervous and restless I got very little sleep. Rheumatism crippled me up so I could hardly get about, and couldn't even take my hands to comb my hair. My whole body was full of aches and pains. I was getting weaker all the time and finally got down to where I was almost past going.

"I took a trip to Nevada, thinking a change of climate might benefit me but it didn't. While there I read about Tanlac and got to taking it and got my appetite into a normal condition almost immediately, and now I can eat anything I want and never suffer a particle afterwards.

"My rheumatism, nervousness and other ills have left me completely, I have gained several pounds in weight and have been built up in strength until my work is easy for me and I am a well man. My wife also has taken Tanlac with excellent results, and we both consider it the best medicine we know of."

Tanlac is sold in Twin Falls by Schramm-Johnson Drug Stores Company.—Advertisement.



Girls!

Is your ideal man the one who tries to win your hearts by showering gifts upon you?

"To Please One Woman" the motion picture coming to the Rialto theater today and tomorrow, portrays the fate such a man meets when the object of his affections is a selfish and unappreciative woman. His efforts to please her only make her more and more unreasonable in her demands. In her quest for pleasure, she dare not hesitate to shatter other people's romances, and her high handed career leaves a wake of unhappiness and intrigue, until at last she meets a fitting reward.

Lois Weber, who produced "To Please One Woman," has achieved a picture of unusual melodramatic strength and revealed some little known facts of our social system as well. Claire Windsor, Monk Hsa, and Edward Burns play the chief roles in the picture, which is a Paramount release.

North Side Settlers Fight Against Sale of Water for New Land

General warning is given everyone not to enter into a contract with the Northside Land & Water Company for certain waters, in the following widely circulated notice:

To Whom It May Concern:

All persons are hereby warned not to enter into contracts with the North Side Canal company, limited, or the Twin Falls North Side Land and Water company, whereby the right to the use of any waters upon the North Side Project, the legal title to which is now held by North Side Canal company, Limited, for the use and benefit of lands of the undersigned and of all persons for whom they act, may be sold or disposed of for the reason that such waters are needed and have been used upon said lands and cannot be disposed of without irreparable injury being done those who rightfully own said waters.

Dated this 29th day of June, 1921.

Signed:

C. U. SCHMIDDALL,
C. E. SHINNIC,
JAMES E. KNOTT,
SAM G. NULPH,
L. E. POOL,
Committee.

Hazelton News Reviews Speaking of this the Hazelton First Segregation News says:

The above five gentlemen were appointed as a committee, at a meeting which was recently held at Eden, by farmers who voted "no" or who did not vote at all at the recent referendum of the North Side Canal company, on the proposition of whether the Twin Falls North Side Land and Water company should be allowed to sell 15,000 additional acres to the North Side project.

The committee was to see what arrangements could be made looking to legal action fighting the result of the referendum. At the meeting a number of farmers signified their willingness to fight the proposition in the courts to the extent of a dollar an acre. Since that time, we understand, that quite a number have signed up with the committee. Fire works are imminent, but just what form they will take or when they are timed to go off is not given out. Probably the first step will be an injunction enjoining the Canal company from entering into a contract with the Water company.

GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, July 11.—Continued pessimistic crop reports caused the grain and provisions on the Chicago board of trade to show some strength today. The advices were only slight and a few of the quotations showed fractional losses. Temperatures over the week end were more moderate but there was very little rain in the northwestern wheat belt or in the southwestern corn growing region. Export demand was fairly heavy. The volume of trade was light. Provisions were irregular.

July wheat opened unchanged at $1.18 and closed off ⅛c; September opened off 1c and closed off ⅛c.

July corn opened off ⅛c at 60c and closed up ⅜c. September opened up ⅛c at 69⅞c and closed up ⅝c.

July oats opened up ⅛c at 35⅞c and closed at ⅛c. September opened up ⅛c at 38⅛c and closed off ⅛c.

MISSOULA, MONT., FOLKS RUN THEIR OWN PAPER

MRS. I. A. M'ALLISTER.

MISSOULA, Mont., July 11.—The voice of the people, by the people, and for the people!

That is the controlling policy of the "New Northwest," new, community daily newspaper which is being published here.

Under its charter society is classified in 13 groups, each of which must be represented on the board of directors. Readers themselves will pick one director, and take a hand in running the sheet.

"The columns of the 'New Northwest,'" says Mrs. I. A. McAllister, board member for professional women, "are open to all within the limitations of space and there is no censorship save that of good taste."

She contends that the national future rests upon freedom to think, to act, and to worship. "A newspaper, to function properly, must stimulate these prerogatives," she says.

"The 'New Northwest' is a paper which owns its own soul and dares to say so. With us there are business men, laborers, farmers, professional people and white collar workers. There are already nearly 400 stockholders.

"The board of directors is pledged to place before readers uncolored facts. We give them credit for having brains enough to think for themselves."

Thus far the paper has been printed in four pages. A jump to twice that size will be made shortly.

the foundations for good will. The missionary preaches the Gospel which is the only sure foundation for any internationalism. He preaches that all races are equal before God. He tells of the infinite value of human beings, and of their infinite possibilities for improvement. Christianity through its missionary propaganda is laying the foundations for a world of peace and gigantic world cooperation for the blessings of humanity. Along this line I see the only hope of saving the world from collapse."

Special music was rendered by the choir under the direction of Harry M. Barratt, who has recently accepted the position as director. Mr. Barratt held several positions of prominence in Salt Lake City before coming to Twin Falls and he and Mrs. F. T. Kellogg rendered a duet, "How Sweet the Name of Jesus Sounds" and Mrs. I. H. Masters sang, "Fear Ye Not Oh Israel," by Dudley Buck.

TWIN FALLS LEADING THE CONGRESSMEN

Covers Ground over Which Joint Investigation Starts Today; Request for Facts.

Investigation into farm conditions, gathering statistics similar to those submitted at the rate hearing in the Parish hall last week, is being conducted by the American Farm bureau association which is asking information from the local bureau to submit to the special agricultural congressional committee which meets in Washington today, according to a letter received by H. E. Powers this morning from J. W. Coverdale, of Chicago, national secretary. Practically the same ground is covered that was covered at the investigation here last week and Mr. Powers will have little trouble in filling out the elaborate blanks presented.

Ten On Committee.

The committee was appointed by President Harding in response to a request through concurrent resolution of both houses. The committee consists of five senators and five representatives. Three of the five in each house are republican and two democratic. The senators are: Irvine L. Lenroot, Wisconsin; Arthur Capper, Kansas; Charles L. McNary, Oregon; Joseph T. Robinson, Arkansas, and Pat Harrison, Mississippi. The representatives are Sydney Anderson, Minnesota; Frank H. Funk, Illinois; Ogden L. Mills, New York; Peter G. Ten Eyck, New York, and Hutton W. Summers, Texas.

The purposes cover a wider field than freights, though there are also considered. The normal returns on farms are figured at 6 per cent, instead of 7 per cent, as set out in the investigation.

Movie Magnates Said Guests at Wine Revel

BOSTON, July 11.—The names of several prominent movie magnates today were dragged into the case of District Attorney Tufts of Middlesex county, whom Attorney General Allen seeks to have removed from office.

Special Assistant Attorney General Henry Hurlbut, making his opening statement to the five supreme court justices who are hearing the case, made the following allegations:

1. That $100,000 "hush money" was extracted from guests who attended a girl and wine dinner at Mishawum Manor, Woburn, to protect them from exposure. It is charged Tufts is involved in this.

2. That the bill for this dinner—$1050—was paid by the Paramount Moving Picture company, which was approved by Hiram Abrams, official of that concern, who, with Adolph Zukor, well known movie magnate, is alleged to have been at the feast.

Hurlburt, in discussing the charge that $100,000 hush money was obtained, told of various checks that changed hands after conferences in which Daniel H. Coakley, prominent Boston attorney, and others were leading figures.

"We are unable to trace any part of the $100,000 directing as having been paid to Tufts, but we will produce evidence which we will say will raise a strong suspicion that he allowed himself to be influenced to held his friend Coakley, to the great injury of the public."

Hurlbut said that the revels at Mishawum Manor followed a dinner at a fashionable Boston hotel in honor of "Fatty" Arbuckle on the night of March 6, 1917. The revels were arranged by some one unknown to him," he said.

Hurlbut asserted that "Brownie" Kennedy, owner of the manor, brought 15 or 16 young girls to the party."
