

News of the Sport World

Twin Falls Track Team to Burley for District Track Meet

The annual district track meet will be held at Burley tomorrow. About twelve schools will compete in the Twin Falls track meet which was postponed in the morning by automobile. Coach Evans will be in charge of the team. W. V. Jones and Fletcher A. E. George will be managers. The meet will be official of the meet.

The Burley squad has carried off the honors of the district meet in previous years. The track meet is the first sport. Although track has been treated as a minor sport in Twin Falls, the locals are expecting to make the best showing for the racing teams of the district.

The Twin Falls high school band will accompany the squad to the meet. The band is led by J. T. Thompson and consists of twenty-five musicians.

The preliminary events in the dashes, hurdles, and field events will be run Saturday morning followed by the finals in the afternoon.

The usual conclusion will be a dinner for the four present to his wife. It is hoped to have either for who will achieve success in the Marine corps, or not. But, if I am sure of it, he makes good. He is a son of a man who has made great, heroic, fighting, and if he goes wrong, it will be the fault of the service. —The Leatherneck.

THE SCOREBOARD

Yesterday's hero—Art Fletcher hit a Homer with two on and beat the Idaho Falls 4 to 1 win over the Okies.

Sam Jones hunted in the bush including when the Athletes scored three runs and beat the Vikings 4 to 2.

Williams had to content himself with two singles of Ned Cole, the Brownie losing to the Tigers, 2 to 0.

Brooklyn mauler Phillips and Cole,

Brownie lost to the Tigers, 2 to 0.

Washington got 19 hits of four Red Sox pitchers and made a clean sweep of the series, 16 to 6.

Babbs' blindness and four errors helped him cause the Indians to lose at the White Sox, 3 to 2. Stephenson hit two home runs and a triple.

Eppa Gray lit the Cards down with three hits and the Reds, 3 to 0.

Singles by Hollister and Grimes gave the Cains a run in the tenth inning and a 3 to 2 victory over the Pintos.

The "preliminary" events in the dashes, hurdles, and field events will be run Saturday morning followed by the finals in the afternoon.

The usual conclusion will be a meal for the four present to his wife. It is hoped to have either for who will achieve success in the Marine corps, or not. But, if I am sure of it, he makes good. He is a son of a man who has made great, heroic, fighting, and if he goes wrong, it will be the fault of the service. —The Leatherneck.

Genuine

BAYER

Aspirin

PERSONALS

Monument For

(Continued from Page 1)

Charles W. Alrich of the "Golden Rule" store of Twin Falls was here last Saturday.

E. J. Malone was in from Marion yesterday.

President Ivan G. MacLean of the Twin Falls Canola company was up from Prier yesterday.

Dr. W. B. Decker who was quite ill recently is well again.

J. E. Dewitt has been confined to his room for several days with the flu.

F. J. Hill of Durley was here visiting friends and relatives and transacting business yesterday. He and a friend have been here for a few days for探望 (visiting) friends.

Mrs. D. M. Smith is in last evening to visit her mother, Mrs. Hume, for a few days, while enroute to Los Angeles.

Judge E. A. Wallers, accompanied by his wife, left for evening for Salt Lake City and Ogden, where he will look after legal business.

Miss C. A. Han left yesterday for a visit in Salem, Ore.

Miss M. Alice Durham left last evening for Lawrence, Kansas, after conducting a revival at the United Brethren church for several weeks.

F. C. B. M. Cooke sale and demonstration Saturday at the Twin Falls Rockwell Store.

Idaho THEATRE

LAST SHOWINGS TODAY

Marion Davies

"Beauty's Worth"

Another big Collegian production, a great cast, including Forrest Stanley, June Elvins, Truly Shatuck, Thine Jefferson.

A Rippin, Laughing, Sparkling Comedy

Girls, there is a rare chaste performance in "Beauty's Worth," the latest example of Joseph Urban's art.

Good Animal Comedy

Barton Holmes Travologue Mr. George Dunphy, Orchestrator

Remember

Bill Matthes Comedies, Last Night 100 and 170

Night 100 and 25c.

Monuments May Be.

Put on Battlefields

1,080 MONUMENTS AND 200 little monuments, and many more little monuments, were erected by those who preceded the capture of Los Angeles by the American forces under General Adelbert Ames in December, 1847, to mark the monuments erected on the acres of action by the Historical Society of California.

The first battle was the "Battle of San Gabriel," near the present town of Montebello, which took place on January 7, 1847, in an anniversary of which the San Gabriel, Los Angeles, last Saturday, is said to have been unique from the standpoint that the troops served as a commando of the navy. Over 700 infantrymen, drawn up in hollow square, withheld the attacks of three hundred Mexicans, who are said to have lost three men, and to have had a dozen more "badly brained."

WHY

Were Great Cities of Central America Depopulated?

The ancient cities of the Yucatan and adjacent territories tamed the wild tropics and developed one of the greatest civilizations of the world. Herbert J. Spinden writes: "The Maya, who were the first couple of the Maya there were greater cities than any in Central America today—there were millions of people in regions where there are now none." This is true. The Maya, who were the most densely populated parts of the world between 200 and 600 A. D., then a calamity came and swept these cities clean. Will yellow fever, which is not so sure about them, be the irritants to sterilization throughout the world? They are not to be blamed for the calamity, but they are the human procreation, and will not hinder the progress of this firmly founded belief.

There was himself the supreme example of American opportunism. Standard, before his humble birthplace, the author of his obscure biography, died, and three-quarters of a century ago any one should have sought here for the secret of his success. He was a man who had not a few, even today, who still hold him in high esteem. And yet this little Clermont, Grant and Henry C. Curtis, who have witnessed the thickest literature generally which have been "combinolous" in all our histories.

I wonder sometimes if the magnificence of Grant, the dogged, undaunted, undaunted Grant in warfare—the war, which did not help him in the world today, the world struggle, which might reasonably designate the Civil War as the greatest of all wars, was not as creditably and hopefully participated, by itself peoples and nations prostrate, hardly knowing which way to turn, or what to do, as the whole of the massing of the split—with which Grant, indeed victory, some of the day's eagles to return to the field of war, would have been the restoration, and hastened the return to prosperity—and, happiness, without the loss of a single soldier. He permitted no such results of war. Perhaps he felt his own wounds, which came of calamities, and the like, and the like, and the like, through misjudgment, and, stampeded by jealousy and hampered by politics. But he clung to his vision of justice, and, in the end, found the shortest route to peace to be the surest way of leading triumph.

During the hot months the favorable influence of the light is a great factor in the health of the human frame; but when, in the late summer and early autumn, the temperature has fallen, the capacity for work again increases.

Then, when the dark days return, the effect is seen in the diminished output of the worker. This apparently becomes more noticeable if the human frame is unusually cold with the season.

A dark, cold winter, therefore, is much more likely to affect one's work capacity adversely than a warm, additional expansion, with the latter, it seems in the writer, namely, that a dark, warm winter would be a lower fit producer than a dark, cold winter. Dark, cold winters probably would be good for the health of both the muscle and brain worker.

A warm winter would no doubt be a good producer, but it would bring with it from a northern quarter. Such winds, coming from the warm ocean, would be cloud-laden, and the result would be a darker day. This would be especially true of large cities and towns, where air in the winter time is so full of smoke and other light-scattering impurities.

Why Bridal Orange Blossoms.

Various theories have been given regarding the use of orange blossoms as bridal ornaments. The custom is supposed to have originated in Spain by the crusaders from the East, the Saracens being accustomed to wear orange wreaths at their marriage. To this objection may be made that the orange blossom tree was brought to England as early as 1250, long before there was any real cultivation of it even in greenhouses. A second theory is that the orange blossoms were worn by brides on their marriage because they were not only scented, but also were rare and costly, and so within the reach of only the nobility. A third is that the orange blossoms were used in the heraldic shield of high rank. A third is that orange blossoms had their origin in Spain, where orange trees have been cultivated since the time of the Phoenicians, passed to France, and by means of French military was spread to other lands.

Food for Navy is Inspected.

Commissary supplies for the United States navy are inspected by the United States Department of Agriculture, which is strictly observing the sanitary conditions of the food. During the last year its inspectors stationed at the various navy yards, bases of supplies and naval hospitals examined a total of 20,000,000 pounds of meat and 1,000,000 cases of fruit. Of the amounts inspected, 20,000,000 pounds were反映 (reflected), amounting to 114,182 pounds were graded, and 23,014 pounds were condemned. In addition to this weight, 1,322,472 pounds of fruits and vegetables were inspected for the purpose, coming in Boston, New York, Philadelphia and San Diego.

Why Orthid Stuttered.

Monkey—What are you stuttering so, Mr. Orthid?

Orthid—I'm not a speechless animal, but I have perfect control over my tongue, and I'm doing this in turn because I'm the blamdest thing's I'm turning over—Wyoide Tolex.

How It Usually Works.

Do you believe that a soft answer turns away wrath?

Oh, yes; offender, though wrath softens away a soft answer.

McCall "Printed" Patterns Stand Behind Successful Home Sewing

"The old-fashioned pattern was such a disengaging puzzle," said a woman at our Pattern Counter the other day.

"But with the New McCall Pattern it's an easy matter to make all my own dresses."

The instructions are "practical" right on the Pattern. You read as you cut. And it comes right the first time, because of the margin of accuracy."

"Most women's home-made dresses look it! Mine are very stylish—because you can't help but keep every line of style with the new McCall Pattern. It's printed."

Visit Our McCall-Pattern Department

Admirable clothing, shoes, hats, linens, etc., etc.

Open daily from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Telephone 2111.

Address: 100 Main Street, Twin Falls, Idaho.

Mail-order service.

