Mrs. Rothrock Honored.—Campbell-McCormick presents Mrs. Rothrock of Atlanta, who is the mother of Mr. John H. McCormick, Jr., H. C. Rothrock's son, at dinner last evening. Covers were laid for ten.

Entertained Up-Steet.—Dr. and Mrs. W. P. Pike entertained guests at dinner Saturday evening as a compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Ole Reed and Miss Anna, who were their honored guest in the Pike home. The decorations and menu were carried out in a color scheme of yellow and covers were laid for 12. After dinner the guests attended a chautauqua where Mr. Reed was the attraction for Saturday.

Mrs. Helen Fisher left Twin Falls Sunday evening to spend a month visiting points in Arizona and at Ogden, Utah.

Grand Jessie Olden of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, who has been the honored guest of Mrs. Co. T. Bunn the past few weeks, left last evening to spend some time in Colorado before returning to Milwaukee.

The regular weekly luncheons for the members of the Business and Professional Women's Club will be held Tuesday noon in the club room.

Here from Boise — Everett M. Brewster, who has been in Australia since last November, is now back in the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Brewster.

He Would Like to Know.—An official of a small village Improvement Society in New Jersey tells of a recent meeting of the members at which a touching turn of events took place. The subject of the inquiry is not familiar to most parts of the world, but no doubt many residents of Twin Falls will feel satisfied by this account of its popularity. The note reads: "The benevolent society are asked in what way do they rid themselves of the dead? Please tell us all about it. How do they approach him in his home among the rocks and marshes, so as to remove him effectually from the earth without a sound or stir? All this I would like to know."

Taller Bird's Nest.

The taller bird of India, a sparrow hawk, has built a nest in a cactus tree. To escape snakes and monkeys the bird takes a devil's leap, flies up into a tree, and with a flick for a moment lets his bill for a treat, then the hawk drops down again upon the tree, an opening to the nest thus formed being left at the top. The hawk, apparently hunting from a twig, would never be taken for a nest.

On Parade.

Don't get the idea that a careerist's wife isn't something to fear on his wife function is to glitter,—falling heels. Now,

This photograph was taken a few minutes after two C. L. & N. trains met head-on at Cincinnati. One was carrying a "Bunker" school picnic crowd. Five were killed, 40 injured.

Kitchen Hint.

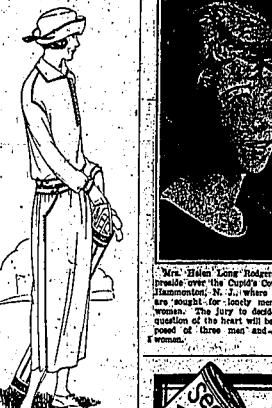

If a musty smell invades a room, it is best to have a window open and a good cleaning pencil. The work of cleaning pots and pans will be less disagreeable. The long handle will obviate the necessity for keeping the hands in the greasy water.

Canadian Champ After U. S. Tide

Wilton Belens of St. Johns, Nl-B, has added the American title to his Canadian sculling championship. He is entered in the Golden Jubilee Regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen in Philadelphia.

This Sports Dress When Knicker's Are Not Worn

WOMAN'S LIGHT FASHION SERVICE

By MARY BROOKS PICCICH

SOMETHING one should like to ask a "Womie" this is: "Are you still a 'knicker'?" will replace the simple sports dress for golf. I am sure if we were a "Seer" of fashion, he would say, "Yes," complete with a smile. No, however, another year they will be running 50-50.

The sports dress illustrated is of canary yellow. It has a belt ornate with pink flowers, a wide, matching color and bound with dull green braid.

The definite tendency for fall in sports dress is toward the white, which is evident here. The shorter waist-line effect, which is also a fall note, is acquired by the double belt.

Extra fullness is allowed and the pocket made possible through the interesting side line of the skirt.

She looked at him without answering. As she began to realize how much she had been swept into saying, he suddenly stopped her. "Don't realize her error, a sudden foot came creeping into her eyes."

"That done he turned and walked stiffly out of the room, and so out of sight of the audience till his coat was stripped back. "Goodby, monster," he said.

He loosed his son's hand and stepped back. They bowed formally and said, "Adieu."

As he turned to walk away, he cast a sidelong glance at Miss Anna, who was looking at him with an expression of surprise.

Then he came to her, smiling, and said, "Alas! Alas!" His voice broke on the name.

"My father is lost in Andro-Louis," he said.

"I am afraid I . . . I thought . . .

"It was not you, I . . . I thought . . .

IRISH LIKE GREEKS ADJOURN FIGHTS TO TAKE PART IN GAMES

Whether those Irish writers who claim common ancestry with ancient Greeks for the native stock of the Emerald Isle have anything more than fable to back it up, historically speaking, or not, some corroboration is given this theory by the events taking place today in Dublin, where the games of the nation are being played by those who are even more expert. So far as history is concerned an American authority says of the theory of Greek and Phoenician origin of the ancient Irish that it has "no authentic, but some probable foundation."

Now the Greeks meet every four years in the Olympic games and during their centennial war was suspended. In regard to what is taking place in Ireland, let the message sent to Stanley, by George MacDough, United Press correspondent speak for itself. Here it is:

"Anouch Taittanne," or the Irish Olympic games, opened here today with a parade of hundreds of contestants representing Ireland from all parts of the world.

"Republicans and Free-Staters mingled among both competitors and spectators. The Athletes were reviewed by Arthur Griffith, Michael Collins and other officials of the Irish government.

"Later in the day, the games themselves begin with an international hurling competition and Shinty—the old "shinny" of American streets—between tennis representing Ireland and Scotland. A choir of 500 voices, led by John McCormack, gave a rousing

"The games, review this year after a hiatus of centuries, are the old Irish national athletic festival. All competition must be of Irish blood, but competitions among teams representing various countries is strong."

"Visitors seem not to be perturbed at the destruction of the Gresham and the serious damaging of the older leading hotels during the O'Connell street fighting. They are being accommodated in private homes and remaining hotels."

"Golf, rowing, swimming, boating, motor cycling, yachting, track and field games and musical and dramatic competitions are included. The games terminate on August 14 with the presentation of 1600 medals by government officials."

GONE BUGHOUSE

Dr. A. Warren Stearns, neurologist at Tufts Medical School, points out that one of the chief signs of a normal brain is the tendency to conform to the customs and habits of the majority.

Discussing eccentric individuals, he says this about "paranoid personalitites":

"These individuals are peculiarly sensitive. Their ego is fragile and they care more for its promptings than for the communication of the other members of their group. These individuals frequently hear movements, but more often they live a thorn in the flesh of their associates, quibbling with the social transactions of their neighbors, and attempting numerous social meausures, the main motive for which is an unconscious and blind struggle against the dictates of the larger herd or group of people. Among these will be found sympathizers with the enemy in time of war, certain conscientious objectors, and those who habitually form themselves into small societies. Carried to the extreme degree, these individuals are called 'paranoids'—those who are 'so far' unbalanced as to have delusions of persecution and ideas of grandeur."

Dr. Stearns adds this word of caution, in considering "paranoid personalities"—that it is human instinct to regard any who disagrees with us as morbid or inferior mind, "and it must be remembered that every once in a while one of the individuals is right and the world is wrong."

It is well to keep in mind that Dr. Stearns speaks only of a tendency to conform to the majority and not a determination to maintain the present opinions of that majority right or wrong for all time to come. Opie Read in his masterly talk at the chautauqua Saturday night showed that blind adherence to a majority under all circumstances must lead to degeneration. Read seems to have had in mind particularly those folks who insist that because we did elect a candidate pledged to enter the League of Nations, we must keep on electing candidates who are opposed to entry into the League of Nations for all time to come; so let his obnoxious about senators who voted against entry what warrant that conclusion.

There is really nothing new to be said on this subject of governmental change since the Declaration of Independence was given the world. That great document tells us that changes should be made for "light and transient causes" and points out that history of the humanity shows that they seldom do make.

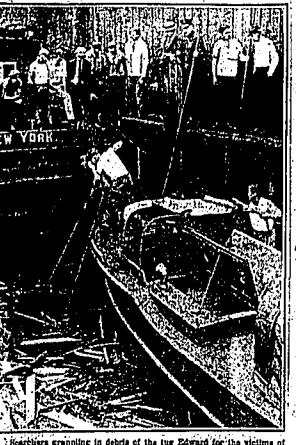

When the time for jacking changes comes, those who perceive this fact and first advocate that action be taken accordingly, are regarded, as Columbus was, as fools by those who profess to be wise.

IDAHO STATE UNIVERSITY—W.H. Smith, Inc., 1420 Main Street, GET TWO NEW DORMITORIES AT $100,000.
COST OF ABOUT $100,000.

MOSCOW, July 31.—A $100,000 machinery for erection of two dormitories at the University of Idaho has been arranged with bond dealers to float bonds to cover the greater part of the cost. The buildings, to be known as the Moscow dormitory, will be let to the students. The room rentals, it is planned will be paid on the bonds and will, when the buildings are built, become a dormitory for boys who will be built next summer.

Each building will cost approximately

MOVE FOR RETURN OF CHAUTAUQUA IS UNDER WAY

Two Propositions Laid Before People—Herman T. Lyon, Local Minister of the Methodist Church, and Alvin Goss, Billie Night and Tuesday.

Plans toward the return of the chautauqua were taken last evening at the big tent at the completion of the talk on "The Fundamentals of Christianity." Herman Lyon, a prominent statistician in the case, was to furnish lists of certain supplies, which he failed to do, and that was considered an important omission in his report.

He also claims that he subscribed for $125 of stock in the company, but that the treasurer did not account for that amount as a counter-claim. J. W. Taylor represented the Methodist and Harry Haze, the defendant, in the suit. Judge Goss took the case, who dwelt on the necessity for simplicity, clean thinking, and clean living. A good start was made in the discussion, but the time ran out.

Billies' Take Tenk!

Dr. Elmer Lyon, Williams, will speak at the First Methodist Church on Aug. 12, at 8 p.m., with Rev. Dr. George E. Electra and Vernon Stone.

He submitted: "The Big Game" is the story of politics in a great city.

"It's a political drama."

The program closes tomorrow with the Junior Chautauqua program and concludes with a grand concert directed by a prelude by the Gilian Opera Company. A grand concert at night.

Mee Delights People of Local Churches

Gill Mee, who has traveled with the Elliston-White company in the past as a musician and who was a member of the church choir as director, pleased the congregation of the church yesterday. He gave a short talk on the life of Jesus, attended the Sabbath school, and followed this by participation in the musical program at the Methodist church. After the service, he said: "Mr. Mee spoke at the Lapland Sunday school on August 1st, and concluded his tour of the United States with only 4,000,000 inhabitants, it is many ways similar to the United States. In the church membership, he said.

While the assertion that he had was denied by Ahern, he confirmed the talk made by C. W. Wolfe yesterday Saturday was vigorously denied in this city today, although he pursued yesterday that this theory was rife. Eugene A. Ahern, president of pany, said yesterday morning and his friends say that he will open an office here in connection with the railroad. A less comprehensive version of that story has already started.

It is alleged by friends of Ahern

that he has a personal difference with the Idaho Central and that this indicates that ownership has passed from Stewart out of town.

"Two inquiries from the Times &

Bon Francisco, one Sunday and one today, have rung up and asked if Stewart was out of town.

There seems to be more or less opposition to Wolfe here and a tendency on the part of some to do credit what he said regardless of the fact that he is a man of the Central, and to charge that the value is for the purpose of clouding the public opinion concerning the public utility companies.

Defendant Claims Lack of Consideration in An Action on a Note

Carl A. Koto, Idaho restaurant man, set failure to comply with terms of agreement with him, trial before Probate Judge O. P. Durall today. The note is for $225 and interest. Koto claims that the note was given in consideration of the fact that he was to furnish certain supplies, which he failed to do, and that he compensated him for that amount as a counter-claim. J. W. Taylor represented the plaintiff and Harry Haze, the defendant. Judge Goss took the case, which dwelt on the necessity for simplicity, clean thinking, and clean living. A good start was made in the discussion, but the time ran out.

To eliminate mistakes, as the result of the close study of one's personal problems, is the secret of efficiency. It is this quality that distinguishes the thrifty man from the man who is thrifless. The latter continues mistakes of wasting time, energy, opportunity, etc.

Tuesday Program—Afternoon—Prelude by Gilian Opera Company, and peasant folk dance by the Junior Night—Grand closing concert by the Gilian Opera company.

An elegant and witty plea for the purification of politics by active and intelligent interest in public affairs was delivered Saturday by Electra Platt and Vernon Stone. Lecture, "The Big Game," by Dr. Elmer Lyon.

Majorities Overrule Wrong

Read ridiculed the idea that majorities are right unless they were right on the side on which they voted. He said that in their times George Washington and Abraham Lincoln were in the minority on occasions when they were right, adding that when the mischievous atmosphere and for release by the military, the majority of the people would be universally recognized as one of the greatest statements of individualism ever made.

He said that the uniformly dead and intellectually crippled were not to be expected to succeed in their efforts unless they succeeded in getting into the seats where they were welcome, and that they were welcome by voting against the League of Nations.

Urge for Hardship

A tribute to personal virtue, personal democracy, and goodness of heart of President Harding was paid at a public meeting Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. John Jackson, Read said that the uniformly dead and intellectually crippled were not to be expected to succeed in their efforts unless they succeeded in getting into the seats where they were welcome by voting against the League of Nations.

Quintile Purifies Muscle.

An excellent produce of vocal and instrumental music was given Saturday evening by the Oscians quintette.

Dioscuri and Alexander.

Dioscuri was explained to Alexander about his tub. "I could have got a one-room apartment with bath on the Acropolis, but how could I keep any regular girl or a girl with a good record?"

He said that years ago, traveling over a Dakota road through the mud, with the man who is now the quintile purifier, he had a tiny traveler tramping along.

Harding stated, over the protests of the expedition, picked him up, and drove him to a hotel and kept him over night, telling the protesting hotel keeper that unless he kept the man he would not get a room.
