YALE GRADS OBJECT TO METHODS OF COACH JONES

By JAMES L. FAIRFELL

NEW YORK.—The Yale grads, seeing what is going on at New Haven and what is developing at Cornell, are getting ready to cry again. Last year a committee of Yale men raised such a howl about the methods of conducting athletics "at that school" that a power rating was placed in charge.

Yale is howling again and the most bitter criticism has been directed at Ted Jones, head football coach. He seems to have lost a football game to the University of Iowa and good old Yale has been good old Yale ever since it started.

Princeton, which beat Yale last year, is also howling, although it is felt that the combining system is admirable and foolproof, regarding the system of killing off our players because still prevails.

Princeton, however, is to be the worst team in the country this year, and the Yale grads, still the old grads have a fear that Princeton will beat them again.

There is a strong desire to see Yale play a little more conservatively, so that the combining system is admirable and foolproof, regarding the system of killing off our players because still prevails.

Chicago Plays; Princeton Saturday; Special Practice

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Behind closed gates, Chicago put on the finishing touches to its football team, while sectional games at the Mass. State Princeton Saturday, Oct. 21, were largely on the migratory shift of his line to stop the Tigers.

Zorn, Thomas and Pyott, the lots of new players, will be put through several new plays, but it is probable the Maroon attack would be considered the best in the country if the famous flag, shirt which parades around galaxies in early season bat-ties, is still there.

SPORT BULLETINS

NEW YORK.—Loy, Bryan, Braden, Morris, referee of the Columbia-Yale football game, yesterday, reversed his decision on a play that he allowed a yard touchdown and called it a safety, and ruled that the ride of the Maroon win 8 to 3 instead of 10 to 3.

Princeton, 10 to 0, over Dartmouth, start-to-finish, at College where the Tigers play the University of Chicago on Saturday, in real style. The round up will be held at the University of Chicago, Oct. 28, and the special team of 12 players and two dressers.

Thirty-five players will make up the squad.

Bryan Introduces by

President of L. D. S.

BALTIMORE CITY, Oct. 22.— President of the Mormon church, introduced William Jennings Bryan who spoke last night in the tabernacle of the First Congregational Church.

Bryan declared that many Republicans nationwide voted the Democratic ticket on November 7, and that they had done so because they were not concerned about the election.

Bryan condemned the attempt on the life of President Wilson, and over a law on capital punishment.

He asserted that only the opposition of a few Democrats in the House prevented the bill from being passed.

He also asserted that the bill was prevented by the additional bill of $1,000,000 better upon the people.

It is reported that four hogs in Twin Falls county brought three hundred dollars. If this statement is correct the breeders of such hogs are to be congratulated. Our boys are doing a wonderful work in improving the breed of hogs in this section of Idaho.

Some republican newspapers are looking for an excuse to stink over into the democratic ranks this fall so as to get the combined fat which滴s from the county courthouses in the shape of joint printing and legal patronage. Most any sort of an old excuse will do that nearly everybody can see which way the political wind is blowing.

Among the thinking people no candidate who advocated the repudiation of our federal reserve law will get very far in the coming election. This law was the great power which held our financial institutions intact during the great world war and brought us through one of the hardest reconstruction periods that this nation has ever passed through with few failures as we have had. The law has been greatly improved since the present party went into power and we believe with no other purpose than to repudiate the federal reserve by the money power of this union.

If President Harding is able to drive a ship suddenly through congress—and he will seem determined to make the effort—many opinions now, in the effectiveness and aggressiveness of his leadership may have to be revised. Even Theodore Roosevelt, who could force congress to pass a railroad rate bill, a pure-fund bill or a meat-inspection bill, could not induce enough republicans from the middle west to abandon their opposition to a subsidy; and there are men in public life in Washington today, who can testify, from personal experience, that Roosevelt brought to bear all the pressure he knew how.

The farmers of Twin Falls county are unable to get cars for the marketing of their crops and the result is inevitable the crops will be allowed to remain in the ground or spoil before they can be marketed. This reminds of the great need of another competing railroad into this rich section if we are to get service. It is true the world over that wherever there is competition service and results follow. Twin Falls will get a competing line of another railroad into this section. Therefore let us rush the Oregon-Washoe railroad and bring a big market for an abundant crop right to our door.

WITHIN THE LAW

Congressman Frazee fears that some of the recent big stock dividends may be tax-dodging schemes. He writes Secretary Mellon regarding section 220 of the 1921 revenue act, "which provides methods for reducing holders of surplus held for the purpose of evading taxation."

If Frazee follows up his cue, he'll find that the major financial crises these days are staged in some bookkeeping departments—though, being within the law, they are not technically criminal.

Bookkeeping has become one of the fine arts. For instance, a certain Web man took $100,000 and bought 3,000 shares of stock at its par value of $100 each. This happened in 1919.

During one of the 1921 stock market slumps, the value of this stock dropped to $40 a share. So the rich man sold his holdings, losing $60 a share, or a total of $40,000.

He "wrote off" this $40,000 as a loss in making out his income-tax return. This enabled him to defer paying income-tax on $90,000 of his 1921 income.

The "loss," however, was all on paper, for he no sooner sold the stock than he bought it back at the same price. To keep within the law, he could not buy back until 30 days after the sale, so he bought in his wife's name, the stock to be transferred to him later. Thus he was out of pocket nothing except a small commission to the broker.

This reduction stock is on his books at $100,000. Later, if he sells it for $100,000, he'll realize a profit of $60,000 and have to pay income tax on it. But he doesn't intend to sell. When he does, the income tax rate probably will be much lower than now.

He "wrote off" this $60,000 as a loss in making out his income-tax return. This enabled him to defer paying income-tax on $90,000 of his 1922 income.

The high art of tax dodging, of which the above is a sample, is possible because, as lawyers say, "every law has its loophole." The loophole is there because lawyers make the laws.

More fundamental, as a cause, is the American court system of haggling over technicalities instead of interpreting a law at its plain and intended meaning.

In the British empire, the meaning and intent of the law comes first. Haggling over technicalities such as errors in punctuation does not carry much weight. That's why British justice is so swift and terrible that London "robbers" don't have to carry pistols.

Twin Falls Nest
The tail end of birds, a tiny relative creature, makes a most curious nest. To escape snakes and monkeys this bird takes a dead leaf, gets up into a tree, and makes a fiber for a nest, then takes another leaf, and inserts it in her portion. Finally, and slightly without comment, there suddenly, after hours of labor, appears a nest, which she builds in it. "Now goodness sake, Henrietta, don't you see? God got you there!"

Fish Story

There was a fish dinner, and Henrietta, aged five, was doing wonders with a whole sample of best trout. She had her mother's permission, I suppose, to sit in her portion. Thereupon, I think, she sat down, and Henrietta for some time did not say a word. I listened, and there was no sound. Then suddenly, after hours of labor, there appeared a nest, which she builds in it. "Now goodness sake, Henrietta, don't you see? God got you there!"

THOUSAND HEAR BORAH AT BUHL LAST EVENING

Large Gathering at Westend Church Sees Senator When He Fleuds for the Idaho Ministry in Idaho Falls last night. Half of the audience had to stand in the hall because the room and the stairway were full of people. Great numbers were turned away.

The senator was introduced by Fred Niblack, formerly republican representative of Idaho.

Niblack in introducing the speaker referred to him as that great defender of the people and their constituents.

The senator spoke for an hour and a half and his audience paid the most perfect attention, applauding him, and cheering him frequently.

At the end of his address he asked anyone present to think him any question that they desired and that he would personally respond to the best of his ability. There were no questions.

He quoted statistics to show our country that it would take 300 years for us to be relieved of our present debt, independence and good fortune.

He said that the taxes had increased from three to eleven fold in many of them. He said the purpose of the government was to serve the alarming state of indecision between the government and the different interests, to get the people to take more care of themselves.

He said that politicians could not save us; that they must speak directly to the people.

Speaking of the primary he said that 50 per cent of the Republicans in the state were for it and that it was a good idea, but that the same amount of non-participation was among other republicans of earlier times. He advocated the federal inheritance tax and re-enactment of the excess-profits tax.

After the meeting was closed a moving picture man told the reporter that he had put on a picture about the life of Jesus, Christ, and that the scene, featuring a serial path in Washington. The senator said he had never seen the picture but would like to see it.

The moving picture man volunteered to repeat the rest of the story. The hero is a beautiful thoroughbred, black in color, and, as the general says, "he is the best horse in the country." The horse is trained to run fast and far, and some day he will be the best horse in the country.

Happy Mother Tells How Children Were Restored

The value of Taube as a family medicine is again very forcibly demonstrated.

Josephine Decker, 66, Bank St., Baltimore. After putting this splendid child to the test with herself and her husband, Dr. W. C. Decker, she prescribed Taube.

"Taube has been such a great blessing to myself and three children that it has made life lifelike again," she said. "I had been prescribed for two or three months that I was just dragging around. I could not eat nor sleep to do anything else. I had to go to bed with indigestion. I have just finished a third bottle of Taube—an almost-a-week woman again."

John Frank, aged 6, and Carolina, who is 4, both complained of indigestion, too, which they had never experienced before. Mrs. Decker said they were very restless at night, they had no appetite, and "looked no interest in anything."

"Taube has been a blessing to me," said John Paul, two years old, "and just about the same fix. I could not get him to eat, he was very restless at night, and he had a bad cold. Now he is eating and playing again. They have taken about two bottles of Taube; each meal, and healthier, happier children are the result."

The experience of the Decker family is only typical of thousands of cases where similar statements are made.
