

TWIN FALLS DAILY TIMES

VOLUME 6, NUMBER 102.

TWIN FALLS, IDAHO, MONDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1922.

OLD VOL. XII—NO. 55

MEXICAN BOAT RUNS AGROUND MANY DROWNED

Fifty-four Persons Lost Their Lives When Steamship Struck Sandbar at Mouth of Colorado River; Death List Consists of Mexican Children and Adults.

MEXICO. Lower California, Nov. 20.—Eighty-two Mexican men, women and children were lost when a steamer bringing them from Mazatlan, Mexico, to the cotton ranches of the Mexican state of Sonora at the mouth of the Colorado river, according to word received here during the night.

The vessel carried 160. Twenty-one were saved.

A tragic party left here early today bound for the scene. It was composed of Mexican and American ranchers who had been invited to attend a meeting at the ranch of the Mexican general, who was lost.

Low water and a crew unfamiliar with the river caused the steamer to be blamed for the loss of life.

Official Report Lists 61 Dead.

Official report by Governor Lopez of the district of Ilala, California, to the Mexican government states that Mexicans were drowned when the steamship Topolobampo struck a sandbar in the mouth of the Colorado river and became a total wreck, and stated so sharply that it threw nearly all of its 103 passengers and crew into the water.

The water is regular enough between the mouth of the Colorado river at La Union and Mazatlan.

Under the "Protocol of Convention," signed at La Union, Mexico, last year, the two countries agreed to furnish clothing and food for the survivors of the accident.

The Mexican whose families were enroute to the United States had been to the United States to buy a brother and a rancher. Starting from the destroyed town of La Union, and thence to Mazatlan, the steamer had been at sea for about 10 hours when it sank shortly after midnight Sunday, were brought ashore today by Mexican officials representing the General.

Most of the families were lost, while others were divided through the death of both children and adults.

After the accident, the Mexican steamer struggled to land the panic-stricken passengers in Mazatlan, the port of entry.

Grand Jury Will Investigate Hall-Mills Murder Case On.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 19.—With a cord of slate wire, the grand jury today started its investigation of the Hall-Mills murder case.

Among the persons accused of killing Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Edward W. Hall, wife of the deceased, was George Schneider, the cookhouse foreman of the abattoir, who had recently become Ralph Taylor, of commuting the sentence.

The grand jury, which sat for a short time, heard testimony and arguments of the Phillips' firm. Maps of the vicinity covered the walls.

OPERA HILLER-WILKINSON. IS REPORTEDLY IN BUCH.

ENTERTAINMENT.—The grand jury, which had been investigating the Hall-Mills murder case, called in George Schneider, the cookhouse foreman, of Old Louis, who was condemned here today by the grand jury.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 20.—Reported that Charlotte Tschudin, daughter of Mrs. Odilia, opera singer, will marry Ernest E. Ladd, son of the late George Ladd, president of the Ladd family, of Old Louis, who was condemned here today by the grand jury.

Washington, Nov. 20.—A supreme court today set Oct. 1, January 3, as the date for hearing argument in the case of the domestic shipping laws to test the validity of the Daugherty ruling, barring American ships from carrying coal to anywhere and foreign vessels from bringing it into the United States three miles from shore.

The grand jury, which sat for a short time, heard testimony and arguments of the Phillips' firm. Maps of the vicinity covered the walls.

LIBERTY BONDS MAY BE TAXED, SAYS THE U.S. SUPREME COURT.

WASHINGTON. Nov. 20.—Said to have the right to tax the liberty bonds exempted from taxation by the federal government, the Supreme Court held today.

It was the first time in 100 years that bonds held by national banks over the country.

The court, which sat for a short time, heard testimony and arguments of the Phillips' firm. Maps of the vicinity covered the walls.

BUILDING MATERIAL BURNED.—Washington, Nov. 20.—A bill dealing a national emergency in the anthracite coal industry and placing it under federal control was introduced in the house today by Representative Rogers, Republican, Massachusetts, who said he had been authorized by his constituents to introduce the bill.

Bill Would Prohibit Export of Hard Coal.—Washington, Nov. 20.—A bill to empower the president to cancel the embargo at any time within a period of six months when he would consider the situation to be changed.

This would prevent all exportation of anthracite coal and place stringent regulations on its distribution.

Premier of Italy May Control Allied Peace Conference

LAUSANNE, Nov. 20.—Premier Mussolini of Italy today showed every intention of playing the leading role at the League peace conference.

After leaving Paris, Palmeri and Viscount Curzon, British foreign minister, to go to Terrier yesterday to consult with him and his late Uncle's viewpoint before meeting with the Turks here in the fall, that may settle the fate of the Near East, Italy's black shirt prime minister resumed his conversations here with the British and French ministers.

It was considered possible that the conference proper might not open today, the allies requiring more time to coordinate the views before meeting the views of the victorious Turkish nationalist government.

The delegates are lined up in two entrenched camps, for despite great efforts to reconcile divergent views, the British and French are battling to decide which nation shall establish supremacy in the Near East.

The Turkish peace conference has taken place before the making of a peace treaty between the Greeks and the Turks, and the formulation of a treaty between the Greeks and the Turks and the alliance of the two.

After the first meeting of the conference at 2:30 this afternoon was public, the others will be held in private.

Dr. Hahn, vice president of Switzerland, opened the first session of the conference.

The allies announced today they will control all press messages sent from Lausanne about the Turkish peace treaty.

French reports will be ready by a general assembly for the conference, than reverting to the methods of official diplomacy.

It is also announced that while the first meeting of the conference at 2:30 this afternoon was public, the others will be held in private.

Dr. Hahn, vice president of Switzerland, opened the first session of the conference.

CLEMENCEAU HAS NO USE FOR THE GLAND SPECIALIST

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—George Clemenceau, rating expert of France, does not want his present age of 81 years, prolonged by artificial respiration, to stand in the way of his cure.

He has been ill for a week, and has been unable to sleep well, while others were divided through the death of both children and adults.

The Mexican whose families were enroute to the United States had been to the United States to buy a brother and a rancher.

In a somewhat querulous manner, Clemenceau said to LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

KLAN WORRIES THE GOVERNOR OF LOUISIANA

Governor of Louisiana Confers with President Harding and Attorney General Daugherty on Activities of Ku Klux Klan; Outrages Are Charged Against Klan.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 20.—President Harding and Attorney General Daugherty met Governor John M. Parker of Louisiana and that whenever Federal interests are involved in the Klan in Louisiana—that the federal government will extend full cooperation.

Gov. Parker is fully able to take care of the situation, a statement by the president and Daugherty was made at a conference with Parker, declared.

Klan to Be Investigated.

Parker also issued a statement declaring that "regularities of cost of consequences" will be made in investigating the outrages reported to have been made by the K. K. K. in Louisiana.

Gov. Parker gave out the following statement, authorized by President Harding:

"I hope that the state of Louisiana will be fully able to take care of the situation. There is nothing that can be done by the state legislature to do except to issue assurances to the state authorities that whenever Federal interests are involved in the Klan, the Federal Government will extend full cooperation."

All over the country, those who have been attacked by the Klan have been encouraged by the president and Daugherty to collect their life insurance.

Father Begs That Deformed Be Put to Death Now.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—A father's plea for his two year old son, born half-pint, to be put to death was overruled by physicians today.

The child, normally mentality, has been a nonstop trouble since James C. Lehman, doctor who helped the girl, was exhausted at Letoy, Ill., and marks on the head and body to the arm and hand, which it was believed killed his son.

In a somewhat querulous manner, Clemenceau said to LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had breakfast.

The inspiring words of Dr. LeClerc when the latter began to tell him of the importance of medicine for prolonging life:

"You keep quiet! I will tell you! Treat the ankles and dogs if you want, but no human being die in happiness."

The tiger was upset this morning when Albert, his vallet, who came early to the house to help him get dressed, found the tiger lying writing letters to France. At this the old statesman had

SOCIETY AND CLUBS

Mrs. G. T. Buncy, Society Editor, Phone 309-R

Bazaar a Success.—The ladies of the Fredrikson's Cafeteria arts department at the school results of the bazaar, which they held last Friday and Saturday in the like new building, and have reason to be proud when they closed Saturday night there was $1,000.00 in the till and $1,000.00 in the treasury. Even after the expenses are paid there will be a good sum to go toward the building of a modern and efficient work room for these ladies. They offered everything from a dainty linen handkerchief to a large handkerchief, and a delicious meat in connection with the sale of article in the bazaar. The ladies most grateful for the patronage extended by the public.

Football at Bridge.—On Saturday afternoon Miss Dorothy Catey hosted at a small bridge party at the home of Mrs. John W. D. Smith, 1005 N. 1st Street. Miss Ruth Fisher won the prize for high score at the game and the consolation went to Mrs. Newell. The ladies also had a good time in service of niceable things to eat at the close of the game. The guests were Miss Ruth Fisher, Mrs. John W. D. Smith, Mr. Tobi, Mrs. Robert Steele, Mrs. Newell Wright, Mrs. Wilson Merritt and Mrs. Ross North.

All members of the Business Women's club are urged to be present at

Blouses of Printed And Plain Materials

By MARY BROOKS PICKEN

BUSINESS girls everywhere should celebrate this year for the lovely blouse. The blouse is the most popular garment possible. And every girl can own attractive ones, for the price is prohibitive, clever fingers can make a blouse in a couple of evenings at a cost easily within reach.

In addition, there are blouses in all colors, each one a combination of beautifully harmonizing and contrasting colors. The blouse slips over the head and is held in place by buttons that form a bow at each side.

Colored beads ornament sleeves and make the conn... in the printed and plain material.

"Brown silk crepe with coral lace and tucked neck in bertha effect make the most attractive blouses."

The blouse offers great opportunity for a bit of color if one chooses to line the lower part with perhaps dull old-red or tan or soft green.

Around the Clock with Noted Men

Before the Hall Case Arose

Mrs. Florence North, attorney for Charlotte Mills, the daughter of the late George Melford, who was being promoted before she entered the sensational murder case, offered to be present at the trial. "Possibly I shall return to the boxing ring when the Hall case is 'canned up,'" Miss North said today.

TWIN FALLS DAILY TIMES

CAPE-COAT FOR YOUTH

Correct Incorrect

All meetings on Monday evening in the club rooms. It will be at eight o'clock.

Number Party.—Miss Katherine Johnson, Mrs. John W. D. Smith, and other party Saturday night. The dinner was given having an informal good time before heading a dinner.

Matters People Wall, Alice Taylor, Betty Wilson, Barbara Noble, Beth Bowden, and Miss Peacock.

Mrs. Horner Bonnabake and Mrs. Ed Johnson have issued invitations for two bridge parties to be given on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Horner Bonnabake, 1005 N. 1st Street.

The Blasphemy and Unpleasantness we are making great preparations for the dance which they are giving Tuesday evening in the Lawrence Ballroom. We hope that all the members of our club or at least any member of the club or at the door.

An Antipodal View.

An Australian reader remarks: "Is any marriage which appears happy there is alive and take—the wife gives tongue and the husband takes heed."

London Transcript.

The very first time you use Calumet your baking will be perfectly raised, sweet and wholesome. And you can expect unfailing uniformity just as long as you continue to use it, because

A REMARKABLE CAST.

The two noted players in George Melford's latest production of "The Prodigal Judge" are George Melford and George Melford's son, Milton Sills, both of whom had prominent parts in Mr. Melford's preceding production, "The Burning Sands," they play parts which are direct opposites of the roles played by Agnes Ayres and Hobart Bosworth in "The Prodigal Judge." Miss Hawley plays the headstrong English girl who "sets" out to prove her worthiness. Mr. Sills is the one who does not know "em until he comes close in his heart." "Burning Sands" is the attraction at the "label" theatre.

STAN IN SHIRK BATTLE.

"Set plenty of snails and lobsters" was the battle cry of Wanda Hawley to her maid after one day's work in George Melford's production, "The Prodigal Judge," a Paramount picture, which opened yesterday.

It was the snail's day in a rough-and-tumble fight with the lobsters.

It wasn't a continuous battle, but the scene had to be photographed several times before it was properly taken.

"I'm not afraid of lobsters," said Wanda Hawley.

"I'm not afraid of snails," said Milton Sills.

"I'm not afraid of lobsters," said Hobart Bosworth.

"I'm not afraid of snails," said Agnes Ayres.

"I'm not afraid of lobsters," said Hobart Bosworth.

"I'm not afraid of snails," said Hobart Bosworth.

"I'm not afraid of lobsters," said Hobart Bosworth.

"I'm not afraid of snails," said Hobart Bosworth.

"I'm not afraid of lobsters," said Hobart Bosworth.

"I'm not

