CHARS MARKS BERLIN WEEK; GERMANS MAY BREAK TRUCE

Chancellor Ums Contemplates Asking Reichstag to Sever Relations with the French; Demonstrations, of Every Sort Occur in Capital; Leipzig Carnivals Draws Big Attendance.

BERLIN, March 5.—Chancellor Cuno may ask the special session of the Reichstag tomorrow to break diplomatic relations with France, "unless the Amiens conditions do away."

An important gathering crept in diplomatic circles, the paper said, that the Chancellor will not contest himself or his party in the election against the occupation of Magdeburg, Hanover and Brunswick, but will seek stronger action.

A Frenchman in the upper Rhine appears to have had the effect of arousing German peoples everywhere to protest and file a protest. The trial was reported from the Ruhr last week; Berlin, steeled with demonstrations, many of which took place on a massive character, many mass meetings were opened, and Jews, any form of disturbance drew enthusiastic crowds.

In the midst of all these disturbances, a trial at Strasbourg on the Rhine opened this morning. Twenty per cent of those who attended the opening day were foreigners. The fact is one of the most events of the year in central Europe.

At Augsburg, in Bavaria, at Eason on the Rhine and Mainz, various disturbances were reported.

Again, a Frenchman's seizure shot and killed a Frenchman who refused to obey his orders to halt.

General Michel ordered the police of Offenburg apprehended, disturbed, and the police of Offenburg apprehended, disturbed,

LARGE AMOUNT SOUGHT.

C., March 5.—Acting upon orders of Attorney General Daugherty, government attorneys filed a bill in the U.S. Circuit Court for the District of Columbia on Monday afternoon for $12,000,000 to allow war funds by filing a bill in equity against John D. DAVIS CUP SOUGHT BY MANY NATIONS

NEW YORK, March 5.—Theteen nations want to take the Davis Cup away from the United States.

At least four more are expected to drop into the procession before the time limit expires March 15.

The national head of Bill Tilden again appeared in New York Monday, to demand that the tournament be given to the smaller nations which would not take a chance, last year, are now in line.

Australia, Japan, Canada, Hawaii, Philippines, Mexico, France, Italy, India, Holland, Switzerland, Denmark and the British Isles are already entered and Belgium, Spain and Portugal are also expected to be added later.

The new open class under which the smaller nations can compete without being forced to travel too far to obtain the Davis Cup, has been inserted in the event.

Australia, Canada, Japan and Hawaii of all the entries, will play the prelims at "Yankee Stadium." The United States while most of the other competing nations will be permitted to bathe on European courts. When the Australian team returned from their first day's play, however, far as the challenging ground in the tournament, their home folks were told that "it would be a 'waste' of time" for them to come home in 1923 as long as Tilden and Jim Johnson were playing.

The adaptation of a finger which Tilden had to go through for his tennis arm, is the latest and recently his insatiable new hope into Australia and a raft of the other smaller tennis nations.

The convicted police officers are represented by the public defender, the purpose of the conspiracy to traffic in liquor and monopolize the liquor business. His voice will be sentenced April 9. The court rejected an appeal to the circuit court.

"It is conceivable to me that the American people who have so long maintained a policy of prohibition will not now reverse it in order to save their interests now to adopt a program as is represented by this trial," the president wrote.

"I feel that the admission of our country to the League of Nations will have the same purpose, the court of international justice will represent a long and important step toward the assumption of those functions which the world has committed to international affairs which should be borne by such a country as our own."

"Those who are at this time interested in the direction of the international relation of our country are firmly convinced that the move not only would reflect credit upon the policy of our own people, but it would stand in complete disrepute to our purpose to encourage every feasible project for maintaining a rule of law as opposed to the rule of power in this world," he stated.

President Harding gave assurances that he would not let any bill that had passed by the government interfere with his control over its own fundamental rights and destinies.

Prisoners Dying in Pen at Leavenworth

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 5.—The several months have passed before the White House in an effort to obtain the passage of political prisoners. Harding has not succeeded in the matter, however. He has already started a train for Leavenworth prison, where the latter were carried.

Our banner reads: "Do you know that while you are going for a vacation you are allowing the country to languish? Uncle Joe" Walk Down Aisle for Last Time; Ground Applause.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Today began a long vacation for the country because a long, rest from Congress.

With the death of the 67th Congress on Dec. 4, the present Congress is incomparably expressed to administration leaders its determination not to call the national legislature into session during the winter months.

If he can carry on this plan, Harding will represent the longest continuous vacation since the war.

Washington took with him the family, including his wife, Mrs. Harding, and his son, George, who is now serving in the army.

He is expected to make his first vacation in the South, probably in Florida, where he has been for several weeks now.

He will be gone for a month, spending his time in the mountains, hunting, shooting, fishing, boating and golf.

He is expected to spend some time in New Orleans, attending the annual meeting of the Southern Forestry Association.

The House forced all about legislative business, which delayed its final adjournment for prohibition.

There were tears in many eyes as the House adjourned. The House, as it is, is too small to do its work effectively.

The famous dancer, Anna Held, who has been a great favorite of Congress, was one of the greatest attractions, attended prohibition in company with the best of society.

Other members of Congress, however, were not so happy.

Another large crowd gathered when the station and more flowers were placed on her in the special car set aside for the Hardings and their son.

Mrs. Harding is looking forward to the winter vacation, which she is expected to spend in the South.

She chose under the sunroom, in the sunroom, to the White House and did not avail herself of the sunroom, in the sunroom.

Her husband, John, however, has not yet recovered from his illness, but he is making progress.

He is expected to be better by the time he reaches the South.

The determination of the Burlington in collaboration with the Hill systems to spend immense sums in advertising the northwest is another harbinger of things to come. Although the people who may be attracted by this advertising will go to points along the Hill lines, it will be impossible to prevent them from learning something of the resources of the territory under the American Falls dom.

The passage through the house of representatives of the measure making the standard time of Southern Idaho conform to the local time and its probable signature by President Harding marks a triumph for the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce which deserves notice and commendation. Several years ago this matter was brought to the attention of the interstate commerce commission by the Twin Falls commerce chamber, at a hearing before the public utilities commission. The national commission rejected the plea, on the ground that it showed an irregularity in the imaginary lines, which divide the time areas. On several occasions the matter was brought up in congress by Representative Aldison T. Smith and the Idaho senators, and the final victory seems near at hand.

BOOTLEGGERS HEAR BAD NEWS

Sons had news for Custer county bootleggers, both those who have been convicted and those who have "otten out of it" through technicalities, will soon be spread through the treasury department as soon as a check of the county records have been completed, it was announced yesterday.

Government officials, who have been checking the records of all cases docketed and disposed of in Custer county for the past several years, announce that no little amount of illicit liquor vendors are going to be quite surprised when they find they owe Uncle Sam a nice little slice in taxes, for under the Willis-Campbell act the tax on booze sales is still in effect and any man convicted on which the proper showing can be made received a certain amount of liquor sales, whether illicit or not, will receive a tax bill from the government. One case of recent date is said to total up several thousand dollars in federal tax, while others range from a few dollars up to hundreds.

Just what effect the movement to collect the tax will have on the illicit liquor vendors, remains to be seen, according to the government officials, but Uncle Sam will collect in the long run, they say is beyond a doubt if precedent counts for anything.—Diskee Review.

The dairy heifer, after she is born, the present understand is likely to be neglected after the pasture season is ended. To keep the young stock growing normally during the winter months the department of dairy husbandry of the Missouri College of Agriculture suggests the following rules:

If alfalfa and clover or alfalfa hay are available, feed two to five pounds of these per day; for the age of the animal, heifers close to calving time, rats probably will be fed somewhat larger quantities of grain.

If clover and alfalfa are not available, and other feeds are not available, it would be best to feed one-half a bushel of grain per head daily.

When alfalfa or alfalfa hay is fed alone dairy heifers will do fairly well.
