Adrenalin Saves Life When Heart Activity Ceases

CHICAGO, April 10.—Adrenalin, a fluid extracted from the glands controlling emotions of fear, stays death in "shock" cases as the result of the new scientific method but will "resurrect" the dead, Dr. Karl A. Meyer, chief surgeon of Cook County hospital, declared today in explaining the newly discovered medical discovery.

After extensive experiments and use of the adrenalin method, he declared to have been brought to life in several cases by experiments of Dr. V. W. Crile, Cleveland, and Dr. Dennis W. Richards, Chicago. Meyer told the United Press just what the public and medical circles can expect from it. "Adrenalin is a preventive of death where a thing that would cause death is removed, and it is a stimulant to the heart stop beating. Although in this interval, a patient's brain and other cells are not dead, and the state of death is not permanent, it is necessary to stop or cease beating less than the time required for brain and heart activity to be restored. Adrenalin acts as a powerful stimulant and contraction. In some cases, it has been used to start beating again and the patient's condition is right."

Farming Conditions May Be Better Than Painted; Experts Are Optimistic

CHICAGO, April 10.—America's grain production this year may still be normal despite a late planting season, drought, labor shortage and other handicaps. The situation is not so serious, in the opinion of the best informed sources in Chicago, the country's agricultural capital. Lyman West, statistician for the Chicago board of trade and noted authority declared there is plenty of time for spring wheat planting and for winter wheat to develop.

West regards the bullheadedness of the market and pessimistic reports from western quarters as the main "seasonal weather scare." He called attention to the fact that reports of drought from the southwest, late winter from the northwest—the spring wheat section of the west and crop grower scare from Indiana, Illinois, Oklahoma and Texas a normal event.

Along with the reports of drought and late winter in the west, he called attention to the fact that reports of drought and late winter in the west, he called attention to the fact that reports of drought and late winter in the west, he called attention to the fact that reports of drought and late winter in the west.

Slenderness and Grace Carry This Dress Well

OWOMAN'S INFIRMARY

By MARY BROOKS PICKEN

The young woman possessing both slenderness and grace seems just fit to wear the latest dress, adaptations and beauties being the chief requisite.

A full skirt with generous taffeta ruffles and ruffles gives distinction to this dress, which is nearly blue in color. The lace border, purposely cut in square neckline effect, is different, seems an additional ornament.

This bodice, which is plain and long enough to wrinkle, altho' open at the center back under a modish little fold plait. The sleeves are set in and close fitting.

The skirt is straight and aired ahead at the waist line with side pleats producing, by their arrangement, the hooplike effect. If the taffeta is very soft, a strip of featherbone Black crows under the pleating of the side panels will help to give the right effect.

TAKE TIME TO INVESTIGATE

No Reason Why Buyer of a House Should Judge Value Only by Its Appearance.

Most people buy houses in the manner of the man who ordered a automobile. They purchase almost wholly on outward appearance, so far as the physical condition of the property is concerned. Paint, varnish and general appearance, however, few buyers concern themselves with the invisible construction of a house or with external evidence of the nature of the internal work. Yet what has been largely determines the future value of the property, the kind of upkeep and the cost of repairs in the years to come. The pasting years, it is estimated, reveal the true nature of the construction.

It is not difficult for a home buyer to find out whether the house is of proper and suitable material for the kind of work he expects. An experienced builder, the best way, of course, is to have the house inspected by some competent person. But there are certain fundamentals which anyone may apply for himself with the probability of being guided to a correct determination of the intrinsic value of a house. Nobody wants to buy a house that will soon develop cracks, sagging doors, jamming windows, floors that spring and crack, unlighty open joints in woodwork and spaces between siding, "boarded" flat shingle roofs, unsightly, sagging porches, and leaky or spilling gutters, swagback gables, etc.

POULTRY

LITTLE LAMP WARMING WATER

Operating 24 Hours Daily With Current at Ten Cents a Kilowatt Hour is Cheap.

Not only should drinking water be heated for poultry be kept from freezing so that the hens can drink at all times, but, according to scientific poultry practice, it should also not be cold enough to chill the birds. Both requisites may be provided for by the use of this inexpensive electric water warmer.

An ordinary pan or pan may be used with the addition of a lace-like coil of small pipe for the heating unit. It is made of galvanized iron, the parts will last longer. Arranged to the end around the edge of the water pan. Care must be taken to solder around the rivet holes on the outside, for the lamp container must be water-tight.

An ordinary metal lamp socket, in soldered or clamped into a tin disk large enough to cover the container, will not rust with the water. It will not be made to fasten with a spring be catch.

In all but the coldest weather a 30-watt lamp will warm a quart of water sufficiently. Operating 24 hours a day

Warm Drinking Water Often Means More Eggs.

With current at 10 cents a kilowatt hour, the warmer will cost 30 cents, which is worth while, as it produces two eggs a day to an otherwise doubtful cold weather production. In no season is it necessary to buy a warmer of less than 30 cents. It is in Popular Science Monthly.

GREEN FEEDS FOR CHICKENS

Where Fowls Have Unlimited Range in Summer There is No Difficulty—Different in Winter.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Animal Industry.

If the best results are to be obtained with poultry, they must be furnished with a plentiful supply of green feed. Where fowls have unlimited range on a farm they will secure green food during the spring and summer, but during the winter it must be supplied for them.

The question of how to supply the best feed at the least cost is one that every poultry breeder must decide for himself. It will probably make but little difference what kind of green feed is supplied, provided it is rich in the fowls. Cabbages, turnips, beets, potatoes, etc. are suitable for this purpose. The larger roots and the cabbages may be prepared by cutting them into strips or slices if they are placed on the floor, in which case it would be well to salt the material with common salt with a large knife. Potatoes and turnips should be fed cooked. The mangold is an excellent root for feeding raw.

Out clover, soaked in boiling water, fed alone with the mash, is good, say poultry specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. Clover meal and ground alfalfa make very good feeds for this purpose. Where the fowls are yarded and not enough green feed is furnished by the yards, a small patch of clover, alfalfa, or lupine may be sown. Any one of these, if frequently mowed, will furnish a great quantity of green feed in a form relished by the fowls. Canada Gold peas may also be sown for this purpose, and when fed in a tender, crisp condition are eaten readily. They are a good crop for late fall and early spring. For it will germinate and grow in cold weather. As a general thing, fowls should have once a day about all the green feed they will eat.

POWDER CONTROLS HEN LICE

Mixture of Gasoline, Stock Dip and Dry Cement—Proves Quite Effective.

Common hen lice that live on the feathers and skin of the bird can be controlled by treating with a home-made powder composed of mixing three parts of gasoline and one part of stock dip and adding enough dry cement to make a powder. Hold the bird with its head down and apply the mixture by working in the feathers.

Retain Pullets in Fall.

Farmers are urged to stop the practice of selling their pullets in the fall. These are worth more at winter prices than at most for the table. Winter eggs must come from the pullets, these should be kept and not sold.

AT THE Idaho Theatre

WILL PRESENT Wm. S. Hart's LEADING FILM

The word "SAND" is used very often to express a characteristic which we all desire to have. Business men who succeed must have that quality. Many loans are approved in banks because the directors believe that man will push his plans to a successful conclusion.

The past three years have been a trying period for all kinds of business. This period is really the test for ultimate success.

It takes "SAND" to hold on when others are quitting. It takes "SAND" to reduce your obligations to a minimum. It takes "SAND" to save during a period of depression.
