AMERICA MAY ENTER LEAGUE SAYS CECIL

Lord Cecil Will Confer with Woodrow Wilson in An Effort to Get This Nation to Enter the League of Nations; No Encouragement Expected from President Harding Visit.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 20.—Lord Robert Cecil, reputed author of the League of Nations covenant, came to Washington today to confer with Woodrow Wilson, the chief American champion, the campaign for bringing the United States belatedly into the League.

Cecil brought with him a cross-section "view of American public opinion on the league. In contact with audience members of various clubs, he found widespread interest in the league in this country was able to observe. The latest American reaction to the league will be to give Mr. Wilson his full support on the probabilities of success for recognition had by former President in behalf of pre-national and continental-American membership in the world court.

The meeting of the two, league enthusiasts far overshadowing the alternatives, will be held with President Harding. The British statesman, arriving here shortly after noon, will call at once on the president. Cecil has been advised that he will receive no encouragement from Mr. Harding, and their division of the issue should be expected to center about the question of whether the plan for American admission to the world court.

The stated time of the call will mark the end of the visit of Henry White, former United States ambassador to France whose "host," Lord Cecil will be here to meet him. He will be today.

From the hotel on H. street where Wilson is keeping his fingers on the pulse of the capital, he will go to see Mr. Woodrow Wilson, probably concerning the sugar bill. He has known through close friends of the reclusive president that Wilson is looking forward to it keenly. He has followed Cecil's progress about the country as detailed in press reports, and is fully aware of the fact that Cecil visited him.

Many of the nation's leaders want to see Cecil's personal opinion on the people's temper about international affairs.

Mr. Wilson, who probably will not change the latter's determination to make a light this year and next for American entrance into the league, is said to believe that Wilson's attitude is not to be made public. Wilson is reported as believing that the league issue needs only a leader to make it alive and naturally remains silent on the topical leader.

The sixteen have been under arrest for two days, held incommunicado, it was reported, while other alleged members of the conspiracy were being investigated.

There are a number of Twin Falls men, including Asher B. Wilson, G. H. Mull, L. E. Smith, L. E. Saladyne, C. A. Robinson and others, interested in oil properties on this hill. The principal companies are the Shell and the Marine, both large institutions.

SUGAR PRICES TO BE FORCED DOWN

WASHINGTON, April 20.—The government's best move in the sugar situation will be to attempt to bring down prices, W. M. Wills, sugar director, said yesterday.

This will be more difficult than the winning of the suit filed yesterday against alleged sugar gamblers, officials admitted today. It may be impossible to get the sugar market to New York will not do it.

This suit, they said privately, does not hit the culprits in the sugar market, but only the sugar gamblers, who, according to officials here, are engaged in a "conspiracy" to increase prices and to keep the market in a panic, operating behind a screen of gamblers and speculators whom yesterday's suit was aimed.

Manipulations of sugar prices on the part of gamblers, they said, were "arranged" by the government to levy tribute on the American sugar consumer.

The stated time of the call will mark the end of the visit of Henry White, former United States ambassador to France whose "host," Lord Cecil will be here to meet him. He will be today.

GENTLEMAN WITH GOLD HEADED CANE STEPS IN REWEED AND DROWNS

NEW YORK, April 20.—A sturdy, swishing a gold-headed cane, an unidentified man in evening dress, sank into an angle wading through the water today. A policeman who had watched his promenade rushed to the rescue as the man stepped off the People's Legislative service, declared in a statement issued here.

Many, who telegrams to President Harding in Florida precipitated a sugar strike, and the sugar gamblers, declared the suit failed to touch the "higher up" who arranged the alleged price-gouging conspiracy to raise the exchange.

"The sensational decline of 75 points in sugar prices followed the announcement of the introduction of prosperity we are recovering and profit by the excesses of 1919 and 1920 the outlook is hopeful for years to come," he said.

Anticipation of business beyond reason might bring a quick reverse.

A boost in prices may bring on a buyers strike.

Businessmen who kept a proper balance between the sugar market and the economy are reasonably safe.

The economic future is in the hands of the employers and employees.

HUNGER RIOTS TAKE MANY GERMAN LIVES

Torch of Revolt Marches Through Ruhr Valley and Rioting by Unemployed Grows Daily; Government Is Unable to Supply Enough Food to Stop Angry Hordes; Mulheim Is in Serious Condition.

POTTERS SENTENCED FOR VIOLATING ANTI-TRUST LAW IN N. Y.

BERLIN, April 20.—Eight persons have been killed and many wounded in hunger riots at Mülheim since yesterday.

The torch of revolt is being carried through the Ruhr valley by the armed unemployed.

Bricklayers, masons and housewives, who have set up in the streets of Mülheim, armed and armed camped about the city hall besieging the authorities.

The criminal police, assisted by auxiliary volunteers, finally succeeded in clearing the city, but the torch carriers from the city hall and the inner section of the city.

Troops were arrested.

Investors fled to the west end of the city.

A slight explosion at Amsterdam announced violent fighting about the city hall during the night. The cause of the strongest was at that time unknown.

The unemployed met with little resistance in most of the towns involved, according to the French forces of occupation.

The rioting began Wednesday when officials were unable to satisfy the demands of the workers for an increase in the distribution of food. They threatened them that if the increases were not forthcoming in four hours there would be trouble.

The most serious situation is in Mülheim. There the stores have been closed and the unemployed appear to have no place to go.

Mülheim, where the rioters have been located by some of the demonstrators. Proprietors of other stores, however, have heard of this and do not want to be disturbed.

Those who were unable to find shelter sharpened sticks and clubs and beat their armed comrades.

German officials here say the riots were precipitated by syndicates and communists who easily aroused the hungriest and weakest workers.

Do play with my heart. Arthur, I love you too much. I am so glad to have you again. I am so glad to have you again. I am so glad to have you again."

NEWS OF THE SPORT WORLD

YANKS SHOW GREAT FORM IN THE FIRST TWO GAMES

Babe Ruth Is the Heart of the Team; the Pitching Staff Is the Best in Baseball and Are All in Shape; It Is Early in the Season but the Yanks Certainly Look Like Pennant Winners.

BY HENRY L. MCARNEY.

NEW YORK, April 20.—Two games are too few in which to judge a ball club, but right now the New York Yanks are of amazing class. All they have to prove is that in the games they look a cinch and they ought to improve as the season gets older.

The Yanks have always had a good club, but they are now acting for the first time like a ball club. There are no new faces on the team that won the 1921 pennant, but there are great new players, club. Their spirit seems to be there now, and that was the only thing they lacked in the past. Babe Ruth is the heart of the team, and the big fans are getting a beautiful game. He is in physical condition to do his work in the garden and on bases and he is hitting them in a dandy.

Erlin Ward is also a greatly improved second baseman. His morale was none too bright last season, but he has come along and is doing his best. He is getting more work, which was lacking for his scalp all winter. The defense of the team is greatly improved and it is as good as any in the country. Joe McGinnis is the best all-around left fielder. Both playing a valeur of a game. White Wili's territory in center has been reduced to a minimum, and outer defense has been strengthened.

Joe Dugan is playing a game that ranks him the best third baseman in the business. Beatty is showing up, but his future is hanging out, and Ward on the other side is doing about his share. Of Walter Phipps at first nothing need be said except he is one of the finest players on the team.

The pitching staff can be passed with but one remark—the heat in baseball. The only thing about it is that they are all in shape and ready to take their turn.

It has often been said that the team hits them when Babe Ruth's hitting and when the Yanks play, the team is mauling with him. Perhaps the Detroit Tigers have a more formidable array of ringers than the Yanks, but the Yanks can deliver better than the Yanks have been doing when hits mean runs.

Of course, it is early in the season, and the Yanks are just getting started, but they really are among the Red Sox, the weakest team in the league—but there is class in their work that sticks to all the time.

The night that has come into the team was shown twice yesterday. After the game had been concluded, the whole Yank dugout emptied on two occasions, and the crowd was left held by their mates. Last year they could not be dynamited off the bench to watch the plays.

At the end of the game, it was agreed a better judgment of the team can be required. But there is every reason to believe that after fifty battles the Yanks will be going even better than they are now.

MORAL ISSUES IN ECONOMIC FIELD

When Dr. Rauschenbusch was professor of church history in that great Baptist institution, the Rochester Theological Seminary, in 1912, he wrote a book, "Christianizing the Social Order," which was evidently intended to prove that moral issues were not confined to advocacy of the enforcement of laws against a few things, but extended to all economic matters. In his mind while the liquor traffic was "an ease of the clashing of private interest with the common good," and for that reason something to be destroyed, it was only one of the great evils to be fought.

For example on page 213, he says: "The pure food and drug act was bitterly fought by some of the interests concerned.... The officials enforcing its provisions have been attacked and circumvented." He makes it clear that these things are moral in character for he says on the same page and in the same connection: "Our moral diagnosis of business has given me a fairly clear result."

That he considers monopoly morally as bad as fraud he makes clear on page 220 when he says: "Against fraud by (the consumer) may be able to protect himself by using his wits and going to a competitor; against the extortion of monopoly the individual is helpless. As industrial mechanisms the trusts are far superior to a competitive mod of small enterers, but their efficiency is so little tempered by morality that the great mass of our nation, with the exception of the monopolists and the socialists, is anxious to get back from the fire of monopoly into the cool and refreshing frying pan of competition."

He places high tariffs among things immoral and on page 335 says: "The belief in equal rights is so dear to us that when any special privilege is to be granted, it has to masquerade as an act for the public welfare. No party dared to support a high protective tariff on the plain ground that certain interests ought to be relieved from competition and enabled to make easier profits."

The principle to which Dr. Rauschenbusch appeals in the work named should be applied in local as well as national affairs. We must have a clean city, we must drive out the liquor business and keep it out, but we must also look to the upbuilding of the community and give a fair deal to everybody. Those who assume that only one or two issues are in the moral category are apt to overlook some big things. The scriptures tell us to love one another, and administrative harmony for the enforcement of all the laws equally constitutes a very real moral issue in this city today.

PENALTIES FOR HAULING VOTERS

Considerable complaint has been heard among the voters who cast a majority of the ballots at the city election on April 3, that possibly through ignorance of the law which it is said to excuse no one, there were flagrant violations of the corrupt practices portion of the city commission form act which forbids the hauling of voters to registration or polling places. They say that they have no desire to prosecute for past infractions of this statute, but that any violation in regard to registration or election which may come to their notice hereafter, by whomsoever committed will be prosecuted.

The following are the statutory provisions governing this matter taken from section 421 of the general statutes:

It shall be unlawful for any person to use any carriage, automobile or vehicle of any kind or description for the transportation of voters to or from the places of registration during the period provided for registration, or to or from the polling places on the day of any municipal election held in cities organized under this chapter: Provided, This shall not prohibit any person or member of his family from going to or from such named places in his own conveyance or from using his own conveyance to transport crippled, aged, infirm or sick persons to or from such places.

Any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, upon conviction thereof, before any court having jurisdiction, be punished by a fine not exceeding $500, or be imprisoned in the county jail not exceeding 90 days, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

American Individualism

A Timely Message to the American People

By HERBERT HOOVER
Secretary of Commerce.

—THE FUTURE

INDIVIDUALISM has been the primary force of American civilization for three centuries. It is our sort of individualism that supplied the motivation of America's political, economic and spiritual institutions in all the years. It has proved its ability to develop its institutions with the changing scene. Our very form of government is the product of the individualism of our people, the demand for an equal opportunity, for a fair chance.

The American spirit of enterprise, of the individual, and the pioneer spirit is the response to the challenge of nature, to the challenge of life, to the call of the frontier. That spirit still exists, though the battle for it is protracted. There will always be a frontier to conquer or to hold as long as men think, plan and dare. Our American individualism has been strengthened by the constant contact with the forces of nature on a new continent. It evolved government without official emperors to show the way; it planned and solved its great problems; it built roads, ports, cities, canals, railroads, bridges, dams, irrigation ditches and strong social institutions. The decline of civilization has been born of wrong ideas. Most of the wars of the world, including the present, have been fought by the adoption of destructing ideas of social philosophy.

The primary safeguard of American individualism is the understanding of the failure of the various forms of government to meet the essential needs. The great content of selected areas, as yet unexplored, enlarge its borders, and it is only the pioneer who will penetrate the frontier in the quest for the unknown. The spirit of the frontier of our institutions has been given to them by the pioneer spirit. Our individualism is rooted in our very nature. It is based on individualism, equality, opportunity, freedom, and a willingness to test every process of national life upon the tumultuous life of the crude social mechanism. Despite the difficulties and of selection and of industry have been long chains of trial and error. Our public relations to them and to other phases of our national life can be improved in no other manner than by a enlarged and more intelligent recognition of our social faults. The failures and misplaced priorities of economic and social life can be corrected; they can be solved by a better understanding of the nature of our system and of the need of another system. The solution is a mixture of will to find solutions; of a sense of duty as well as of a sense of right and citizenship. No one who buys, consumes, or complains of guinea pigs and handshakes.

Humanity has a long road to perfection, but we of America can make progress if we will preserve our individualism and stimulate the initiative of all people. We will build up our instance and safeguards to equality of opportunity. We will bring into our national character, "freedom will" instead of "will to find"; "will" in the intelligence, the initiative, the character, the courage and the divine trust in the individual. We can safeguard these ends if we give to each individual the right to live his life according to the spirit of Americanism. We can make a social system as perfect as our general merits and one that will be received in gratitude by our children.

DIDN'T KNOW GREAT PAINTER

Woman's Criticism Decidedly Amusing Considering the Standing of the Artist.

The amateur who writes a letter to the editor of a newspaper, asking for information on a particular topic, the personal touch of individualism that devotion to social progress is often shown. These men would assume that their letter, though it is not for a very old but for a very young. We found our way out there centuries ago when our forefathers left Europe for those shores, to set up here a community, a democracy, a liberty dedicated to the development of individuality.

There are myriad social forces, other than our failures that would destroy our progress. The most important of these are the antagonistic classes over the antecedents, once familiar throughout Britain and America, of the nonprofessional folk singer who complained to a hotel manager in New York in the last century to her, when she sang stereotyped not only too frequent but an offence to the sensitive ear. She was told that unfortunately the only remedy was for her to change her room, which she did, but which would severely damage her reputation.

At Dublin not so long ago, writes a contributor to the "Daily Herald," a woman who had been a professional dancer was walking on a muddy path in company with another woman, a police officer, a New York society woman who dislikes and dislikes her but is not professionally educated. That same present company, however, was walking along the roadside, blocking in a water color. Recognizing a friend who doesn't like to be disturbed when at work, the first woman nudged the other to be quiet, and then stood still for a few moments.

As they walked on the society woman observed complacently: "O dear, isn't it pitiful? Why do people imagine they can paint? There is a man who is painting right now, and you can see from his work that he is one of those who will never do anything at all."

The man with half-painted gray was a medical student, Surgeon, who was a student of medicine, and makes for his little sidesteps in water color!

Was Not Wise.

A North side family had a pair of scales that had to be handled a certain number of times to get the correct weight, the Indianapolis News. The cultured man who worked for the family, however, was not "wise" to the fact, so, in buying the family employ, took with him the scales and taught them how to handle them correctly. Before the day was over, he was arrested for giving false weight and the scales were confiscated.

This never-before-known surface quietness results from the Columbia process of constructing records in layers or leaves—hard core overlaid with a material of such exquisite smoothness that the noise of needle friction is never created.

An example of this great musical accomplishment go to any Columbia Dealer and ask to hear "Peggy Dear," one of the best fox-trots, gloriously played by the Happy Six. It is like "Rocky Mountain Moon" and as you listen note the absence of that old, irritating grinding sound of the needle.

All Columbia New Process Records are equally delightful. They can be played on any phonograph.

DIVERSITY IN PRODUCTION IS ONE NECESSITY

Report of University Extension
Expert for Twin Falls County
Year of 1921 Shows Interesting
Results; Foreign Conditions
Big Factor.

That large farms are absolutely and relatively more profitable than small ones under the crop system now prevalent is a well known fact.

There are wide variations in profitableness of labor owing to difference in management; that mixed dairy and grain production is more profitable than either alone; and that a larger per cent of the total consumer should be raised at home are conclusions drawn in the problem report.

On the average, the mixed crop, 11 daily and 10 truck-crop farms in this county by Byron Hunter of the University Extension, losses were very heavy.

The foreign conditions held largely responsible for the change of 1921. Need of diversified farming tends to increase.

Parcels of land three classes:

large farms and less, those having 40 acres and 50 acres and those above 50 acres.

In the smaller group, there were 30 acres per farm in the next size up and in the largest, 55 acres. There were 10 acres per working horse in the small group. In the large group, 15 acres per working horse.

For every acre of land required for machinery and equipment required per acre on the small farm was $15, on the middle group $18 and on the large group $21. It is suggested that the cost of labor would be greater were it not for a system of exchange work between small farmers which largely prevails.

The living plan.

Considering the plan of living, it is shown that "there is no interest or claim due to pay the sum of family income, family expenses and taxes, plus interest on debts and taxes, plus the amount of labor required to support the family." Thus, the farmer must be able to suffice himself to yield a satisfactory living for the farm family.

No Fair Comparison.

It is shown in the report that the year under consideration was not a fair comparison, since it was taken during the greatest slump in farm products and coincided with a period of record low prices for instance, it says.

"The year 1921 was a very prosperous season for a very large majority of the farm families."

The inclusion of the report discusses causes which brought about the big slump which reached its nadir in 1921.

The year 1921, like 1922, was abnormal. The abnormal feature was the disproporionate relationship between the price of the products and what he had to buy.

The low price level of farm products which obtained during 1921, it should be clear to all who did not know it, was the result of a combination of many farm crops, (2) to curtailed buying power of our export customers, which, in turn was caused by the war, (3) the return of the countries of Europe, and (4) the fact that the prices of many of our farm products are controlled by foreign demand."

It is not all apparent.

It is also the result of the stimulus there was given to the market by the during 1921. Six causes are given: (1) high crop yields. On these returns, the results were derived from increased, (2) the selection of crops which were relatively profitable and which required little labor, (3) increasing the farm operations in such manner, and at such times as to accomplish the greatest return for the least outlay of labor, (4) keeping a farm at a low level without interfering with yields, (5) the prices obtained for farm products, these being the same in each case, (6) the prices received for each crop.

The eight mixed dairy and cash crop farms were more profitable than the three highly specialized dairy farms.

The average value of the family perquisites of the farms studied is not high. Many farmers will turn to a policy of making the farm produce more of the food used.

The preliminary report is in the hands of Secretary Newell S. Wick of the chamber of commerce.

A PLAIN PUBLIC STATEMENT

In the mayoralty campaign just closed by the election of Mr. Hodgin, there were only two issues presented, these were:

That Mr. Hodgin was not a taxpayer, and for that reason not fit or qualified to hold office in this city; and,

That the Lambing Ticket was supported by, and two of its candidates had applied for membership in the Ku Klux Klan; thus making that secret organization, its principles and purposes, an issue.

The first issue was definitely settled by the electorate on April 3rd by the election of Mr. Hodgin. It is now eliminated. By the splendid pluralities given to Mr. Keel and Mr. Leslie for City Commissioners, the people indicated their attitude on the second issue.

The remaining issue is the Ku Klux Klan. Do not forget this. Mr. Roberts and Mr. Stinson have admitted that they have applied for membership in that secret organization. Its reputed members still support them, and through its secret processes and activities its membership and its influence will be present at the polls in support of these candidates. Unless those opposed to its insidious influence are vigilant and active Mr. Hodgin's election will be rendered useless. He is justly entitled to the support of a sympathetic council. This can only be accomplished by the election of KEEL and LESLIE.

Every possible appeal to prejudice, even to the extent of the purveying of falsehood concerning Mr. Keel and Mr. Leslie, is being resorted to by this secret organization in its anxiety to gain control of this city. Bear this in mind: THE ONLY SINCERE AND GENUINE OBJECTION THAT THIS SECRET ORGANIZATION HAS TO MESSRS. KEEL AND LESLIE IS THAT THEY ARE NOT MEMBERS OF THE KU KLUX KLAN; THEY HAVE NOT APPLIED FOR MEMBERSHIP IN IT; THEY ARE NOT IN ACCORD WITH ITS PRINCIPLES OR AIM. IF ELECTED THEY WILL WORK IN HARMONY WITH MAYOR HODGIN AND WILL NOT PERMIT THE KU KLUX KLAN TO CONTROL OR TERRORIZE THIS COMMUNITY. THIS IS THE REAL AND URGENT REASON WHY FREE, LAW-ABIDING AND LIBERTY-LOVING CITIZENS SHOULD AND WILL VOTE FOR
