Disaffected Troops May Stage Revolt Soon; President Li Yuan Hung Flees from Peking; All China Aroused Over Crisis; Plan of Action Puzzle.

PEKIN, June 12.—President Li Yuan Hung fled from Peking to Tientsin this afternoon fearing an uprising by disaffected Chinese troops. Peking, the capital of northern China, is left without government as a result.

Many foreigners are entering the legations for safety. It is feared that troops, who have not been paid for months, will start rioting and looting.

The situation in Peking is tense with the possibility of armed revolt by the soldiers and foreign legations are taking special precautions to protect their nationals.

Heartened at a critical juncture by a majority of his political friends, President Li Yuan Hung abandoned Peking to flee to Tientsin, where he kept up place his government resigned last month.

FLOODS RENDER THOUSANDS OF REFUGEES TO THE SEA; PUGILIST CARRIED TO PLACES OF SAFETY.

Willard Tells Story of Rescue Work; Pugilist Carried to Places of Safety.

TILSA, Okla., June 12.—Thousands were made homeless here today by Arkansas river floods which swept unchecked through this section of Oklahoma.

The entire river bottom between here and Sand Springs, a distance of seven miles, was inundated. Three thousand refugees whose homes were swept away by the floodwaters were being cared for by relief agencies.

The municipal water works here were forced to shut down today on account of the flood waters, and there was danger of a spread of disease from lack of good drinking water.

At Jenks, south of here, water covered three-fourths of the town, according to a dispatch which here residents were said to be fleeing in boats.

M. Hutchinson, U. S. weather observer, predicted the river would continue to rise throughout the day. Tens of miles of thickly populated territory in and around Tulsa was inundated. In some sections of the city, water reached the house tops.

Armed men patrolled the flooded sections in an effort to prevent a general looting.

Shirley Blackwell, negro, was drowned when he tried to ford the Sand Springs bridge and bumped his head on a pile of household furniture floating in the flood stream.

Alles Control Fate of Country According to Premier Bethlen; Large Amount of Money Is Pressing Need Just at Present Time.

BRATISLAVA, June 12.—The press of Europe may well be surprised to learn that Hungary will depend largely on the treatment the allies deal out to this country.

This became very clear today during the meeting here given by Count Stephen Bethlen, prime minister of the Hungarian monarchy. In his address, he outlined the real picture in Hungary.

"What he said was never, in any way, to be taken by the press of the day. He merely outlined to me the situation in his country, dispassionately but with obvious sincerity, and when he was through there could remain no possibility of misunderstanding the situation in Hungary's need of international attention."

Chicago Bourbons Like Gov. Smith

CHICAGO, June 12.—An Al Smith for president boom is an ominous thing in Chicago today.

The New York governor, the guest of a dinner given by 50 leading Chicago financiers today, was called "a type of man the middle west likes" and a "man who-hop to welcome him as a savior of a higher order than that of Governor of New York state."

Al Smith's request, speakers made no direct reference to his being a presidential possibility. Between the dinner and the party, however, the topic was about the only one discussed.

Mayor William Hale, who presided at the ball rolling by welcoming Smith as the type we will always welcome.

"You are the type of man the middle west likes," said Dwyer. "The men who attempt to bring you all powers in the democratic party."

Wets and Drys Show Teeth at Mention of Volstead Law Change

WASHINGTON, June 12.—President Harding will run out of both wets and drys if the Volstead law is amended to remove the international complications which have arisen from the court's drastic construction which has brought liquor from foreign sources in America into the country.

The wets will oppose liberalization of the law in this particular unless it is liberalized as to domestic production.

The drys will not only refuse to agree to having the ban as it applies to foreign spirits, but will demand that it be tightened on American spirits so that they will be made by every where in the world as well as in the American waters. They will refuse to release the congress until it comes to amendment at all if there is danger of a "wet" victory on any point.

The real danger in this situation from the Volstead law is the possibility of congressional deadlock that may tie up administration action on the liquor question in view of the imminence of a campaign year. These include radical conditions, tax reductions and immigration revision.

The obvious difficulty in getting satisfactory action out of congress and getting it quickly, is the responsibility which will be placed on the President Harding has determined to see by diplomacy rather than by legislation, to get an agreement with the powers, which will serve the double purpose of ending congress and of permitting relaxation of the American regulations to a degree that will see how the present law is being modified in the new sugar law.

GIBBONS HAS ROAD PROGRAM

Challenger Intends to Have His Legs in Good Condition as Arms When He Enters Ring With Dempsey July 4.

SHELBY, Mont., June 12.—Tom Gibbons, the scientific boxer, is doing to get in shape for Jack Dempsey July Fourth in a road program.

The roadwork which he is diligently practicing of that merely a jog through the Shelby foothills.

Every morning between eight and nine he bats off five miles of the stuff. There's nothing better-kicker about the way he does it.

Tom figures it this way—"You box three minutes and rest takes a minute. In his road jogs he runs for three minutes and walks one."

"I figure this way of doing adjusts my muscles and heart to actual exertion in the ring," Tom says.

"When I started to box they told me that roadwork was part of a fighter's program. But I wanted to know

"I was told that it was the proper thing to do and all that, but such an explanation didn't satisfy me. I was curious. Other boxers told me it was to develop my legs and wind. So I thought it over and worked out my own system."

"A fighter goes at top speed for three minutes and then takes a minute rest."

"While you are exercising vigorously your blood shoots around your body fast."

"When you rest, your blood slows down."

"The heart action adjusts itself accordingly. So I have worked out the roadwork schedule to conform to actual fighting time."

"Five miles on the road corresponds to the four round route, the length of my big battle with Dempsey."

"Aside from these reasons for road work it toughens my legs."

"Legs are just as important as arms in fighting. It's when the legs weaken that you lose your judgment of distance and the hardest punch in the world doesn't mean anything unless it connects at the right spot at the right time."

"You notice baseball pitchers. They are going great for a few miles, then all at once can't locate the plate."

"Their arms often are not to blame as it is their legs that are weak and unbalance their pitching just out of distance."

"I never had but a few 15 round fights."

"A lot of them were scheduled for that route—but they didn't show up."

"So what I fight Dempsey, my legs are going to be in just as good shape as my arms."

DEMPSEY HAS NICE SITE FOR TRAINING

BY HENRY L. FAIRHILL.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., June 12.—In an honest-to-gosh town with two story houses, street cars and paved streets, Jack Dempsey, the world's heavyweight champion, is getting ready to fight with Tommy Gibbons on July 4.

Shelby, where Gibbons has pitched his camp, and the spot where Dempsey is training, have only one thing in common—they are both in Montana.

Here in Great Falls the trees stick out of the ground, the grass grows green, the sky was azure, and the boys have their shoes shined. This town has hotels with bell-hops, and signs to hang on the door at night.

"Do not disturb"—while customers carry their own luggage to Shelby hotel and in it they find a bed to go around pounding on the door at sunrise.

Like two towns, the training camps of the champion and the challenger differ widely. Gibbons works in a sun-baked alley, lined by barracks near on the side of a hill. Dempsey trains in a spot on the Missouri river, with trees, sand bars, cool breezes and with all modern conveniences. Dempsey likes his training camp, and Gibbons likes his. They are both of them, they are both of them, they are both of them.

SECOND INSTALLMENT OF TOM GIBBONS BIOGRAPHY

Here are some of the things Tommy Gibbons is doing to get himself in shape for his match with Jack Dempsey at Shelby, Mont., July 4. Staircase bathing, punching the bag, running and skipping the rope are all emphasized in his training program. Tommy also plays golf and he plays a mean seythe, too.

(By HOOPER DILLMAN.)

SHELBY, Mont., June 12.—One day the Special Club put on a big dinner. The bully was there again. A photographer came out to take pictures. The gang wanted the bully and Gibbons to pose. After the picture was taken the boys tried they ought to put on another fight.

Tommy and the bully fought four rounds. From the second round Gibbons didn't know whether he was in the ring or in a hole on a ranch. He thought he was losing. But after it was over the gang gathered around and cheered him. He had looked the club him. He had

"I guess I stuck out my chest," relates Gibbons, "and tried to act like what they wanted their hero to be after that."

Nearly a year later he joined a local light club. There he fought the bully again. And again he whipped him.

His First Fight.

Mike decided Tommy might just as well earn some money. He matched his younger brother on the same card, with himself at Albionville. The fellow he picked for our hero was named Cyclone Kelly. But Tommy didn't find him much a cyclone. He got ready to skip the fifth round.

Gibbons' name was supposed to be $15. The promoter didn't want to pay him.

While Mike was arguing with the promoter about it, Tommy noticed that the gentleman had a five-foot ball in his hand. He looked at the ball and then at Mike.

Mike took the cue. He grabbed the five foot ball and said, "Well, well, just take this."

And Then New York.

That was on September 25, 1911. Tommy had found his first fight. And he admits he was pretty much elated over the outcome.

His second fight came out of a work later with K. O. Brown. Gibbons got $15 and a broken rib out of it. He knocked Brown out in the fifth.

Brown was a colored boxer, the only one Tommy ever fought.

"Mike thought I was going to be a wonder," said Tommy. "So did I. 'We'll go down to New York and make some real Jack,' he told me." Mike got him a match on the same card as the one he himself was boxing at Billy Gibbons' Ballgame.

New York—that was going to mean a lot to Tommy.

ELKS AND BANKS END IN TIE 7-7

AFTER seven innings of baseball had finished in a tie score, 7-7, last night, Empire Whizzy called the Elks-Banks game on account of darkness.

The weather was disagreeable, keeping the attendance low. Ray Hoodin, high school star, went the other way.

The Elks got to Hill City early in the contest. Three runs were put over in the first inning on some hard hitting, a hit batsman and an error.

Four were added in the fourth. Thomas' four fly ball and LeVine's two longer foulings.

The Bankers knicked the count by scoring two runs in the first of the seventh. Singles by Miller and a walk and a couple of infield outs put two across.

The box score:

The Shoshone team should turn their talents to the stage and put on Gibbons' play. "The Comedian" is a play. The errors are more tragic than comic.

YANKS PACK THE PUNCH OF CHAMPS

BY BILLY EVANS.

Getting the breaks was ball games. Good clubs always seem to get the breaks.

That in a sense is true. Yet looking back from another angle, it must be admitted that winning ball clubs make many of the breaks that come their way and decide ball games.

During the recent trip of the New York Americans to the west, the Yankees made a remarkable record by winning 12 of the 13 games played on the trip. To meet such success it must make the most run. You must have the punch to make the most of the opportunities offered.

I remember the game that the New York club played in St. Louis. Meeting between the Browns and the Yankees always produces plenty of excitement. The series recently played was no exception. It abounded in thrills.

New York won the entire four games. Two of the games went to the Yankees because the Browns were clearly outplayed. The other two games were won by New York because Higgins' men got the breaks and made the most of them.

In one game the Yankees gave a masterful display of hitting. They were completely outplayed. They were completely outplayed. They were completely outplayed.

Frank Crowley, ex-lightweight, and warm personal friend of Dempsey, said it is possible that Jack did run into one which momentarily stopped him but that it is nothing to his discredit. It is so. He is only human. I've seen fighters in the ring lose a fight 100-0 punch after having an opponent whipped for 20 rounds.

Others seemed to think the story told by Dempsey was well as leading to discredit his backers. It may be here the champion has less than an even chance with Gibbons as the result of the story.

Shoshone Club Badly in Need of Good Slab Talent

SHOSHONE, Idaho, June 12.—Catcher Lindner of the Shoshone team who has his shoulder injured in a recent game has gone on a visit with relatives in Wisconsin. He expects to be back in about three weeks and able to get in the team again for the rest of the season.

CLAIMS CHAMPION WAS KNOCKED OUT BY NEGRO HEAVY

LOS ANGELES, June 12.—Friends of Jack Dempsey today voiced their disbelief of a story related here by Walter Miller, wrestling instructor of the Los Angeles Athletic club, that "Kid" Coffey, negro, heavyweight, knocked out Dempsey recently during training for his fight with Tommy Gibbons at Shelby, Mont.

Miller said that Jim Johnston, mayor of Shelby, told him the story upon their meeting in Portland, Ore., last week.

Mike Collins, promoter of the match who was with Johnston, neither affirmed or denied Johnston's story, according to Miller.

Frank Crowley, ex-lightweight, and warm personal friend of Dempsey, said it is possible that Jack did run into one which momentarily stopped him but that it is nothing to his discredit. It is so. He is only human. I've seen fighters in the ring lose a fight 100-0 punch after having an opponent whipped for 20 rounds.

With Congressman Smith praising Owsley, who sears Senator Borah for some things and the national administration for others, it looks as if there is some divergence of viewpoint among leading members of the party in power in this country.

Is there a surplus or a deficit in the water works department? There are two points of view: One is that the water department ought to pay maintenance replacement, operation fees, interest on bonds and lay aside money for a sinking fund. In that case there is, according to auditors figures, a deficit of something like $11,000. On the other theory, while the water works department should pay cost of operation and maintenance and lay aside a surplus for replacement and repairs, the bonds and the interest thereon should be paid from the general fund of the city. In that case, from that viewpoint, there is a surplus.

There are too many shrewd democrats in the good old party to allow Governor Al Smith and his gang to rule the roost. Even the editor of the Twin Falls Times is far-sighted enough to recognize this fact and if this issue comes the "daisy" crowd will dominate William Jennings Bryan for the fourth time and hunt enough votes to elect him. Bryan is a much bigger man in the nation today than he has ever been before and age has helped to ripen his once seemingly radical ideas. Bear this in mind, the G. O. P. are in the hole and will have to do the apologizing in 1924 and they are trying to put the democrats in the same embarrassing position.

Thursday is Flag day and every boy and girl and grown-up should hesitate long enough on that date to pay proper tribute to Old Glory. The Boy Scouts are given a proper idea of how to honor the Stars and Stripes, but there are many young and old, who do not learn this wonderful lesson. In a little less than 150 years this flag has come to be honored and respected by the world as the greatest emblem of charity and brotherly love that winks its colors to the breeze. Under this emblem the oppressed find a haven of rest and protection which is offered by no other flag of another nation.

The announcement that the whole city commission is pledged to not levy the extra five mills in taxes, or any part thereof, if granted the right to do so by the voters Thursday night is gratifying in the extreme and should insure the voting of permission, which will allow them to utilize money that otherwise would accumulate as a surplus. The state law should be made explicit and more flexible in this respect. It is true that in flush days city governments in all municipalities followed the example of private citizens and spent more money than they should have done; and the whole lesson should not be forgotten, but there are certain minimum expenses that must be met and the legitimate resources and income should be available.

At any rate, the mass meetings announced for various cities and towns of Idaho in order to get enough revenue to run city governments present one good feature: They are democratic in principle and give the people a closer insight into the affairs of government. That this feature of the law was passed by a reactionary legislature is one of the anomalies of the last session; that it was signed by Governor Moore after what he said in regard to the principles involved in the direct primary, is another peculiar thing. In this law, a little more latitude in control of funds by city councils, especially in regard to the disposition of a-impunt taxes, would have been an improvement, but the return to the old town meeting idea is right in principle.

The Springfield Republican remarks that in signing the bill for the repeal of the state prohibition statute in New York, Governor Alfred Smith killed his chances of being president. He did not. Something must be alive before it can be killed and Smith's presidential boom was never alive any more than the boom of Governor Edwards of New Jersey, was alive in 1920. The next president of the United States will be in favor of the maintenance and enforcement of the prohibition law, but he will not be elected on that issue. Such maintenance and enforcement will be taken for granted. The repeal of national prohibition is not an issue and will not be next year. The next president will be elected on issues that are really alive and those advanced into appearance of life by local or state politicians to suit their convenience or necessity.

The final decision, based on exhaustive examination of City Attorney A. J. Myers, that there was no illegal issue of outstanding warrants by the last administration, will be a matter of satisfaction to its members and of pleasure to the people of Twin Falls generally, since it will permit payment of wages to worthy workmen and of other valid bills. Otherwise, many would have to suffer loss who had served the city either in labor or material, in good faith. It was purely a question of law, and sometimes law works harshly. Fortunately, in this case, it does not. The figures compiled by Wolfenden & Baddiford shows that some departments exceeded appropriations in the total sum of more than $6,000, but careful examination of court rulings bearing on the question proves conclusively that this will not invalidate warrants issued on such funds when the total estimated appropriation has not been exceeded.

MARKETS

CHICAGO, June 15.-Grain prices rallied in the late afternoon and under the leadership of most closed futures on the Chicago Board of Trade today.

A good crop of wheat looking forward receipt of unfavorable crop news from Kansas, Oklahoma and parts of Texas, which extensive rains have caused rivers to inundate farm lands.

A strong Winnipeg market caused by higher cash prices and advances from Europe that crops are in unfavorable condition due to cold weather, also had an effect on trade settlement.

The northwest crop report showed that the southwest received too much rain during the past week and that crops there show a rank growth with wheat lodging.

The Illinois typh damage in wheat is in this section, the report stated. The Illinois winter crop was estimated at between 29,000,000 and 32,000,000 bushels compared with 32,000,000 bushels last year.
