

POLAR FLIGHT NOT FORSAKE BY EXPLORERS

Preparations for Record Trip Told by E. F. Kannon, Who Came to Name by Dog sled; Second Test Flight to Be Held in Near Future.

NOMI, Alaska, June 27.—(Special) Inland Amundsen and Lindbergh have not abandoned the plan to fly over the north pole from Wainwright inlet, Alaska, to Nome, Alaska.

The first word to come from these men was that the first test flight reached Nome through E. F. Kannon, who has arrived here from Wainwright by dog sled to secure supplies.

He brought news that on May 11 Amundsen and Lindbergh attempted a trial flight but on landing were skinned on their planes, which, until then had performed satisfactorily.

Kannon, who is the first man to have made the hard trip over the rough snow trail from Wainwright to Nome, says Amundsen and Lindbergh, and that when he left the explorers' camp they were engaged in repairing the plane and building a landing field on the frozen ground.

A second trial flight was to be made as soon as this work was completed and if successful the flight in September would be expected as soon as conditions were favorable.

Kannon said he anticipated any day to hear that Amundsen and Lindbergh had made their way to Nome.

Kannon plans to return to Wainwright soon with additional supplies for the explorers' camp.

General opinion in Nome, despite Kannon's report, was that the flight would have to be abandoned.

Kannon was out of the dog sled drivers Amundsen took with him from Kotzebue sound to Wainwright.

He said that if nuts must be worn, then they should be washed frequently, and if they are not washed frequently, they should be washed frequently.

The man who must wear a straw hat during active-duty is to get him, he warned. Lungy tresses on the mouth and tongue, followed by an eruption of smallpox are the results. It is especially prevalent in the upper Mississippi valley he said.

And then came Dr. M. L. Turner of Des Moines with an onslaught on the "naked" babies. He identified the cause of the foot of infants he followed by mothers as by animals.

"If" he explained, their cows go carelessly as some mothers nurse their babies there would be a milk famine within three months, it was his warning.

TRUTH SERUM IS GIVEN SOUND TEST

SAN JUAN PENITENTIARY, Cal., June 27.—More evidence as to the efficacy of Scopolamine, called "truth serum" was sought today by Dr. H. E. House, of Texas, its discoverer.

He came to the penitentiary this morning and began checking in detail the statements made to date by three prisoners who took the scopolamine treatment last night, against known facts in their cases.

His purpose was to determine whether there could be detected any conflict between the known facts and the statements the prisoners made.

Dr. House explained that scopolamine is a drug which causes a person to forget the contents of his mind and gives full away to the subconscious mind.

His theory is that when under the drug's influence, the subject's subconscious mind is automatically caused facts to be uttered in answer to questions.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 27.—A controversy over construction of a national country, rivaling the famous Alton-Hullinger incident, today was focusing a break and born over the recent alleged dismissal of Secretary of the Interior Work as a result of pressure from private power companies of Colorado and California.

According to Davis himself, his resignation was forced by Secretary Work as the result of pressure from private power companies of Colorado and California.

Congressional investigation is being, engineers and members of congress from western states.

Secretary Work announced recently that A. H. Davis had resigned and that W. Davis, former governor of Idaho, had been appointed in his place as "commodore of reclamation." A. H. Davis resigned after a statement in the "United Press" that he had been fired without hearing by Work.

Secretary Work brought great pressure to make us withdraw from this position," said Davis today.

What Is College Diploma Worth, Dispute Sequel to Amherst War

NEW YORK, June 27.—How much is a college diploma worth? A practical test is being made in 12 Amherst College seniors, who spectacularly declined the supreme reward of a college career as a mark of loyalty to Dr. Alexander McKeekin, ousted as president of Amherst in a war over liberalism in education.

These are outstanding questions in the current that has spread from Amherst and stirred the country. The eternal disputes involving college honor, college trustees, educators, students, and alumni organizations are being fanned by the McKeekin incident, and the post-graduation of the 12 seniors in refusing their sheppards and a thirteenth student in declining to accept the post-graduation matter of arts degree.

Said Dr. McKeekin, "America is not a democracy and doesn't know it. And, defending his erudition, he said the situation of college and the alumni that they were willing an "improper influence" because they "knew as much that isn't going on in our college."

Proponents and opponents of Dr. McKeekin and those applauding and deprecating the rebellion of the Amherst seniors are in a war of words.

"Educate the alumni," says John G. Bertrand, New York lawyer, and chairman of the Federal-Alumni Associations of New York University.

Another view, supporting the ousted Amherst president and applauding the students who stood behind him is from Ives, John Haynes Holmes, editor of the New York Community church.

"Not in years have I been so proud of a group of men as the Amherst students who have received the arts degree of master of arts."

MR. GUNNYSACK GETS EVEN

For Once, He is Satisfied He Got the Better of His Telephone Company.

Old Mr. Gunnysack, whose standing grievance has been the matter of being billed for his telephone bills, is at last satisfied. It has been his bitter complaint that frequently he is getting a number less than he paid for to sacrifice his nickel, the said nickel being a total loss because he lacked time to wait for central to return his coin.

The other day he approached a booth in one of the city's public buildings and hurriedly looking young man entered and said a word that for an instant he was in the hands of a young man who sacrificed his nickel, the said nickel being a total loss because he lacked time to wait for central to return his coin.

"The line is busy," said central in a moment or two "I'll return your money." And with that Mr. Gunnysack fell into the little compartment provided. But it was not long before he saw 25 cents which the hurried young man, his out-of-town number being also busy, had not waited to collect—New York Sun.

MEMORIAL TO CAMPUS LOVE

Nature Took a Hand in Preservation of Trees Shaped by Young Indiana Coed.

More than half a century ago a young coed and a young horticulturist graduate at Indiana university in Bloomington decided to plant a tree on a walk on the campus, during which time the young coed took two small saplings and planted them in a row and left them. She never heard the occurrence long after she had married another, told her son of it and he went to visit the trees on the campus, found the saplings still entwined, grown into a great solid tree trunk, but he found the trees showing plainly they had been planted together long ago and had become one. The son, now a college professor, carried away a picture of the tree—Ohio State Journal.

RUDOLPH PITCHES IN GREAT STYLE; STAGES COMEBACK

BY DILLY EVANS.

The age of baseball rinks has not reached its end.

Not when Dick Rudolph, nine years after his 1914 world's series fame, returns to the ball and pitches a shutout victory.

Youth must be served, but age matters long when there is a handle of gray matter on the abject.

For Dick Rudolph, retiring as an active performer several years ago, took a flag at his familiar spot on May 17, faced the hurler team in the National League, and won, 1-0, in ten innings.

Rudolph's feat of blanking the Pittsburgh Pirates in his first game in several years, is one of the features of the present season.

A decade back Dick was pitching shutouts without causing any commotion but when he turns the trick at the age of 35, then it is time to put out a call for Cy Young, Nick Attract, Bill Dingen and others of that long ago.

Exactly 14 years after he pitched his first professional game Rudolph delivered his remarkable shutout. He was with Fordham College in 1909 and with New Haven in the Connecticut State League the next year.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

CONSIDER BACKSTOP IMPORTANT PLAYER

By Keeping Cool He Becomes Great Steadying Influence on the Pitcher.

By CARL LINDENBERG, 20-10-10 Coach.

The catcher is one of the most important players on the team. He should be a cool, alert individual, able to keep his head and his feet together. The catcher should be able to see the ball and the pitcher's feet, and to be ready to handle the ball under any conditions.

Many catchers keep their hands in a constant state of pain by carrying the ball in the position in which they hold their hands when receiving a ball. The fingers should be able to feel the ball and to be ready to handle the ball under any conditions.
