RAH TALKS TO CLUB DELEGATES | SOUTH AMERICAN STORM SWEEPS OVER VAST TERRITORY CAUSING DAMAGE TO OCEAN-GOING SHIPS

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, July 12.—Four large steamers scores of small craft and wrecks, still lashed by furious storms sweeping Chile, Argentine and Uruguay.

Hundreds of houses here are roofless, tremendous damage has been done to the harbor "while the harbor is a tangle of drifting shipping."

Four vessels are aground, driven high on rocks by the storm that whipped up and down the coast for three days.

The Tuscany, out of Liverpool, one of the stranded finally disappeared all together in the storm, her crew safe.

Three hundred and nine passengers from the German Rugia were landed with a life boat near Santa Rosa.

A French steamer, the Bobenier, and another, the Mo land, are aground. The British steamer "Trefusis, out of Black-burn for Europe," went out S. O. E. C. can during the storm, giving her latitude as 37 south, lo 54.10 west.

Still another steamer, the Mont Conis, was damaged in the harbor here.

Telegraph communications were disrupted, but have been established. Scores of houses had their roofs hurled from the roofs by the explosion.

Gas service here was seriously interfered with and many parts of the city still are in darkness at night.

Damage to property will run well towards one million dollars.

BOY SCOUTS GETS $100,000 But Will Stick to Tubs

(Copyright by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America)

SCOUTS LEARN LEADERSHIP

Scouting is often called a school of leadership, because it teaches a boy resourcefulness, self-confidence and initiative.

This training is showing itself prominently in the field of school work, where scouts in many sections of the country are winning high honors.

When the names of this year's Rhodes scholars were announced, that is, the college boys selected from all over the United States to receive a scholarship to attend Oxford university, representatives of this country, because of their high character, intelligence and all-around physical excellence, the Boy Scouts of America wrote to these students and asked: "Have you been a scout?" because they are just the type that scouting aims to develop.

Out of those replying, one-half said they had been scouts, and the other half, with one exception, said they regretted deeply not having been able to join the movement. In almost every case this was because there was no scout troop near home. All but two of the letters declared that scouting is a "fundamental value in training boys."

The leadership training of scouting is also emphasized by the Congress (P.A.) Scout Eagle, in that the number of boys in the organization who have attained positions of honor in the local high school. The valedictorian of the graduating class; another honor man; the captain of the basketball team, exceeding the best scout captain, who graduates this year; the editor-in-chief of the school paper; the 1922-23, and its business manager; also the present editor-in-chief of the school annual—all are members of local troops.

The Congress Eagle further states that in the past three years the scouts have given the old high school capitals, five managers and have received more than sixty varsity players in soccer, basketball, baseball, tennis and track. Three classes have received scouts as their presidents. Two presidents of the athletic association were scouts. Three editors-in-chief of the high school yearbook, one business manager and two members of the staff have belonged to the organization; also during the three years the school paper has had from the field of scouting two editors-in-chief, a business manager and two vice-presidents of the staff. "Representatives of the movement are seldom missing among the honor graduates," concludes the Eagle, "and this year from scouting ranks comes the highest honor student."

SCOUTS SAVE MOTHER'S LIFE

Ask a scout who, through his knowledge of first aid, has saved his mother's life, and he will tell you that it is a scout training course. At their home in Des Moines, Ia., on a recent evening A. B. Borman, and his four sons—Homer and Charles—heard a sharp crying out from the bathroom upstairs. Mr. Borman, and his sons rushed to answer the call and found the mother lying over the edge of the tub, one hand rigidly clutching the electric heater. It was apparent that Mrs. Borman, while standing in the water, had grasped the heater. A complete circuit had been established, and before the heavy voltage of electricity had passed through her body, rendering her unconscious, she had been able to call for help.

Mrs. Borman was apparently dead, but "first aid" was given. The scouts, however, promptly started giving first aid, and in a few minutes Mrs. Borman was revived. For several tense minutes they worked without noticeable results. Then her pulse began to beat slowly and her hands revived. It was three hours before the patient regained complete consciousness.

The doctor stated that the boy's emergency measures had, without doubt, saved their mother's life.

SCOUTS AND DADS CELEBRATE

In Alaska, too, fathers and sons are enjoying scouting together. On the evening of the recent presentation of the charter made June 29, 1923, to a pack of two twelve-year-old American "every registered scout and his father" marched into the banquet room together, and it was a question of who was the promoter. The arrangement was planned so that a scout and a father, alternated along the forming a circle. The boys, remembered by all present, gave a local paper.

BOY SCOUTS TRAINED TO BE

"Scouting-teaches boys to be mentally alert, and seeing where they can be of service to their country," says an official in command of the Boy Scouts of America, by Troop 4, Rochester, N. Y. The members of this troop have made a blind boy each Saturday morning for over two years at a railroad station where they have conducted him to the home of his mother, and after the boy's mother has seen him safely back to his train.

FAILURE IN DAIRY BUSINESS

Greatest Factor to Success is the Man Himself—His Milk-Like Cows and Care for Them.

Failure in the dairy business is due to one of three things:

1. The business itself.

2. The cow.

3. The man.

The business is sound. This is shown largely by the fact that the income derived from the dairy business is larger than the income derived from all other classes of live stock on the farm combined.

The cow must be a good cow, one that can return a good labor income to her owner.

But the greatest factor to success in the dairy business is the man.

He must know his good cows and not guess which are his good ones.

His must be a dairyman, and like cows, like to work with them and like to care for them. He must not be in the dairy business just in order to pay off that grocery bill contracted when he had no use for cows.

He must remember that the fundamental basis of the dairy business lies in the maternity of the dairy cow.

He must know how to feed properly and apply that knowledge and to feed only cows that can return a profit.

He must use a good purebred bull to keep up the future quality of his herd.

He must know how to work and apply that knowledge—Harold R. Lacombe, Fieldman, State Dairy Commission.

TREATMENT OF CALF SCOURS

Put Feed One-Half Until Animal Becomes Hungry, Then Give Dose of Castor Oil.

To treat a case of scours, cut the feed to half or even less than that until the calf has become hungry. A dose of one to three ounces of castor oil or paraffin oil will help to clean out the animal and may with be given. There are four ounces in a pint of water, added to the milk at the rate of one teaspoonful to the pound.

The milk will sometimes relieve the trouble. Another very satisfactory treatment is to add about four to five drops of fluid extract of gentian to the milk.

Feed one-half of the milk and give it to the calf before each feeding of milk. It is always advisable to reduce the milk to a half or a third until the scours are entirely cured.

Use twice that quantity rates from two to four feedings a day.

KEEP ALL HEIFERS GROWING

Young Animals Are Unduly Neglected by Many Dairymen—Feed Silage and Lucerne Hay.

Returns get our attention. Possibly for this reason the better calves are unduly neglected. That stock which he kept growing normally. With silage and clover or alfalfa hay, one should feed each heifer from two to five pounds of farm-grown grain per day. If no silage is available, feed two pounds of corn daily with the clover or alfalfa hay.

With silage and no lucerne hay, a good ration consists of a portion of grain and fodder or lucerne hay and grain mixture containing equal parts of corn and linseed meal.

FALL AND SPRING CALVING

Three Years Test Conducted by Mississippi Experiment Station.

Results of three years' work to determine the advantages of spring and fall calving with dairy cattle, conducted by J. R. Moore of the Mississippi experiment station, show that cows calving in the fall produced an average of 172 pounds of milk and 18.4 pounds of butterfat more than cows calving in the spring. In a comparison of early and late fall calving the average difference per cow per year was 680 pounds of milk and 27.5 pounds of butterfat in favor of late fall calving.

NEEDFUL MINERALS IN FEED

Most Lima Contained in Legume Hay and Bran and Middlings.

The common alfalfa feeds containing the most lime are the legume hay, cowpeas, clover, alfalfa and soy beans. But from cowpeas containing the most. These which contain the most phosphorus are wheat bran, wheat middlings and linseed meal in the order named. The most lime is contained in: clover hay, alfalfa hay, linseed meal, and in that order contains much phosphorus as the concentrate named.

Benefit From Cow Testing.

Cow testing increases the average production of the dairy herd by eliminating all low-producing cows, and second, by enabling one to select the foundation animals for his herd on the basis of performance.

Feed Silage to Calves.

Calves may be fed silage in connection with skim milk as soon as they are old enough to eat it. They will begin taking a little silage in three weeks old, and they can be fed from then on as much as they will eat.

Gets $100,000 But Will Stick to Tubs

LOUISE BILLET

DETROIT, July 10.—Louise Billiet, 50 year old washerwoman, has inherited $100,000.

But she is going to stick to her tub! One hundred thousand dollars is a lot of money. But all the money in the world, she says, couldn't separate her from the tub in which she has come to find happiness.

Enterprising auto agents, stock and bond salesmen, newspaper reporters and photographers, all get the same answer.

"Here I am mistress of my world," she says simply. "In this steam filled room, with my soap and water and frothing laundry, I am 'The Boss.' My work keeps me young, happy and healthy. Why should I change?"

And she prods articles of wearing apparel around in the tub, humming the tune of a popular song.

Can't Leave It

"My work has grown on me in 10 years. I have depended on it for support—I can't leave it now. I should be at home anywhere except over a wash tub or ironing board."

"There are other kinds of work, yes. But I like washing and ironing best. They're such good exercises."

Miss Billiet, however, will use part of the $100,000 to gratify a whim she has had for years.

She may take a short vacation and visit the Rocky Mountains, she confided.

It Cooks Automatically

The Regulating Clock on Automatic Electric Ranges Shuts Off Heat Automatically at Exact Time You Set It

Are you aware of the convenience that this single feature of the Electric Range is able to accomplish for you?

With the Electric Range in your home, you may start the dinner cooking before you go out, and by setting the Regulating Clock at the time you wish the heat shut off, completely forget Dinner and every household care for the rest of the afternoon. When you return your dinner is cooked and ready to serve.

Another Feature

This other feature is also found exclusively in the Electric Ranges—the faculty of roasting without loss of moisture shrinkage. A practically air-tight oven is the reason.

And what a very little down payment is necessary to equip your home with an Electric Range—$10.00, less than you would pay for a pair of shoes. Why not make up your mind right now that YOU will have one before the week is over. It's up to you for the Electric Range is the most economical and efficient Range on the market today.

tion," Mr. Postle says. "The Edison plan fixes the loan values of all products arbitrarily, uniformly and arbitrarily. It ignores the relative prospects of different commodity markets. Only by the market chance would such a method give a fair loan valuation. Fifty per cent of the average price for the previous twenty-five years would be too high for some commodities and too low for most of them. With such details the Edison plan is not concerned."

Banks Fairer to Farmers
The general practice of the banks is not only fairer to farmers, but it is sounder business. There is no justification for basing the loan value of anything upon average prices in past years. Sound banking practice looks to the future. A bank—for the protection of its depositors, if for no other reason—must consider above everything the prospects of getting its money back. And a farmer's prospects of repaying a loan from the sale of his product depend entirely on future prices, not at all on past prices. Last year's runs do not count in this year's game."

As to the claim that the Edison plan would curb speculation in farm products, Mr. Edison says:

"There is nothing in the Edison plan that would tend to abolish speculation. Even after the farmer had stored his products and obtained a loan from the Government, he would still be free to sell his products outright to speculators. The farmer would have all the inducements to sell that he has today, and speculators would have all the inducements to buy.

"Clearly, then, the Edison plan would not provide a money that is sounder than gold money; it would not provide a money less subject to fluctuation in value; it would not enable farmers to obtain larger loans than they can now obtain; it would not direct contributions from the Japanese Story Tellers:

Public story tellers still earn a good livelihood in Japan. In the large cities and towns hundreds of them ply their trade, provided with a small table, a fan and a paper wrapper to illustrate and emphasize the points of their
