DUNDEE WINS FROM CRIQUI

Frenchman No Match for Anti-Fight-Fighter—and Is Knocked All Over Ring; Criqui is Game Loser.

NEW YORK. July 27.—With the same stout heart that carried him through the horrors of hell and the tortures of purgatory, with that undying spirit that urged him to grip his bayonet when a shell removed most of his face, game Georges Criqui, the French boxer, maintained his featherweight championship of the world last night, to Johnny Dundee. As he "carried on" under the ring banner of France, when everything seemed lost, no Criqui kept going last night for fifteen rounds while he knew that he could not go on.

When he had survived 15 rounds of cruel and merciless bombardment he stood up like a man who had been born to it, his mouth purpled with blood and his twisted face trying to smile and show his teeth. He was known as "the new champion of France."

Floored once in the first round for a count of nine, downed again in the second, forced to the ropes as the ten count of the referee was about to fall on him beaten all over the body in every round, Criqui kept going.

"What's holding him up?" a youngster asked at the ringside. A sage nod from the supreme court next to him answered.

"A heart, my boy, nothing but a heart."

There was romance and a moral for a sermon in the virtue of patience in the feet of Johnny Dundee who had been born to fame and fortune, rewarded with a championship, but there was so much tragedy in the downfall of the greatest champion that the world has ever seen that the partisans of little Dundee went away with a picture that will remain for a long time of that bleeding Frenchman in the belated fight.

"Criqui has had a right to the ring."

To have been a kid for a little more than a day, to have earned just a little money and a reputation that is spontaneously and gainlessly that will be to his undying credit, are all that Criqui has to take back to his native France. And when he returns, he will be celebrating his first real world's champion.

Perhaps America can rejoice that the heavyweight championship is back in this country but there is no occasion-to-worry-about—Criqui is here to stay. Just as the Frenchman is the toughest man in the class before he had a chance in his title.

The "Frenchman" was poorly handled by his manager, who demanded the "right-to-stay-away" from the Dundee bout for at least six months, but the Frenchmen are in awe of American boxing associations. Criqui was badly handled last night. When one of his false teeth had been knocked out of his upper cheek, there was nothing in his corner to stop the flow of blood and his seconds just let him bleed. He was beaten, but not greatly neglected in his corner.

Official estimates placed the crowd at 32,420 and the receipts at $12,616, while Dundee's end of 15% per cent brought him $1,842.50.

Criqui, by his title, a little over a month after he had won what he does.

DESCENT OF A SWAN DIVE.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—Wanting to do no attempt fancy diving too soon in your career as a swimmer?

Before you are ready for the elementary dives of this series, however, you must learn to do complete mastery of at least one swimming stroke, of floating and the elementary dives, of floating and the elementary dives.

All fancy dives are based on three fundamental types of dives, the front jack-knife and the back jack-knife.

The first of these is the swan dive, an old and practical and most graceful and also one of the easiest to learn.

It can be done either from a spring board or from the floor of the pool, board, so that it is at least three feet above the water.

The starting position for the back jack-knife is to sit erect on the board, with the head well over the spring-board arms extended in front of you shoulder-width apart.

With the arms extended, squat or sit on the floor, feet up, and hold straight.

Hold this position for a moment, then straighten the body and enter the water feet first, with the toes straight and the tips pointed.

The starting position for the back jack-knife is to sit erect on the board, with the head well over the spring-board arms extended in front of you shoulder-width apart.

With the arms extended, squat or sit on the floor, feet up, and hold straight.

Hold this position until you are ready to descend.

Then forcibly swing the arms upward, at the same time, during well up and back clearing the board by the waist, the body forward, the arms at the sides of the body and with toes gripping the edge of the board or platform.

Hold this position until you are ready to descend.

In the back jack-knife, remember that the forearms are swinging and the ankles, legs straight. Hold this position for a moment, then straighten the body and enter the water in the correct manner.

The Twin Falls Chautauqua was one of the most successful that has been held here for years from the point of view of the management. But the program could have been strengthened without additional cost, according to the writer's opinion, but perhaps what the writer did not think was par excellence some other portion of the Chautauqua perhaps would deserve the best number presented. In our humble opinion there were just four outstanding numbers this year, and while the others were very good they were just rather mediocre in their make-up. Many people will not agree with the writer on this subject but it is an opinion that makes the world go so hereina ours. The band last evening was perhaps the most outstanding attraction in the line of music and entertainment but for the lectures Tom Skeleby stood out prominently above all the others. He had a real message which made people think and talk for days and will continue to talk of his message for weeks to come. This in our opinion is the purpose of a chautauqua. The play on the first evening taught a good lesson and was exceptionally well presented. Beatrice Stuart Weller stood fourth in our estimation in her ability to make people think on some of the great world problems and therefore should be accredited a place among the four celebrators of the Twin Falls Chautauqua artists. Several of the preludes were very excellent but were not really outstanding features for a Chautauqua program.

FARMER AND CITY MAN TO GET TOGETHER

Secondary in popular appeal, but in no sense secondary in importance, is the Kiwanis plan to create a better feeling between the man on the farm and the man in the city.

In his address on public affairs at the Atlanta convention, Past International President Harry Karr said that, "We of the city are rearing a race of children who believe that tomatoes and onions grow in the corner grocery store, that sardines are born in a small flat tin can and milk originates in glass bottles and is to be found like a fooling child, on some nice person's doorstep."

To disseminate a wider knowledge of the farmer, his trials, his troubles, the long hard day he spends in his field, that the city man may have eyes on the bread flour for his bread, we must put more and more city people in touch with the tiller of the soil.

For the farmer to get over the idea that city people live on the fat of his land and the sweat of his bro's we must bring him to town and teach him the city's man's viewpoint. It is the city's source of supply just as the city is his market. The more perfect understanding brought about between the two, the better our civilization.

Our prosperity, our commercial success, our very lives depend on the farmer. Every step in the direction of making his life a better one, his business a more profitable one is a true exemplification of the "We Build" motto of Kiwanis.

At the end of 10 years of Bolshevikism, Lenin acknowledged its failure. After generations of fight between imperialism and anarchism, communism came into being. Its founders thought they were developing a practical Utopia. The communists, however, were the city people. They were the employees of factories, city dwellers with the city viewpoint; in their plan they failed to take into consideration the farmers. Russia, like the United States and Canada, is an agricultural country.

The first season of the reign of the soviet, the farmers produced a crop. Arrangements had been made to use this crop, but none for a proper compensation to the farmers for their labor. The second year, the Russian peasant produced no crop but ate the animals on his farm, including his horses. Today Russia is hungry. Its famine will well nigh wipe out the country. The communists who collected taxes in grain are giving it back and offering the farmer every inducement to plant it. But alas! His horses and his stock are gone and the prospects are bad, indeed, for poor deluded Russia.

We believe such things can never happen on this continent, yet the lure of the city takes the farm boy away from home and of graduates from agricultural colleges less than 5 per cent go back to the farm. Too many farmers are making but a bare living out of their soil.

This is a real menace to our civilization. The Kiwanis club, which takes the matter up even in a small way, is making our country communities better ones in which to live.

Southwest Kiwanis clubs are striving to solve the problem by better marketing conditions. Some clubs are teaching cooperative marketing, others are helping with packing and shipping, calling attention to the salient fact that while New York produced as fine apples as are grown in the world, Broadway fruitstand apples come from the northwest of the United States or the south west of Canada.

Rest rooms for farmers' wives, county fairs, better local marketing conditions, good roads, better bridges, picnics, lectures on dairying, live stock, marketing and even other things may be tried by a Kiwanis club to help bring about more perfect co-operation between the city man and the farmer.—Kiwanis Magazine.

MAYORSASK LOW RATES FROM ROAD

LOCAL BRIEFS

COST BILL Filed.—The cost bill to the county against the city in the initial fine case was filed today. It amounts to $29.

Stays for Divorce.—D. G. Glensow has brought suit for divorce against Riley M. Glensow, by Judge C. A. Davelbien, charging desertion.

Courts Van Here.—The second installment of the Hanceblock-Wallace circus will be held here for August 9, arrived in town today in the person of the advertising men. The circus is known to and popular with Twin Falls folk.

Jack Hargrave, Prost.—Prosecuting Attorney J. W. Taylor, Sheriff M. E. Plumb and Probate Judge O. P. Davis will return to town from their vacation of two weeks to examine further into the matter where there was an extensive investigation regarding the facts touching the bank robbery of October 21, 1922. They do not plan an effort to extradite O. C. Rockman and James Sullivan held in Casperville, Wyo., charged with the crime.

String Quartet Will Appear.—The first and last State Quartet, following minstrel will appear tonight at the Idaho theatre: Cedric Smith, violin; Charles H. Johnson, violin; Paula Clark, violin; Dorothy Carruth, violin, and Julian Boone. This organization plans to tour the state and give a satisfactory freight rate for the future, feel that a step has been taken which will bear fruit, according to Major Shaw. He said he had been told who returned this morning from the capital. An executive committee was appointed by the officials of the road.

Many Towns Represented.—Those present at the conference were: Governor E. T. Thompson, Mayor Gooding, Mayor Edward D. Shoshone, Mayor Eugene Emerson of Nampa, Mayor Frank Knox of Emmett, Mayor Earl B. Hart of Hailey, Mayor Walter H. Woodward of Payette, J. R. McNeely, president of the Payette county Doctor's Association, Dr. L. L. Lund, Bartram J. M. Dodge of Meridian, Otto N. Thompson of Boise and Edward Smith, member of the Boise city council.

The executive committee consisted of Mayor Shaw, L. Hodgin of Twin Falls, Dr. C. E. Clegg, Dr. C. C. Ross of Foothills, Dr. Woodward of Payette and Mayor E. B. Sherman of Boise. Mayor Sherman was elected chairman of the executive committee.

Resolutions passed declare that the prosperity of southern Idaho depends on the co-operation of the states, it can be accomplished, it is believed, by the friendly co-operation of the business leaders of the states. It is the opinion that under present conditions many of the crops must be marketed below cost of production.

Study.—It is worth almost as much per ton as tankage and hog feed.

Make Sure of Everlast.—Locating the feeding place seems destined from the foregoing to force the young pigs to walk the road for their feed and water, is a good way to make sure they get adequate rations.

Vigorous Lives of Pigs.—A broad nose gives one pound of corn milk for each pound of corn she consumes, and she will never go down in the buck; and if she is otherwise well fed, she will raise a strong, healthy, vigorous litter of pigs.

Hoop.—A certain fabled Roman, accused of being afraid of his name, sent his son to him to prove that he was not afraid. He was the greatest of historic cowards, because he was afraid of being called a scoundrel.

EXAMINATIONS ARE ON.—There are four taking county examinations to be held today. The exams are as follows:

NEW YORK.—Towed through the Hudson River and up the Mississippi in a pole. Vincent Richards, young tennis star, sustained a gash on the wrist that required eight stitches at the hospital. He is expected to be able to play tennis again in a few days.

PHILADELPHIA.—Inkie Ruth, a graduate of the University, yesterday between the Yankees and the Athletics with a stiff neck. Hendricks is filling his place in the field and the Babe may set a record of a few days.

NEW ORLEANS.—Mrs. Ruth, wife of the baseball player, is to be married Saturday evening. Ethel, Ruth, charged in two suits filed her. In addition to a divorce, Ruth seeks $50,000 damages from the husband, Levy, alleged "other man."

DIVORCE IS GRANTED.—Clyde Goodman got a divorce today from his estranged wife, Mrs. Judd W. A. Barber. Hon. C. M. Glensow represented the plaintiff and Hodgen, Stephan & North the defendant. Goodman, 35, and his wife, 28, were married in the defendant who is to receive a $100-a-month alimony until January 1 and $50 a month thereafter.

RYE, N. Y.—Having survived the semi-finals, Mrs. Nella Mallory, national champion, and Alice Holton, New York, will meet in the final tomorrow in the final round for the New York state tennis championship.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—Lulu Angel Firpo, next opponent of Jack Dempsey, will meet Joe Burke, Detroit boxer, in a 15-round exhibition match here tonight. Promoters announced the 7,000 capacity house is sold out.

SHORTHORN MEN LAY PLANS AT THE EXCURSION

CONCERT CLOSES CHAUTAUQUA IN HALO OF MUSIC

LARGE GATHERING OF MEMBERS OF TWO ASSOCIATIONS CONSIDER THE IDEA OF GETTING A REPRESENTATIVE OF THE AMERICAN SHORTHORN ASSOCIATION TO CO-OPERATE WITH THEM HERE.

A large crowd attended the meeting and at the business meeting which followed, the members of the Shorthorn association and the business men of Twin Falls, considered with approval the proposition to engage a representative of the American Shorthorn association to come here and attend the famous Durhams cattle in this part of the state. The North and South associations were represented, but not merely the bulls but the shorthorn room inside the wall of canvas.

A. F. Thauler, who opened the meeting, gave a short history of the association, Dean J. J. Johnson, president of the state association, Dr. E. F. Hinshel, field and husbandman, Dean Sullivan of the American Shorthorn association, president and secretary, respectively of the Minnesota-Cassia association, were among the speakers. An excellent luncheon was served.

CLOSE LEGAL ISSUES
Decided by Judge
Wm. A. Babcock

That a person who holds only a small or subordinate interest in a corporation cannot lawfully nominate the property to the prejudice of a person or firm that may have a right for the same, and that a corporation cannot nominate, and that a corporation cannot make a legal demand to real estate, were decisions handed down by Judge Babcock.

In both cases the facts were extremely similar. In the first case Lora M. Thompson, widow of L. G. Thompson, and Wheeler, sued to Elias J. Van Court for damages for services rendered in an effort to collect the mortgaged land, but the general opinion was held that the general opinion was held that Bradt was the best of all.

PRAISE FOR CHY.—Praise did a program largely classical music, but the audience enjoyed it, showing that real music properly rendered is the universal language which appeals to all civilizations. From the time of the first until the "Star-Spangled Banner" closed the affair and the audience
