ELECTION IN MEXICO BE THE TEST

Recent Murder of Pancho Villa May Have Important Bearing on Future of the Southern Republic. General Calles Is Planning to Be Nominated for President. He Is in Oregon's Cabinet.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Mexico today is rapidly approaching another great test of her stability. This test will finally come in the coming election to be held in the southern republic, in August, 1924.

Already, the preliminary matter in the coming election has created a tense situation in the country before the Rio Grande.

It is prohibited by law from succeeding himself in Mexico, and therefore President Obregon is to turn over the reins of government to another at the inauguration in December, 1924.

Adolfo de Huerta, the minister of finance in Obregon's cabinet, is another outstanding figure in the presidential situation although it is understood that as yet he has no friends who are planning to be president.

Also, the assassination of "Pancho" Villa, a Mexican general, comes at a time when the daring desperado, although having been a "country general" since the first of President Obregon's reign, was beginning to have an increasingly important position in the Mexican presidential situation.

Villa, shortly before his death, in a last message to the nation, urged the latter not to allow himself to be "bluffed" by Calles, indicating that he would support de Huerta, if he were elected.

Villa is said to have declared not long before his death that Calles would be president in Villa, would better leave the country.

Coolidge Faces Grave National Problems Today

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 4.—Three grave problems faced Calvin Coolidge as he took over the duties of thirtieth president of the United States today.

1. The international situation—with European conditions generally believed growing steadily worse, what the United States do to stave off a final crash?

2. Domestic affairs—to continue and complete the task begun by President Harding of setting America's own house in order after the great dislocation of the war.

3. The political situation with an open season for all presidential candidates now foreseen as the result of Mr. Harding's death.

The international situation is described by officials and diplomats as the most serious since 1914.

Mr. Coolidge comes into office with a world-wide situation of European crisis looking to the United States for aid or assistance.

One of the most serious international questions which will be before the president is the Ruhr and reparations crisis.

Then, with the United States having successfully contributed to world peace, the Washington disarmament conference President Coolidge will find a greater arduous task than ever.

Another question of international importance is the American political situation. It is President Harding's advocacy of a true friend and neighbor, the best interests of the United States and the welfare of all its citizens.

Gunns' Record Rejoice for Late Leader

Same Game Which Welcomed Former President Harding a Week Ago Sounded a Sad Rejoice for the Fighting Craft Short Time Ago.

SHRETTLE, Wash., Aug. 4.—The gunns of the United States rejoiced in the late President Harding's death as they had done in the death of the late President Harding.

There was no joy, no ungrudging celebration, but a sad rejoicing.

But a short week ago the president stood proudly on the deck of the transport Henderson and reviewed these same fighting craft, which then saluted him with thunderous welcome.

The colors are at half mast on all gunns of the United States and will remain so for 30 days in accordance with tradition, while a special salute is being fired at intervals until after thirty days elapse.

That the gasoline tax in here is not a new thing, but one that has been in force for some time, is shown by the fact that it has been in force in 36 states.

GIANTS PLAY REDS TODAY; THREE TEAMS ARE IN RACE

By Henry L. Farrell

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Cincinnati's lead over the Giants of New York will get down to the business today of deciding which team is entitled to first place in the National League race.

With the Yankees so far out in front of the American League that they are just about a check for the pennant, baseball's chief interest is centered in the three way fight in the National League between the Reds, Giants and Pirates.

McGraw headed his champions to the series with the Reds with a lead of three games, but a recent victory was a timely sign if the Reds are right with the manager that neutralized the Giants on their last trip to Ohio.

To get the jump in the series, Pat Moran may call upon Laque, his Cuban star, to pitch two games, one has been pitching the best ball in the major leagues, season after season, but he has particularly effective against the Giants. Three appearances against them last season won three games, two of them being shutouts.

Yesterday's win being being of much to both teams should work to more advantage for the Giants, and it will give the slim New York pitching staff a lift and much needed breathing space.

Reds' McShain and Scott have been of form and the bulk of the pitching burden has been upon Watson Ryan and Egan. They have pitched good form in their last work, but they are all erratic at their best.

Laque, Donohue and Hays are the three main pitchers for any club to get over and they will be a problem even for such a service attacking club as the Giants.

WORLD'S CHAMPION WRESTLER APPLIES FOR POSITION AS SCHOOL PHYSICAL DIRECTOR

Milton Harnden, world's lightweight (133 pound) champion wrestler of the world, has applied for the position of physical director of the Twin Falls public schools and points to his record as reason for making such application. He is the wrestler who threw five insins of an hour here July 25.

"As a lightweight champion," he said in a letter to the Times, "I have had nearly 1000 matches or contests and have lost but one in my career. That was through an injury which was nearly fatal, and I later defeated every heavyweight I have met during the period of 15 years; have held the world's championship for nine years and believe I can hold it for 15 years more. I am an advocate of and strong believer in clean sports and pure culture, particularly in physical culture, and will administer them if the case needs be."

He has been a physical culture instructor for practically nine years, having taught hundreds of students in different parts of the country. He has been a member of the National Interscholastic Athletic Association and has written many articles on physical culture in various magazines and papers.

DEMPSEY STARTS TRAINING FOR FIRPO MATCH

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Declaring he needed a little work to get into condition to defend his heavyweight championship against "Foxy" Jack Dempsey left Saturday morning where he is in training for the fight.

"I feel fine," the champion said, "I have had only ten pounds since I fought Jimmie Sandys. I'm now underweighting. If a man who can punch the way he can hit me to be taken lightly."

HARDING'S DOG SITS IN CELLAR AND MOURNS LOSS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 4.—High potentates of government, religion and every other form of human endeavor have bowed down in grief over the death of President Harding's dog, just as in the cellar at an old White House.

There will be ostentatious homage for a year to the degree of how far he rises in the world, but no matter who a man is, if he has the friendship of a dog, that dog will never be mourning and death and later will crawl to the man's grave himself to die.

And White House "studies" today feared that this will be the fate of the late President Harding's dog, if he ever actually reaches his home in a dead, William Jackson, a short fat black man, Laddie, his grumpy, came as usual to the White House today to take the nation's most famous dog for one of his daily walks. But Laddie, by all accounts, was not just on the floor, whimpering and rolling his eyes.

Laddie has been expected to wait for his boss.

The White House is pining for the president's dog every afternoon, pending the arrival here of Mrs. Harding, who is expected to take him with her when she goes to Marlboro, or wherever President Harding's widow will make her home.

thought he supposed to have the backing of de la Hierta.

Callie is said to be further embarrassed by lack of support for his candidacy from President Obregon. However, Obregon is understood to have any last in either the presidential nomination or election and Obregon is opposed to him.

Mrs. Harding commented to her friends upon how firm and peaceful were her husband's features in death, the fact that the mouth displayed no convulsion. She was proud of his record and of him as a man and as a president.

She said she was the only one in the family who had not seen the president's face in the coffin.

The extreme simplicity of the coffin had been another surprised at the will with which the same had been used to the White House. The coffin had not only been taken care of and dressed and set about the necessary planning for the services.

A PSYCHOLOGICAL RAILWAY

The late L. A. Vaught, master character analyst, built his pupils a psychological railway to impress upon their minds the relation of faculties and the mind.

The road starts out from amnesia in the back seat, for this is the region of mystery, and he therefore named it Salt Lake City.

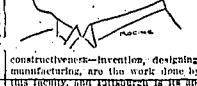

In front of the car is the faculty of clairvoyance, the region of digestion, and fondness for eating, and he named the station Milwaukee.

Above, and in front of the car at top, the regions of destruction and unambitious life. Chicago, with its stock yards and money making, was given as a symbol.

constructiveness—Invention, designing, constructing, are the work done by this faculty.

It is the region of the intellectual region where memory, comparison, causality and observation live in the forehead. The intellect has no emotions, nevertheless it is the big filter, or understanding, where all emotions must pass for cool judgment and application, and if it is weak, while the other faculties are strong, the effects of the individual will not be directed or controlled as they should be, and unambitious more dangerous than useful.

HARDING AND WILSON MARTYRS

The average thinker does not have to meditate long upon the question until he is sure in his own mind that the sudden death of President Harding was only another aftermath of the World War. It is perhaps true that his recent illness was partially contracted in Alaska, but the great purpose of this trip was not to visit Alaska, but rather to present his idea on the World Court to the American people just as President Wilson made a tour to convince the people of this nation that the League of Nations was the solution of the great war chaos. The side trip to Alaska was only an incident but we believe that the recent trip which caused the tragic break in the president's health was his strong desire to get an endorsement for his World Court.

Many of the critics and political snailgosters criticized the two presidents for leaving the White House on the two occasions mentioned above, but we are inclined to the opinion that the closer the administration in Washington can be brought to the people the more nearly this government fulfills the purpose and intent of its founders. We boast and joyantly scream on the Fourth of July about the government of the people and by the people, but when it is away off there in Washington we westerners at least sometimes get the idea that it is a thing in the distance to be revered but not touched.

The American people are strong for hero worship and they should be proud of their war heroes who made the supreme sacrifice, but do we ever stop to think that this is the second president of the United States that we have crucified. Our failure to arrive at any sort of a plan for settlement of these great world problems has now reached the tragic stage. While we are doing honor to our war heroes we should not forget the public servants who are sweating out their lives to render this nation and this world free from war. This is even a greater sacrifice than has been made on the battlefields either at home or abroad.

While our former President Wilson lives on he has suffered perhaps more than any shell shocked victim that has ever crossed the Atlantic. He has suffered and it still to suffer the agonies of a great man with a noble purpose and yet because of a stubborn and obdurate senate the success of the most remarkable peace plan for the world was defeated and will perhaps continue to be defeated. Why? Because a certain clique decided a few years ago that the Wilson League of Nations should never become a reality, just as certain politicians have decided that the Harding idea of participation in the World Court shall not be adopted. The chief objection to the League was the selfishness and narrow-mindedness of a few United States senators and the following which was trumped up. When all is said and done is not the blame for this thing up to the people at large, and is not this our government, and if so aren't we the criminals in sheep's clothing? In other words, if this is a government of the people and by the people aren't we to blame as servants for not performing the duties which devolve upon us as citizens of this great Republic?

We are of the candid opinion that this tragedy to President Harding might have been avoided by the American people had we functioned as we should as real Americans when we fail to perform those duties which are surely ours as much, at least, as any obligation is ours. There is entirely too much of the spirit in this nation when it comes to political responsibility, to "let George do it." This slackness and lethargy is rapidly approaching the stage where it becomes little less than a crime.

Let us think these things over and ask ourselves this question, "Is not this blood upon our skirts?"

BOY SCOUT LEADERS

In New York City the other day a Boy Scout troop announced that it had room for three more members. The response was 150 applications in one day.

All over the country, it is said, Boy Scout organizations have to refuse thousands of applications for membership because they lack leaders. There is a constant demand for men of character and sympathy to become scoutmasters. One city alone has issued a recent call for 300 men to enter its Scoutmaster School.

One field which ought to be yielding a rich harvest of such leaders appears to be failing its opportunity. What becomes of the hundreds of young men who graduate from Scout troops annually? When the organization was new to leaders necessarily had to be recruited from outside. Today, however, there are surely many men in their early twenties who have profited immensely in their own lives from their Boy Scout training who ought to be able and willing to turn about and give the rising generation of boys some of the fruits of their own happy experience.

Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus

Coming to Twin Falls Aug. 10

During the past winter, the Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace circus appeared in the headlines of the metropolitan cities and their citizens, and that the organization to be over almost such a tour. It is unnecessary to state that the tour was successful in Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, St. Paul, Milwaukee, Cleveland and other famous newspapers, and we have declared it the best circus performance ever presented either in the summer or winter months.

The Milwaukee Journal had the following to say of the circus: "The Hagenbeck-Wallace circus is the greatest and most wonderful show that has ever been seen in this city. It is a masterpiece of art and science, and it is a masterpiece of nature. It is a masterpiece of art and science, and it is a masterpiece of nature. It is a masterpiece of art and science, and it is a masterpiece of nature."

The same circus, with the same great performers and great performance, is being presented here on the summer tour, and will appear here every day on Friday, August 10.

The grand first night parade of this circus will take place at 8:00 o'clock on Friday, August 10.

Taken Together. It always struck me as a singular proof of good taste, good sense and liberal thinking in an old friend, who had "Fanny's Rights of Man" and Burke's "Reflections on the French Revolution" bound up in one volume, and who said, both together, they made a very good book.—Hartlett

VAN COTT EXONERATED FROM BLAME AT HIS HEARING

That Dr. E. H. Van Cott, formerly of this city, arrested recently in Denver, 8789, following the death of a girl on whom he had performed an operation, was the victim either of persecution or a shammer is indicated by the following editorial from the paper there, which is an apt and complete characterization:

The trial wherein Dr. Van Cott was charged with involuntary manslaughter was held before Justice Ferguson in the courthouse Saturday and resulted in the discharge of the doctor, free from any blame.

The case was an excellent illustration of the difference between a doctor and a doctor's lawyer. Dr. Van Cott had done all that was possible, and that under the circumstances. And although they would have done the same thing, the physician thought the only blame to the doctor's case was that he should have operated last summer.

This ended a false trial which might have ruined the standing of a professional man. And although the Jewell was not indicted and poisoned his mind, the charges proved a hoax.

Also, it appears, that some one was made the goat, and Van Cott are left entirely although their color is at times different. However, physicians here will learn to avoid such a fate along the path of life's busy diad.

BLOODY CLASHES IN BUDAPEST

AMERICAN FALLS BROOKER WILL ADVERTISE IDAHO

What is expected to be one of the most valuable documents for advertising the state of Idaho ever published is now being prepared by Warren C. Swenson, Idaho state commissioner of reclamation, who is mounting "Idaho" new advertising material for the publication.

This document will take the form of an extensive and comprehensive report of the area to be covered by the vast American Falls irrigation project, and is primarily intended for the information of the prospective purchasers of the bonds of the big district.

The report will be valuable from a number of points of view. It includes "the" assessed valuation of counties within the district, a list of the irrigated acreage, detailed crop reports and livestock reports, compiled upon both district and county basis. Large numbers of photographs will be included, and in fact some dozens of pictures principally showing farms and livestock scenes have already been ordered.

The material included in the report will also feature a complete set of maps, annotated with all the irrigated movements of water, and a large aerial map showing all the territory embraced by the big irrigation movement. It also includes a map of Idaho and Idaho Falls from the extreme southwest and northwest.

Not only will this elaborate report adequately serve its primary purpose, but it will also furnish a mass of information for prospective buyers in this district. It will be supplied to the public in large numbers, both in copies and in form of a report in a whole or condensed form.

TALK TO TOURISTS IS PLAN OF THE COMMERCE BODY

Directors VIII District office of Dept. of Fish and Wildlife at Park "Purchase of Men Site is Talked Off" Tuesday. Are Asked Before Meeting Tuesday Night.

The great advertising value of the personal contact with more than 20000 tourists is being recognized by the Chamber of Commerce today. It is a program to be fully appreciated by many Twin Falls business men. The regularly held annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce today, which is a member of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce today.

"This is a practical matter that will be brought up for the consideration of the meeting of the chamber tomorrow night is the proposition of outlining a program for definitely making the park a regular source of income into our city. Already many suggestions have been made as to how to best approach this matter, and the board urges every one to help with other ideas.

"One meeting has been suggested that we outline a definite schedule and appoint a group of business men to visit the park and talk personally with all those in the park. A plan similar to this is followed by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce—the year around having men call at the hotels and seek out the best prospective tourists and take them in to see the park.

"At a nearby city station are given away to every tourist which will advertise material in both directions to all guests each day and local newspapers distributed free of charge, but these methods only reach the traveler who stops at the park which constitute only a small part of the total number that come through the city. The Chamber of Commerce office for information.

"This time has come when Twin Falls must outline a permanent tourist plan that will furnish many additional improvements in order to attract to this other side of the mountain that have prospective tourists. To do this a park must be purchased and the improvements can be planned and other that improvements should be made and the whole park laid out on some set plan.

"Such a park should contain not less than five acres. The Chamber of Commerce parks board will welcome suggestions as to property that would be best for such a purpose. Such a park should be on or near the Old Oregon Trail high road, and should have some shade and a near city water supply.

"It has been suggested by many citizens that every one should make up to every tourist wherever you see him on the streets of Twin Falls and get him interested in the park. Tell him about the good things of our community, tell him that this is the very best time of the year to 'show off our country.'

COLLISION IS CAUSE OF BUT LITTLE INJURY

Resident of Hansen, 85 years of Age, Escapes Unhurt When Car Meets Fire Truck; Both Sides Seek Amicable Settlement.

One of the big American La France fire trucks and a small Overland sedan model, met in collision this morning at the corner of Second avenue east and Second street. The running board of the fire truck was damaged along with two hand operated extinguishers fastened on the side of the car. The Overland, owned and driven by A. H. age 85, of Hingham, was damaged to the extent of two slightly crumpled fenders, a broken rear wheel, and a shattered headlight.

The accident occurred when the fire truck was making a practice run north on Second street. It was headed west on Second avenue and was attracted by a pedestrian who cut across from the opposite direction. He failed to either see the fire truck or hear the bell which rang at the moment before the crash. The driver of the fire truck observed to the left side of the street but was unable to escape the Overland striking the rear midship. The Overland was turned almost completely around.

A number of the parties were speaking and both endeavored to settle the matter in an amicable way, an controversy is expected to result in spite of the efforts of bystanders to foment trouble.
