I could start it again. If I left it for a minute some inquisitive person about me would say that I had to carry a chain and chain it to a lamp post whenever I left it anywhere. And there was trouble with the police. I do not know quite why, for my impression is that there were no such laws in those times. Anyway, I had to get a special permit from the mayor and then for a time enjoyed the distinction of being the only licensed chauffeur in America.

You are very welcome. Give my regards to the family, buddy Long and thank you for your interest.

The Pride of Every Woman

HAVEN'T you often wished that the kiddies' clothes and the table-cloth, curtains and other wash fabrics wouldn't soil so easily?

Your wish can be realized—Starch with Linit—the remarkable new starch.

New Starch Discovery LINIT is a scientific starch discovery—distinctly different from old-fashioned starches.

Now, for the first time, it is offered to the housewife. With Linit you can get the same wonderful finish you have always admired in goods that come direct from the stores.

Linit gives a soft, cool, pliable finish to your garments. And you will find your Linit-starched clothes and fabrics remain clean and fresh much longer. Also, Linit makes even ordinary cotton goods look and feel like expensive linen.

Important to You LINIT makes a THIN "MILKY" MIXTURE, free-running like water, which is quickly absorbed by the fabric, thus saving the time and labor of "snearing on," which was customary with old-fashioned starches.

The Linit mixture does not present the stiff, jelly-like appearance of ordinary starch. This is why you will find it much easier to iron with Linit.

Your grocer now has Linit, 10c—Perfection in starching guaranteed or your money refunded. Linit is made by the Corn Products Refining Company—makers of the famous Argo Starch, Koro Syrup and Mazola Salad and Cooking Oil.

MRS. MALLORY FINDS GOING TOUGH IN '23

American Champion Shows Improvement in Her Game As Season Reaches Its Height; National Championship Next Week.

(By HENRY L. FARRELL.)
NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Champions have found the going no tougher during the current sport season than might be expected for general reasons that Mrs. Mollie Mallory will have the handicap of at least a mental hazard when she defends her title at Forest Hills next week.

The game of the American champion in European tournaments chased it to be believed that she would have more to bother her than the realization this year has no respect for champions.

She was defeated so many times by the foreign stars that her rank as the leader of the American game was thought to record the end and the spurs began to hunt around for the new champion.

Miss Helen Wills, the 17-year-old California girl has been prospective champion for three years and only one question has been how soon her day will arrive. She was considered the best of the American prospects.

When the team of British stars announced their intention of coming over to play a "special match" with the Americans and to capture the national championships, two more names were added—Miss Kathleen McKane, ranking player of England, and Mrs. Geraldine Bonham, both of whom had defeated the American champion.

In the warm-up tournaments for the national championships Mrs. Mallory, however, seems to have gone back on her name. At Beahmish she scored a rather surprising victory over Miss McKane and later at Ito in the final for the New York state championship she defeated Miss Wills in a match in which the California girl won the first set.

The national championships will be preceded by an international match between the American and British teams, which will consist of five singles and two doubles matches to be played on Saturday and Monday afternoons.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

Causes for much joy. The Athletics finally won a game. After losing 12 straight they socked the Nats, 5 to 4.

Duke Ruth hit a common, little old ordinary double with the bases filled and emptied them, giving the Yanks a 5 to 3 win from the Yankees.

No excuse being allowed for shorts-Dutch-Heuterler let the Cubs have one run on a double and a single, while the Hollins romped in 6 to 3.

Rawlings, Caroy put on a marathon effort in the ninth, speaker-pulled-a-spiral catch and the Indians beat the Senators.

Fowler's infield hit scored McMillan with the run—that gave the Nats a 2 to 1 victory over the Tigers.

LIVE STOCK NEWS

Selection of Breed for Good Flock of Sheep

In establishing a flock of sheep for the farmer there are many advantages in the various breeds of sheep, but the most important advantage is in selecting the breed to be raised. The selection of a good breed is a matter of some importance, and the farmer should be careful to select a breed that will give him the best return for his investment.

The first class of the wool is especially desirable when run in large numbers on the range in mountainous regions, as they have the greatest ability to retain the wool well and well protected by a close fleece, and probably do better than other breeds on coarse or more or less woody vegetation. Of the fine wools, the Bluebelts has the best action, type and is the largest in size.

Some Reasons Why Hogs Are Popular Farm Animals

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture. What is the basis of the hog's popularity, which, in spite of his relatively small size, enables him to stand high in total value among all our domestic animals in the United States? In the first place, of course, is his production of a valuable meat which in some form or other combine with most of our common vegetables, but according to the Department of Agriculture there are other reasons why the hog has become a favorite on more than three-fourths of our farms.

Purebred Ram Shown to Be Best Mutton Producer

Breeding and feeding trials with two purebred rams have shown that lambs from a purebred ram grow and fatten much faster and sell at much higher prices than those from a cross-bred ram. The average daily gain of the lambs from the purebred ram was 20.0 per cent greater than that of the lambs from the cross-bred ram.

Small, undeveloped bones from pony skulls and inferior breeding stock are always a drag on the market. If unduly large to be taken of the present good horse price it is necessary to offer good stock.

Cut Down Sow's Ration

When little pigs show symptoms of scouring, cut down the sow's ration immediately. Four ounces of rice bran will cure it in twenty days if given to the sow's pig will help to correct scouring. Thumps in suckling pigs about ten to twelve days of age and not enough exercise. The best remedy is prevention by sufficient exercise.

BUICK MODELS OF 1924 INTRODUCED

Startling advances in power, control and economy. Buick cars will be hailed as a substantial advance in automotive engineering. Buick cars will be hailed as a substantial advance in automotive engineering.

Another outstanding factor in the Buick cars is the "Double Overhead Valve" system. This system is a real advance in automotive engineering.

The thousands who are certain to take these cars in the leading centers this week and very soon in the other parts of the country will observe a change in body lines, a distinctly different appearance.

Brazil Buys American Fuel Savers To Remedy Railroad Coal Shortage

The Central Railroad of Brazil, which has 550 locomotives, 540 of which are equipped with the American Locomotive Company's fuel savers, has just ordered 100 more of these devices to remedy a coal shortage.

ONE of the outcomes of the recent world exhibition at St. Louis was the 100th Anniversary of Brazilian independence was a further action by the Brazilian government in favor of American manufactures. The American exhibition was a great success, and the increasing penetration of American goods into South America.

THE AGE OF CO-OPERATION

Briefly the evolution of industrial thought is traced through the periods of the cave-man, slavery, feudalism, individualism, competition, and now we are upon the threshold of the age of co-operation.

We are riding in the period of transition. The day when competition was abolished—the universal panacea for economic ills accompanied by its adjunct of cut-throat business policies, which were considered the height of business ethics, is closing. Business is universally recognizing this advance in modern evolution.

The interstate commerce commission has taken cognizance of the manifest change. Carl Gray, president of the Union Pacific, has stated that the railroads the country over are throwing the destructive practices of competition into the discard and are adopting the constructive policies of co-operation.

The great "autistic" or so-called world war, was the ultimate outgrowth of international doctrines of competition with which the world was truly saturated to the core. The close of the war marked the birth of a new idealism—namely, co-operation. That moment designated the point at which we began to emerge from the jungles of the animal kingdom, and are commencing to rise toward the higher plane of human co-operation.

This transcendent ideal of co-operation is not only becoming a realization in the economic order but is affecting a more profound and far reaching influence. It is permeating the political and social orders as well, and will form the basis of the new order which will arise in the near future. Co-operation is becoming the guiding influence in the lives of individuals, corporations, and governments of the nations.

Co-operation is ushering in an age replete with progress beyond the limits of human dreams; an age in which will be eliminated the friction, deception, unscrupulous rivalries, loss of confidence and general chaos created by competition.

Now what is co-operation? Simply that idea taught by the Patient Christ—"brotherly love," clothed in erudite terminology. Co-operation between the world and its Great Engineer will mark the consummate realization of a supreme age.—Contributed.

LEISURE TIME DETERMINES CHARACTER

"That which a person does with his time while employed determines his bank account. That which he does with his leisure hours determines his character." The truth underlying this statement indicates the real value of a vacation school to a church. The character of children is determined by the use of vacation days. The church of all institutions must be concerned in providing for the children of the community the right kind of a vacation. With such a responsibility it is an absolute sin for any Christian church to close its doors during the summer vacation period.

Every parent knows that the children are happier and healthier during the regular routine of public school than during the free and easy days of summer when there is nothing to do. There will always be plenty of mischief for idle hands. There are always vicious men and women who delight to put evil into the mind and life of childhood.

One rainy day a taxi drove up to a beautiful home in a fine suburban community. A mother, after hiding good-byes to her two daughters, stepped into the taxi. The writer, knowing that those daughters were on their way to a vacation school, said: "Your girls seem so happy, where are they going?" "We have," she replied, "a vacation school in our town. My girls attend. This morning it was raining so I told them that they need not get up early, but they insisted upon getting up and going even if it did rain. This school is the grandest thing. Every day the girls tell me the stories which are told by the teachers. And they are making so many interesting things. I tell you, no mother thinks this school just the grandest thing of our children."

In the vacation school much is made of worship of story telling of music, of bible drills, of memorization, of hymns and scripture and of all kinds of hard work. The spirit of joy is well expressed by the motto of the school—"And they helped every one in his neighbor. And every one said unto his brother, he of good cheer." Who can evaluate the religious value of a school in a church teaching these things in an atmosphere of happiness that makes the teacher eager for each new day so that they can go to vacation school?

All the teachers are Christian men and women and young people, every one of whom loves children. If character is caught not taught, then the influence of kindly teachers upon the impressionable life of childhood is wonderful. For a teacher teaches a little by what he says, more by what he does, and most by what he is.

Everything in the school is done in the name of religion and for the good of the child. Most schools are in a church building, thus the children associate the church with their school times, and learn that valuable lesson that true religion always makes people happy.

Schools are of two types, a local church school or a community school. Both types will probably continue. The local situation should be the deciding factor in determining whether a church will have its own school or whether it will cooperate with other churches in an interdenominational community school. As a rule the best results can be obtained in those churches which have resources in equipment and workers if a church should conduct its own school. Teachers can be secured more readily for such a school and the results can be conceived better. Such a school will continue year by year with its summer program.—The Baptist.

A MILLION DOLLARS A WEEK FOR CHEWING GUM

Census figures show output of the factories $40,000,000 in 1921, stated at factory values. Exports go to 75 different countries of the world.

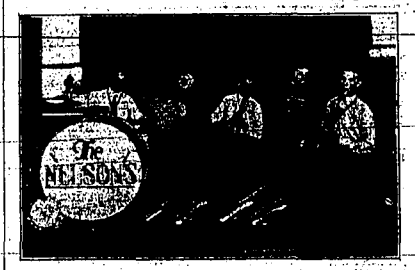

The people of the United States pay more than a million dollars a week for their chewing gum, and the "habit" is apparently a growing one for the value turned out by the factories of the United States in the latest census year, 1921, is more than double that of the pre-war year, 1914, the first year in which the government began to keep statistics of the amount turned out by the factories of the country. It shows that the value at the United States now pay more than a million dollars a week for their chewing gum is based upon statements of the factory output of the chewing gum in 1921, which was about 25 million dollars, to which may be added the value of the exports of chewing gum in 1921, which was about 15 million dollars, making the total value of the chewing gum in 1921, about 40 million dollars, as against 20 million dollars in 1914, the first year in which the government began to keep statistics of the amount turned out by the factories of the country. total sum paid by the consumers is considerably above an average of one million dollars a week. It seems that the "habit" has proved contagious as statistics for other countries, for our exports of chewing gum show a large percentage of increase as do those of factory production. Whether it was the example set by the Americans who first formed a conventional enthusiasm in their long markets, it is at least a fact that the world demand began shortly after the opening of the war and grew very rapidly, since official statistics of exports which only began with the year 1916, show an advance of nearly 100 per cent in 1921, while the value of the exports in 1921, was 40 per cent greater than in 1920, are 40 per cent greater than in 1921.

Where does it go—these millions of dollars worth of this product now being sent out of the country? To practically every country of the world, figures prepared for the Trade Record show that the exports of chewing gum in 1921, were valued at more than 75 million dollars, and that 75 countries and colonies scattered the world over, distributed the 75 million dollars, inured at the wholesale rate of 1921, to about 1,100,000,000 people, and in 1918 the exports to the additional sum paid by the Great Britain were $1,200,000, the France took in 1921 $3,000,000 worth of merchandise.

Grass Uninjured on Library Lots by the Conduct Chautauqua

Editor of The Times: Some time ago when it seemed that those having the chautauqua in charge for the 1922 season in Twin Falls would be permitted to use the usual location, a request was made of the city council for permission to use the city lot. It was then suggested to locate the tent and all their apparatus, numerous postholes in that effect, which were scattered all over the citizens of Twin Falls and vicinity. About one person out of every five appeared to object to it. A number of those who refused to sign gave as the reason therefore that the grass would be damaged badly wherever the tent should be placed. At the former location and the controversy was dropped.

SPAN OF HUMAN LIFE IS GROWING LONGER

By E. W. STRAUSS, President American Society for Therapeutics

GRADUALLY the span of life in the United States is being lengthened, and among the interesting things of the future is the question of how far these processes will go. That this is a problem that only the future can decide, is a fact which is becoming more and more apparent. Right thinking is the only way to give a constantly greater expectancy to one's term of years, and it may be said that the average length of the period between birth and death constitutes the best possible example of this.

In the last 150 years there has been an increase, according to the most reliable statistics, of 23 years in the average length of life in this country. In 1780, statistics compiled in Massachusetts revealed the average span of life as 26 1/2 years, in 1855 it was 40 years, and there has since been a gradual increase. In 1916 it had risen throughout the nation to 52 years; in 1921, when the latest available figures were compiled, it had been extended to 54 years.

What this increase has meant in human accomplishment is beyond calculation. Much is said about this being the golden age of youth, and all such statements are true, for, with our efficiently organized business life, our educational advantages and our broad, modern vision, opportunities for the young man were never so abundant.

It is well that we not only make the most of time but that we add to our period of usefulness and service the greatest possible number of years—perhaps one of the most salutary recommendations of true thrift.

Advertising

There is absolutely no question about the value of evening advertising.

The growth of all successful manufacturing, jobbing and retailing can be traced directly to newspaper advertising.

The business that advertises in the evening paper, when the people have time to read and do read, is the business that will continue to grow. Is it not reasonable that the paper that reaches the homes in the evening and is read by every member of the family is the paper to advertise in for you to get the best results?
