

COOLIDGE AT HEAD OF BUSINESS UP BUSINESS

New President Confronted By Multitude of Tasks; Urged to Take Vacation; Resignation of Christian Causes Wrangle.

TEMPORARY WHITE HOUSE, Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—President Calvin Coolidge came back to Washington today to form the policies of his new government. The special presidential train carrying the president and Mrs. Coolidge left for the funeral of Warren G. Harding today at 7:55 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge went immediately to the temporary White House where the president took up the problems of the day. Some of his officers have suggested that the Coolidge family be exempt from the usual pressure upon him for days to come, and go to Swampscott, Mass., for a holiday. Mr. Coolidge, however, is not so nervous and excitement during the funeral services.

Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge decided to remain in Washington until the 15th of August. It is the regular cabinet meeting day but Mr. Coolidge may be the first member of the cabinet to resign. The first question pressing for the president is the resignation of Christian, as secretary to the president.

Christian announced his resignation in a letter to the president. The usual procedure of resignation has been in the past for a man to tender his resignation to the president first orally or in writing.

Mr. Christian, however, did not receive word from Christian and hence would make no statement.

Mr. Christian is acting as a personal secretary to Mr. Coolidge. It is practically certain to get the word.

There was much discussion about the returning special secretary to the president in which Christian made his resignation. Some thought it expressed dissatisfaction with the new government.

Mr. Christian was disappointed at the change made several days ago when Ora Baldwin, chief of White House, was appointed as chief of staff.

The matter assumes some proportions because the leaders of politics here believe Mr. Harding in his government in order to assure a smooth degree of transition.

Oklahoma Man Kidnaped From Tulsa Streets

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 11.—Sethan Hamilton was kidnaped from the streets of Tulsa by a small band of men, taken three miles from the city, and held for ransom.

Hamilton accused police of conspiracy with the band of kidnapers. He was held by the police for several days so that the mob that later kidnaped him, could identify him.

I fought and yelled all the time they were taking me through the streets, but the police made efforts to treat me.

Hamilton was in a hospital under treatment for the bruises and cuts inflicted by the avaricious lawless men he made his statement.

VIGIL KEPT AT HALLOWED PLOT

MARION, Ohio, Aug. 11.—Marion is alone with her dead. Fattered veterans are keeping a vigil at the hallowed plot, where the late Warren G. Harding yesterday passed on to the "other side."

Main citizens tramp the littered avenues where the power of a nation is centered in the funeral cortege of a native son.

At Marion cemetery twenty soldiers stand guard over the casket. They will stay on duty as long as the body of Warren G. Harding is in the city.

The streets and lawns this morning were covered with torn bits of paper.

There was scarcely a house along the funeral route that did not bear some mark of the huge in-pouring of mourners.

The East Center street home of Dr. George W. Harding, father of the late president, was the scene of a vigil through the night.

Mr. Harding's mother, Mrs. Mary Harding, was in the city today. She passed through the city for the first time in many years.

MRS. HARDING BRAVE ABOUT YEARS AHEAD

Returns to Washington to Take Charge of Effects; May Spend Some Time in Rest at Marion; Courage is Shown.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Faded, lonely years with courage and calmness, Mrs. Warren G. Harding today prepared to gather up the broken threads of her life and to weave them into a new design.

She re-entered the White House today to collect personal belongings, every one of them carefully packed for her by the husband left in that quiet Marion cemetery.

Mrs. Harding always a most practical, capable woman for all her feminine "flair," approached her new life with a determination to make the best of it.

Famous Golfer Explains Acts in Grain Deal

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 11.—Charles "Doc" Evans today issued a statement explaining the $7,500 check transaction which caused Charles J. Moore to resign as chairman of the grain committee.

Evans admitted he suffered some losses in grain, but said he gave the check to Moore mostly for the letters "pressing" with the understanding it would not be cashed until a loan was arranged with the bank.

Moore, Evans asserted, attempted to cash the check before the loan was completed and then said the golfers' grain holdings at a loss without authorization.

Moore's books may show that Evans was wrong in some particulars, but nothing less than $7,500 in cash would have been needed to cover the loss before the market recovered.

One difficulty has no criminal aspect whatever.

Screen Stars Get Taste of Actual Peril

PANAMA, P. R., Aug. 11.—William Desmond, Allyn, "Scientific" and eight other motion picture actors are recovering today from the effects of drifting for two days without food in a "treatment" sinking vessel.

The company had taken an eight-day voyage for the purpose of filming a scene on Santa Cruz Island, but their return trip the wind failed and the tug boat which accompanied them developed engine trouble.

The food supply soon became exhausted and the men were forced to eat the fish caught over the side of the boat. The water supply was also running low when they were picked up by the steamer Marcella, which had been sent out to search for them.

NET MATCHES DRAW CROWD AT NEW YORK

International Competition Will Begin This Afternoon, Miss Mills Meeting Mrs. McKane in New Forest Hills Stadium.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—With the first of the international women's matches today at Forest Hills, tennis will start its big annual tour over the sport terrain.

With two singles matches and a doubles contest in the play for the Haysi-Hickman Wimbledon trophy between the British and American teams this afternoon, the season will be started and the new stadium of the West Side Tennis club will be opened officially.

Four of America's best women players will oppose the four leading stars of England in the first international match that has been staged here for many years.

Miss Helen Wills, the California girl star, and Miss Kathleen Godkin, the youthful British star, of whom are looked upon as likely candidates for world's championship honors, will have their preliminary play of the first game in the world's finest tennis stadium.

Strength of the British team was manifested early in the season on the other side, when three of the team—Miss McKane, Mrs. Beaman and Mrs. Clifton—retired from the American championship.

Miss Helen Wills, the "Little" Wills girl, will do most of the fighting for the American team. The California girl has been beaten by Mrs. Mallory and Miss Goss since she came east, but in these cases she was weakened by intense heat after she had won the first set.

FIRPO IS HELD TO CONTRACT
NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Efforts of Luis Angel Firpo to have Tex Rickard postpone the date for his fight with Jack Dempsey failed, but the south American will meet the champion here on September 14. It was learned today.

After a talk with Rickard yesterday Firpo went to Philadelphia to finish training for his fight with Charlie Weirart to be held Friday night.

Firpo confirmed reports that he disagreed with the services of Jimmy DeForest, who has trained him since he started his club in a world's championship.

Friends of Firpo said also that he had made up his mind to train in Atlantic City where the customers will be plentiful to watch him work.

BOXING THREATENED BY COMMERCIALISM

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Assuming that the director-general of the New York state commission has done much to promote the interests of the sports and the benefits derived have not been confined to the territory under its immediate jurisdiction.

While many rules have been made that seemed absurd and overreaching the bureau of the commission's duty, many of them have been passed on for further study. One of the most radical, step in declaring forbidding the title of champion was proposed to fight, worthy challenges brought the title; featherweight and middleweight, given out of luck and put them back into competition.

The right of the commission to put out Johnny Kilbane, Wilson, Micky Walker and Joe Lynch as champion was sealed at when the commission voted, but the fact remains that there are now five featherweight and four light-heavyweight champions, and Wilson, Walker and Lynch have been forced into the disease of their titles.

While their judgment was sometimes questioned, the sincerity and honesty of the commissioners never have doubted and they have been right as many times as wrong.

There remains much yet to be accomplished and the commission might well devote a little attention to the "class jumping" champion.

It has become the popular custom for a new champion to seek competition in a heavier class sooner than he has reached the top of the boxes at his own weight.

Francis Villie won the world's lightweight championship and then started campaigning among the bantamweights and announced himself as ready to fight Joe Lynch. Lynch ignores the challenge of Johnny Walker and seeks work among the featherweights. Benny Leonard, although he may be accused because of the margin by which he outclassed all lightweights, wants to fight Micky Walker for the welterweight championship. Walker, although he would be in danger with several featherweight seeking matches with him, has expressed his willingness to fight Johnny Wilson, middleweight champion, and Harry Greb, former light-heavyweight champion. Greb dashes matches at his own weight and shows his desire to fight Jack Dempsey.

Indigestion in Horses Result of Poor Feeding

Digestive troubles in the horse are the result of indigestion feeding and overeating, especially during the hot summer months when the horse is fed a full quota of work. It must be remembered that if the horse is tired and exhausted his stomach and other internal organs are in the manner of a factory that has been started to do their work, which is the proper digestion and assimilation of the food taken in by the animal. If the stomach is unable to perform its work in a normal manner and a large feed of oats is given it can easily be understood that the results are apt to be disastrous and lead to severe colic which often have a fatal ending.

Many colics due to feeding indigestion, the horse comes in from a hard spell of work and when he is heated and tired out, being hungry, he starts in to eat rapidly, with the result that the stomach becomes overloaded and unable to handle the food.

In a short time the horse shows signs of pain and restlessness and the farmer has on his hands a very sick animal. If the horse is exhausted, allow him only a handful of water and feed a skilful iron much which is easy of digestion, but the oats and hay must be withheld until the horse has cooled and he will calmed down. By that time, under the influence of the brain matter, the stomach will have recovered its tone and he is in a fit state to digest the regular ration.

Indigestion in colts may result from the irritation of teething, from the removal of the dam at too early an age, or sucking when the dam is lactating or has been too long a time parted from the foal. In other animals indigestion may be due to defective teeth, acidity of the stomach, improper and irregular feeding are also common causes. Indigestion may also result from irregular exercise, filling the stomach to an excessive degree.

In a heavy case of chronic indigestion first examine the teeth, and remove the cause of irritation from the stomach, regulate the time of feeding, also in quantity, nutritious and offered at regular intervals, and when these are done it will be time to try medicines.

Generally, it will be advisable to give a mild purge of oil with ginger, followed by a tonic made of bicarbonate of soda and powdered gentian, each half an ounce, and powdered nutmeg, 20 grains, given as a dose twice a day.

Essential Features of Self-Feeders for Hogs

Pigs that are to be fattened for market, says Arthur L. Anderson, who is in charge of the hog section of the animal husbandry division at Chicago, may profitably make the most rapid and economical gains if put on a self-feeder. The time required for the hog to acquire the maximum weight is reduced by this system of feeding. Also the labor bill is cut down materially.

The first choice system, or allowing the hogs to select feeds to the amount of their own appetites, has been found to be the most economical. The same of the pig is a good criterion of his body condition.

A self-feeder having these features of construction may be made in an ordinary farm workshop and will be found very profitable.

BLUE BOAR English Blend Cigarettes

A New Cigarette—a new blend

We call this new cigarette Blue Boar because it is developed from America's favorite fine tobacco, Blue Boar Pipe Tobacco. For 19 years this tobacco has had the reputation of being the best in the world. Here was no chance for betterment.

The secret of this new type cigarette is in its newly discovered method of blending. This may sound commonplace to you, who have felt that the limit of refinement had been reached, but you will be as surprised as others when you smoke your first pack of Blue Boar.

Triple Blending.
Blue Boar tobacco is triple blended. The ordinary process is to blend single blending, which now seems good. Yet for years experts have considered one blending sufficient, and have searched elsewhere for refinements.

In Blue Boar we blend the two American tobaccos separately. Likewise the two Turkish. Then we give the Latakia from Egypt a little of the tobacco. Blue Boar Pipe Tobacco. A third and final blending makes a rare and delicious combination, such as you've never known before. The old way never could bring such perfection.

It is a cooler, slower process—but worth it, as you'll agree. The result of this simply discovery makes all the difference in the world—an entirely new taste, a refinement of all refinements.

Try Them Today
Buy one pack of Blue Boar. We promise you a delightful surprise. You'll undoubtedly adopt Blue Boar as your final type favorite—and never switch again.

GOOD-LAW EFFECTIVE

(By JAMES D. WHELAN)

The republican legislature of 1915 passed a law which was signed by a democratic governor which will be of more value in this state now that railroad construction has been resumed than it was at any time since its enactment. It abolished the private employment agencies that have for so long called themselves agencies employed for municipal agencies and encouraged free agencies like those conducted by the Y. M. C. A., the Knights of Columbus, the Salvation Army and the various farm bureaus.

With the system abolished in Idaho, there might be some change of interstate war between Utah and Nevada, but railroads are believed to be more careful about this sort of thing now than formerly, when they paid little attention to the practice, and with the assistance of the officers it can be stamped out. In the long run elimination of graft requires good building.

BUTTRASSING ARTICLE 10

Article 10 of the League of Nations covenant has been provided with a semblance of an enforcement act. A treaty of mutual guarantees was finally drafted by the league's temporary mixed disarmament committee. Instead of being a universal guarantee pact, in accordance with the spirit of the league, the members of the committee appear to have compromised the draft, which will mainly serve as a frame for policy in many private alliances.

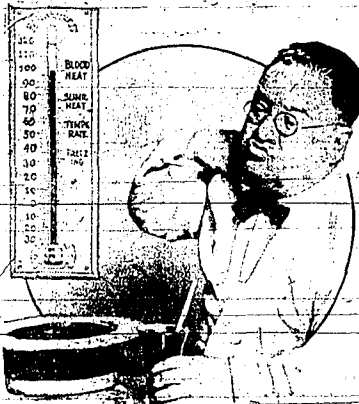

The general guarantee would also operate in case of a German attack on France, for example. Aside from any defensive action, France and the little entente could meet and decide if any other states should use economic, military and naval measures against Germany, or all combined. In the case of states without private alliances, only the general guarantee arrangement would operate.

The purpose of the new guarantee pact is to open the way to disarmament, which has many barriers ahead. The French and British, who are chiefly concerned, have actually reached an agreement on the draft, but there must be some special agreement reached to cover an extension of the latter operation.

If the assembly of the league approves the treaty as completed, then it must be submitted to the individual states for approval. If a large number of states, including non-league states accept the treaty, then the council must draw up a plan for partial disarmament. This plan will chiefly be based on what each individual country considers it has gained in the way of security.

In other words, France stands where she did at the close of the war; she will disarm if she gets a special guarantee covering time enough to insure her that Germany will not attempt another invasion. This was the purpose of the temporary three-power pact, tentatively drafted by Wilson, Lloyd George and Clemenceau, which fell through because of the failure of the League of Nations to get the approval of the senate.

Self-Feeders for Swine

Wherever labor can be saved on the farm and results multiplied, just as satisfactorily, by all means save the labor. Results of experiments at the University of Missouri College of Agriculture with self-feeders for fattening show that those eating from a self-feeder gain more rapidly than those depending on the hand-feeding method. The amount of feed necessary to produce a pound of pork remains practically the same, but the amount of labor usually follows. It is this decrease in labor which enters as a factor in cheapening the cost of producing pork.

Horses Are Annoyed by Botfly Pest in August

During August, horses are annoyed to a considerable extent by the presence of botflies. These flies are apt to be especially annoying to horses in the vicinity of barnyards and manure piles.

Botflies deposit small yellow eggs and deposit them to hatch at the time of the hatching of the larvae all over the body of the horse, but especially on the neck, face and legs. Later the eggs hatch in the stomach, and develop into the larval stage which are now known as bots. These bots themselves to the lining of the stomach, where they remain and consume some of the nutriment that should nourish the horse. During the spring and early summer months the bots are in the stomach, and develop into the larval stage which are now known as bots. These bots themselves to the lining of the stomach, where they remain and consume some of the nutriment that should nourish the horse.

occurred, on Monday afternoon from the section church the body having been brought here on the noon train from Parma, where the family had resided for the past two years. Mr. and Mrs. Walker and two sons, John and Ralph, who live in Parma, were among the early visitors of this tract, coming from Kansas 15 years ago and settling near Buhl, which they later left and became residents of this community, farming extensively in the Moran neighborhood. While here they were prominently connected with the Methodist church, which Mrs. Walker joined while a young woman in the native state of Kansas where she was engaged in teaching. She was married to Mr. Walker. She was a sister of J. T. Greenwood and W. H. Hawkins, of this city.

The families of her relatives are all with the bereaved husband and two sons during the funeral services, which were conducted by Rev. T. Deal, with six nephews acting as pallbearers. Interment was made in the cemetery here.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Beem and two little daughters and Mrs. Sarah Wren and Mr. Beem left Tuesday morning for a week's camping and fishing trip in the Stanley Basin.

Miss Gertrude Walter, a former teacher of the Filer Rural high school, is expected home within a few days from the University of Idaho, where she has been a student at the university during the summer months, though Miss Walter has announced plans for the coming school year, it is understood that she will remain at the university in the fall and complete her senior year, receiving a degree in sociology and public speaking.

On Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Nielson charmingly entertained the official Phi Kappa club of four tables in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Edwards who were recently returned from California.

The Phi Kappa club is planning to hold a picnic at the annual picnic in October, which is being planned by the club members.

The two-day picnic, which first starts to leave Friday morning for their annual camping trips to the "blues". The girls carried money to defray the expenses of the trip and are anticipating a delightful trip.

Mrs. Stevens, who now goes with her family to the camp and enjoying a pleasant time with them. Superintendent and Mr. George E. Deanna are expected home the fifteenth of the month from Lelystad, where they have spent the vacation months. Mr. and Mrs. George Walker who have occupied their home during the absence here rented the Tucker house in the western part of town and will make their home here this winter while Mr. and Mrs. Willard are in California. Mr. Tucker is the instructor in agriculture at the high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Edwards who are among the first of the Phi Kappa club to leave for California following the exodus of a year ago have rented the Pease house on the west side of town and will make their home here permanently in Filer. Mr. Edwards' father, who is a prominent physician in Okinawa is planning to retire from an active practice and locate here on a small tract of land.

Mr. and Mrs. George Carson of Twin Falls have rented the George Carson residence on South Valima street and this week became active in the school season. Mr. Carson recently opened a jewelry establishment here and intends making it his home.

Dr. Robert Armas is making arrangements for a posterous auction sale of real estate in Jerome and Idaho Falls, two miles west of town on August 22. There will be about 25-35 fine horses for sale and fifty stock hogs. Dr. Armas considered one of the foremost livestock breeders of the country and his sale will on doubt attract a large number of buyers.

On Monday morning the Rev. C. E. Deal of the Methodist church preached an unusually strong sermon on the subject of "The Power of the portion of Isa that says: 'They shall beat their swords into plowshares, their spears into pruning hooks.'"
