Why He Called It "Portland" Cement

In 1824, an English mason wanted to produce a better cement than any then in use. To do this he burned finely ground clay and limestone together at a high heat. The hard balls (called clinkers) that resulted were ground to a fine powder. When a mixture of this dull gray powder with water had hardened, it was the color of a popular building stone quarried near the city of Portland on the coast of England. So this mason, Joseph Aspdin, called his discovery "portland" cement.

That was less than one hundred years ago. Portland cement was not made in the United States until fifty years ago. The average annual production for the ten years following was only 36,000 sacks. Last year the country used over 470,000, 000 sacks of portland cement. Capacity to manufacture was nearly 600,000,000 sacks.

Cement cannot be made everywhere because raw materials of the necessary chemical composition are not found in sufficient quantities in every part of the country. But it is now manufactured in 27 states by 120 plants. There is at least one of these plants within shipping distance of any community in this country.

To provide a cement supply that would always be ample to meet demand has meant a good deal in costly experience to those who have invested in the cement industry. There have been large capital investments with low returns. In the last twenty-five years, 328 cement plants have been built or have gone through some stage of construction or financing. 162 were completed and placed in operation.

Only 120 of these plants have survived the financial, operating and marketing risks of that period. Their capacity is nearly 20 per cent greater than the record year demand.

There are a few important facts about an industry that is still young. Advertisements to follow will give you more of these facts, and will tell something of the important places cement occupies in the welfare of every individual.

FIRPO'S DIE AS WATCHED IN TRAINING

Mystery Surrounds Challenger Why He Is Preparing for 'Bout', Menu Sent from South America

(By HENRY L. FARRELL) ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 28.—With the same air of mystery and atmosphere of unusual that surrounded his epic start from a cellar to the roof garden of Havana, Luis Firpo is preparing himself here for his fight with Jack Dempsey.

He tore up the book of regulations in his hotel here, and he was through the trial horses that were put to him for a test, so the South American giant is descending into the ring with a new attitude, and ways of setting ready for a world's championship fight.

Firpo is doing his own way, and his way has nothing like it in the lengthy annals of boxing. Daily he has his friend and promoter, Felix Duguid, Firpo gets a cable from far away South America telling him to take care of his health, and to take care of his health, and to take care of his health.

When Dempsey was training here, a stranger was always near him, before he left for a train, but now comes now and then in the city for advice and part of the fight. There are a number of people in the South American in the show windows and the hawkers have no Firpo buttons and pennants for sale.

THEY'RE PUTTING UP REDS' LAST STAND

Former Mayor Thinks Meters Unnecessary for Water System

Speaking of the water question, former Mayor J. D. Tucker, who seeks to enjoy meter installation approved by the present city administration, said today that in his opinion alternate days for watering has not been necessary and that the city has all the water it can use.

He said that last year alternative days for lawn watering were not provided for in the city ordinance, and that he had looked it up. He said that he supposed that most business men would forget whether water was used on alternate days.

The former mayor denied that he desired to criticize or embarrass the present administration but said that he considered that too many golfers had been killed for a start and that there was criticism in the motion of some of the old tanks in the city.

The injunction case, as stated in The Times, had been set for August 24, but was postponed by mutual consent, by reason of the illness of Commissioner J. S. Keel.

DODGE BROTHERS ANNOUNCE IMPORTANT IMPROVEMENTS

Dodge Brothers have not simply brought out a complete new line of motor cars. They have done something infinitely wiser and better than that.

They have brought new beauty, new riding ease and new mechanical perfection—the product on which their reputation as builders has been founded.

They have built a better and more desirable line of motor cars—yet basically and fundamentally the identity of their product remains the same.

But the rear springs—now underslung—have been materially lengthened. The wheelbase, too, is longer, and the combined result is a notable improvement in riding qualities.

GOD BLESS THE GATE CITIES OF NEARBY BENEFITS OF THE NEW RAILROAD

San Francisco and Oakland Are At Length Astir and Seek Old Report of 1912 Which Shows What Advantages Rogerson to Wells Line Will Mean to Them; Magic City Natural Distributing Point for Territory to and Beyond Boise; Human Energy Will Win This Goal and at Same Time Again Place Cities on Great Harbor in the Lead.

San Francisco and Oakland are awakening to the fact that unless they take advantage of the vast natural opportunities that are theirs they will lose the golden opportunity presented by the coming destruction of the line from Rogerson to Wells, as many other cities have missed their opportunities in the past. This is indicated by letters that have come here from their chambers of commerce during the present month, among others, one showing that a report filed by the controller of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, with its president more than eleven years ago, and forgotten at the time, is once more recalled.

This report shows that Twin Falls can furnish a market for many products of San Francisco manufacture, as well as for imports through the harbor, that it can furnish food products that will give that city and Oakland an advantage over other Pacific points and that this city is the natural distributing point for all the territory as far as and somewhat beyond Boise, as well as the gateway for shipments from Butte. It shows that Twin Falls and the cities on San Francisco Bay have a great opportunity if they take advantage of it. T. Carey Friedlander was San Francisco controller at that time.

San Francisco and Oakland in their competition with Los Angeles are obviously in danger of losing to the superior activity of the latter. In natural opportunities they have all the advantage. The great harbor in the Golden State has no rival in the western coast except at Seattle. Age and early reputation as well as historic background and the glamour of the old days of the gold hunter all tell for San Francisco.

It is pointed out here that the advantage is no greater than once possessed by L. Lewis over Chicago in early rail connection and river trade. St. Louis with its long and powerful past history extended to the village on Lake Michigan, but the energy and indomitable push of Chicago's industrial program all along before the full possibilities of the lake traffic were even dreamed of. In that distance, the Mississippi in the backs of the Mississippi. A little "B" later a landing on the banks of the river was made to take them away from a Kansas town that had become Leavenworth. With energy and perseverance they made it. They did it by the river and by the sea. Kansas City and today Leavenworth is distance so far that it has been forgotten.

San Francisco and Oakland, with their superior advantages, so, unless Twin Falls will get the united strength into the movement, other towns with less advantages than this city and one of the cities has become the distributing point in its stead.

It is not generally realized that Baker, Ore., is closer to San Francisco by way of Twin Falls than it is to San Francisco by way of Portland. This is because of the river traffic which would be cut off by the fact that Twin Falls could be reached from the city of Twin Falls by a distance of 250 miles from Baker, Ore., to Los Angeles. This is in line for local discussion in the opinion of those who see the vision of a greater Twin Falls.

The following is the exact data from San Francisco to Idaho as shown by time tables and the estimated distance from Rogerson to Wells: The distance from San Francisco to Boise via Portland is 1548 miles. The distance from San Francisco to Boise via Twin Falls, all rail, is 900 miles, a saving in mileage from San Francisco to Boise via Twin Falls of 648 miles. The distance from Twin Falls, traveling by truck over the best surface roads from here to the capital city of Idaho is 475 miles, a saving of 253 miles.

These are things we are beginning to see now. We have turned our attention to the facts of the situation in the way of united progress and development. Obstacles to be called. No people can be called without there is widely diffused information, not merely to the law, but to obey it willingly, and co-operate in enforcing and maintaining it. Ramon Meyer.

The Desire for Good. By desiring what is perfectly good, we cannot do what is good, that is and cannot do what we would, we are part of the Divine power against it—winning the stars of light and making the struggle with darkness and our woe, George Ellet.

Labor Day Proclaimed Holiday by Moore

Governor Moore has framed the following labor-day proclamation: By virtue of the legislative power of the State of Idaho, the first Monday of September is designated as Labor Day.

There is a true dignity connected with labor and it is fitting that all people of the state recognize the great value of the laboring people. Since they are actual producers of much of the wealth of the state, it is fitting that they should be honored.
