Plundering and Cholera Reported to Add to Horrors of Stricken Japanese Cities. Relief Measures Are Rapidly Taking Shape and Japanese People Are Doing Their Utmost to Save Their Nation. Banks and Financial Affairs Are Holding Strong.

Relief measures on an unprecedented scale are underway in Japan. The resourcefulness and organizing ability of the Japanese nation in hastening the return of the stricken areas around Tokyo and Yokohama to a semblance of order.

With casualties for Tokyo and Yokohama placed around 60,000 dead and an unknown number injured by the Yokohama relief but more than two-thirds of Tokyo and profectly ill of Yokohama raised the threat of disease and starvation urged the military and civilian forces working in the devastated area to redouble in the efforts.

Cholera is reported in despatches from Kobe to have broken out in Yokohama, probably due to survivors drinking muddy water. Most of the city's water mains were broken by Saturday's quake. Japan's financial organizations are expected to survive the disaster. A temporary moratorium may be declared, but banks already are making payments.

Accomplishments of the nation thus far in meeting the crisis include: Tokyo banks are re-opening amid blasted ruins and the stench of hundreds of corpses which sanitary corps of the army are working desperately night and day to clear away.

Contributions of money ranging from 20 cents to $10,000 and gifts of food, clothing and building materials have poured into Red Cross coffers. In immediate response to an appeal for Japanese relief.

LOYD GEORGE ATTACKS HIS GOVERNMENT

Present British Government's Record is Humiliating, Says Former Premier of England; Italy Strangling Greece and France Keen on Prorogative Form of Germany Asserts British Statesman.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—"France now is kneeling on the prostrate form of Germany, who Italy is strangling Greece," former Premier David Lloyd George declared in a speech here today.

Lloyd George launched a bitter attack upon the present British government.

"Our relations with France have not been worse since 1870 (over which Britain and France declared in 1898 after Captain Marchant and a French force had seized the territory in the Sahara), the former premier said.

"The present British government's record is a humiliating one. Telegrams from Geneva do not disguise the fact that we have met with a serious rebuff."

(Lloyd George refers to efforts of British statesmen to have the league of nations intervene in the Italian-Greek dispute, which were overruled by France and Italy.)

"What happened yesterday at Geneva (when the council of the league of nations declined to assert its competence to adjudicate the Italo-Greek dispute) amounts to practical acceptance of Mussolini's policy," Lloyd George continued.

"I don't like my nation being snubbed out of Europe, a nation which depends on credit abroad for its living discredited before the world."

Twin Falls Schools Will Open Monday, According to Superintendent M. C. Mitchell; Beginners Start Tuesday; Teachers Arriving After Vacations and New Equipment is in Place.

Opens Next Monday. School opens Monday, September 10. It is planned that all the buildings and equipment for opening the schools will be in readiness, and that all employees of the school district will have arrived a few days previously in ample time to receive all necessary instructions for accomplishing the work of enrollment and registration of pupils. It is very important that all pupils come on the opening day as usual.

The schools can thus start off with the desired degree of efficiency from the first.

In the senior high school and junior high school the roll will be taken each morning at 8:30 o'clock, and in the grade buildings at nine o'clock. In all the buildings school will resume in the afternoon at 1 o'clock. This corresponds to the time schedule of last year.

"Beginners" Start on Tuesday. Part of the foregoing announcement does not apply in the case of those children entering school for the first time and who will be classified in the "First I" grade. Pupils in the "First I" grade should not come until Tuesday morning, September 11. This enables the principals and teachers to give a larger degree of attention to the older pupils in the grade buildings on Monday and similarly a greater amount of attention to the smaller children when they start on Tuesday.

My stomach would burst with gas like a barrel and the colic, got to be awful. Medicine didn't help much until I got hold of Magy's Wonderful Tablets, which did the trick. I am telling everyone about it." NEWS OF THE SPORT WORLD

DEMPSEY IS BURNED OUT SAYS EXPERT

BY JACK MAULIFFE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Jack Dempsey gave me the impression in his training camp at Saratoga that he was burned out and too tired to have himself in the gym and unless he stops work right away and starts to conserve his strength he is not going to keep Firpo down if he does not hit him on the floor.

Dempsey is deuced up. He lacks the strength and his wind is bad. He's tight to stop boxing and work the rest of the time for his wind.

He looks to me as if he were going to stop unless he improves himself. I think he will blow up in a couple of rounds.

You hear all the experts saying his great left hand will be better than Firpo's right fist which anyone will admit is most deadly. But Dempsey will not win with his left hand alone. He'll have to counter to win and he has not himself all thrown off with his right hand.

Mocks Carpenter's style.

His left hand isn't what it was in Toledo and neither is his right. He fell in love with Carpenter's straight right and his right cross counter. He has tried to imitate the Frenchman and the result is that he has lost his original style which was very good. He is playing now for a faulty right and he has taken the kick out of his left hand.

He is also doing a lot of crazy things like leading with his right arm when he tries a right counter he hops it over and he'll miss it every more times than he will land. Every time he misses it will take the heart out of him and sap his strength.

Firpo Will Hang On.

He has no strength to lose. He will have to be strong because Firpo is smart enough to hang on him in the clinch and Firpo has plenty of weight with him.

If Dempsey is to win the coming fight and retain his title he will have to put boxing aside and just in and sock.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

The Giants strengthened their hold on first place yesterday when Jack Bentley held the Phillies to a single run and the Giants won 5 to 1.

The Pirates won on the long end of a 4 to 1 score when their game with the Cubs was called at the end of the fifth inning because of rain.

The Athletics won the first game of their series with the Red Sox 2 to 2. Rommel weakened slightly in the sixth inning and allowed the visitors to take only runs.

GRAHAM ELIMINATED IN TENNIS DOUBLES

—BOISE, Idaho, Sept. 7.—The Root-Douglas team defeated Blaine and Graham 7-5, 6-0 and 6-2 after a match that was hard-fought and skillfully played. Eaton-McCurry won from Gearhart-Smith with a score of 1-0, 6-1 and 7-5. The match was one of the fastest that has been played up to this time.

Friday afternoon at four o'clock Graham and Eaton will enter the finals in the men's singles. Both men are recognized as being among the best tennis players in the state and those who have followed the tournament rate them as being equally matched.

FIRPO HAS GOOD CHANCE TO WIN

If Fight Fans Could See Firpo They Would Be Right in Betting.

BY HENRY L. FAHRELL.
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 7.—Everyone who has seen Luis Firpo in training for his fight with Jack Dempsey in New York a week from tonight believes that he is in first-class condition for his return to the ring as he carried in the Brennan and Willard fights. He has a good color, his eyes are clear and snappy and there are unimpaired signs of vitality and power in his limbs, arms, shoulders and chest.

If the mind of the big South American could be read and if some acceptable test of courage could be applied to his "heart" those who want to wager money on the championship fight would be better guided than they are now.

If most of the experts who have come to see Firpo in the final stages of his training have gone away with the opinion that his chances for winning the championship depend almost entirely on how much he can take and how many times he will come.

Firpo has an unusually placid disposition and does not get irritated when asked how game he is.

Mrs. L. P. Dawes of Juneau, Alaska, left last evening for Prety Fair, Kansas, after a visit with her comely Mrs. R. A. Barrett.

PLANS ARE OUT FOR

and six pupils; will report in and attend at their respective grade school buildings. Pupils in grades seven, eight and nine will report to the junior-high schools. Pupils in grades ten, eleven and twelve, will report to the senior high school.

After the first week of school, the entire school in attendance will be enrolled in the office of the supervisor of elementary grades in Room 105 of the Junior High school building and from there will be directed to the proper grade school.

Registration on Monday and Wednesday a.m. of each week between 8:30 and 10 o'clock.

Organization Changed Somewhat.

That part of the school system which takes care of the upper six grades has been changed from the 2-4 plan to the 3-5 plan of organization. Consequently in place of the intermediate school containing the grades seven and eight, we will create a Junior High school containing grades seven, eight and nine, and as much as grade nine is transferred to the senior high school. The Junior High school will contain grades ten, eleven and twelve. These two organizations will be put into effect in the school year beginning September 1, 1923.

Are of Beginning Pupils.

Beginning pupils in order to be regularly admitted to either of these grades must be at least 6 years of age on or before November 30, 1923. Also, it will be necessary to furnish a birth certificate for the child.

After the first three weeks of school have elapsed, the superintendent is entering late will be seriously handicapped in starting his first year in school.

Tuition Rate Lower.

The Board of Education has fixed the tuition rate for the coming year having received the certificate from the state board of education, which certifies grants permission to the district to charge an amount equal to the exact cost of schooling pupils in high school during the preceding year. The tuition rate will be $8 per month in the four years of high school and $2 per month in the slight lower grades. Tuition charges are required in the case of non-resident pupils only.

Economy in Purchase.

Every reasonable effort will be made to reduce the cost of text, assist pupils and parents in securing text books and materials at the lowest possible price.

To assist in effecting this saving, all pupils in the elementary grade schools will receive a list of the text books and materials which they actually need in their respective grades. These lists will be handed to the pupils on the opening day of school by the teachers. We urge that parents get their children's materials until notified by the school officials unless the cost of additional help entails no appreciable financial burden on the home. In addition to the lists, the lists to each pupil, every effort will be made to supply pupils in exchanging books which they no longer need for second hand books turned in by other pupils. This work of exchanging books will be conducted the first two or three days of school in each building.

In the case of the changes in text books recommended by the superintendent and adopted by the board, the cost of such change has been closely guarded and arrangements made for the local book dealers so that pupils may trade in their old books on the new books which they need.

Division of District Name.

The division of Independent School district No. 1 into the three sub-districts for the purpose of indicating to what grade building pupils shall go is as follows:

Those pupils shall attend the Washington school whose residence is north and east of Sixth avenue, east of the road extending north from the north end of Sixth avenue, which extension is a community known as Harrison avenue, and north of the road extending east from the east end of Sixth avenue, which extension is commonly known as Elizabeth street.

Those pupils shall attend the Bickel school whose residence is south of Sixth avenue, east and west of the road extending east from the east end of Sixth avenue, and east of Shoshone street, and the highest extending south from the south end of Shoshone street.

Those pupils whose residence is west of Shoshone street, west of north and south, west of the road extending north from the north end of Sixth avenue and west of the highway extending north from the south end of Shoshone street.

This division may be modified by the superintendent in arranging the wagon routes.

Trade Goods Will Be Paid.

Trade goods will be paid into the Washington school will not cover four-fifths of the cost of the books. Those who wish to purchase books should do so within one-half mile of the school building, except that those who live near the railroad station will deliver all pupils who live near the railroad station. Books should be brought to the station, which brings pupils from South Park to the Bickel and Washington schools. The books will be delivered to the school on Monday, September 10, and children must be ready to receive them.

When Autumn Comes We Think of Sweaters Coats and Furs

Sweaters have always been useful, but this Fall, in their many colors and styles, they are irresistible. Some are sleeveless, and very smart; they are worn with tailored blouses of dimity and pongee. Others of brushed wool—and some of real Angora—are in vogue and button high about the throat. The Jaquette style is too graceful and becoming to lose in favor; it proves that even a sweater of brushed wool designed for warmth may be graceful.

It is impossible to describe our coats; there are so many styles and fabrics, from an ultra-smart Hart, Schaffner & Marx coat of an imported Scotch fabric, to a heavy, heavy coat for Jaquette. We enjoy showing them, and you will enjoy seeing them.

O. S. L. GIVES PROOF OF GOOD FAITH. This paper holds no brief for the Union Pacific railroad system or any other railroad system. It believes that it has been guilty of many injustices in the way of freight charges and that rates still need considerable overhauling and readjustment. But it sees no sense in assuming that the company is not acting in perfect good faith in its promises regarding the building of the line south, and thinks that those who question its desire to construct a first class modern highway for through traffic are making a mistake. The road will be built. It will be built soon. There is at this time no earthly reason why the company should keep expensive engineering crews on the survey if it does not intend to build. Still less reason is there to believe that Chief Engineer W. R. Armstrong would arrange for a meeting with the Twin Falls highway board and the state highway department for the settlement of crossings and agree to pay for bridging the state road at the expense of the company in order to get speedy action, if the system did not desire speedy action.

WILSON, BIRKENHEAD AND ARTICLE X. (By JAMES D. WHELAN.) "The writer was amused at the interest which has been aroused by Lord Birkenhead's gaudier in America. The public here has ceased to be astonished by any of the improprieties of the former Lord chancellor. Wisdom and good manners never were his strong points, and since the overthrow of the coalition his extravagances of speech and action have been so reckless that he now is discredited beyond rehabilitation. America should not take him more seriously than she does."

So writes A. G. Gardiner, the famous British international writer, in his syndicate letter in the Salt Lake Tribune. The equipment is merited in view of his criticisms of Wilson for insisting on Article X and particularly in view of the fact that the principle of Article X of the covenant had been borrowed by the British and German statesmen from the writings of Theodore Roosevelt and from the League to Enforce Peace, of which William Howard Taft was president, long before Woodrow Wilson insisted on putting it into the covenant of the League of Nations. Article X was the means of settling the trouble between Serbia and Albania, between Poland and Lithuania, and it is safe to say that it will be the real source of settlement between Italy and Greece after a long controversy.

On October 23, 1916, Viscount Grey, British foreign minister, replying to a speech made the previous May in favor of a League of Nations by President Wilson, said: "Only bear this in mind, that if the nations of the world after this war are to do something more effective than they were ever able to do before this war, to combine themselves for the common object of preserving peace, they must be prepared not to undertake more than they are able to uphold by force, and to see when the time of crisis comes that it is upheld by force. The object of this league is, as I understand it, to insist upon treaties being kept, and some other settlement than was being tried before recourse to war."

In July, 1914, there was no such league in existence. Here we have the underlying idea of Article X, namely ultimate force, with consent of the league nations, to prevent war. "To this Chancellor Bethmann-Hollweg replying after referring to "the ideal state of affairs aspired after by Lord Grey and Mr. Asquith (then prime minister) in which right would prevail over might," added: "The first condition for the development of the international relations of the method of arbitration and peaceful settlement of opposing claims, would be that no aggressive coalition would be constituted. Germany is always ready to enter into a League of Nations, yes to place herself at the head of a League of Nations, which would hold the disturbers of peace in check."

In his work, "The League of Nations," given to the press two months before the signing of the armistice, M. Erzberger, afterwards first prime minister of Germany as a republican, sharply censures the statement of Bethmann-Hollweg, in saying that Germany should be placed at the head of a League of Nations, as displaying an imperialistic spirit; but he approved of the main idea of such a league to keep the peace of the world, contained in the speeches of the former chancellor and of the British statesmen. That Prime Minister Asquith was in line with the thought of the League to Enforce Peace and with the general principles of the Rooseveltian idea while the world was coming to a better understanding, is indicated by his speech at Leeds, September 26, 1917, in which he said, speaking of a League of Nations: "You will not at first, perhaps for a long time, be able to dispense with coercion, military or economic against the disloyal and recalcitrant. But we may well hope that positive law with its forcible restraints may gradually recede into the background and the sovereign authority be recognized to rest in the common sense of mankind."

In view of this it appears that Woodrow Wilson, so far from being a theorist was a practical man. He insisted on putting into concrete shape a principle advocated by great Americans and given approval by the assurances of British and German statesmen. To say that England would not have adopted Article X, the principle of which its statesmen advocated, if it had not been for Wilson's idealism, is a reflection on the honor of England. It is pleasing to have the assurance of as great an English writer as Gardiner, that Birkenhead is regarded at home as being as much of a cad as he has shown himself to be in America. In one particular Birkenhead is right. Failure of the United States to enter the League of Nations is the cause of the destiny now manifested at Geneva in pronouncing an economic boycott on Italy that would bring her to ruin as well as ruin her. No recent nation can be successfully boycotted under the United States. Ignoring the boycott and furnishing supplies, building up her own trade at the expense of the boycotters.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(BY REV. P. E. FITZPATRICK, D. D., Teacher of English Bible in the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago, Ill., Western Union Institute.)

LESSON FOR SEPTEMBER 9

JOHN MARK

OLDEN TEXT—Mark 14:1-17; Acts 12:1-19; 1 Peter 1:18-19, 21. GOLDEN TEXT—"Whatever thy hand doeth to do, do it with thy might."—MATTHEW 23:31. JOHN MARK—The Man Who Failed and Tried Again. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Warning and Encouragement From YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Mark's Contribution to Christianity.

I. Mark's Home Life (Acts 12:1-19). Mark was the son of a Christian home, for his mother was a godly woman. There is no heritage to be compared to that of a godly home. Nothing has such a far-reaching influence upon the life of a young man as the ancestry of a praying mother. Even when it was so serious to be known as a follower of Jesus, she was not afraid to have a prayer offered in her name.

II. Mark With Jesus in Galilee (Mark 14:151-52). At the sight of the Roman guard, the disciples fled into the garden and fled. This timid flight still followed the Lord till laid upon by the young man. He then fled, but not before he had his line in his hand. This man's experience doubtless had a "redeemed-sinner's" influence upon the lives of those who followed him.

III. Mark a Servant of Paul and Barnabas (Acts 12:25-13:5). Mark was with the company when Peter told of his wonderful release from prison. This doubtless made a great impression upon him and was the beginning of his desire to accompany the missionaries of the cross. His foot was not a missionary on the same footing as Paul and Barnabas, but he stands among those who took after their deeds.

IV. Mark Deserting Paul and Barnabas (Acts 13:13-14). We are not told the cause of this desertion. "Through conjecture, one or all of which had a bearing upon his life are offered: I. Jealousy. His home was of easy circumstances if not wealthy. As a young man he was sent into the rough, mountainous country, occupied by rough, half-civilized people, the work of the country was tried. We want not to condemn him too readily, for we know how trying it is to leave home when struggling against the rough world. While struggling with him, we must remember that duty is stronger than the tender love of life. There are cases when the sufferer must spare the life which bind him to father, mother, wife and child. In response to the call of duty, the missionary must turn his back upon home, native land, and friends in his devotion to his Lord.

II. Disbelief in Foreign Missions. There was a common prejudice among the Jews against taking the gospel to the Gentiles. When he saw that these missionaries were going to the "regions beyond," his prejudice may have caused him to turn back. A Covetous. The changes before them were not ignominious but real. The missionary today faces awful dangers, among which are death, deadly serpents and insects, and savage and cannibalistic men. However, fear is no excuse for cowardly behavior. We are linked to the Almighty by faith; there is nothing in heaven or on earth that can harm us. Courage is required of those who would do the Lord's work.

V. Mark With Peter in Babylon (1 Pet. 5:13). Some years after Mark's desertion, when Paul and Barnabas were arranging for a second evangelistic tour they had a sharp dispute over the question of taking Mark with them. Paul would not consent to Mark's accompanying them, so "they departed" from the other. Mark's desertion went with his uncle. By this time he must have been cured of his cowardice or he would have associated with Peter in Babylon. Mark Honored by Paul (1 Tim. 4:11). Paul is now an old man in prison.

Mark is a middle-aged man associated with Timothy at Ephesus. Mark had proved himself, for Paul gives the pleasing testimony that "he is profitable unto me for the ministry." Mark is an example of one who made good to spite of his early backsliding.

Herein. The world's battlefields have been in the heart chiefly; now herein has been the battle in the home and the closet than on the most memorable battlefields of history.—H. W. Beecher.

Little People. I love these little people and it is not a slight thing when they, who are so fresh from God, have us.—Dickens.
