KNULL BAPTIST CHURCH HAS A NEW PASTOR

Rev. Luke H. Bleakney, Pastor Knull Baptist Church, arrived in this field July 27.

Mr. Bleakney is a graduate from Newton Theological Seminary, Boston, and has done the class work at the Harvard Divinity school. He was pastor three years at Danville, New Hampshire and previous to his coming here was Associate pastor of the Clarendon Street church, Boston, and had charge of the Assonet Mission.

Mr. Bleakney is thirty years of age and two of his plato with the best teachers in Washington, D. C., and is a graduate of Thomas Normal Training school of Detroit, Michigan. She also took advanced work in music as public school adviser of music. She has been a member of college faculties in Maryland and had much experience in church and city mission work. Since coming here she has organized the girls of the community into a mission society under the name of the Priscilla club. At present they are doing home mission and aid work.

FIFTY YEARS A MINISTER
 By L. W. GOWEN.

Full fifty years have rolled away
 Like mist before the King of Day,
 Since first I stood, with soul aflame,
 'Till fell the power of Jesus' name.

These years have brought such gifts to me,
 Of grace and love, so full and free,
 With hand to lead and voice to cheer,
 And blessed Spirit, 'always near.

Now, looking back, I plainly see,
 How true the words, "He leadeth me,"
 And looking forward dare to say,
 That he will lead me all the way.

He has not let me toil in vain,
 Though oftentimes so small the gain,
 For some, from sin, to Christ were led,
 And many hungry souls were fed.

Since trusting hearts found comfort true,
 To some dark minds the light shone through,
 And some, who walked in chertown ways,
 Saw promise of some brighter days.

Now where the evening shadows fall,
 I dream and wait the Master's call,
 Content to know his limit 'is best,
 When I may enter into rest.

But waiting still, there come to me,
 Kind words of love and sympathy,
 Like notes escaped from angel's choir,
 That help to keep me brave and strong.

For these dear friends, both young and old,
 Whose love is worth far more than gold,
 I pray that each may find the grace,
 And with the ransomed have a place.

Recited by the author at a commemorative service held at Athena, Oregon, June 10, 1923.

IN THE NATIONS' LEAGUE

From today the Irish Free State will be numbered among the members of the league of nations. Today's proceedings at Geneva will be formal only; the Free State's status as a member of the league was determined on Saturday when, by unanimous vote, a league commission decided to give the new Dublin government a seat in the assembly and a voice in the council of the league.

So that Ireland's new Free State becomes a world factor. It is recognized as a free and self-governing state. There were protests, of course, against the entry of the Free State into the league, but these protests were voiced by the element which has refused to recognize the Free State, clings to the idea of an Ireland without the British empire, and has stressed the fear that, once in the league, the Free State would be subjected to the malign influence of Great Britain.

Some rather pertinent observations are intruding as, far in advance, the spectacle of Ireland, getting into the league, will bring large numbers of her fellowmen in the United States not to keep this country out. And the disappearance, consequent upon Ireland's admission, of the league as an issue to serve political ends in American campaigns. The more important fact is that the Free State leaders have taken counsel among themselves and have joined a league which they expect to find a support in time of possible trouble.—Salt Lake Tribune.

EDITOR IDAHO FREEMASON SCORES 'FLOGGINGS'

Frank G. Burroughs, editor of the Idaho Freeman, says in the current issue of the Boise New Freedom:

From Texas, from Oklahoma, from Georgia, Florida and Ohio, come ghastly stories of unmerciful lashings inflicted upon various persons of more or less unavowed reputations, supposedly inflicted in a regulatory spirit.

This species of lynch law—or any other variation thereof—is dead wrong and the perpetrators should be punished to the fullest extent of the law which they are flouting. Nothing can conceivably be more dangerous to American institutions than the substitution of organized mob rule for the orderly process of constitutional law.

What if these people did deserve the lashings they get? Two wrongs do not make a right. The action taken is utterly obnoxious to real American sentiment. Brutality has no part in constitutional justice. Peace and order can only be maintained through lawfully constituted tribunals. If these fall there are still other resources outside of mob rule. Infractions of the law can be tried only in the public courts and if the courts fail there is still the great tribunal of public opinion which will sooner or later lead into paths of right.

There is no one thing of greater importance to the maintenance of American institutions than respect for the law and the recognition of the supremacy of the American constitution which guarantees to all a fair trial under orderly process. Mobocracy is vicious and un-American in its inception and its processes, an matter how nor why, nor when nor where. There is nothing in 'Americanism' that can take away from us the priceless honor of the law's supremacy. Mob rule leads to chaos and anarchy. It takes away respect for law and substitutes respect for nothing. It is un-American, un-Christian, unholly. From such acts is derived the encouragement of radicalism, communism, socialism and the like that ensue our modern civilization.

More for Your Money

Swapping things—as when our grandmothers traded eggs for calico at the cross-roads store—gives a better understanding of values. By measuring one thing against another we too can often judge values more clearly.

Coal and wages make up more than half the manufacturing cost of cement.

The chart above shows price fluctuations for portland cement, coal and wages during the past ten years. In each case 100 is used to represent 1913 figures, by the Government departments which compiled these statistics.

Translated into "eggs and calico" language, this chart shows that a ton of coal would buy nearly twice as much cement in 1922 as in 1913. A day's wages also would buy more cement in 1922 than in 1913.

This means that even though coal and wages make up more than half its manufacturing cost, cement is now relatively lower in price than either coal or wages.

So, considering these increased costs, it is plain that in buying cement you get more for your money than before.

WISHEADING OF OFFICER
IN CAUSE OF STUB

Manufacturing of a formal complaint handed down by Judge James R. Bottwell relative to the cost of the creation of the irrigation district, created a sensation and considerable excitement here, this week. Judge Bottwell held that the cost per acre for water would be $2.87. This was understood by some as meaning that the cost would be $2.87 per acre, where the cost per acre is just half that much, also. The Twin Falls aggregation thinks but half an acre foot per acre. The cost per acre is $4.23 per acre, which is slightly less than the previous $4.65 per acre estimate of the cost.

POULTRY MEN TO DISCUSS THE EGG
MARKET THURSDAY

A delegation of poultrymen led by Fred C. Moore, head of the state department, called on the chamber of commerce directors last evening and discussed the question of organizing for co-operative marketing. There will be a meeting of merchants and others interested with poultrymen at the chamber of commerce rooms Thursday evening. During a recent visit Mr. Moore in an interview with the Times urged such organization where cash buyers for shipment failed to pay enough for eggs. He declared that he would not interfere with the trade of retail merchants and urged the improvement in the grade of fowl on the tract.

Wife Denies Story
Check For Bail

E. R. Dooley filed a certified check for $1000 with the probate court evening in the case filed against him in an interview with the Times. Reports that police were called by him in an interview with the Times. Dooley attacked his wife at her home Friday night. She has been explained by Mrs. Dooley who says that she telephoned to the officers when she heard a noise in the house. She said that Mrs. Dooley had entered the house without her knowing it and when she heard the noise she called the officers. She said that she was and called the officers. Mr. Dooley remained but a few moments and left, she declares.

He Traces Remain.
Will anything in the World was equal this? It was centuries before, was in India. Yet the kind of reaction his soldiers consumed in of importance still. For from Iraq and Iran, through Malaya and Bina, the trade route is still marked by groves of date palms. Now, dates were a principal element in the diet of the ancients, and the fruit eaten, the stone seeds thrown aside in profusion, destined to be the progenitors of successive generations of palm-groves.

Just One Hour Each Day.
An hour wasted daily on trifles or indifference would, if devoted to self-improvement, make an ignorant man or woman wise in a year and employed in good work, would make a life fruitful and death a harvest of worthy deeds.
