A.—Thanking you kindly, yours truly, Peter Pan.
A.—The University of California Architecture experiment station is located at Berkeley, California. You are very welcome, Peter Pan. Come in next.

Q.—Dear Auntie Sue: What causes scakiness?—Torrance.
A.—The primary cause of scakiness is the motion of the vessel and it is generally believed to be a reflex disturbance of the nervous system, due to the violent and unusual stimulation of the organs of special sensation concerned in maintaining the equilibrium of the body, particularly the semi-circular canals of the ears, the eyes, the diaphragm and also the abdominal viscera, especially the stomach, or held at his house.

All wedding arrangements should be made in accordance with the wishes of the girl's people. Everybody will appreciate the wisdom of a reception of some kind, within the limits of ability, which an extravagant show seems inappropriate. After the wedding has taken place, of course, there is no limit to what the marriage party may do in the way of receptions, balls, dinners, or entertainments in behalf of the girl.

There, also, was a special collection taken for missions as is the custom on promotion or rally day.

The Baptist Sunday school children held their exercises in the morning, while in the evening the B. Y. P. members had charge of the services, and carried out their promotion exercises. The young people had the intermediate department promoted to the senior department. The Christian church had the largest attendance at the Sunday school hour yesterday but they have had during the month of September and held their exercises on all the other churches.

The Methodist children took part in special exercises and on next Sunday morning the children will report in their new classes. Sunday school work in all denominations is rapidly approaching the systematic order of the day schools, the study being required to give Bible study work in order to gain their certificates and promotion.

CLASH OVER OPPONENT OF BRITISH NAG

Zev and My Own Both Want to Race Against the Champ of Britain; Bitter Feud Springs Up Between Owners of Horses.

(BY HENRY L. FAIRBELL.)
NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Eyes of the Jockey club, a committee of which has to select the American three-year-old that will carry the national colors against Payrus, the English derby winner, in the international race at Belmont park, began to see something today that looked like storm clouds in the sky.

The row between the admirers of Zev, the Sinclair colt, and My Own, the dashing youngster owned by Daniel Grayson, has crept beyond the bounds of the racing fraternity and is becoming almost a national issue.

A letter from Brigadier General Mitchell, head of the American air service, to August Belmont, president of the Jockey club, and sponsor of the race, called for a square deal for My Own, showed the extent to which the race has become of general and national interest.

In making a selection of the American entry, the Jockey club is in a position—they will be damned if they do it and just as damned if they don't. General Mitchell's action is a settlement of all parties of My Own when he suggested that if the owners of Zev refused to consent to a match race with My Own, that the Grayson colt will be selected to carry the American standard against the British thoroughbred.

Zev, according to Sam Hillbreth, his trainer, threw a frog in his last start, and for that reason, he was said to be unable to run in the match race which is proposed as a means of deciding which was the better of the two leaders of the year.

Admiral Grayson, it seems, was more than willing to do anything to put My Own to the test and he even sacrificed several fine purses to enter his colt in two of the events, which were considered trials for the big race.

Aids may be made from any material which becomes hardened on exposure to the sun. The process of baking consists in first exposing the mold holes to the direct rays of the sun for a day, then turning them, exposing different faces, from seven to fourteen days. PIGSKIN DOPE

BY GOSH.

Every effort is being made to get a game for the local high school team for Friday, but a late hour this afternoon no answers had been received in the many requests sent out a couple of days ago.

A copy of the Idaho Falls Post of last week had an article concerning Twin Falls and says now that "Twin Falls is out of the running, it looks pretty safe for Idaho Falls against the state championship.

This is not the case, as Twin Falls is still in the South Central Association, having no rivals at the last meeting, and as far as it is known is an eligible at a chance at the state championship as any other school in the state.

Why these erroneous reports are circulated is beyond us, but as some one once said, "The truth will out" and then the guilty party or parties should be punished.

No team in the state of Idaho is entitled to claim the state championship without first having won from Twin Falls.

This is not said in a manner to brag about the local team, but because Twin Falls is a member of this district, and as such is entitled to as much consideration as any other school.

Twin Falls may not win the championship this year, but they will be at the top fighting all the time, and the title held by the best percentage made during the season, then of course Twin Falls must assuredly will be a contender, as the best of the schools in this district have signified their willingness to revert to the local institutions.

In the meantime, Coach Evans is putting his squads through some hard workouts, and the team looks better every day.

The boys all realize the importance of being in condition and every member is in fine fettle.

The old Blue and White fighting spirit is there, and every lad is anxious for the opening whistle.

Should games be scheduled for the coming Friday the fans are assured that the Twin Falls team will be ready.

So many of the fans are pessimistic concerning the season, but this feeling is all wrong. If one thing is true, it will be found that Twin Falls never did play a game until the first of Friday in October, and there is still a possibility that there will be a game here on Saturday.

Cheer up, Twin Falls high school is still on the map, and is still a member of the South Central Association, and as such will not be a chance at the state championship.

Money in Inventions.

Many big fortunes have come from small inventions. For instance, a just made a can with a seam just below the top. When the can was to be opened it was necessary only to strike the top and it came off. A Chicago packing house ordered ten millions as an experiment, and the idea worked so well that the inventor made a big fortune.

Saying Gays Back to Old Times.

The saying "no worth a rush" dates back to the days before carpets were invented, and the floors were straw mat rushes. SCIENCE TOLD IN TABLOID

X-RAY PENETRATION.

Madam Curie co-discoverer with her husband, of radium, is a member of a committee appointed by the United States to investigate a peculiar X-ray.

A doctor installed one of the latest and most powerful X-ray machines in a man living across the street from the doctor's office. He claimed the X-rays crossed the street, penetrated his dwelling, and injured him by constant exposure to the rays.

The committee is endeavoring to discover the amount of damage that could be caused by rays traveling that distance.

The new X-ray machine, used in treatment, operate on a voltage of 20,000 and give off highly penetrating rays, capable of passing through copper.

These machines, unlike those used in making X-ray pictures, are run continuously and it is possible that they could inflict damage on the human body at the distance claimed in the suit. They are used mostly in treatments for cancer.

We have fairly good authority for the assurance that there will perhaps be some work done this fall on the Logansport-Wells railroad regardless of the telegram which was published recently to the contrary. We hope we shall be able to publish additional information on this subject within a few weeks as time will bring out these facts.

Few persons are as willing to shield the one who does them injury as Mrs. Ella F. Alton, who was laid to rest this forenoon. She was struck down by an auto accident after she knew that she could not live, only a few hours she asked that even the name of the one who was driving the car which caused her fatal injury should not be published. This is indeed the spirit of a real Christian and is most commendable. She was a kind mother and loving companion and her spirit will long be remembered in this city.

In the death of Steve Locke of Burley last week, the state of Idaho lost an official who was far more to the community than the average citizen. He was editor of the Burley Bulletin for years and previous to that was a teacher in the schools of Twin Falls. He was well known here among the earlier settlers of Twin Falls and has many relatives in this section at the present time. He was a business man who was remarkably successful as far as this world's goods goes and it seems a shame that he should be cut off just in the peak of his career as a statesman and citizen.

THE INVISIBLE ENEMY

When one, on a mountain trail, comes into a clearing and looks back, he may be pleased with the prospect; again he may realize that a thoughtless act of his has started a forest fire. The coal industry has come into a clearing. It is now looking back. It is getting an eagle's view of its path. And those who see clearly are quite thoughtful.

For years, coal men have been disturbed by the contrast between their mounting investments and their small returns. The tendency to indulge in post mortems is strong in the human mind. The coal men indulged. They saw the discrepancy. They had to explain it. And, the phrase which came most readily to their lips was: "There are too many mines." They used that phrase. They repeated it to everybody. And, since repetition is repetition, the coal industry got the reputation of being over-developed.

The more coal men thought on that subject, the more they discussed it. And, the more they discussed it, the more clever became their conviction that the solution was beyond their reach that they needed help.

When anybody sticks his head out of an American window and yells for help, he usually gets it of some sort. But, if the trouble happens to be a fire, the yelling help may be a fireman or he may be merely somebody who wants to steal the money. The coal men were in no mood to be discriminating or discerning. They wanted help. They yelled for help. And, even after the help came, they still kept the noise going.

However, the possibility that the lumber drawers and silver closet have been rifled is not alarming. Stolen goods usually end at the pawnbroker's and can be recovered by the police. It is not the visible but the invisible loss and damage which really hurts. Due to the mere act of calling for help, some of the moral fiber of the industry has gone. At times, seems to lack some of the virility and the self respect it once had. It posed as a pauper. It got into the mood for being a pauper. And it had played the part for so long it had to apologize when, suddenly, it found itself no longer a public charge.

It is no crime in America to make money. It is not even an offense against good public policy to become rich honestly. On the contrary, if you look at it in the right light, to be prosperous and wealthy is really to be helpful to the state. Every nation prides itself on its wealth. Every nation wants to have financial resources upon which it can fall back in case of need. It was our pride that during the war we had the money with which to buy our own bills and those of other nations.

Besides, to become rich is our national ambition. It has been so from the beginning. The new-felers generally breathe the spirit of a people. All of our new-felers are at their best when painting vivid pictures of young men who struggled from nothing into great fortune.

It is our national pride that such things can happen in our country; that we have so far, kept this degree of opportunity wide open. So we glory in our wealth. We take pride in the men who, in the terrible battle with difficulties, win the big prize.

Why, then, in a nation with that ambition and that ideal, should our coal men be apologetic about their success in making some money? It is not because they are out of keeping with the American spirit; they are in thorough accord with it. It is not because they have done anything dishonest. It is never dishonest to sell anything for the price which the other man volunteers to pay. It is not because they have done anything disgraceful, disloyal or even immoral. None of those things enter into the coal case. Why, then, are the coal men to apologize when found with two dollars to rub against each other in their pockets.

If you want the true psychology of their present-day attitude, you may have to go back to the days when they were all pleading that "there are too many mines." That sort of propaganda did not affect the public in the least. The people heard it and went on with their business. What did it do to bend the road men them?

It is that old wood which still clings to them today. It causes them to apologize when found with money in their pockets. That is the invisible enemy of the coal industry. It is sapping its strength, its courage and its self respect.—Mining Congress Journal.

Kniscella Method

The elementary teachers all over the world have a big responsibility. They are in a position to lay the foundation of the whole structure. Children less than seven years of age, psychologically, really cannot read. Kniscella's method can grasp the fundamentals of music.

Music is the foundation of all medical education, and through the study the child is enabled to his right expression in music and able to study other instruments, as well as voice. A child's interest in music may be kindled through frequent contact with his teacher, marking a musical name of teaching music.

The method was written since the war and will do much to become part of the background of the Americanization program for our nation.

Willard Mack's play, "Your Friend and Mine," which has been seen in many theaters throughout the country, has been done at a modern picture.

The play is scheduled for presentation here today at the Orpheum. Advertisers reported that it is extremely fine, especially emphasizing the plot and the characterizations with which the picture has been produced.

A sterling cast has been assembled to enact the various roles. Mr. Mack is seen as the playwright, whose success enables him to arrange for the artist's downfall; Edna Bennett is the wife, finding sympathy in the artist's plight; and her friend, Dorothy Gordon is her husband, intent on the making of a fortune. J. Herbert Frank is the unscrupulous artist; and Otto Lester, Rosemary "Baby" and Ari-Gray, round out the fine cast.

MOORE IN SCIENTIFIC

After five years of comedy roles in pictures, Owen Moore plays his first serious part in "The Silent Partner," a Paramount picture which comes to the Idaho theatre for two days beginning Saturday.

Mr. Moore says that in comedy and comedy-drama require much more effort than serious acting. A sympathetic audience he has—though the participation of good comedy. On the other hand, acting in drama may be more easy, yet if the story from the audience will accept bear satisfied.

"The Silent Partner," a Charles Maigne production, is for the most part pure drama, though lightened by occasional touches of comedy relief. The theme is a novel one—the fish of a wife to have something to say regarding her husband's business activities to her certain friends and Robert Edeson are featured with Mr. Moore in this superb production.

At the evening show, Mackle, the hypnotist, will put on some new demonstrations. Last week he played to capacity here and he is expected to return with something different.

There is a comedy with "Charles Murray and the Big Boy" shows the only motion picture taken in Mexico of the recent eclipse of the sun.

At Grade Crossings He Who Hesitates Is Safe

Self-preservation would seem to be nature's last law. For in the last five years, 9,341 persons (almost twice the number killed at the Battle of Gettysburg) have sacrificed their lives at highway grade crossings in the United States through failure to stop, look and listen.

Train operation is safe because railway employees are carefully trained. Except in a few states, automobile drivers are turned loose without even an examination.

Trains and street cars stop before crossing another railroad where there is no interlocking device. If it is necessary for them to pass, it is necessary for the auto driver. For most automobiles carry level eyes and friends of the driver.

Yet, eight out of ten automobile drivers, race across railroad tracks without stopping and looking in either direction. Many motorists disregard the watchman's step signal, running through and breaking crossing gates in common occurrence. One-fifth of all train accidents involving automobiles are caused by the automobile running into the side of the train.

The railroads maintain warning signs and equipment to protect the auto and ring the bell for every crossing. Highways are being reworked to eliminate crossings. But railroads are powerless to prevent injury to occupants of automobiles who fail to exercise care for their own safety.

It has been suggested that all grade crossings be removed. There are 250,000 in the United States and at $50,000 each it would cost $12,500,000,000—and take at least thirty years to remove them. This expense is about two-thirds of the value of all the railroads of the country, so tentatively found by the Interstate Commerce Commission, and neither the railroads nor the municipalities have the money. The "Stop, Look and Listen" rule can be followed now without cost. It takes a train but a few seconds to pass over a crossing. Surely no one would sacrifice his life and his loved one to save a few seconds!

Lives of rail passengers are imperiled by grade crossing accidents. Recently several trains on eastern roads have been derailed by striking motor vehicles, and engineers and passengers have been killed.

Grade crossing accidents would absolutely cease if every automobile driver would stop, look and listen at every grade crossing.

What do you do?

UNION PACIFIC SYSTEM

You can be free from Eczema!

WIERD, creeping, annoying, unsightly—eczema—scratches—scratches and other skin eruptions, spoiling your complexion—cause you to feel for embarrassment—itching—burning your temper. All because of impurities that are rampant in your system—contaminate your red blood cells are dormant.

A S. S. S. clears up skin eruptions through its power of cleansing the blood. Herbs and bark, carefully selected and scientifically prepared and proportioned, which make up the ingredients in S. S. S. are the most feared and dreaded causes of skin disorders. Eczema, pimples, boils, blackheads and other skin diseases pack up and leave the system when S. S. S. sends new rich blood coursing through your veins.

Have a general house cleaning for your system. Let S. S. S. rid you of skin impurities which tend to keep you in a rundown condition. Skin disorders are nothing more than bill-board announcing that the system is "out of color." S. S. S. is sold by the leading drug stores. The large extra bottle is the more economical.
