It had been looking so good lately that McGraw was sure that he had a very fine year in the team's history that he ought to be good for two games in the series.

Disappointment, however, is one of the best pitchers in the American League, the Giants are not likely about him.

LESSON FOR OCTOBER 7

ABRAHAM, A BLESSING TO THE WORLD. GOLDEN TEXT—"In Thee shall all blessing of the earth be blessed." Gen. 12:3.

THE BIRTHDAY TOPIC—Being a Blessing to the World. THE BIRTHDAY TOPIC—A Man Who Became a Blessing to the World. INTERMEDIATE AND JUNIOR TOPICS—GOD'S PROMISE AND ABRAHAM'S FAITH. ABRAHAM, A BLESSING TO THE WORLD.

1. Abraham's people were idolaters. Very like the idolaters of our day, they worshipped idols. Tradition furnishes us with some interesting stories touching his struggle against idolatry. At any rate, his experiences were such as to well qualify him to be the head of a people whose God was the Lord. He knew how hopeless the superstitions of idolatry were to the minds of the people, and, therefore, would be able to lead them back to God.

2. Abraham's Call (Gen. 12:1, 2). God came to him in Ur of the Chaldees and said to him: "Get thee out of thy country." One is told by the country with a longing heart. Abraham lived in the city of Ur, and he had formed strong attachments to his country.

3. The Father of a Great Posterity (v. 2). This has not only been fulfilled. He was not to go out primarily for blessing. He was to go out to be a blessing to the nations. He was to be a blessing to the nations. He was to be a blessing to the nations. He was to be a blessing to the nations.

4. God Testing Abraham (Gen. 22:1-19). Abraham's faith was shown in that he obeyed the call of God and left his home and country. He was to be a blessing to the nations. He was to be a blessing to the nations. He was to be a blessing to the nations.

5. All Make Mistakes. The world could easily get along without the man who never makes a mistake. Warm Up From Vices. All nations are to be saved. Brown light to walk us from vices. Times Wantads Get Results.

His Case Given Up, Haas Gains 60 Lbs.

"My case had been given up as hopeless, so I do not hesitate to give Tania all the credit for my being alive and in good health today." In the statement made, reported by E. C. Haas, 364 1/2 Pinehey Ave., Seattle, Wash.

"One day about three years ago I suddenly became so nervous, weak and dizzy that I had to leave work and lie in my bed. I had completely broke down and felt myself dead. I had reached the end of my road."

"Finally a friend put me on to Tania and that's how I won the fight. The first pills I took were eating like a hot fire and by weight and strength increased as if by magic. Six bottles ran my weight up 60 pounds and after that, three years ago now, I have enjoyed splendid health. Tania has been worth more than a fortune any day."

"Tania is far safe by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold."

Fairness and Squareness in College Sport

Larger Institutions Are Gradually Checking Practice of Buying Up Promising Players--Football 'Ringer' May Soon Become Extinct--Temptation to Use Unfair Means Strongest in Small Colleges.

Hard dollars count in politics
And in big sport, we hear;
But football should be free from tricks,
Bruisers, toughs and golden bricks!
We'll make its record clear.

...and their spirit be lived up to. It has been a great many years since a student body of the order of alumni do to a soldier's memorial as they and athletic managers cooperate in building in other places. A victory in a recent game for the team is a matter of popular interest, not only for the college but for every man, woman and child in the town. The good name of the school is at stake and the athletic board is supposed to depend upon the results. It is particularly started on their high school good name of the football team, and a certain amount for spending careers. Some have lately seen a defeat is enough to throw the whole team into mourning.

With all the big universities and colleges of the country, as well as many of the athletic conferences formulating new eligibility rules, or brushing up their old ones, is the practice of buying up a player or two to jam into the weak spots in the football team about to be discontinued? Is the "ringer" about to become extinct, along with the dodgy and saber-tooth tiger? In other words, are our institutions of learning big and little about to give up the custom of buying school athletes by the giving of scholarships or by extending actual money aid? Is the varsity football team going to be made up of men who came to school primarily to study, or is it going to be composed of men whose tastes are far from books, but who on account of prowess or great physical strength, are ideal as football players? In the habit of protesting of college's high and preparatory schools for likely men by alumni, or by actual representatives of the interested colleges and universities—about to be discontinued? The disadvantage of the Small School In the past these practices have flourished. Of course it is admitted that the smaller school is hampered the more they have the desire to build up a winning team, to witness of this which took place some of the games, and to garnish glory, honor and publicity for themselves, and with this desire is small room and are universities also. One of the little material to begin with. Can universities had discovered a very influence promising material to come in high school, mind you. It was desirable to have thousands of students, one so his expenses at prep school were paid by the university. Graduation two farmer-boy ringers in a day came, the young hopeful was on college up-state. They were regular

ARMY MEN TO AID SCOUTS

General Ferring has accepted the invitation of the Boy Scouts of America asking for the army's cooperation, and has formally agreed to fully recognize the activities of the Boy Scouts of America, their program, objectives, leadership and ethical accomplishments. It does not hesitate to say that it will be very glad to see members of the army everywhere take such active part in scouting as officers, cadets and local conditions permit.

"Having kept in close touch with the work of the boy scouts through the agency of its committee for the purpose of it as a guide for the good it does to those who may be called upon to serve as our future defenders, and finally, as an American citizen, I have been glad to see that it gives in preparing the boy to be a worthy citizen of his country."

"The army men who become scoutmasters will act in the same capacity as civil accountants. No military tactics will be taught, and there will be no attempt made by the soldiers to militarize the movement."

"The above-mentioned invitation to General Ferring is being accepted by the national council."

"The Boy Scouts of America is nonmilitary in spirit and in program."

"It is hoped that this season officers and former officers of the military establishment have in spite of their genuine desire to do so, expressed a hesitancy to give their assistance for fear that such connection might create a public misapprehension. Be it recalled, that we remain in this line our policy is to continue nonmilitary and shall continue nonmilitary, although encouraging at all times the services of the military and naval officers and cadets, and their participation in the future to no even greater degree."

PUT THE BEST INTO HOUSE

No money saved in the end by using Poor Material—Immense Damage Caused by Rust.

The small home builder has learned a lesson, and that is that poor planning and construction is much more expensive in the long run than is the use of the best material and the most skillful building. The demand for better home building is spreading, with the recognition that flimsy work will eventually be condemned by some buyers.

"There is a newly defined movement toward the substantial and enduring and away from the flimsy type of construction which has been a noticeable feature of much of our country's building in the past few years, in the last decade," says W. A. Willis of the Copper and Brass Association.

"The costly results which follow the erection of the type of house that is built hurriedly to sell and not to live in are being more fully illustrated than by the amazing fact that home owners in this country spend more than $200,000,000 every year in repainting and retreating their houses to keep them from becoming rusted and falling into ruin. The significance of this loss is apparent from the fact that it is greater than the fire loss in residential structures. In all save disaster to life and property, rust is destructive because rust works so insidiously."

BOY SCOUTS AID IN RESCUE

When fire broke out in the laundry of the first institution at the Soldiers' Home, a few weeks ago the institution's scout troop mobilized instantly and rendered valuable assistance in helping to extinguish the fire. The fire broke out from the ward, which occupies three floors. A fireman (Conn) happened on the laundry and immediately set to work to extinguish the flames. The fire drills which the officers and employees of the institution, assisted by the scout troop, to instill the habit of without assistance from the fire department. None of the children suffered any ill effects from the fire, and the evacuation of the building into the open outdoors, thanks to the promptness with which the boy scouts came to their aid into the warm dining room."

SCOUTS BEAUTIFY CAMPS

Seattle's ambition to make its automobile tourist camp the most beautiful in the West was actively fostered by local boy scouts, who with other leaders, aided in planting scores of flower beds. "It sincerely believed," stated Camp Manager Gates, "that as a result of the cooperation demonstrated by Seattle community organizations, the automobile tourist camp will become famous for its beauty throughout the entire United States. I wish to thank everyone, especially the boy scouts, for their participation in the ceremony."

BOY SCOUTS SAVE 35 LIVES

Boy scouts of Newark, N. J., have saved at least 35 lives since January 1, states a local summary of scout "good turns." Twenty-seven persons were saved from burning buildings which were "fambled," states the report. "Six were dropped out of windows of burning buildings, and were rescued from the roof of an approaching train. The names of the scouts have not been announced, as the instances their deeds were reported by fellow scouts."

Community Building

IMPROVING LOOKS OF CITY

Something Can Be Done in That Direction in Practically Every American Community.

Every indication that American communities are becoming interested in the beautification of their environment is encouraging. Recently we referred to the proposal for an art commission for Grand Rapids, Mich., and we now note the appeal of the Des Moines Capital for the restoration of the "beauty dead" in that city. A town-planning commission makes the proposal, which is intended to protect the water level of the river, which in the low water period has become an unsightly array of sand bars and stagnant pools.

Our western American towns and cities have grown up hilly under economic influences and while many have features of beauty, these are usually almost accidental. If we take a little trouble we can make our towns much more attractive to the eye and still provide for ourselves and our children a daily enjoyable holiday price. There are two reasons why our communities, which are now well-to-do, intelligent and unhampered in progress in their efforts to do so, are not doing so. The first reason is that they do not give thought to their architecture, their public squares, their streets and their recreation areas. The second reason is that they do not give thought to their natural features. When you hear of the Grand Rapids art commission, you will probably think of the city as having a new interest and a new respect for their enterprise and their own sense of real American life—Chicago Tribune.

that she had never discussed his wife with Blackburn had never mentioned to him of mailed medicine to Mrs. Blackburn, and denied all statements of Mrs. Blackburn relative to such correspondence, including an alleged description of T. F. Murray, which Blackburn said she gave him during the alleged conversation. She said that she was in charge of the "Meadow" restaurant and lunch room during the latter part of April and was especially busy during the time Blackburn named, the said that she had gone into the restaurant during the time the proprietor was in the hospital to take charge of the business and that she had not seen Mrs. Blackburn during that time. She was unopposed to the conduct of the business. This part of the testimony, as well as the statement that they usually closed up about 11 o'clock at night was corroborated by Mrs. Williams. Mrs. Williams answered the questions of the attorneys readily and without apparent embarrassment. Mr. T. Conant in readiness for Blackburn said her testimony was true and correct and was not good.

Court adjourned at 1:30 for two hours to hear arguments on the admissibility of further character testimony offered by the defense.

Defendant's Counsel Testimony.

Melvin Blackburn denied his testimony this morning when the state prosecutor, Mr. Williams, inquired as to the statements made last Saturday to the effect that he had seen Mrs. Williams in front of the Beer-Hammerquist department store, that she told him that she had sent more medicine to his wife and asked him for $10. He insisted Prosecuting Attorney J. W. Taylor in conversation after the arrest had told him that they wanted to get the real criminal, and if he would give them the name of the doctor, he said that his wife did not die but would not be prosecuted. He said, in substance, that having made this statement, the prosecutor turned around and asked Sheriff M. E. Fine for help in doing anything if Melvin would tell the truth and that the sheriff said in substance "No." He said that he had told Sheriff DeWitt statement.

Sheriff Finch took the stand in rebuttal and said that no such conversation had taken place between Mrs. Williams and Blackburn when she former came up at the request of the prosecuting attorney and Deputy Sheriff J. W. Gahbert. Mrs. Williams testified that she had seen Blackburn in front of the Beer-Hammerquist department store, that she told him that she had sent more medicine to his wife and asked him for $10. He insisted Prosecuting Attorney J. W. Taylor in conversation after the arrest had told him that they wanted to get the real criminal, and if he would give them the name of the doctor, he said that his wife did not die but would not be prosecuted. ## Rules for Better Cities

Bellevue has an excellent citizen list at hand if citizens and traffic authorities will give study to the question. Charles Clifford, president of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, makes a list of suggestions for cities planning for comment and criticism.

Clifford suggests as a means of improving traffic congestion and hazards in cities:

- (1) More playgrounds.
- (2) More traffic regulations and more scientific study of safety provisions.
- (3) New boulevards.
- (4) Detours for through traffic.

Signs on Highways

At Kansas City, Mo., county court has ordered the removal of billboards and signs from the county highways, because being given as required by the law. It is too much to expect that the example set in that section will be followed throughout the nation.

It is not surprising, however, what the country would resemble if the highways were cleared of billboards. Signs are a nuisance and have begun to travel down and town to sprout up alongside them. The billboards are a nuisance and have begun to travel down and town to sprout up alongside them. The billboards are a nuisance and have begun to travel down and town to sprout up alongside them.

A GOOD COAT TO TRADE

Winter Sport Coats

$18.00

SATURDAY morning at 9 o'clock an important coat event will take place at Wright's. We offer 35 Winter Sport Coats all at one price. They are coats purchased for us by our New York office especially for this event.

Every coat is a new Fall model, every coat is fully lined, and the materials are all wool. The new stripe and plaid effects predominate. If you had intended paying from $25 to $35 for a coat this is your opportunity to save the difference.

An ideal coat for the school girl. If you want one of the coats and cannot pay for it tomorrow, make a small cash payment and we will hold it for you. Thirty-five of them; see the window. Just one price—
