

ADVOCATES OF BIRTH CONTROL WILL LECTURE

Margaret Sanger, Dr. Lackland and Judge Lindsey Principal Speakers Announced for Denver Con- clave to Begin Soon.

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 10.—Three of the greatest forces in public life gathered in Denver today to inaugurate a fraternal campaign for widespread dissemination of birth control information.

Margaret Sanger, president of the National Birth Control League, will deliver a lecture at a special forum meeting in Grace Community Methodist church.

Dr. Lackland, pastor of the church, will publicly sanction distribution of thousands of birth control leaflets.

And Judge Ben H. Lindsey, Denver juvenile court clerk, will lecture on the subject of birth control.

The ministry, the lecture platform and the benefit, supported by nationwide newspaper publicity, expect to draw a wide audience to the vulnerable force of American public opinion on this subject.

Dr. Lackland will clear his position that the birth control clinic here is not to be a Denver or a Colorado clinic. He will openly support Mrs. Sanger's campaign for national birth control.

Dr. Lindsey said that he is in complete agreement with Mrs. Sanger's activities in interviews with the United Press before their departure for Salt Lake City to meet the renowned lecturer.

Let Bonus Wait, Demands Disabled Veteran's Chief Upon Armistice Day Eve

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 10.—The bonus can wait. The legislation affecting disabled service men must be given priority.

The ultimatum is handed down in a special Armistice day message National Commander James McFarland has given the American people.

In it, he sets forth the claims of the thousands of men for whom the "bonus" is not yet over.

By JAMES A. McFARLAND, National Commander, Disabled American Veterans of the World War.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 10.—Despite the fact that Armistice day is being celebrated, our citizens should not be unmindful of the fact that there are tens of thousands in this country for whom the war is not yet over.

Five years ago the guns were silent on the western Argonne. Today tens of thousands of the war veterans are still in the grip of hostilities as they watch the action of the public to the results of their bitter battle to bring before the people their claims of injustice.

These are being developed now by the testimony before the senatorial committee investigating charges of waste, inefficiency and mismanagement in the veterans' efforts.

Last December the United American Veterans of the World War made its supreme effort to force the truth on the people generally and congress particularly.

Even though our criticism has not been most bitter, that it has in the affairs of the nation now realize the sincerity of our endeavor.

Only recently we received from President Coolidge a letter in which he says:

"Your organization has shown a fine spirit of co-operation with the government instrumentalities engaged in this difficult task, for which I am glad to express appreciation."

From the letter of the present director of the bureau, we have received a similar message.

We will rejoice on this anniversary over the fact that the investigation is well advanced and that sweeping and permanent reforms on that the bureau will be improved in every way.

MARTIAL LAW BRINGS QUIET AFTER STORM

Bavaria Approaches Normalcy With Monarchist Leaders Captured and Paroled; Revolutionists Go in Hiding as Cause Falls.

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—With Bavaria under martial law, General Archibald Henderson released 600 parole and 4000 prisoners in the past few days.

A Munich dispatch said that Henderson, commander of the monarchist army, who was captured yesterday after collapse of the revolt had been released on his own recognition.

Under the martial law now prevailing, disturbances of the peace are liable to be shot within three hours after their arrest.

Dr. Van Kahr, who was announced as one of the new governors of Bavaria, issued a statement explaining that the monarchist army had been disbanded at the point of a pistol, in order to support their program which is for a return to the old German government.

The battle raged on in the afternoon with an attack on the structure which Lindendorff and Hitler set behind their barricades.

At 11 o'clock on Armistice day, and with the monarchist army who will now have their heads in retreat, the monarchist army who will now have their heads in retreat.

At 11 o'clock on November 11, 1918, most of us who were in the trenches of the world war, we were told that we were to have a "war without war."

In that belief we must confess a large degree of disappointment. We did not wish to say that on this, the fifth anniversary of the armistice, we ask the people to do nothing.

It is our duty to do nothing. It is our duty to do nothing. It is our duty to do nothing.

FRENCH HOLD OUT HOPE FOR CONFERENCE

Government Shows Trace of Disappointment Over U. S. Failure to Participate Under Reservations But Maintains Optimism.

PARIS, Nov. 10.—Although France feels the keenest disappointment at America's refusal to participate in a reparations conference under reservations put forward by this government, there is little chance of Premier Poincare changing his attitude to make it easier for the United States to come in.

Nevertheless, France persists that an allied conference may yet be possible.

It was recalled that Poincare's insistence on keeping the conference within the letter of the Versailles treaty which the United States had not ratified made co-operation impossible.

The slightest intimation of a revision of the Versailles treaty would be a death-blow to the French government in the coming elections.

Everybody in France is asking the question whether the reparations conference plan would be liable to provoke an outbreak in this country.

In view of Premier Baldwin's speech last night it is expected that great Britain will make proposals for a conference more in accordance with Poincare's idea of a united front.

French hopes are confident that the reparations conference plan would be liable to provoke an outbreak in this country.

WILLIAM ON WAY TO HIS FATHERLAND

Germany Sees No Objection to Former Crown Prince Returning, Though France Raises Stern Objection to Howland Journey.

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—Friedrich Wilhelm, heir to the Hohenzollern throne, has a passport and is traveling by motor to his castle at Orly, Berlin, it was stated here today.

Accompanied by his adjutant, the former crown prince, armed with a passport and a letter of introduction of the German government, crossed the frontier and proceeded to his castle at Orly.

In order to reach Orly the crown prince will have to travel all the way from the western part of the crown prince, but it is about 200 miles from Berlin and 200 from Munich, scene of the recent monarchist uprising.

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—Germany sees no reason why the former crown prince should be prevented from returning to this country and so notified the United States government.

According to an official query as to the crown prince's return, the government replied there was no legal objection to his return.

Before his departure the crown prince sent an open letter to the population of Weimar, expressing his regret to be unable to stay so long in their country.

He thanked them all for their hospitality in his long years on the island and recalled his friendships with many of the inhabitants.

He also expressed his regret to be unable to stay so long in their country.

FLABIANE GARRETT

Considered by many to be the best high school football player ever turned out in Idaho. Garrity before coming to Twin Falls played with the Caldwell, Idaho, high school football team.

Very little was heard from him in 1921 although many west end fans considered him over the ordinary. In the fall of 1922 Garrity came to Twin Falls to attend school, being eligible to go to any high school in the state on account of his home town, Homedale, being without a high school. With the playmate of a slant, Garrity went out for football and once under a hit with Coach Johns, although he was decidedly not with the pluck.

Discovering that in Garrity he had a natural-born football player, Coach Johns proceeded to give a little more attention to Garrity than was his wont with the other applicants. Immediately Garrity fell into line, the result last year showing Garrity as a line plunger far above the average, as well as a punter who could be relied upon to boot the ball from 42 to 50 yards. Upon looking at the details of Garrity, Evans discovered that, Garrity would make a wonderful punter, for the season of 1922 wanted on his way to the "Moose" as he was soon nicknamed by the loudest, because of a dainty reticence in getting into position to kick a play was able to hurl the oval nearly adjoined to meet in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Carrie Harper Walker.

powerful physics of Garrity, and although the team was not called upon to use these plays last year, nevertheless the fact remained that Garrity could throw the plunkin 60 yards or more as an all around football player. Why stop at saying he is the best high school punter ever developed in Idaho? Coach Warburton of East High said of Garrity: "He is a player of great ability in getting on any college team in the U. S."

Get more out of your car this winter—with less trouble

IN the interest of more efficient and economical operation of your automobile during the cold-weather season, The Continental Oil Company will run several advertisements in this paper emphasizing the importance of many simple precautions that should be taken but which are too often overlooked or neglected.

While many of these suggestions may be rather generally known, we believe that even the "veteran" motorist will get from them a hint or two that may save him trouble, annoyance or unnecessary repair bills before the winter is over.

For gasoline economy

Look cautiously at claims advanced for so-called "high test" or "high gravity" gasoline. These terms are meaningless as an index to the value of the fuel. Their chief lure to the motorist lies in the promise of "quicker starts"—but how much are quicker starts worth to you, especially if to get them you must sacrifice full power and longer mileage? Too often that is the real penalty involved in the saving of a few seconds in a cold-morning getaway. The reason is simple: In order to secure quicker starting properties, these "special" fuels are provided with an excessive portion of low boiling-point fractions, while the proportions of intermediate and high boiling-point fractions (the real source of power and mileage) are left to shift for themselves. What is the result? Overabundance of highly volatile fuel for the first violent "kick," followed by an uneven, poorly balanced range of boiling points that simply can't deliver the power and mileage you ought to get.

CONOCO gasoline is balanced—it has a range of volatility that more than meets the U. S. government specifications. It is carefully refined to assure both purity and uniformity. It is clean, honest, dependable, hard-hitting gasoline. It will prove its long-run economy—any season of the year, anywhere in the mountain states.

REPUBLICANS SHARE BLAME FOR WET NEW YORK

While republicans are striving to escape blame for the repeal of the Mullan-Gage liquor law in New York, the fact is that it was largely the jockeying of the republicans that resulted in the repeal measure being passed, and as they had a majority of the lower house of the legislature, they could have prevented its passage.

Governor Smith was an avowed opponent of the law, but was doubtful about the wisdom of forcing a repeal and leaned toward the idea of a referendum or some other expedient that would let him save his face. Tammany wanted to force the repeal not regardless of Smith's fate. There were enough republican votes in the legislature to prevent repeal had they acted together, or they might have defeated repeal and submitted the measure to the voters at the polls. Instead the republicans were united with the Tammany forces and passed the repeal. Smith signed the repeal at the last minute, after some hesitation.

On March 8, last, while the repeal measure was still pending before the New York legislature the Brooklyn Standard Union made a plea for republican unity either to kill the bill outright or to force a referendum of some sort, which would leave it to the statesmen until after the November election.

Among other things it said: "No one knows now whether the majority of the voters in this state is for or against the Mullan-Gage law and a vote in the assembly or in both houses of the legislature would not adequately answer the question as to how the voters of the state stand on that particular issue."

"The light wine and beer memorial has been passed, but even that futile, according to the latest word from Albany is flouted by the governor, who puts his objection to it in the shape of a statement that it would be useless to memorialize a lame duck congress on that or any other question."

"Evidently the governor does not want to touch prohibition. It is true he does not try to hid his position, a position taken long ago in favor of light wines and beer, but with the sagacity of a trained politician he is cautious about pressing a matter concerning which there is a widely divided sentiment among the people."

"It would be well, considering the matter from a purely political viewpoint if the republican majority in the assembly followed the governor's example."

"The republicans as a party have nothing to lose and everything to gain by not voting to repeal the Mullan-Gage law."

Resisting repeal will lose no republican votes.

"It is time, if there ever was for republican unity."

"A referendum would satisfy all the voters of the state because it would decide once for all, whether or not the people favored modification of the Volstead act."

But the republican assembly passed the repeal just as well as the Tammany senate did in the face of the warning of the Brooklyn paper and the wisest and best of its party membership."

NOVEMBER 11, 1918

Five years since the armistice was signed! A long time, yes. But we're still too close to the World War for any of us to "grasp" what really happened and sense its connection with the future.

Under arms in the great war were sixty-five million men. Casualties totaled more than thirty-seven millions. That tells only part of the story of horror. But it should be called daily to the attention of every one.

Alas, memory is short. Humanity likes to forget the unpleasant side of life. That is why catastrophes like wars are repeated. One generation trying to forget, fails to impress indelibly on the minds of the rising generation the frightfulness, sorrow and fatality of the battle-field.

Celebrate Armistice Day by teaching your children to hate war and all that goes with it. Forget the "glory" which is the camouflage of the militarists.

Thirty-seven million casualties! Tell them that.
Thirty-seven million casualties! Tell it again.
Thirty-seven million casualties! Never stop telling.

GOULD HARDLY DO ANY WORK

Since Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound This Woman Feels So Well

Kneewille, N. Y.—"I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly for the good it has done me. I was so much troubled with female weakness I could hardly do any work. I saw your advertisement in the paper, and read it to my husband. He said, 'You had better try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.' So I bought six bottles, and by taking it I am not troubled now. I am gaining strength and getting fleshy. My female troubles have vanished and I have never felt so well. The Liberty Pills are the best I ever took. If you think my letter will encourage other sufferers you have my permission to use it as an advertisement."—Mrs. SARAH BLAIS, Box 137, Kneewille, N. Y.

If you, as a housewife, are troubled with backache, irregularity, are easily tired and irritable, or have other disagreeable ailments caused by some weak digestive system, Lydia E.
