Call Mrs. H. Z. Deiss, Phone 923

Mr. and Mrs. Jones Entertain—Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Jones entertained a few friends with a "Go" party Tuesday evening. During the two-course luncheon that was served, Miss Thelma Ault entertained the guests with several piano selections. Mrs. O. W. Whigham held high cards for the ladies and a basket game for the gentlemen. The event list included the following: Messrs. and Mrs. James H. C. Dickerson, Frank Burdette, Van Iderting, F. W. McArthur, F. C. Beiler, A. E. Miller, O. W. Whigham, Hiram M. Williams, E. F. Ashbury, W. T. Sibley and Mrs. Julia C. Sawyer.

Needlework Club Entertained—The Needlework club met at the home of Mrs. John J. Peters, 453 Third avenue west, Friday, November 7. The afternoon was spent with needlework and a social time enjoyed. After a short business session the members gave one of her favorite recipes. A delicious luncheon was then served to the ten members who enjoyed the afternoon pleasantly spent.

Entertained at Dinner—Miss Irma Spillberg and Mr. Wilbur Hosenbery were in the home of Mrs. H. Z. Deiss, guests of honor at a dinner party on Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Johnson.

The Current Events department of the Twentieth Century club will meet

QUESTION AND ANSWER BOX

Conducted by Auntie Sue

Q—Dear Auntie Sue: Will you tell me how many hats the Y made at the last meeting? Thanking you kindly. —Hal.

A—Dear Sue: The Y maintained more than 1000 hats and coats for the use of the A. E. F. The organization furnished 100,000,000 sheets of letter paper, 200,000,000 envelopes and 100,000,000 post cards to the boys. You are welcome, Hal, come in again.

Q—Dear Auntie Sue: Will you tell me what will remove the stain out of my coat? I have a stain on the collar of my coat and I have tried everything I can find. I will certainly appreciate your help. —Peggie.

A—Dear Sue: You can take one of the least desirable of these pairs, and experiment a wee bit. Make a solution by adding 2 tablespoons photographer's hypo to a cup of water and soak the offending stains in it. They wash the usual way. This may be successful and it may not. Try it on an unimportant article first. If you are not sure, I will be glad to help you. —Auntie Sue.

National Book Week Opens Here Today

Today marks the opening of National book week. There are generally arranged for pictures made from popular books that are mounted of the support of the libraries, schools, parent-teachers' associations and civic clubs. The first hours open today with "Hesper of Hesperus" from Sir Anthony Hope's celebrated novel. It will run for three days.

On Thursday the Twentieth Century club has leased the Idaho theatre to show Mark Twain's best loved story, "The Prince and the Pauper." The silent literary reputation in the history of the American nation is that of Mark Twain's. Untold millions of American people for three decades have read the stories of this world famous author-humorist. Behind all the writings of Mark Twain there is found a human man, rich in imagination, rich in sympathy, and most beautiful motion picture ever seen on the screen. Special matinee arrangements have been made and parents will do well to let their children enjoy it Thursday. The school will co-operate.

Christmas cards are ready at Clon Book Store, to buy and make selection early.

TO TWIN FALLS SHOPPERS

Very few people of this city stop to think about the proper time to do their shopping but we are all anxious to save and we watch the daily papers carefully for special bargains. But we must learn the great lesson, first of all that anything which increases the cost to the retailer, increases the cost to the consumer ultimately. Therefore if there is anything we can do to decrease the cost of the selling price of an article we can do that much to save for ourselves. Every store in Twin Falls is watching very carefully the overhead cost of operating and trying here and there to reduce this cost. The store manager is not trying so hard to make larger profits for his concern as he is to reduce his cost on the average article sold in order that he retail them at a lower price to the consumer. We are of the opinion that if every store could start in tomorrow and reduce their overhead cost 5 per cent that practically all of them could be willing to reduce the price of every article sold in that same proportion. Because it is the volume of business with a small profit which really brings in the net gain or loss to a concern.

Therefore, our suggestion to the women and men of Twin Falls is to shop before Saturday and as early in the day as convenient. Every store is compelled to put on many extra clerks on Saturday and then they are unable to take care of the many customers which throng the stores on this popular shopping day. They lose a great deal of trade and many customers are disappointed because they cannot get waited on when they go shopping on Saturdays. Since Saturday is generally conceded the farmers day for shopping let's give it to the farmers and we will follow our shopping some other day. We can do this with very little effort. The merchants have a part to play in this also, if they will make certain inducements in the shape of bargains on other days beside Saturdays it will help materially in this movement. If Monday or Wednesday were made a shopping day we believe that the business houses could take care of double the trade that they now do on these days, and with less effort.

Think these suggestions over and do your shopping outside of what you must have for the Sunday dinner some other day beside Saturday. If you do not agree with this suggestion we will be glad to publish your opinion in our Public Forum.

DID WE QUIT FIGHTING TOO SOON?

In an Armistice Day address yesterday one of the leading ministers of Twin Falls argued that we quit fighting too soon. But we do not agree with this position. In discussing this question at the door of the church we heard the opinion of an ex-serviceman and he felt as we did, that it would have done us good to have gone on to Berlin. The minister pointed out that since the armistice prince was taken in Germany and every indication pointed to truce and further trouble in Europe we had better finish the job while we were at it.

We are of the opinion that instead of continuing the war to the bitter end we should have stopped when we did because every day that we continued we sacrificed just that many more lives and just that much more cost to our government for bloody revenge. The great mistake in our opinion which has been made since Armistice Day of 1918 has been the mistakes of statesmen at home and abroad. Reconstruction is a great deal harder than destruction and it takes better brains and more manhood to build up than to break down. While we succeeded in every department of the war because we were tearing down but when the time came to rebuild we failed. We have failed in America and they failed overseas. Our statesmen have not measured up to the standards which men in their position of trust should have imitated neither have the statesmen of Europe come up to the mark.

But instead of going forward with an unselfish program each nation began coveting how they could get the most out of this war and make each of the other nations a vassal power. The speaker yesterday stated that France was not particularly anxious that Germany should pay her reparations but France was doing her utmost to make of Germany a second or third rate nation. This, we believe, has been the trouble with all the European nations in this reconstruction period. It has been so nearly true with America because we went into this conflict with an ulterior motive and our reconstruction policy has been to cling to that idea. But many of our statesmen have made or tried to make political plunder out of this war and for fear that one of the great political parties might gain notoriety by the success for this greatest of all human conflicts blocked the wheels of progress to ultimate reconstruction and permanent peace. The ring leader of this gang was no other than Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts.

Former President Harding went to his grave disgraced because his world cent was disapproved by many of the leading statesmen in our United States senate. President Wilson is broken today in body and mind because of an elaborate and uncompromising oligarchy in the U. S. senate. If we are fair we must admit that we are not a united people and because we lack unity and co-operation we have failed miserably in this reconstruction crisis. We are inclined because we can see this failure to lay the blame somewhere than where it belongs. But it's honest with our selves and our allies across the sea and admit that we are good fighters but poor reconstructionists.

The same grave problem confronted this nation at the time that Abraham Lincoln was assassinated and it is freely predicted that had the great emancipator been compelled to finish his term of office he would have been bitterly despised for his mistakes and shortcomings in those bitter days of reconstruction which followed the Civil War. The problem which this nation must learn and which the nations of Europe have failed utterly in fashion is the problem of reconstruction and fair play which characterized these allied nations during the dark days of the World war. In times of great crises we seem drawn together with a great Godly unselfish motive, but when this crises has passed we sink back to that low selfish level which has characterized the races of mankind since the days when they emerged from barbarism. Will we go forward and straggle through these problems and show to the world that we are a superior race or will we continue to sink in the same dark path which our race has followed for these ages and ages which have passed into forgotten history.

Think it over, men! We finished the war on the 11th day of November, 1918, but we have failed since that day to measure up to the high standards which we set as statesmen and patriots during those dark hours and therefore we are laying the blame where it does not belong. The boys who served did their full measure but we as citizens and statesmen have failed. Citizens of Europe have doubly failed and this is the cause of our present crisis and not the fact that we did not go on to Berlin.

AN OLD SWEETHEART OF MINE.

(By James Whitcomb Riley)
 As one who sits at evening on an autumn afternoon.
 And smiles on the faces of the friends that he has known.
 So I turn the leaves of fancy till, in shadowy dream,
 I find the smiling features of an old sweetheart of mine.

The twilight seems to glimmer with a flicker of sunshine.
 As I turn the leaves of fancy till, in shadowy dream,
 I find the smiling features of an old sweetheart of mine.
 I feel no trace of romance, save in a haze of dream,
 As I turn the leaves of fancy till, in shadowy dream,
 I find the smiling features of an old sweetheart of mine.

Into a fragrant retrospect—for the living thoughts that start
 Into my mind are the perfume from the blossom of the heart;
 And to dream the old dreams over
 In a haze of dream.
 When my sweet fancy wanders with that old sweetheart of mine.

Though I hear, beneath my study,
 The rustle of an old book,
 The voices of my children, and the mother as she sings,
 I feel no trace of romance, save in a haze of dream,
 As I turn the leaves of fancy till, in shadowy dream,
 I find the smiling features of an old sweetheart of mine.

When I should be her lover forever
 And she my faithful sweetheart till the golden hair was gray;
 And we should be so happy that when other's lips were drawn
 They would not smile in Heaven at the other's loss had come.

But, ah! my dream is broken by a star that shines
 In the sky above me,
 And the door is softly opened, and my wife is standing there,
 Yet with reproaches and frowns at my whimsy I restrain
 To meet the living presence of that old sweetheart of mine.

AT THE THEATRES

"AN OLD SWEETHEART OF MINE"

It was with the beloved boy that we learned James Whitcomb Riley's most delightful poem "An Old Sweetheart of Mine," was to make into a photoplay, but we admit our joy was tempered by a fear. We were afraid because we realized the extreme difficulty of transferring the spirit of the immortal lyric to the screen. However, we saw the film at the Orpheum Theatre and gladly do we herald the fact that our feat was not realized.

The profits of this program go to the hot lunch fund and the health school under the auspices of the Parent-Teachers' Association.

AT THE MATHS.

Stories and plays frequently bear the name of the hero or heroine, but Sir Anthony Hope christened his famous novel, Rupert of Hentzau, after the fascinating villain, who thins and thrills his audience way through life and this photoplay, which was adapted from the popular tale of adventure and romance, continues to carry the conquest of the dash.

Hentzau has lost nothing of his name in being translated to the screen, and Lew Cody, who portrays the reprehensible but utterly attractive villain, has had to have his character considerably to his own reputation by the feature he has given to the characterization.

CAPITALISTS COME HERE TO INVEST

Speakers at Civic Meeting in Presbyterian Church Tell of Prospects of City and Necessity for Complete Harmony and Union to Get the Best Results; Religious Spirit Should Be In- culcated.

That there are three capitalists here from the east with ample backing who expect to invest in Twin Falls after the survey of the county has convinced them of its superiority as a place of investment, was the statement made Sunday afternoon by Rev. A. G. Pearson, president of the anti-trust meeting at the Presbyterian church in connection with the chamber of commerce membership drive. He appealed for the greatest harmony in local matters and organization to make it effective. In his introduction of Frank Horton, who has charge of the campaign.

"We cannot all think alike on everything," Rev. Mr. Pearson told the audience, "and we must recognize the fact that there are others who differ from us in opinion who are just as honest as we are, but we can all get together and work for a better and better Twin Falls. I have seen the plans for the future which were outlined in the presence of a committee of 45 of whom 12 were members of the chamber of commerce and 12 were outsiders, of whom I was one, and I was most favorably impressed with the plan. I am convinced that if we all get in and endeavor to do our best that the religious element of the city will be fully represented in the chamber of commerce. All the members of the chamber of commerce must work together. I had a slight quarrel in a college team once, and in that case, the difference of opinion of a second-year man and one of the rowers would put the boat out of the race. We need the same sort of harmony in this city that was required on the college rowing team. I have been in this country since 1884, and for the next 20 years will live here as a citizen."

PERSHING PHRASE TEXT OF SERMON BY M. E. PASTOR

The First Methodist church of which Charles E. Wenzling is the minister, had a capacity house full of worshippers and the service was held before 700 or more people before a stirring address by the pastor on the Pershing phrase "It Must Not Happen Again."

He said: "God is universal and man must become such. A plumb line which is as universal as the sweep of gravity; and today the architects of democracy the world over are taking advantage of Armistice day to give attention to the practical utility of the war-weary world.

From the very nature of humanity and of Christianity the Church of God must become an international institution, and to play her part best she must have a base as large as a planet; and never can she give such indubitable evidence of her divine origin as when she sets to work upon an immeasurable and from a human standpoint, an impossible task such as the utter eradication of the politics of force and the universal acceptance of the politics of peace.

Today the Church of God, as never before is committed to the cause of peace—the American soldiers at the World War fought to destroy war—the church will continue their uncompleted task.

War is under a heavy indictment on this, the fifth anniversary of the signing of the Armistice, for civilization is staggering with the burdens of a warring world. Many nations are today on the verge of material bankruptcy, and many more are close to moral ruin, because of the awful toll which the war has made upon their material and moral resources.

For decades previous to 1914 the nations had been squandering their resources in a frantic and foolish military dash which compared under the deceptive term "preparedness." Each nation having the assurance from the militarists and the manufacturers of the munitions of war that an adequate military and naval "preparedness" would save it from the greater expense of war.

Five years have now passed since a awful catastrophic years of poverty, smoke, Lewisite gas and blood, and multiplied millions now know that it was their bugle and costly armaments and their immense standing armies that were the compelling reason why nations were hurled into the most awful holocaust that the

STATE TO OPPOSE CONTINUANCE FOR G. B. SHEA CASE

Determination of Motion to Be Made by Attorney for Defendant Will Determine Whether There Will Be Trial or Not; Case Set for Tomorrow.

Whether there will be a civil case for or trial in the morning in the district court will depend on the disposition of a motion to be made for continuance by Attorney William J. Guthrie, representing George H. Shea or Buhl, charged with attempt to commit statutory offense, prosecuting Attorney E. W. Taylor announced today that he would oppose the granting of the motion.

Charles Bruggemann was the State Military company, E. W. Taylor for plaintiff and Homer C. Mills for defendant. H. O. Benson of St. Paul, Minn., was for plaintiff and Larson for defendant. Boise Deyette Lumber company, va. Fred B. Hagler, Holtzwell & Chapman for plaintiff and Mills for defendant.

For Wednesday the following cases have been set tentatively: Larson & Fahl vs. F. F. McAlister et al, with Wolfe & Wilkins as attorneys for the plaintiff and Larson for defendant. On the same day the case of E. P. Watson vs. I. H. Masters is set, with Mills for the plaintiff and Holsten, Stephan & North and Watson & Perry for the defendant.

ANTON FIERRO IS ARRESTED ON THE CHARGE OF ROBBERY

Anton Fierro was arrested yesterday by Chief J. G. Herrington of Twin Falls, police force on the charge of holding up Joe Argueda in a room over the Five Light pool hall.

Argueda claims that he was working on the room for the owner when he asserted that Fierro demanded his money at the point of a gun. He says he gave up $25 and then telephoned the police. Chief Herrington says the charge although Chief Herrington says he understands him to say that he pulled a gun for another reason. Fierro spent some time in jail here recently for alleged assistance of a fellow-rover, was then sentenced and paroled on a plea of guilty.

The preliminary will be before Justice Malloy tomorrow.

Call for Major, Captains and Lieutenants to Meet at Nine Tomorrow Morning at Headquarters to Receive Final Instructions.

The chamber of commerce membership campaign will begin tomorrow, Tuesday morning. All team workers, including makers, captains and lieutenants, are asked to meet at the chamber of commerce at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning to receive final instructions and start from there to the work of soliciting. Noon luncheons will be held each day at Tom's Cafe for repairs of "program." The success of the campaign depends very much on attendance at these luncheons.

The above statement was made this morning by the chamber with the cooperation in its campaign on the part of all the people. The civic dinner at the Hogston tonight will be the "pre-campaign" event in connection with the drive.

PRIZE WINNER LIST OF BUHL MADE PUBLIC

Complete reports have been made public of the prize awarded to the Buhl seed show last week. In the judging contest, in addition, Anton Suchan who won the first prize as recorded in the Times, C. D. Peasler was second and C. H. Taylor third.

The following were the prizes at the "vegetable show":

Follow "Don't Care"—First, Bert Wilson; second, I. M. Nett; third, John Jacola.

CITIES DO NOT HAPPEN

Onward With Wins

THERE IS A TREMENDOUS POWER WITHIN THE GRASP OF TWIN FALLS

THE POWER OF ORGANIZED CO-OPERATION

TUESDAY Twin Falls begins the mobilization of her material and spiritual forces for civic and commercial progress.

TUESDAY marks the beginning of a new era in the life of our city and in the lives of her citizens—the era of service.

Planning for the Better Things

TODAY TWIN FALLS CALLS YOU TO HER SERVICE

A new day of Civic Pride and Progress is dawning throughout the nation. A new Spirit is stirring in every Progressive Community—the Spirit of Service. This Spirit prevails in Twin Falls in a marked degree and our citizens have decided that the time has come to translate it into action by united effort toward a common end. It cannot succeed without your help.

Tuesday 100 men who have faith in Twin Falls will bring to you the opportunity to join the ranks of the forward-looking men of this city. They are the advance messengers of a NEW TWIN FALLS. They are in dead earnest. They are busy men like yourself, but they are giving their time and energy to the creation of a modern Chamber of Commerce in this city. Give them a hearing and give them your membership.

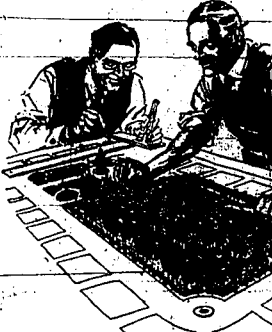

CO-OPERATION BUILDS THEM

"WHERE THERE IS NO VISION THE PEOPLE PERISH"

YOU and the other citizens who believe in Twin Falls can secure that power by working together for your city.

To make this co-operation possible the Chamber of Commerce is being expanded. You will have an important part in this work. This week—do your duty.
