Sheriff M. E. Finch continues to get possessors of intoxicants without abatement in vigor or success. The sheriff is making good in his quiet but effective way as an efficient officer who believes in law enforcement and "proves his faith by his works."

A large attendance at the Chamber of Commerce dinner Friday night is desirable. The universal agreement that a chamber is needed and the advisability of expanding the scope of the organization in conformity to its larger membership and to the demands which the future of the city ought to induce everybody who is not yet a member and who can get in between this time and Thursday night to join and take part in the meeting.

The Bank of Contact will be a reality before people realize the fact, and its opening will be a further proof that the railroad is coming in a very short time. It is a neck-and-neck race between bank and road, but the bank, which would not go in without assurance of the road, is a nose ahead in the matter of construction. However, should the weather keep fine there will be "something doing" on the night of way before New Year's Day.

NURSES REGISTRATION EXPIRES DEC. 31.

All nurses who are eligible and desire to receive an Idaho nurse's certificate under the waiver are being urged by the Bureau of License of the Department of Law Enforcement to file their applications before January 1, 1924. The waiver clause passed by the Legislature reads in part as follows:

"Nurses who are graduates of a two-year training school prior to January 1, 1918, and who have practiced nursing in the state one year within the past three, may receive an Idaho certificate without taking the required state examination, provided application is made on or before December 31, 1923." Chapter 123 of the 1923 Session Laws gives the full text of this law.

Up to the present date 318 nurses have received certificates in the state, 27 of this number having been granted certificates under the waiver at the meetings of the June and October Examining Boards.

LARGE CREAM VOLUME DESIRABLE

The talk of President H. J. Youngs of the Sterling Creamery company before the Kiwanis club Monday brought out one very important fact, and that is that no centralized combination of outside creamery interests can out local concerns by better prices where there is sufficient volume of cream for the local creameries to work full time with modern machinery. This is the real anti-trust remedy, though appeal to the anti-trust law and the price regulation law is right and proper where normal competition has not a chance to go into effect. It ought to be clear that cream producers are business in selling in large volume to local concerns. For instance in the Boise valley, where there is strong organization, Spalding buyers have left the market because they cannot compete with home creameries and buyers. The movement among dairymen, which will be presented at meetings here, in Idaho and in Kimberly next week is worthy of favorable consideration from farmers. It must be clear that when home concerns or purchasers drive out those from other states, they must be paying higher prices than the outsiders can pay, or than dairymen can get by shipping to the coast and the margin in that case goes into the pockets of the local owners of milk cows.

BAZAAR AND DINNER

The Ladies of the Christian Church

Will hold a miscellaneous bazaar and dinner at the church November 22. The bazaar will commence at 11 o'clock. Dinner will be served at 6:30 in the evening. Price $5 per plate.

TURKEY SHIPPERS!

TURKEYS are in good demand in San Francisco. Prices are as good now and probably better than for Christmas shipments. Dress and ship up your turkeys that are in good condition. Pack number one turkeys by themselves; also number two and old Tomes. Your heavy dry picked hens are also wanted here. Give us a chance, and you will get the market price, less 10 per cent and your money back in one week.

The amount taken in has not been determined at this writing but it is estimated by many to be about $2000. This fund is to be turned over to the athletic association.

Floyd Wilson, who is attending the Operetta 17th spent Saturday and Sunday at home.

Women to attract must Radiate Health!

BEAUTY in the magnet which draws all eyes—and lack of beauty—health—working alchemy—Red blood tingling through the veins—the glow of youth in the cheeks—the spring of exuberance, of vim, of vigor in the walk—the whole—the girl is unattracted by care or worry—All the charms of beauty. All the works of health.

Men are fascinated by the charm of beauty. Women gaze with envy secretly jealous, perhaps—contending—hoping—praying for that attractiveness that is health. Good looks in the hemisphere of your own content. Good health radiates beauty.

S. S. S. purifies the blood—creates new red blood cells—rids the system of poisons—restores health—makes beauty attractiveness—impossible. As women to attract must radiate health so must they keep their systems free from impurities and their red blood cells ever increasing. S. S. S. does both.

S. S. S. since 1875 has been purifying the system of impurities—plagues, rheumatism, boils, eczema and dandruff—building red blood cells—making women to be attracted by radiating health. S. S. S. is made of carefully selected herbs and barks—scientifically prepared and pronounced safe and good.

Picture the Life and the Adventures of the Dalton Brothers, Gang of Outlaws
Emmett Dalton, the lone remaining survivor of the gang will appear in person and tell you about his experiences in a very entertaining way

Last of Daltons Appears in Person With Movie

"I don't say to be a lawbreaker," is the advice which Emmett Dalton, last of the famous Dalton gang of desperadoes, gives to the youth of America.

Sketches of America's law-breaking career appear above.

It will appear in person with his photoplay "Beyond the Law" which opens at the Orpheum today.

Dalton figured in train holdups in Oklahoma, California, and in what is held up in train in the old days, according to Dalton.

His last "job" was a bank robbery in Coffeyville, Kan., which resulted in the death of two of his brothers and a life sentence to the penitentiary for him. He was pardoned after serving fourteen and one-half years.

Though Dalton declares he is a changed man, he champions the old laws of former days.

"All right, bandits were men in those days," he said. "The modern bandit drags from ambush, and substitutes drugs and stimulants for courage."

"Bandits were big in those outlaw days—bandit action was heavy. And we were always broke. I guess I'd have an obligation in this unexcused time, when morals seem to be relaxing, to tell the folks who are now the age I was when I went outlaw, that there's nothing to it and the end is equal, even as the end of my brothers and my pals.

"I guess the young fellows of today ought to listen to me when I say, 'Don't do it.' Who was it said Nobody can refuse sin like Dalton—nobody else knows enough."

Emmett Dalton is now in the arena his living in Los Angeles area as a real estate man and in motion picture.

Allen Hodges, ex-convict and law breaker, was to be lodged in the Woodford jail tonight, suspect of being a member of the gang. Oregon authorities are also seeking Walter Hodges, a brother of Allen.

DEFENDANT WAS THE BIG SUIT REPRESENTATIVES TO OLDER BOYS' MEETING CHOSEN

Jury After Seven Hours Deliberation Returns Unanimous Verdict That I. H. Masters Did Not Libel E. F. Walton in Matter for which the Latter Claimed $42,000.

Verdict for the defendant in the suit for $42,000 brought for alleged libel by E. F. Walton against I. H. Masters by the unanimous jury was returned at 6 o'clock last evening, and the jury was discharged. The verdict was returned after seven hours of deliberation. Masters as foreman and stated simply that the jury understood and was according to law found for the defendant.

The verdict was returned after seven hours of deliberation. It is rumored that after the first consideration of the charges and documents submitted to the jury, eight to four for the defense, but on re-reading and considering the matter to the light of certain instructions and on going over the case in detail, all agreed. The four it is held held out to fully satisfy themselves regarding certain points.

The contest in this city has run back several years, beginning prior to the coming of the defendant to Twin Falls. In 1921, following a period of local disturbances in which Walton took part there was a three-cornered fight in the city, in which the plaintiff, who and his attorney, Mills, took a leading part, and in which their ticket was shown in the race. At that time Walton was a very much discussed individual and was under criticism of the two major parties.

The year following he took part in another three-cornered contest on the question of whether there should be a commission on the city manager form substituted for the old form. There was considerable litigation over this. Owing to the division between the city manager and the old form men early in the campaign which prevailed effectively organization, the commission form not only won but carried in with it the fight back to Walton.

Walton argued the Observer at this time and in the first number published an article with reference to the defendant in the case who had purchased The Times the year before after the first election which stirred the controversy, the details of which were given in an account of the controversial article in The Times and brought suit for $40,000 on each.

$50,000 SUIT CALLED UP IN DIST. COURT

Many Witnesses Called in Case Involving Site of Roseworth Reservoir, Once Revered Because of Admission of Certain Testimony.

The courthouse is filled with witnesses today in the re-hearing of the condemnation case of the Idaho development company against the State. The case is known as the Idaho Reservoir, the estate of the late H. Brackett, I. E. Clark and Jack Clark, the site involving about 600 acres, and having to do with the value of land submerged by the company for the Roseworth reservoir and the value of appurtenant water rights. The total amount of land submerged is 270 acres of which 200 acres belonged to the Bracketts and 70 belonged to the Clark.

DOG AND CAT POISONED AT SINEMA HOME

A dog and cat were poisoned with strychnine last evening at the Sinema home at 229 second avenue north. The dog owned by James W. Smith at 240 Fourth avenue north also poisoned, has inspired alarm among officials that somebody is carrying on a systematic campaign of poisoning in the city. The Sinema is now discussed whether it is a form of insanity and whether some clever mono-maniac is at large in the city, whose peculiar inclination is a desire to kill animals. In that case, the Blackfoot hospital, rather than the penitentiary or jail would be his home in case of conviction.

Apologized for the Fish. Politicians has developed among the opponents to a degree of extravagance which is intensely amusing to visitors. It is evident that the popular Koon and twice lost a big fish from the line and the governor of the province appeared and made profuse apologies for the unfriendly and unbecoming behavior of the fish.—Miss State Journal.

READS OF HIS DEATH IN MISSOULIAN FILE

A tall, well built, carefully-dressed man entered the office of the Daily Missoulian and asked to be allowed to look at the old files of 1892, to be exact. The desired volume was produced and he turned to the addition of the name of Walter S. "Sis" he asked, pointing to a paragraph which read thus: "Walter S. Sis, died at his home in his room in the hotel and death is expected at any moment. The individual who rubbers is so intense that officials to prevent him from entering the room. It is reported that Emmett was killed by a bullet in the chest." "Well," he went on, "I want to say that the coroner's report was greatly exaggerated."

The blue-eyed, black haired, kindly looking man was none other than the late Emmett Dalton. His remarkable story is a part of the story which has been told in the Missoulian. The man who was killed at Coffeyville, Kansas, and his disastrous ending that cost him his life including his two brothers, Bob and Gratton. Dalton is shown in a picture "killing the Law" in which he has the leading part. The picture is showing at the Orpheum theatre. Mr. Dalton is accompanied by his wife and their adopted son, who is 13 years of age.

The former bandit looked rather proud when he mentioned that the late Emmett Dalton had been "killed" a half column in the London Times. He went on to say that although Emmett Dalton had been "killed," the citizens who were wounded in the Coffeyville, Kan. shooting, are his good friends, "but the other one will never forgive me."

Forty-two years in Prison—Emmett Dalton spent 32 years in prison. He was paroled in 1907 and then he devoted all his efforts to the cause of the young set crime (did not say). He thinks the world is better off because he says that he talks about a "crime wave" in football. There isn't any more crime now than there was in 1907 or 20 years ago or less, if anything. The world is becoming more widely educated and it is becoming evident that crime does not pay.

Dan's mother is still alive. She is 88 years of age. She lives at Kinship, Oklahoma, where Emmett visited her last year. Mr. Dalton and his wife and son live in Los Angeles where he is engaged in the real estate business and in the making of pictures.

Strange Blind Fish of Cuba. Fishes unlike those found in the fresh waters of the United States inhabit the waters of Cuba. Some of these have evidently developed directly from marine forms in the waters they now inhabit. They are a cyclozoan species, inhabiting streams in caverns. They have no relatives in the fresh waters of any other region, the blind fish of the Amazon being of a wholly different type. Some of the Cuban fishes are common to the fresh waters of the other West Indies.

The owner of a coconut plantation has trained a monkey to climb the trees and gather the nuts. But that is too much like his usual occupation to count for much. In China they had found better than that a century ago. They had trained a monkey to pull rickshaws and gather rice. In Mexico, they had trained monkeys to dig for amber, but that is the monkey in the United States, and not the monkey in the United States.
