

SMUGGLERS OF BOOZE WORK U. S. BORDERS

Holiday Prices for 'Hooch' Make Bootleggers Fight Hard Along the Coasts and Mexican Border to Gain Entrance into the United States.

(Copyright, by R. P.) NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Alcohol, both coastwise of the United States and Mexican and Canadian borders, bootleggers are making a desperate effort to smuggle liquor into the country to take advantage of the holiday prices prevailing for the holidays.

Dispatches to the United States from the harbors of the Atlantic coast, from Pacific cities and from the Gulf and Texas coast report the booze trade fluctuating with varying success.

Not since the 19th amendment was adopted has the concerted effort of rum runners presented such a tax on the coast defenses of the prohibition forces. The thin dry line is meeting the invasion at all points, repelling here, admitting there.

United Press communications today showed the following: Montreal—Police make that a close check on bridges and ferries by both United States agents and Canadian liquor commission police has recently reduced rum running and driven many of the larger bootleggers from this section.

Oswego, N. Y.—Although lake navigation is closed and smuggling by water temporarily discontinued, bootleggers apparently were winning at this point, running large quantities of liquor across the border in high speed trucks. Their success was indicated by the fact that the stubby liquor commission police are following the demand and prices are falling.

Burlingame, N. Y.—Numerous river craft leaving New York City, Ontario, for Cuba, Venezuela, and Argentine ports. Their cargoes of liquor have never been destined to points along an American frontier.

Detroit, Mich.—C. Yellowley, former prohibition chief in New York heads a small army of agents patrolling the foot of the St. Lawrence river.

St. Paul—Dry agents claimed to have cut the liquor running along the Canadian frontier to figures far below those of last year.

Federal Reserve Banks are Doomed Says Dawes

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The federal reserve system is doomed unless congress pass national banks on a parity with state banks of the system, the master of the financial and Comptroller of the Currency Dawes has announced in a statement submitted to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon today.

Substitution of a privately owned and highly centralized financial control of the banking machinery of the United States for the federal reserve system is inevitable unless this is done, Dawes said.

To avert the danger, Dawes recommended congress should pass a law creating national banks on a parity with state banks, with a provision for the establishment of branches by national banks in those localities where such privileges are forbidden to state banks and trust companies.

SENIORS WIN FROM JUNIOR BASKETEERS

Freshmen No Match for Older Opponents, and Make But Two Baskets During Game; Juniors Beat Sophs.

The Senior and Junior teams won their games of the afternoon basketball game, and tonight held at the high school gym. The Junior team, led by Walter Smith, defeated the Freshmen 19 to 2 in the last game of the day. Starting out with considerable opposition, the Junior team held their own and before the half ended had piled up a score of 10 to 2 for the second year men. In this game the work of Cole and Kravack featured for the Juniors, and a word must be said about the work of Walter Smith. Walter in fact, scored into real material for the first team, and if his work of Thursday in a criticism, he will have to be reckoned with for a place on the second team. For the Sophs, the work of Ross, Martin and Savin was outstanding. In the second game of the day, between the Seniors and Junior High boys, played a fierce, although the Seniors had forced hard to stop the class opponents. The first year men failed to register a point in the first half and the Seniors gathered 11. It was in the second half the Seniors made it manifest that they were out for the class championship, netting some of the prettiest team work yet seen. The leading of Jenkins in front and DeWitt was easily the feature of the game. The Seniors won in every play, and clearly demonstrating he is in a class by himself when it comes to basketball. This evening the Senior and Junior will meet with the Freshmen and Sophs in the second game. The times today will finish the interclass games.

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. in "Why Worry"
 Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. need not stand in the reflected light of his famous father. He proved this indisputably in his first screen appearance in the Paramount picture, "Stephen Steps Out," which was shown here for the first time at the Idaho theatre last night. The young screen star has ability and different personality factors that, coupled with wider experience will at an instant day transform him into a screen lumina of renown and popularity.

"Guaranteed Gladly"
 "Why Worry," the title of Harold Lloyd's latest, "Guaranteed Gladly" production to make the world a merrier place to live in, gives a splendid idea of just the type of picture it is. In "Why Worry" Lloyd set out to make a light farce, with a little romance and plenty of action. Action has triumphed for "Why Worry" is a laugh from start to finish. The chances are that there are more "sac" laughs in this attraction than in any picture Lloyd ever made. There is little that is serious in the production. It is just what the comedians long for a laugh picture. The story is laid in a romantic atmosphere, with careful and dramatic penicillin, fighting heroes and jealous girls. Throughout this farce runs a light vein of satire a la Moliere and there are the broadest of jests of South American revolution.

There have been many pictures built around the custom and habit of our morning and evening papers. It is their presidents out of office very forcibly and very frequently, but none that contain the speed, the pep, the laughs and romance of "Why Worry." It remains at the Orpheum until Saturday.

BOWLERS UPSET DOPE DURING PAST WEEK

The finish of the sixth week of bowling in the Twin Falls Bowling league saw several changes in the individual averages, as well as in the standing of the clubs, and total pin standings.

The first three sessions of the week proved to be clean sweeps for the winners, the Troy Laundry, Golden Rule, and Times teams winning all three of their games. The Shoe Market finished the week with the Royal Bakery and made it two out of three.

The victory of the Times team over the News last Wednesday evening, gave them a lead of four games over their nearest competitors.

Two teams are tied for second place, the Troy Laundry and News both having won 10 games and lost eight. The fight, for fourth place is even worse, three teams being tied for this station with an average of 500.

In the total pin department, the Times took the lead away from the News team, who usurped the top wrang from the Troy Laundry the week before. The Times team has a neat six-pin margin over the News, and the coming week may see another change. The average for the Times per game is 817, with the News following closely with 816.

The average for the entire eight teams per game is 794 as to 780 for the week before, showing the bowling is improving each week.

In the individual averages, Bill Towan was dropped off his throne by Charley Brueggeman and Charley Larsen of the Times quintet. Hill fell from 173 to 177, while Brueggeman raised from 177 to 178. Larsen held his average of 177, taking second place six pins ahead of Towan.

The feature of the week in the individual averages was the work of Kirschner of the Golden Rule. Kirschner jumped from twenty-fourth place to fourth by virtue of his clever exhibition Tuesday evening when he totalled 618 for the three games.

The old reliables, Cubit, Squires and Livinette, all dropped, but not enough to throw them out of the running.

Percy Thompson is hitting his stride, and raised his average from 161 to 164. Maxwell of the Shoe Market team raised his average two points, as did Phil Pitt. As a general thing the bowlers helped their averages, and those who fell slipped so little that another week will put them back where they belong.

SHOE MARKET WON FROM ROYAL BAKERY

With Bill Towan a little off color, the Royal Bakery quieted last the odd game from the Shoe Market five last evening at the Twin Falls bowling alley, in a regular scheduled game.

The first game of the evening went to the Shoe Market by its score of 825 to 829. The game was close throughout, and only the three strikes of Walter Buchanan, anchor man of the Shoe Market team, saved the coin producers from defeat. Maxwell with a 292 score was high man in this game, and won the gold fish.

In the second game the Shoe Market lost by nine pins, the final reading showing 827 for the Bakery, and 816 for the Shoe Market. Three bowlers, namely Logan Vochem and Kerr were tied with 182 all for first honors, and an 181 by Phil Pitt.

The last game of the evening went to the Shoe Market, 823 to 782, with Walter Buchanan leading the banker for 191, edging him the bamboo number.

Here they are:

Royal Bakery:	1	2	3	Totals
Kerr	180	182	179	541
Salmon	121	142	159	422
Smith	125	136	115	429
Towan	125	182	115	524

Totals	829	825	782	2436

Shoe Market:	1	2	3	Totals
Kerr	242	187	161	590
Kerr	175	151	177	503
Reeves	142	139	166	447

Totals	852	816	851	2519

FOOT FASE.

Whenever a team bowls three games over the 800 mark they are entitled to win.

Manager, Advisor, and Player McEwain of the Shoe Market brought out a new find in Kn-Kel. Kn-Kel knows the ropes, and although he hasn't bowled since last week, you know the story, nevertheless he totalled 503 for the three games.

Watch out for this fellow Kn-Kel, as another week of practice will find him a tough baby.

It seems strange that Doug Salmon shouldn't do better, but the Hogkarian hoodoo is on him, and until this man of hard luck leaves, Doug will continue to be in the depths. Everybody was willing for Doug to make a strike once in a while, but nothing doing.

An added feature to the evening's entertainment was the appearance of Mark Sturtevant. Mark knows just how the boys feel about it, and is more than liberal with his sympathies. Mark has won several medals for being sympathetic.

Chet Kerr came into his own last night and totalled 541. Chet has been in a slump since the season started, but from now on should be up among the top notchers.

"Shky" Reeves had a lot of trouble trying to locate the head pin before he accented the pin boy of hitting it when he took his turn. Of course, Reeves shouldn't be so hard hearted, but as Mark remarked, "I know just how you feel about it."

Bob Logan jotted the wood for a 193 total, but bumped into some hard luck. Lots of the ball he threw for strikes didn't make it, and he didn't had to try again. It makes a fellow nervous when he decides to make a strike, and the pins are not so inclined.

John Smith had a hard time in the opener, caused by the lapse of memory. John forgot which pin he had knocked down with the first ball, and most of the time he rolled the second one just where the first one had traveled.

Jack Vochem was as steady as usual and totalled 521. When straggler bowlers are found Jack will be straggler.

Walter Buchanan showed his average up a bit by rolling 660 for the three games. "Buck" rolled 193 for his first and 181 for two. Pretty neat bowling, I would seem.

Bill Towan had a lot of trouble last night. Bill just couldn't get started and when he did, he had forgotten where the head pin was located.

Maxwell started off with a 202 game, but slipped a trifle in the last two, but finished with 627 for the evening.

Dan Jett: I am fond of bowling, and will stick to it until I'm a pile of blood.

Every Minute Counts in the fight against constipation! Once get constipation get a grip on you, and your system is wide open to 100% of human ailments. Statistics show that to be the proportion of illness that has constipation for a starting point. Pills and cathartics are so dangerous to the system as to be considered a last resort.

We are not putting forward candidates. We are merely trying to clear the air, throw light, induce thinking. Senator Upeland is looked upon by insiders as a probable compromise. In case the politicians cannot nominate Robinson, the conservatives cannot nominate Underwood, and the McGowan movement proves not strong enough to overcome its enemies.

NIGHTIES BEAT PAJAMAS HERE

The old-fashioned night gown is still supreme among sleeping regalia worn by Twin Falls folks. Six collars are soiled to every dirty shirt by the average Twin Falls man. These facts were gleaned in interviews with laundrymen whose extensive experience has made them authorities on the lines of this city. It was the consensus of opinion that the flapping night-shirt of ancient days was still worn more than slumber uniforms, pajamas or pajamas.

Many bundles were said by one laundryman to contain every washable article except sleeping habits. From this he "cherished" the fact that many people sleep in their underwear or dress. The cycle of style was also thought to have brought back the night-shirt into popularity. Fashion notes for men in the "pines" papers and propaganda of linen manufacturers who made dealers enthusiastic in pushing the night-shirt were also said to contribute.

In checking up our bundles, we find six dirty collars to every "dirty shirt," said the manager of one laundry. Many men seem to make two changes of collars daily but get along with only two clean shirts a week. A partly soiled shirt may be hidden under the coat and vest but a dirty collar cannot be camouflaged. "Hygienic" is the dirtiest articles sent in a laundry. Many men seem to get along with only three a week. From their looks, they are used not only for their primary purpose but as towels for machinists, skimming shoes, and wiping enemies.

"Still men are much more fastidious about their linen than they need to be. Where they need to change collars twice a week, they now change twice a day. "The amount of dirt on men's collars is an accurate barometer of business," he said. "During hard times men wear their lounge. After one week is soiled, they turn them inside out and wear them that way. During good times, they will not try to double the wear."

"Soft collars or semi soft collars are getting over the hard boiled kind every day. The soft collar is being supplanted by a collar that looks stiff but isn't. Before the war a collar was good for 30 washings but the quality has deteriorated so that 15 washings is all they stand today.

"Twenty years ago, we used much caustic soda, chloride of lime and other sharp detergents. Nowadays no inorganic chemicals are used in a good laundry though some of the antiquated clothes-deterging plants still exist. We use potash in our washing which brings out colors brilliantly instead of making them run and which imparts a brilliant white to the clothes. It does not harm clothes.

Laundrymen state that the practice of marking clothes is gradually being given up. Collar bars and collars are now marked. Machines do the work. The rest of the bundle is put into an individual net bag and kept together making mangle, ironing, and relieving losses in a minimum. The daily grind of the laundry worker is not entirely prosaic. In the smaller laundries, especially, the wash men watch with a mother's care the same bundles that come in their week after week.

"Mrs. Pock gave a party last week," said one of the men. "I had eight children I think. Anyway all their party dresses came in covered with ice cream and cake and I must have been there for it is the first time I have been in a party since I was a baby. I've been on the job."

"Some of our accounts are small. One man I know sends in a collar once a week and a shirt every two weeks. Being charitable in my judgments, I presume he sends his underwear somewhere else."

New Organization Program Explained

We want to attend strictly to our own business
 We stand for law enforcement, free speech and free press.
 We are sick and tired of the muzzled press.

First—We want to extend the city limits by inviting the outside folks to trade with us from New York to San Francisco, and from Seattle to Galveston.

Second—We want to turn the farmer loose. Let him raise anything he chooses, even down to guinea pigs or skunks. Oh, we would like to see him raise plenty of eggs, as we would like to eat them, and Detweiler would like to sell you some laying mash. But you do as you please about that.

Third—We burn Spring Canyon Coal and, therefore, our business houses are always warm. So we invite the country folks to visit with us, and warm up, whether they buy or not. We want to say "Hello, Bill" "how is everything down on the ranch?" "How is your wife?" "How are your hens doing—are you feeding any of Detweiler's laying mash?"

Mr. L. A. Warner is feeding it. He says that one-sixth of his flock started to lay the next day after he started to feed it. Isn't that quick service for you?

Fifth—We are opposed to this way of approaching the farmer in our place of business—running at him and saying "Something? Something for you?" and look like we wanted to say, "If you don't want to spend any money with us you needn't come around."

Sixth—The way we prove our friendship for you is by selling one 1924 Model Four-cylinder 4-wheel brake Buick Touring Car (regular sale price $1155) for $1. The financial condition of the country has been such that it has put many a man on his feet. Now here is a chance for you, get in a car and ride again.

No employees or relatives of the members of the organization are eligible to this performance. Does this look like we wanted to skin you? Come in and buy from us at least until you get possession of this fine car. By that time we think you will be convinced that we are not parasites, but public servants.

Performance Starts December 15

BOY SCOUTS

PRIMA DONNA SCOUTS-PAL

Melanie Krollmeier Schumann thinks has a special place in her heart for the boy scouts. A promise made by her eighteen months ago to the scouts of Boise, Idaho, to go camping with the scouts "hasn't rung from them around the campfire, is still unfulfilled, but that she is great pains not to forget neither her promise nor her scout friends is shown in the following letter recently sent her by the scouts of Boise.

"My Dearest Beloved Scout-Pal:

"Don't leave me in, please. If you know how hard I work, after I was two and one-half years old, not dying; how I had to make up all the postponed concerts and bank and business, give all sorts of things to attend to, you would forgive my not coming or writing. You see, how, I am, with all my many thousands of friends and own family, alone. There is no thing in my life. Since twenty-one years I lost the fine, dear father of my children, and I was left to all the duties of father and mother, and six babies. As you know, my children now all are married, but their own children, I am free, so you think, to run around and around and enjoy life, but not I. My duties are just as great, and my heart is still full. I love it and I am happy to be the most necessary part in many young lives.

"This year a vacation I used to fit my little hour, where I will live till the Great Call comes when we all have to follow God's lead in following, as I hope, for four years more before I retire. Then I shall have been singing fifty years and shall give my career with my boys. To see you all once more, beloved children of mine, and be with you "round a campfire and telling you some stories and facts of my life, shall be one of my dearest duties to fulfill, and when you are here and come near my house in California, of later years, you will be very welcome there, every one of you.

"My best love and wishes are with you and yours and beautiful, great Idaho, and the Boise City people.

"Devotedly, faithfully,
(Signed)
"MOTHER ERNESTINE SCHUMANN-MENCK."

SCOUTS PLAN BIG GOOD TURN

The forces of the Boy Scouts of America are to be drawn up in a nation-wide civic good turn in the form of assistance in community ratkilling campaigns. The executive board, Boy Scouts of America, has recently decided to back to scout's help in organized effort, to rid the land of the uncleanly rodent.

That scouting's standards of fair play and humane means will in no wise be endangered by scout's participation in the extermination of the pest, is asserted by Dr. W. T. Harvey, director of the New York Zoological park, known the world over for his high sportsmanship and sympathetic knowledge of animal life.

"I cannot conceive of a more laudable use of the surplus energies of the boy scouts than in helping in the extermination of the pest," he says.

Scouts should be commended and encouraged in the rat-killing of rats. If the loss of the rat's value to agriculture and the trade caused by these animals, is not sufficient to justify destruction, then consider the further "nuisance" as carriers of many contagious diseases which they alone are the means of spreading throughout the nation.

"It is no danger of infecting the rat," he says.

If the Boy Scouts of America should be the means of killing off all domestic rats and rodents, they would be entitled to a medal and a monument a mile high to show the appreciation of the world in general.

THE PRESIDENT ON SCOUTING

President Coolidge is a firm believer in the Boy Scout movement. "Your organization," he has said to the scouts, "carries in its ranks the best of valuable traits, and I believe that the Boy Scouts of America have a great future before them and contribute a real force working for good citizenship."

THE BOY SCOUT GOAL

"We are primarily concerned in building out of the boyhood of today, a manhood for tomorrow—a manhood fully equipped physically, mentally and morally, not only to meet the problems of the home, the city and the nation, but the problems of the world. It is a grand and glorious opportunity which we want leaders here, and that give us strength and wisdom to do the job well."—James E. West, chief scout executive, Boy Scouts of

CHAPTER I

"What The Girls Told

There comes a time in every girl's life when she is faced with a choice. If she could peer over the fence and see what the world's effort, break through the walls of duty? Does the unworldly girl of fate start at the first step which she has to take? All of this Corinne Grant wondered. She had come to her twentieth year in life. She must decide which path to take—which man to marry. The marriage question was an overwhelming one.

Corinne Grant was the average American girl, pretty, dainty and gifted with brains as well as good looks. Her father had been one of the country's wealthiest men, but with his death the family fortune was swept away. And Corinne was left to face the future and choose for herself. What should she do? What would any girl do?

Corinne had already dismissed the serious and was filled with sorrow at the thought of giving up her life. She could marry, but there was no doubt of that. But to whom? And she could get a position with what influence she had in the social world. But what would it be?

Her thoughts were put to rest by the sudden appearance of an extremely good-looking young man, but in a usual manner.

"Miss Grant, I would like to have a pipe if I may," the young man said.

Corinne looked up and smiled. Corinne had her father's chauffeur. He was a young man of the ordinary, working his way through college by his work of automobile parts and the edge of mechanical. Corinne had never looked on him with a certain amount of favor.

"This man," Corinne thought, "is not my type, but I must be practical. I need a pipe, Glen," she read.

After all, her place was at home with her husband. She had taken him for better or for worse and was up to her to see it through. When she reached the apartment it was empty. She sought Mrs. Henderson anxiously.

"Mr. Harper's at the old grocery place on Riverside Road," Mrs. Henderson explained. "He's gone into bootlegging with my Joe. Now don't look shocked, dear. You drove the poor guy to it. He was just desperate for money."

"He must not," Corinne gasped. "I'm going to him."

Before the older woman could bar her path, Corinne was out of the apartment. Jumping into a taxi she told the driver to hasten with all speed to the quarter of an hour Corinne arrived at her mission. Just in time to see Glen helping Joe load cases on a truck.

"Glen! Glen!" she cried, running toward him and after the carting. "Glen! I couldn't stay away. My place is with you. But you must give up this terrible business. It's wrong—wrong—"

And, "Now, dear," Glen began, "say," said Joe, stepping into the argument, "you're not using the argument, you're just using the argument to throw me down for this fool case, are you?"

"I am," Glen challenged.

"Why, you—" The rest of the answer came in the way of a blow. Glen fell backward and Joe was about to spring upon him when one of the lookouts rushed up and shouted excitedly, "Max! The bolts are on to us!"

Henderson rushed to his car, driver and Glen stumbled his car and staggered to his own car, assisted by Corinne. The warning came in the nick of time. It was that very moment a high-powered car backed with plant cases men spread up the drive. Glen gave his car full power and down the road they sped.

On and on both cars went, the rear bearing the detectives gaining slightly.

"Now, if we can only make this turn, dear," Glen muttered—but it was too late. Over the ledge they went, plunging downward. Corinne was thrown from the car, only to fall headlong down the steep incline. Bruised severely she managed to get to her feet and rush to the spot where Glen lay.

"It was my fault," he mumbled weakly. "Our marriage was a mistake—a mistake."

Wong touched Corinne lightly on the arm. And then she came back to reality with a shudder. Yes, it would be all a terrible mistake, Quitting Wong, she nodded to where Harper waited.

"I am sorry, Mr. Harper," she said. "It is not to be."

The chauffeur touched his head and announced Donald Barth, at that moment the butler entered and announced Donald Barth.

"You know why I am here, don't you?" he said. "I'm not a spy, I'm a servant."

Corinne smiled. "My Chinese servant, Wong, can read the walls. Are you willing to have him show me what our future would be together?"

Young Barlett nodded doubtfully. Corinne went on and on to lead the way. What should the girl do? What would anyone do?

KNURL

KNURL, Idaho—Wednesday, the largest church had a Harvest Home day. A good sized congregation assembled at the church at 10:20 in the morning, and final dismissal came about 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

Four visiting speakers appeared on the program. Rev. W. A. Shanks, the highest white secretary, spoke on "The Progress of the Northern Baptists." Rev. A. L. Hunt, state director of religious education, spoke on "The Obligation of the Church to the Child." Both of the speakers were from Idaho. Rev. C. C. LaBron, the new pastor at Tubb, gave in the description of the church, the gospel, and Dr. W. H. Tolliver, of Twin Falls, spoke on "The Pleasure of the Church in the Community."

The audience was favored by two special musical selections of "The Pleasure of the Church," and all told, a most enjoyable day for Pastor Lulu M. Hickey and his church.

A most auspicious dinner was served at the noon hour, and a good social time was enjoyed by all.

DAIRY POINTS

Essentials for Caring for Milk in Hot Season

During the winter months it is comparatively easy to handle milk so it will keep sweet. During the hot months the milk is more liable to sour. You cannot have the milk and cream successfully during the summer without having some means of cooling it quick and keeping it at a low temperature. The use of a tank is the most satisfactory means which can be employed. The pump should be kept going so that fresh water direct from the well is flowing through the cooling tank. Cool fresh farms when such a tank is used all the water going to the various stock tanks is first pumped into a cooling tank. Keeping milk sweet is almost entirely a matter of cleanliness. The temperature regulation must be kept at a low temperature. You cannot call yourself a successful dairyman until you have learned how to produce clean milk. Milk is a human food and should be treated as such. Dirty milk always sours more quickly than clean milk and quite often sour other had flavors. There has been much talk about the curing of bacteria, which are very organisms too many to see with the naked eye. These organisms are present and every particle of dirt has upon it large numbers of these organisms. Most of the bacteria which get into the milk come from the dirt on the cow, which falls in the pail while you are milking. These organisms also get into the milk from the udder, such as cans, pails, strainers, coolers and separators which have not been properly cleaned and sterilized before being used.

Secretary Thompson Adds Statement About Red Cross Aid Fund

Supplementary statement was made last evening by Mrs. Thompson, secretary of the Red Cross, relative to the fund for the relief of the Salvation Army and other religious societies with reference to the aid of the Red Cross. It is possible it is the plan for each church to have a collection of the Red Cross will look after the needs of service men. Members of the Red Cross and some of the aid dedicated for whom the Red Cross is unable to provide will be turned over to that organization.

WHY WORRY WINKING: FORGET WORRY DETER

Harold Lloyd is one of the few producers of this motion picture who tries to emulate old wine of more bibulous times; he improves with age. His present play "Why Worry" now running at the New Orpheum is a dandy show. The only criticism of the title is that the play does not give you time to think of why you should not worry. Worry is the enemy of success in all lines of life.

REFERENDUM IS PLANNED ON THE SCHOOL LEVY

Statute Enting Minimum to Eight Mills Renders It Impossible to Further the System

Referendum on the school levy is planned on the school levy. The statute enting a minimum of eight mills renders it impossible to further the system. The school levy is planned on the school levy. The statute enting a minimum of eight mills renders it impossible to further the system.

The question of permitting an increase in the tax levy from the eight mills permitted under the new law to something like from 12 to 14 mills which have been levied during the past three years will be submitted to the voters of the Twin Falls Independent districts within the next few months. It was stated by Superintendent M. C. Mitchell last evening at a meeting of the high school parent-teacher association, which elected Mitchell as its president. The meeting was held under the direction of Mrs. D. E. Higgin and heard a report from Mrs. D. E. Alexander to the effect that $10 will be available locally from sales of Anti-Tubercular association stamps already made. The amount already on hand in greater for the present year in the city than in the entire county is the able to employ a large next year.

Mr. J. E. Justice was retained as chairman; Mrs. J. C. Porterfield as secretary-treasurer.

Superintendent Mitchell showed that the enrollment for the entire year this year was greater than last, being 2718 this year and 2700 last year. This means a considerable increase in population, an many had over last year in the high school to graduate. This means that class was unusually large.
