Do you play checkers with your coffee?

PREPARING your coffee—but a great many women do. Because coffee is so "easy" to make, many women don't "bother" about any real method of making it. They are apt to make it one way one day, another way the next, still another way the next. It's a case of "by-guess-and-by-gosh."

Result? A good cup of coffee some of the time—and a not-so-good cup of coffee most of the time. And all because—

They haven't found their taste in coffee.
"Jumping" from one method of coffee-making to another doesn't solve the problem. No matter what method you prefer in making coffee—no matter how you like your coffee (strong, mild or in-between) M·J·B is ready to meet your coffee-taste.

This is exactly what the taste-finding chart is for. It is based on hundreds of tests made by critical coffee-drinkers in their own homes. It will help you find the exact coffee taste that suits you—just as the clothes you wear suit you and you alone. And, having found it, stick to it!

What more, you'll find that M·J·B—thanks to its greater strength and richer flavor—costs less per cup.

It is a strange fact of incompatibility, that money and its source are never tight at the same time.

China and Holland also said to be heartened because of the wearing of women shoes. The countries wearing American shoes are active and speedy, in spite of their curbs.

Hershey's next freeman (this) is to be limited to 1930, with applicants standing last in their estate's examinations having the right of way. This sounds old-fashioned, and sensible.

A traveling woman in Chicago discovered that her mail order husband hid in less than a week stolen for money had most of her clothes, and sought new order fields to compare. You can't always believe what you see in the catalog.

Sixteen years of the most intensive building activity will be required to catch up with New York city's shortage of quarters for 80,000 families, the foremost labor department reports. The announcement should serve as a sharp hint to the powers that be to keep an eye open to building costs.

Senator Lodge was very much missed at the Nahant town meeting Saturday. He usually comes from Washington to act as a moderator, but on "unusual pressure of business" this year prevented the trip. The senator has a good deal on his mind even if this is a delectable congress. His sustained interest in the town affairs of Nahant all these years, have been most complimentary to him as a good citizen.

An intensive field study of American highways and highway transport will be made during the coming summer by representatives of twenty Latin-American countries. The party will be the guests of the highway education board, of which John J. Thayer, United States' commissioner of education, is chairman. It is proposed to conduct the visitors on a tour of about three weeks through several of the states which have been most active in highway construction. They will invite to inspect Idaho's splendid roads.

NARCOTIC PERIL AND HOW TO MEET IT

Habit forming narcotics, particularly opiates, have been used to exploit mankind for centuries. About 1800 years ago a chemist discovered how to produce morphine from opium. About 500 years ago another chemist, experimenting with the leaves of the poppy plant, produced cocaine. In 1888 heroin, another opium derivative, four times as powerful as morphine, was discovered.

With the advent of heroin, the great increase in narcotic addiction, at present recognized by scientists as a peril to the race, began. Heroin appeared in America in 1905 in practice of medicine. At first it was not believed to be habit-forming. The medical profession, after a time, outlawed its use, and it is no longer recognized as a legitimate drug in medical practice.

Soon, however, heroin was recognized as more capable of commercial exploitation for addiction purposes than any other narcotic drug. The great expansion of narcotic addiction in America, given impetus by heroin, dates from 1910. This expansion continues almost unchecked, in spite of legal restriction and effort at salvage of victims. The appalling increase in crimes of violence, extending vital regions of terror for extended periods in our great cities, has been paralleled with the increase in narcotic addiction.

European chemists have discovered how to manufacture narcotics from opium. New devices are anticipated even more powerful than those now used with such terrible results.

In America alone millions number in the millions. They burden the dockets of the criminal courts, federal state and municipal. Huger jails are being built to take care of them. Members of grand juries, with the close view they have of criminality and its causes, are appalled to discover the amount of crime originating in narcotic addiction, or associated with it.

America, richest country in the world, and the country with no apparent enemy, is the special objective of organized exploitation. The latest reliable figures show that Italy consumes one grain of narcotic drugs per capita per year, Germany, two; England, three; France, four, and the United States, 36 grains.

Already the amount consumed in the United States is enough to drive every man, woman and child in the entire nation for 40 days out of every year. We need not wonder at the persistent nature of crime and other alarming symptoms in our social structure.

The psychology of addiction shows the addict to be, inherently and potentially a criminal, a ruminating agent for addiction, a peddler of narcotics. Medical men now consider addiction, as to psychology of crime, in a class with leprosy and cancer.

Religious conversion, affecting profound psychological and psychological changes, now is considered to be the advanced addict's only hope of freedom.

Addicts come to consider their drug supply as paramount matter of life and death. The physical craving and tolerance, growing with addiction, demand an ever-increasing quantity. The average addict takes ten grains of morphine daily, 80 times a normal dose, and is compelled to pay $1 a grain and upward.
