THE ELKS CONVENTION

The Elks convention has brought to Twin Falls a number of leading citizens of Idaho. It has proven a most enjoyable and satisfactory meeting; from a fraternal and social point of view and will do much to unite in common effort for the upbuilding of the state and the intermountain district. The coming together of the people in meetings of this sort, where good fellowship prevails, is one of the things that will make this a better and bigger commonwealth.

IDAHO POWER USERS ASK LOWER RATES

The action of the Southern Idaho Light and Power Users' association in filing a formal petition for horizontal reduction of 10 per cent in power rates and an additional 10 per cent for irrigation purposes, before the public utilities commission, is raising the issue of rates in the proper way to get the facts. Should the commission enforce its own ruling to the effect that the books of the company be thrown open the people may have an opportunity to learn more, through the association than has been possible in the past. The practice of not allowing the other party to a hearing, that party representing the people to get at the vital facts as shown by the books of the public service corporations, is manifestly unfair. It leaves the hearing jug-handled in favor of the corporation. It is such the same as allowing a defendant in a case to present his books in evidence to a jury without letting the plaintiff get to see them. The company says it's willing but it isn't done.

The Times has done its best to get at the facts. A comparison of the Idaho Power official rates with those of Burley and Rupert were published and made a very favorable showing for the publicly owned utilities in the towns named. But there are many things that cannot be learned, definitely until company reports on the new rates are thrown open to public inspection, and the Power Users' association is right in insisting on this, as well as on a reduction which will open the whole question of the justice of the present schedule.

OUTLOOK FOR FARMERS

American farmers this year are going to spend a bit more than in 1923. This is indicated by sales of the leading mail order houses, which so far this year have totaled about a seventh more than in the corresponding months of 1923.

Still, a gain of a seventh in buying power is mighty big to a farmer who has been operating at a loss or bare profit.

Economists consider mail order sales a barometer of farmers' buying power.

Farmers' spending this year is, of course, regulated a lot by their profits or losses in 1923.

Last year's crops, for the whole country, according to Department of Agriculture, were valued at 9563 million dollars, which was about 1000 millions more than the year before.

Says the department: "The distress of wheat growers is strikingly shown by the estimate of the value of the 1923 wheat crop which is 726 million dollars, compared with 874 millions in 1922 and 2080 millions in 1919."

That was equivalent to a city man having his wages reduced nearly two-thirds in two years. Ouch!

Farmers in 1923 got for their crops and meats about a fourth more money than in 1914. But prices and costs had about doubled. So, figured in terms of pre-war buying power, the farmer in 1923 was only three-fifths as prosperous as before the war.

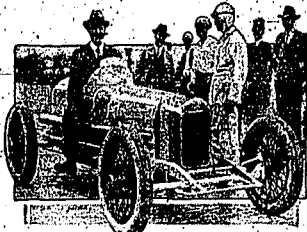

This affects all of us, for prosperity cannot be on a sound and steady basis unless there is a just balance between city and farm buying power, since each is the customer of the other. An impoverished customer can't buy. The foreign markets outlook for the American farmer might be brighter. International Institute of Agriculture in Rome estimates that on July 31 there'll be 275 million bushels of old wheat on hand in exporting countries, compared with 118 million bushels July 31, 1923.

The surplus powerfully affects prices. It might possibly be counteracted by a lower world wheat yield in 1924. A lot depends on the weather.

In the nine months ended April 1 American wheat exports were almost 64 million bushels less than in the corresponding period a year ago, and corn exports decreased over 65 million bushels. Meat exports made a big gain.

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Mr. James H. (John) Hochstetler, N. Y., suffered 16 years with rheumatism. Many times the terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided after years of restless study, that his cure can be found from rheumatism only the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits. Were these same easily and got next to the body, the toxins and impurities and expelled from the body.

With this idea, he "tried" the combined physician's, made experiments, and finally composed a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery, which he called "Alkermid," to others who took it, with what might be called surprising success. After years of trying he decided to let others know where he knew about his discovery through the newspapers. He has, therefore, instructed druggists everywhere to dispense "Alkermid" with the understanding that if the first bottle does not show the return, your money without complaint. Schramm-Johnson Drug Store will supply "Alkermid" drug accepted.

EVER STRETCH A DOLLAR BILL?

Ever take a dollar bill in your hands and try to stretch it? If it's a new bill, it won't stretch a bit, and if it's an old one it will be a fractional part of an inch. But if you stretch back to place again, it won't stretch.

There's another way you can stretch a dollar bill, however. And make it stay stretched. Buy a pair of our stretch trousers. They are made of a special fabric that stretches to fit you and then stays stretched.

For by it known that there are many ladies that are never advertised. There are many short lines of merchandise that are never shown in the windows. These are always bound on the shelves of this section. Merchandise that is left over and always it is picked up by "prudent" shoppers.

Some women are good shoppers. They know just what they want and they get it. There is a class who buy without investigation. While we are glad of course, we are not sure they buy properly, still as a matter of fact we will admit that we do shop around. We do so to get around an every floor of the store. Whether you buy or not it is a pleasant thing to do. Incidentally, it's the only way we know of to make the store stretch.

Stout Women Are Interested
