BRYAN TAKES PLATFORM AND FIGHTS FOR McADOO

Bryan Takes Bold Stand for McAdoo Amid His Own Critics and Pleads for Progressive Nominee; Names Several Candidates Which Would Suit Him But Says That McAdoo is the Logical Candidate; Smith Supporters Heckle Him and "Get Down."

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, July 2.—William Jennings Bryan threw the democratic national convention into turmoil this afternoon when he took the platform and after naming over a list of some seven men whom he regarded as fit for the presidential nomination wound up with the strongest endorsement for William G. McAdoo.

Bryan, who in his old-time fighting form, he characterized McAdoo as the man who had made it possible for the present convention to be progressive. He had mentioned Governor Al Smith in his list up to that time, and a reference to the candidate having to have a clear record on the matter of liquor law enforcement led some Smith delegates to think he was taking a deliberate threat at a governor.

The Smith delegates rushed into the aisles in an angry mood. Shouts of derision, bitter invectives were hurled at the commoner.

"Get down, you haven't a friend in the world," "Oh, oil, oil, oil," came from the galleries. Others shouted demands that the galleries be cleared.

A delegate, shouting at the top of his huge lungs, demanded that Bryan recognize him.

"How can you stand there and endorse a man who accepted money from oil interests in the great scandal that has been exposed?" he demanded.

The contention was in a turmoil. Bryan beat upon the speaker's table and pleaded for order.

"Just be quiet and I'll answer your question," came an answering cry.

"Be about, name you you think it should be. We know."

"There were many cries from the floor. Some thought he was the man himself."

"What the matter with Smith?" came a cry.

"Give me time to develop my subject in my own way," Bryan declared.

"You have my preference about actions, but your choice. If it were necessary, I'll fight."

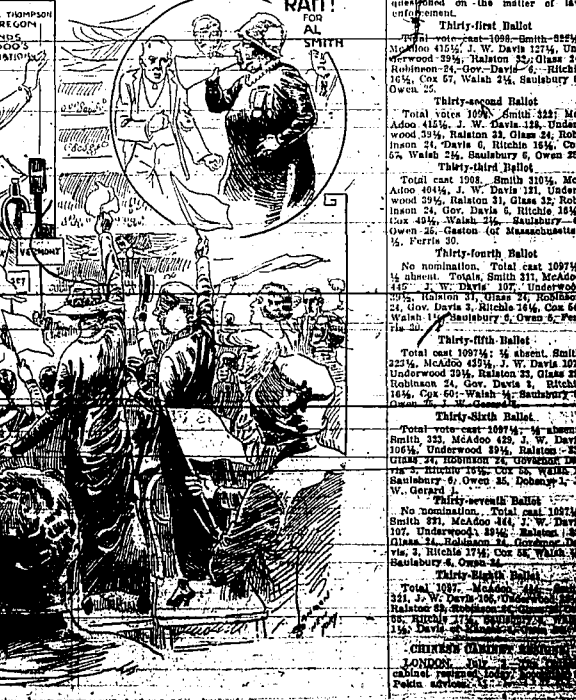

"Now I shall tell you why I am for McAdoo in this occasion. I have never known a more progressive man whose record on the liquor question is such that he will not know how to be protected."

"I have given you the names of the men who are not to be questioned on the matter of law enforcement."

SECONDS MAKE OR BREAK THE BEST BOXERS

When the Battle is Close the Man in the Corner May Do Much to Save His Champion from a Knockout; Dempsey's Case Cited by Experts.

NEW YORK, July 2.—Proper credit on the part of the seconds is almost as important in the seconds for the outcome of a close bout.

The boxer is unquestionably superior to his opponent, he regards the part played between the seconds as that so much more from the job at hand, his seconds don't matter much. And when a fighter is "licked" he never thinks in the world could save him.

But when the going is close and the fighters evenly matched, the fight can often be won in the corner. Thus the case of the Dempsey-Firpo fight, which will go down in memory with both having the greatest ring contest ever seen.

Dempsey had been knocked down once and out of the ring once, and at the bell Firpo had him on the ropes and was sending him back with both hands, the champion's boxing, gasping, he had his shirt, the big American had been down, again, than seven times.

The clang of the bell brought an end to that furious first round. Dempsey, tottered to his corner with aching eyes. Firpo, on the other hand, was so close to his opponent that he was "knocked" before his seconds could bring him back to the ring.

And in the second round, Dempsey, received exactly the right card and continued to win. He was so close to his opponent that he was "knocked" before his seconds could bring him back to the ring.

Firpo, on the other hand, was so close to his opponent that he was "knocked" before his seconds could bring him back to the ring.

And in the third round, Dempsey, received exactly the right card and continued to win. He was so close to his opponent that he was "knocked" before his seconds could bring him back to the ring.

Firpo, on the other hand, was so close to his opponent that he was "knocked" before his seconds could bring him back to the ring.

And in the fourth round, Dempsey, received exactly the right card and continued to win. He was so close to his opponent that he was "knocked" before his seconds could bring him back to the ring.

Firpo, on the other hand, was so close to his opponent that he was "knocked" before his seconds could bring him back to the ring.

And in the fifth round, Dempsey, received exactly the right card and continued to win. He was so close to his opponent that he was "knocked" before his seconds could bring him back to the ring.

Firpo, on the other hand, was so close to his opponent that he was "knocked" before his seconds could bring him back to the ring.

Geneva already feels the new wind that is blowing in Europe. A representative of France Henri de Jouvenal recently welcomed steps by the council of the League of Nations toward making the League responsible for the disarmament of Central Europe under the treaties. The transfer may not be immediate, but with France no longer opposed the insuperable obstacle disappears. It is a significant change which may have large consequences for good.

Australia is becoming an important wine producing country, and this year has a record vintage of over 10,000,000 gallons which is hard to dispose of. It contains 3,000,000, and much more is required for the manufacture of spirit, but this leaves a huge surplus, and as southern Europe could testify the world market is badly depressed. The wisdom of the bonuses given by the Australian government may be questioned.

Theodore Dubois, who died last week in Paris at the age of 87, was a composer of distinction as well as a celebrated organist and teacher for 53 years he was a teacher in the Paris conservatory of which he was director from 1896 to 1905. He composed a number of operas and ballads, as well as symphonic works for orchestra, but is most widely known by his organ works and his church music, including a setting of "The Seven Last Words of Christ." He continued into old age his work as a composer.

Those who follow the work of the institute of political williams college must also be interested in the success of the international summer school at Vienna, which was founded in 1922 to do "the same sort of educational work" last summer there were two thousand students enrolled, and the lecturers came from Austria, Germany, England, Hungary, Czech-Slovakia, Yugoslavia, Italy and Switzerland. This year the enrollment is even larger, and French, Dutch and Danish lecturers are to take part. The lectures are given in German, French and English, which meets fairly well all the needs of even so polyglot a gathering.

At the recent meeting of the British national art collection found in London an interesting account was given of a great subscription that enabled the society to secure for the nation Holbein's famous "Duchess of Milan." The option had almost expired when a telegram was received from abroad asking how much was needed, and after the answer $30,000 had been sent, another telegram came offering the required amount. A joke was suspected, but when references were sent, and in two days the money was in hand and the picture was bought. The name of the giver is still a secret, but it was disclosed that it was a woman, and that the sum was one-third of her fortune.

This is the time of year when teacher-preparing institutions are graduating young men and women who expect to teach in the public schools next year. It is also the time when rural school boards and county superintendents are selecting teachers to fill the vacancies which have occurred or are anticipated between now and next September. The reward of those who employ teachers early is the possibility of making the most desirable applicants gone. Naturally teachers prefer for professional reading and planning for next year with direct adjusting to the type of work needed in the school they are to teach. Results are beneficial all around. It is highly desirable that school officers seeking teachers go to their state normal schools for them. This is apt to be the best available source of supply. If normal schools are not preparing teachers, county school boards should make a demand that they establish this type of service, in justice to the rural tax payers who bear their share of the normal school's support.

SCHOOL NEEDS AID OF FAMILY

"The school should not be an isolated organization. Without the aid of the family it is powerless to assure the happiness, the equilibrium, the good health and the education of the child. On the other hand, the school remains purely academic if it isolates itself from the community. Its courses of instruction should bring together life and action in utilizing active methods."—Dr. Rene Sand, secretary general of the League of Red Cross Societies.

It is because of the reasons set forth by Dr. Sand that the American Red Cross has been stressing the educational value of its resources which it renders the school as an agency for linking it with the community. Standardized courses in home hygiene and the care of the sick, nutrition, first aid and life saving are all available to the schools, as are the services of the public health nurse for setting up health standards and health practices among the children. Practical application of the instruction imparted through these sources is made by the Junior Red Cross whose activities cover acts of service for the individual, school, community, nation and the world.

AT THE THEATRES

THEATRE MEN'S DEATH A stunt that was not in the script provides one of the thrills in "Immortal Heroes" by William Duncan feature, which will be seen at the Orpheum theatre today. Howard Vincent, one of the "backlogs" with all-day hours at an outlay bank, is pursuing William Duncan, the star, and riding forward in a narrow gauge rail-road train. The other riders crowded Vincent too closely, and his horse misses his footing and starts a stampede down the embankment. Duncan, who directed the picture, yielded to the camera men to take the fall, and then took a shot of Vincent and the horse recovering. It is a thrilling scene and reveals Duncan's quick wit as a director.

Got the Real Thing

"For five long years I suffered with stomach trouble and what the doctors called acid stomach, and all said nothing but an operation would do me any good. A friend who had taken your medicine advised me to try it and I found it to be the real thing. I feel better than I have in six months and am now preparing for my wife's wonderful recovery. My Rheumatism is gone

"THERE are thousands of you men and women, just like I once was—slaves to rheumatism, muscle pain, joint pain, and horrible stiffness. I had the wrong idea about rheumatism for years. I didn't realize that increasing blood circulation had the effect of completely knocking out rheumatic impurities from the system. That is why I began using S.S.S. Today I have the strength I used to have years ago. I don't use any crutches any more." S. S. S. makes people talk about themselves the way I talk about their weakness. Start S. S. S. today. For that rheumatism, you'll feel the difference shortly.

In the memory book of that most rigid old author, Father, one finds recorded times by these days when ladies put on their gloves in the house, and women put them on in the street. Nowadays, however, fashion unbends sufficiently to permit both ladies and women to slip their gloves on before going out, or unboard of liberty—even in the public gaze.

This agonizing Fifth Avenue and New York's Fashionable Fifties are seeing, beset by this change, other new styles in gloves. Whether of novelty style makes it easy, or because their attractiveness makes it desirable, it is quite as fast to have your gloves match your costume. Above are sketched by Kayser two exclusive silk models, each with French cuff-lined with a handy-button cuff. One comes with a twenty-button cuff; the other with a thirty-button cuff. Both ruffs and a three-row set point.

FARMINGTON, Mo., July 2.—The six members of the family of Howard P. Rice, 32, were found shot to death in their farm home near Avon Sunday.

Rice killed his wife and four sons, daughter and then himself, authorities believe. No reason was learned. The bodies were discovered by a small carrier who found a note from Rice in the mail box, saying the bodies would be found.

PLAGUE-KILLING COFFEE PLANTS

HOUSTON, Tex., July 2.—The outbreak of coffee will in all probability cost Americans considerably more than a few millions from now than it does at present owing to a serious plague which threatens to cause enormous damage to the present Brazilian coffee crop.

Coffee planters of San Paulo, the world's greatest coffee state, fear widespread destruction of their crops by a plague of tiny bugs, commonly known as the "brucea," which were destructive on coffee plantations as the birds will devour on cotton crops.

Planters are now seriously considering burning some 800 million coffee plants struck by the disease in order to prevent the tiny insects from spreading to other plantations which are not yet infected.

Scilley Says Crops Good Near Rupert

SCILLEY, Ida.—This section received a visit Tuesday from James Scilley, of the sugar factory company. Mr. Scilley is quite well pleased with the outlook for bests in this immediate section and thinks a good crop will be obtained.

In the Jerome section he states that a fairly good first cutting of hay is being harvested. The grain and corn are in good shape, he says, having had some water recently. Mr. Scilley thinks the greatest mistake possible was made by the people there when any of them gave up the struggle and their present frame of mind. He thinks that, with the proper cultivation and the judicious use of all available water, a good return in crops will be secured. It will not be up to harvest, of course, but with fair crops and the prices that they will obtain, things are not nearly so bad as reported, he says.

To ride through the country, said Mr. Scilley, "you wouldn't know there was a drought unless some one told you about it."

All men's stores will be open tomorrow night to accommodate customers who desire to buy articles before the great celebration. The city will be crowded Saturday night. It is believed many will want to take advantage of the bargains before celebrating the natal day of the nation.

Telephone-Tax Off After Tonight Says Twin Falls Manager

Telephone users appreciate the announcement that the taxing of telephone messages is to cease for an end at midnight tonight, according to H. W. Gardner, manager of the M. T. & T. Co. Commenting to the effect of the removal of the section of the federal revenue act of 1921 under which the taxes were imposed, Mr. Gardner declared that the telephone company anticipates and is prepared for a marked increase in traffic, made up largely of calls of the "short haul" type.

"By far the greatest number of our toll-calls are to points that are relatively nearby," said Mr. Gardner, in commenting on the effect of the removal of the tax. "The law provided that there should be a five-cent tax on telephone messages for which the toll charge was more than 14 cents and not more than 50 cents. On a message to Bill, for example, for which the toll rate is 16 cents, a tax of 5 cents applied, so that the telephone user paid a total of 20 cents. After tonight, the charge for such messages will be 16 cents.

"This does not mean," Mr. Gardner stated, "that the telephone service does not pay its proportion of taxes. The federal telephone message tax was assessed against the telephone user, and was in addition to the regular federal and other taxes which the telephone company pays."
