

Loeb and Leopold Deny Killing of Youth in Illinois

Youthful Slayers of Robert Franks Throw Doubt on Whether Crime Was Committed in Hoosier State or in Commonwealth in Which They Are Indicted; Say That State Will Be Unable to Locate Scene of Death and Conviction Will Be Impossible.

(By EDWARD G. DEER, Copyright 1924, E. P. CHICAGO, July 18.—Where was Robert Franks killed? Illinois or Indiana?

Nobody knows, not even Nathan Leopold and Edward George Young, the millionaires who confessed to the killing, the defense lawyers.

And the foregoing is the reason why the defense believes the boys will never hang for the crime, it was exclusively revealed to the United Press today.

To convert the youthful university graduates and to send them to the gallows, the state must prove that they killed the Frank boy within the limits of Cook county, the defense points out. This defense claim can never be proved.

If the state fails to prove that Franks was killed in Cook county, the case is no longer under the jurisdiction of Chicago courts and if the case goes to another Illinois county or to an Indiana court again, it will be impossible for the prosecution to prove where Robert Franks met death, the defense claims.

Leopold and Loeb, although making full confessions of their crime, at no time have told just where their victim died, the defense charges.

The charge was expected to re-open later in the day, however, to express its confidence in the cabinet.

There were no witnesses to the murder. The state has only the signed confessions of the slayer as testimony of how and where they killed their victim. According to their confessions, this is what happened:

They met Robert Franks and took him for an automobile ride through the exclusive residential section of Chicago's south side.

After a few minutes of conversation, they got into the car, one of the boys struck him over the head with a club and the other drove west almost over the Chicago city limits, across the county and state line into Indiana.

They had prepared guns and had brought hydrochloric acid with them to end the life of their victim. When they reached a quiet spot along the country road near Itzerville, they prepared to undress Robert and put the finishing touches on their crime.

Here it was, according to their confessions that they found for the first time that Robert was dead.

When he died, they drove on until after was struck on the head or whether he died after they crossed the state line into Indiana, the state is able to tell, Darrow holds.

Finding that death had come sooner than they expected to their victim, Leopold and Loeb drove back into Illinois and concealed the body under a railroad trestle near the Chicago city limits.

Since their confessions do not state where Franks died, they are not conclusive evidence that Franks died in Illinois and not in Indiana, Darrow.

If the case were transferred from Chicago to Gary, or some other Indiana city it would be just as impossible to prove that Franks died in that state, the defense insists.

This comprises a barrier which the defense claims will forever stand between the slayers and the gallows.

At the preliminary hearing next Monday, Darrow will motion for the case to be heard in Cook county.

John H. Caverly, Darrow's lawyer, has the customary motions to quash the indictment and to postpone the trial.

But if the trial is ordered for August 4, as scheduled, the defense will be ready, Darrow said.

Meanwhile, the state is preparing the ammunition for its first "big gun"—a plea that Leopold and Loeb are insane and therefore not responsible for their crime.

The findings of more than a dozen psychiatrists who have been assigned to examine the defendants several weeks ago being thrown together into such language as any jury could apprehend.

Technical points will be used as little as possible, being substituted by allegories and symbolism.

COFFEE FOR AMERICANS IN DANGER

Prices Go Up in New York—Cause Rebels in Brazil Control Half World Supply; Foreign Intervention is Talked in Argentine.

NEW YORK, July 18.—America's coffee supply, which is estimated to be about 100 million pounds for the year, is in danger.

With the rebels controlling over one half of the world's available supply of coffee and prices in New York already increasing, there is a grave possibility that the supply of coffee for this country will be cut off.

Foreign intervention in Brazil, which has been going on for some time, is expected to result in a complete takeover of the coffee industry.

Prices of coffee in New York have risen sharply since the outbreak of the Brazilian revolution.

The Kimberly celebration on July 21 is going to be a big affair. As the Burley celebration for the same day has been called off, this pioneer occasion will take in all the territory from Minkdoka and Oakley west. Those who attend will be assured a good time.

Buhl and Pocatello seem to have had trouble about the great national game of the season, and have packed up their balls and bats and refused to play ball any more. It seems too bad that our neighboring cities cannot play without falling out. Such dispositions will ruin the greatest game ever brought forward.

The playground work performed by Miss Belva Whyman is of the highest character and the training given so far has been so complete that practice can continue in the absence owing to an unfortunate incident. The installation of the playground apparatus purchased by the high school P. T. A. will add much to juvenile pleasure.

The officers are to be congratulated on their clean-up of our city and county in regard to loafers and other undesirables. The Mexican problem in Twin Falls is indeed a perplexing one. We must have a certain number of these Spanish laborers to look after the great beet crop which is grown here year to year, but with this sort of labor comes an undesirable element which is sometimes conducive to lawlessness. However, if there is "dope" being brought here by these fellows it should be hunted down and the offenders given a severe punishment. Let's co-operate as patriotic citizens to rid our fair city of all such lawbreakers.

There is a just claim for a real kick on the part of the sportsmen of this section as compared with the ruling effective for southeastern Idaho. These game birds cannot be found in a boundary line of counties or even states, and this proposition looks to us like we would raise the birds for another section of the state to shoot. When the young wild fowl are grown it is as natural for them to seek other homes as it is for a boy or girl to wander from their old home town surroundings. They will fly across the county line and create sport for the fellow who is permitted to shoot them when we are denied that privilege by such an unfair and unjust ruling. But if this ruling turns the political trick what is the difference to the political bosses who hatched same up.

COOLIDGE'S ELECTION NOT A CERTAINTY

It is the policy of some papers to "prophesy smooth things," with the idea of making themselves "solid" with the party in power or with which they affiliate or which they think stands a good chance to win, says the American Economist, the great republican organ of the American Protective Tariff League. It is a mighty poor policy to pursue when results are in doubt and that is exactly the present situation. All good protectionists "hope" Coolidge will win, but no good protectionist will remain idle on the assumption that he will win. It is going to take work and hard work at that to insure his election. The New York Herald-Tribune of July 7, in discussing the candidacy of LaFollette, expresses the opinion that it will help Coolidge to win. This is its conclusion:

"LaFollette's candidacy further disrupts the opposition. It seems to make Coolidge's election almost a certainty."

Nothing could be farther from the truth. It complicates still more an already complicated situation. It renders uncertain what the factional division in the democratic convention might have otherwise made a certainty. Now the votes of the disaffected democrats which might otherwise have gone to Coolidge, are likely to go to LaFollette, as more nearly representing the democratic idea. Mr. Coolidge is known to be a staunch protectionist, and Mr. LaFollette's candidacy may result in the rallying of many "Anything but Coolidge" votes to the rallying cry of "Anything but Coolidge." Both mean the same thing. Mr. LaFollette is anything but a protectionist.

It is not at all certain that the division in the democratic convention will result in any division in the democratic votes at the coming election. Outside of the men personally interested, these little "home brew" squabbles seldom leave any lasting enemies. It will not do to assume that the democratic party has been disrupted because of the family quarrel. Most of us have observed that when an outsider tries to mix in a family quarrel, both parties to that quarrel immediately turn upon him and vent their animosity upon him as a sort of safety valve.

The Herald-Tribune assumes that Coolidge will carry "the New England and middle west states," but that is not a safe assumption. It must be borne in mind that every large city in New York, as well as the state itself, is in the hands of the democratic party. Every politician knows what that means. It means that the party in power has the upper hand. It means that it can use its patronage to control votes, to a certain extent, and that is true more especially in large cities.
