

Germany Is Invited to Attend Meeting of the Conference

American Representative Says Meeting Is Biggest Success Since the Treaty of Versailles Was Signed; Machinery for Full Settlement Will Be Provided.

LONDON, Aug. 2.—The allied conference here today moved rapidly toward its goal of putting the Dawes program into execution this morning machinery for a general European settlement of the reparations problem.

The plenary session opened on an invitation to Germany to send delegates to the conference and a formal invitation was telegraphed to Berlin late in the afternoon by the German ambassador.

It was understood the allied message is a simple request to the government to send representatives to the conference.

The German delegates, Chancellor Marx and Foreign Minister Stresemann, are expected to leave Berlin late tonight.

The invitation was written by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald as president of the conference.

"The conference is the biggest success of any allied meeting since the treaty of Versailles was signed," Colonel James A. Logan of the United States, told newspaper men after today's plenary session had adjourned.

When the conference finally reached an agreement the United States is informed Prime Minister Stresemann, who was presiding, stood up smiling and stretched his hand toward Premier Herriot of France, saying:

"I am sure I express the gratification of the whole of France at this pleasant solution."

The conference's small-ship took place at 10 o'clock on Monday. It was understood the British charge d'affaires to Berlin will deliver the invitation to Foreign Minister Stresemann and that the foreign minister and Chancellor Marx will leave London immediately after their meeting with Charles Gillingham, the American secretary of state tonight.

DEHLIN, Aug. 2.—The allied invitation to Germany to attend the reparations conference in London was received by the foreign office at 5:30 o'clock tonight.

Germany will accept the invitation at once and her delegates will leave soon as possible for the British capital.

GOLDEN STATE IS MOVING TO FIGHT THE FIRE MESSAGE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—California's fight to control fires in many sections of the state took a more warlike turn today.

Additional reserves of fighters moved to the fire lines, but the department of firemen army troops were prepared for instant duty.

Two detachments of troops, nine men each, mounted on motorcycles, were sent to the San Bernardino area in southern California today.

Planes from Rockwell field, San Diego, will be used in southern California, in formal cooperation with federal and state forest authorities.

The Pacific division of the American Red Cross has offered to aid fire fighters.

DEFENSE DAY MESSAGE NOT PARTY NOTE

Governor Bryan Says His Refusal to Go All the Way Simply Represents Attitude of His State Which He Voices as Governor.

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 2.—Governor Charles W. Bryan, denouncing alleged insinuations, declared today his intention to refuse a national issue in refusing to go all the way in supporting national defense day, September 12.

In a message to John W. Davis, head of the defense day drive, the Nebraska governor asserted that the national day "matter came to me in my official capacity as governor of Nebraska and my position in the matter represents the attitude which I believe the people who I represent assume."

Governor Bryan said he had no intention at any time of speaking for a candidate on the national ticket and the only hope that any man here as governor has not embarrassed himself or caused to feel that it is necessary to take additional steps of questions arising in connection with any official duty as chief executive of the state.

MAJIBON, Wis., Aug. 2.—Wisconsin's national guard will not take part in national defense day, September 12, it was announced here today.

In an order issued by direction of Governor John J. Blaine, Adjutant General Ralph Emmett today declared the governor feels that a test of non-partisanship is indicated in the Wisconsin national guard will "take part only on the call of the president of the United States based in a presidential emergency."

Blaine's statement "contains the defense text indicative because it would 'stimulate a national military movement' and it would be 'unworthy for America to hold a demonstration that would lead to increased power to take additional steps of questions arising in connection with any official duty as chief executive of the state.'"

The Wisconsin chief executive further attacked the mobilization scheme on grounds of inopportune timing, said Governor Charles W. Bryan, Schenck, democratic vice presidential candidate, in his statement. The Wisconsin chief executive is a close friend and political ally of Senator Robert M. La Follette.

Text of Statement Governor Blaine's statement follows in part: "It is the opinion of the governor that at a time when all people of the

DE ROEP DECLARES HIS WIFE RIGHT IN CHERUBY PHASE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—Walter de Ropp, 40, a young actor, today brought his divorce suit against Mrs. de Ropp, 32, to court, charging that she had been unfaithful to him.

"She's right," de Ropp said today. "I have been a pretty poor husband. The terribly sorry thing about it is that Mrs. de Ropp is the sweetest angel that ever lived."

The couple were married March 12, 1919, and it was soon after the ceremony that de Ropp found his wife making his wife happy, he said.

"So she asked me to divorce her husband," de Ropp said.

The couple have a daughter, who is residing with her mother, by mutual agreement.

Mrs. de Ropp charges her husband with being rude in his past years and with being late in the payment of her home and before getting the bill was filed yesterday. No mention was made of alimony. A divorce judgment is expected to be made out of court.

CRIMINAL COURTROOM, CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe today failed for a second time, to force the mental condition of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, before a jury.

While cross examining Dr. William A. White, an alienist who appeared in defense of the millionaire youths who murdered Robert Frank, 14 year old school boy, Crowe attempted to get the witness to state whether in his opinion the boys were insane.

The defense objected to this question and was sustained by Chief Justice John R. Caverly.

Crowe Asserts White Changes His Expert View

State's Attorney Avers That Famous Alienist at First Declared Boys Insane and Later Altered His Statement When They Entered Guilty Plea.

Failure in this direct attempt, Crowe tried by various subtle questions to force Dr. White across the line into "partial responsibility" to the question of insanity. Each time he was rebuffed.

Crowe's contention was that a question must be asked by a jury.

Crowe scored, however, when he considered a successful attack upon the credibility of the defense alienist when his demand for Dr. White's original report on Leopold and Loeb was refused by the defense.

Crowe declared that Dr. White in his first report found Leopold and Loeb insane, but when the defense changed his mind and pleaded the boys guilty, this giving up insanity as a defense, the doctor quite conveniently changed his conclusion for the purpose of aiding the defense cause.

Born Opposition Is Quiet; Talk of Fusion of Democrats and Progressives Still Continues; Klan Issue Confuses Gem State Politics.

H. A. LAWRENCE (Editor Capital News) Boise, Idaho, Aug. 2.—Idaho's county-wide primary election will be held in the "K" counties of the state next Tuesday, August 5, when the respective political parties, republican, democratic and progressive, will elect delegates to their respective county conventions, presided over by county officers.

In these counties the republicans have filed their candidates for the legislature and for city offices. In those counties the democrats have filed their candidates for the legislature and for city offices. In those counties the progressives have made their appearance in the shape of candidates. Each party has the privilege of writing in the names of nominees on the ballot on which no names appear. This will be done extensively by the progressives.

It is the opinion of the governor that at a time when all people of the Conference in London Falls to Settle Controversy About Limits of Divisions in Emerald Isle; Congress Goes Home.

LONDON, Aug. 2.—The 17th conference attempting to solve the border dispute between Great Britain and the Irish Free state, adjourned today without reaching a decision.

An adjournment was given out and it was obvious the conference were dissatisfied.

The government, it was forecast, will bring legislation designed to settle the argument by treaty early next week and the fate of the MacDonnell cabinet may hang in the balance.

The prime minister, who was able to attend only a part of today's meeting because of the "plenary" session of the allied conference, obviously was worried. He said he probably will make an additional statement on the Irish question in the house of commons Monday.

President Cosgrave of the Irish Free State, who was here for the meeting, indicated he will return to Dublin tonight and did not say when he intends to return.

Lone Flyer En Route to American Shores

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 2.—A lone flyer, a biplane, was seen today after becoming separated from his flying mates in a fog 25 miles out of Houston bay, off Kiskaal, commander of the fleet, and Lieutenant Leigh Wade decided to return to Houston bay when they lost Nelson in the mist which hung over the north Atlantic.

The commander and Wade now are at Kiskaal, where they are being cared for. They lay in their landing bunks.

HOT DOG VENDER AWAITING TORONTO POLICE OFFICERS

RAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—Charles A. Matthews, Jr., who fled from a $50,000 government bond scandal, and became a "hot dog" vendor in Santa Clara, told all about himself at Alameda Immigration station today.

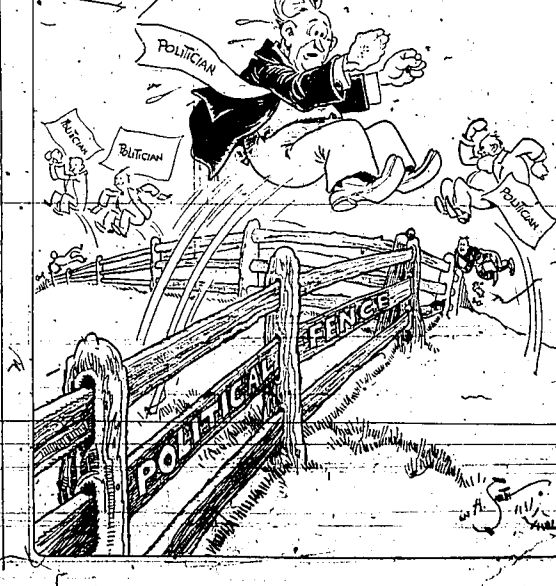

"I arrived in Santa Clara a month ago," Matthews said, "and bought a half interest in a lunch wagon from Ed Bennett. I learned to handle a hot dog make an expert and was getting along fine, enjoying life, taking care of my family and making the best of my misfortune."

"Then Bennett, who was a detective at one time, got suspicious at some remarks I made about not liking the police, and tipped me out to the authorities. I tried to bluff it through but they had the goods."

Matthews has shown no trepidation in being brought out to go back and "face the music."

"It had to come sooner or later, I guess. But here I am, sitting in jail, with the erstwhile fugitive in a bronzed and healthy looking and appears little worried."

MAGEE'S EDITORIAL

Carl C. Magee's editorial, published just prior to his last appearance before Judge Leahy, follows in part:

"Next Tuesday I must face Judge Leahy in the district court in the Kingdom of St. Miguel. I have just the same chance with Judge Leahy that a lamb has with a butcher."

"Leahy's court is a court. It's a slaughter house. I doubt whether a case, civil or criminal, has been decided there on its merits in ten years. If I stand mute, I go to jail pronto. If I make motions, and make a record on which to appeal, it piles up costs that I cannot afford to pay."

"When I attack Leahy my enemies accuse me of attacking the courts. But I'm not. I realize that courts are necessary, that they must be respected. Courts are at the very foundations of our liberties. But I haven't any respect for Leahy's court and I refuse to pretend that I have."

"If the time ever comes that I can get Leahy on an equal footing with me in an honest court, I'll take him to the worst cleaning man ever received."

"About once every two weeks for a year I have accused him of being a corrupt judge in the hope that I could inveigle him into suing me for libel. Then I'd have him down in the hour of the court with someone else on the bench and a jury in the box. Then the people would have a chance to know what Leahy really is. But he won't meet me on an equal footing."

"Leahy refuses to give place to another judge in my cases. He refused to give me a change of venue. He brazenly sat as the judge of his own corruption and decided that he wasn't corrupt and that I was a dangerous maligner of the courts. A year in jail and a $4000 fine was his idea of what was due me."

"The man is insane with rage. His inability to control his emotions adds to his fury. What reaches me that my life would be sacrificed with Leahy's gang down there, that's a part of the setting of the atmosphere they prepare for me. I'm to be properly frightened before I go as a means of breaking my will. All of which is perfectly childish and wholly ineffectual with a man who feels that a great principle is at stake."

WHY NOT PROTECT OUR HERITAGE?

For the past week thousands of trout have been dying in the muddy waters of the Magic dam reservoir on the Wood river. Within a very short time it is likely that there will be very few fish remaining in that reservoir.

Because of the water shortage this year the dam has contained very much less than normal, and there remains only the small natural flow, spread out over an enlarged area. As a result there is a vast field of slimy mud covered partially by rotly water, affording filthy and inadequate refuge for the many piscatorial denizens. Thousands of them have died and been washed up along the banks, and so many more have starved and drifted down to the head-gates, where they have been scummed out by the dam tender.

While we appreciate the fact that water is surely needed for irrigation purposes, there appears not the slightest excuse for the wanton depletion of trout in the Magic reservoir. Some water had been spared, and the trout saved, over this special period.

While a game warden was present to see that nobody violated the game laws, little provision had been made for saving the fish. Their destruction was taken as a matter of fact.

Sportsmen of Idaho contribute almost a half-million dollars annually through the purchase of licenses, and this money should be utilized for the preservation of fish and game. It is useless to construct fish hatcheries, and then permit the deliberate slaughter of the finny tribe as is being done at Magic dam.

Idaho's wonderful outdoors and abundant supply of fish and game are one of its greatest assets. Deficient methods of propagation and indifference will result in this heritage being lost to posterity.

Funds are available for this important work, and judicious supervision must be required. If existing agencies do not function properly, it is essential that action be taken at once by the sportsmen of this commonwealth.

The Izak Walton League of America, through some concerted action in the last two years has accomplished veritable miracles in the preservation of outdoor America, and the organization of an Idaho division of the league would add stimulus to this work in this state.

Must we delay until it is too late? Now is the opportune time to act!—Burley Bulletin.

The condition complained of would seem to flow naturally from the condition of political influence in the fish and game department, against which sportsmen have been protesting during the present and past state administrations. The action of the state meeting in Boise last week is certainly timely, if it should eventually make the politicians sit up and take notice that they should pay more attention to preserving the game than to conserving the political fortunes of the administration.

GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, Aug. 2 - The feature in today's sharply higher wheat and grain futures was the accession into new high ground of all corn deliverables. The advance was 2 1/2c for September, 4c for December and 3 1/2c for May.

Wheat was extremely bullish, heavy buying of a strong market,
based on unfavorable crop news.
That followed other grains to a higher close.

Reaction in hogs and some inquiry caused a sharply higher provision close.

Start's Strange Rotation
The sun does not rotate like a solid body, all parts of which move together. About near the equator completes a rotation in 25 days so long in about 25 days, while one at 45 latitude takes about two and a half days longer to return to the central meridian. Hence the poles - the rotation period is still longer. - George Eaton in "Sun-spots as Magnets."
