

Villain Describes Part in Blackmail Escapade Being Heard in London

STORY BECOMES MORE STARTLING

Eastern Potentate Lived Constantly in Dread of Exposure.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—A suave, immaculate villain from a metropolis of real life held the spotlight in Justice Darling's crowded court today, and told dispassionately of the plotting of an Indian rajah and the division of the spoils.

The bedroom scene, climax of the sensational affair, was described in detail by Monaghan Newman, who played the role of injured husband, and was clawed and scratched roughly by the false blonde Indian princess who had lured him to his place. "Mr. A" in a compromising position in a Paris hotel.

Now, with the courtroom spectators and the jury, bearing in his every word, reared to enjoy the situation. Described as one of the most successful financiers, he told not only of how he and two of the conspirators divided a major portion of the spoils, but also of how he and his wife, had been the victim of a blackmail scheme. The latter, Charles Robinson, a bookmaker, now is suing the Middle East bank of London, the Standard bank, and William Hobbs made away with the major part of the money paid by the Indian potentate to keep the affair secret.

So terrified of publicity was the rajah, who was known as "your highness" that he gave a trustworthy aide-de-camp, who was in on the plot, two blank checks. These later were filled in for $750,000 each. Payment was made in three installments.

Robinson, the husband of Mrs. Robinson who was "surprised" in bed with her dusky auditor, finally accepted $250,000 a day and a large amount was given his wife and a companion, Mrs. Bevan.

Newton, Hobbs and the aide-de-camp took nearly $250,000 each, their share.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—"The amazing thing about this affair is that Mr. A, despite his high position in the world, was reduced to such a state of opium and fear that he was unable to check book and find that his name capable of being filled in for any amount."

John Slown, counsel for the Middle East bank of London, in a suit for $250,000 brought by Charles S. Robinson, a bookmaker, made this statement when the case was resumed today.

Further light upon the distinguished position in world affairs held by the potentate who was caught in a Paris hotel with Robinson's wife and paid $750,000 to avoid exposure, was thrown by the distinguished counsel, when he said:

"Mr. A was an object of admiration and only whiffers he went and was called 'your highness' when abroad."

The identity of the rajah is being concealed for reasons of state, although everybody in London by this time is familiar with his proper name and title.

Interest seemed to center in the possibility of further details of Mrs. Robinson's adventures with the rajah coming to light. Her husband's suit against the bank is based on the fact that William Hobbs, a lawyer, who has been on trial here for the murder of Edward Rothery, ruled performer, was found guilty by a jury in district court, last night. Rothery was killed during the robbery of the train at the station last August. Rothery pleaded self-defense.

EGYPT VOICES OBJECTION TO BRITISH ACTION

Country's Difficulties With England Told in Note to League; Members of Geneva Body to Be Notified.

GENEVA, Nov. 26.—The secretary of the league of nations today received a protest from Egypt, regarding that country's difficulties with England arising out of the latter's demands following the assassination of Sir Lee Stack.

The protest will be communicated immediately to all nations which are members of the league.

The Egyptian protest was signed by Ahmed Mazlouf, president of the chamber of deputies, which was pronounced last month.

It is impossible for that body to take up the protest unless some member officially calls it to the council's attention.

Meanwhile Ahmed Mazlouf is also sending the protest to every member, hoping of finding one to bring the Anglo-Egyptian dispute before the council.

CAIRO, Nov. 26.—Zikwar Pasha, new premier of Egypt, promised to reach an agreement with England and reject foreign aid.

The situation in Cairo was quiet and complete order was everywhere observed. The adjournment of the Egyptian parliament was for the purpose of giving Zikwar Pasha an opportunity to work out a program and to reject the British high commission's plan to give the new premier time in which to comply with qualified demands in the recent ultimatum.

"Our task is most difficult," Zikwar Pasha said, after a cabinet meeting, "that we have decided to sacrifice our tranquility in the service of our king and country."

"Forciveness have nothing to fear. They will be protected. The government is resolved to maintain order. We are sufficiently strong to do so, and will do our duty."

Prosecution Says Firm Bought and Paid for Government Contracts in the Opening Statement to Federal Jury.

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—The contract of the firm of Thompson and Hall bought and paid for its government contracts, for erection of veterans' hospitals, Assistant Attorney General John W. H. Cline today charged in his opening statement to the federal grand jury trying Charles H. Forbes, former veterans' bureau director, and John W. Thompson, for defrauding the government.

Cline said that he expects to prove in the course of the trial that Forbes, and John W. Thompson, "intimate friend, accomplice and co-conspirator," of Forbes, had appropriated of the government, had expected to divert to themselves $1,000,000 of the $17,000,000 appropriated for erection of the hospitals.

Cline declared the first bribes were paid to Forbes by John W. Thompson, St. Louis, one of the members of the contracting firm, in Chicago, on June 17, 1922, when Forbes was advanced $250,000 and Mortimer was given a like amount, "for which no arrangements had ever been made for payment."

Cline reviewed the indictment and declared the conspiracy "to sell the contract," was formed while the Jangley bill, which provided for the erection of the hospitals was still pending in congress.

Mortimer is not a defendant in the case and his testimony as a government witness will be used to prove Cline's accusation and the indictment, the assistant attorney general indicated.

Cline said that Mortimer and Forbes looked the field over carefully and rejected the St. Louis firm as the most likely to be in the market for purchase of the hospital contracts, inasmuch as they were the largest building construction firm in seven leading cities of the country.

Through their company plans Mortimer and Forbes were to divide 35 per cent of the contracting firm's profits, Cline charged.

When Cline finished James S. D. Leahy-Smith, counsel for Forbes, began his opening argument in which he charged Mortimer was a government witness and that the charges against his client are false.

Smith said he would prove that three overt acts charged in the indictment were only "innocent transactions."

Cause for Thanks

Sum up the things that you really possess. And you'll find that you're living in wealth. Think of the good things that offset the stress. And consider your friends and your health. The troubles that come, and we all have our share. Make the good things in life even greater. We realize that when we stop to compare. There are tough breaks, but good ones come later.

Misfortune may visit you once in a while. But the question is, how do you take it? The wrong way's to grumble; the right way's to smile; After all, life is just what you make it. If conscience is clear and your soul is awake. And you ever keep good thoughts in store; If you're living and doing for other folk's sake, You have much to be thankful for.

CHAPLIN WENDS WAY BACK HOME AFTER MARRIAGE

Comedy King Returning From Quaint Seaport Village Where He Was Joined in Wedlock.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Nov. 26.—Charles Spencer Chaplin, the English-born comedian, and his Spanish bride, Lita Grey, married in a quaint seaport town of Old Mexico, were due back on American soil today and all Hollywood awaited their return.

Speeding north in a special car attached to a train which left Guaymas, Sonora, last night, the wedding party in a private automobile have the place a couple can go to be married in secret, if the world is interested.

In the eyes of the dark lady of love there was something which held the comedian and which made him build out the dream of his life in the exclusive Hollywood villa.

All of Chaplin's former sweethearts joined today in wishing him "congratulations." Down the list, from Mildred Harris, who was Mrs. Chaplin for a few years, on through Miss Collins, Lita Grey, and Miss Warner, and Miss Neely, each expressed the hope that the play boy has found happiness at last.

The "old rascal," was Douglas Fairbanks' comment. "Why did he have to run off and get married in a place like that? He's never been so happy as when he was here with us, but now you never can tell about Chaplin."

The story of the winner in the Chaplin romance is that he is now like the tale of Cinderella. Almost unknown on the scene, Lita Grey has become the most popular girl in an early one of Chaplin's, in which she played a humble character.

Then came the chance for the tale of his love life, for which she was picked, vice Edna Purviance, when Miss Purviance attended an unfortunate dress party almost a year ago.

Sheatsly Youth Gives Version of Cremation Story

CANTON, Ohio, Nov. 26.—Declaring that he was tired of reading in the papers of his reluctance to talk, Clarence Sheatsly, 16, son of Mrs. Addie Sheatsly, Columbus, turned over to the court today a written statement of his version of the finding of his mother's body in the Lutheran parsonage furnace.

"When I entered the cellar," Clarence said, "I saw ashes strewn about the floor and I just cleaned them up. I saw the door open and I opened the door to see what was wrong."

"After I went on the bed in my room awhile I went out and joined some of the boys of the football field. I made me sick to think of what I had seen and I tried to forget."

"When I came home at 6:30 (father met me at the door) and I saw the door open and I opened the door to see what was wrong."

"I saw a dark form. I thought it might be mother and I closed the door and went up stairs. I didn't want to believe it was mother, but I was afraid it was."

SOLUTION OF DEATH WAITS REPORTS OF SCIENTISTS

Prosecutor Feels That Investigation Is at Standstill in Sheatsly Case; Experts Are Hard at Work in Effort to Reach Conclusion.

COLUMBIUS, Ohio, Nov. 26.—John E. Kime, county prosecutor in charge of investigating the death of Mrs. Addie Sheatsly today predicted that he will be able to accomplish nothing further toward a solution of the burning furnace case until reports from the scientists regarding Mrs. Sheatsly's organs and blood stains found at the parsonage, have completed their tests and drawn their conclusions.

The prosecutor issued a formal statement declaring that until the scientific report, the investigation is virtually at a standstill and indicating that he may not even further question Rev. C. V. Sheatsly, husband of the woman whose charred body was found in the parsonage furnace.

COLUMBIUS, Ohio, Nov. 26.—Discrepancies in the stories of Rev. C. V. Sheatsly and his four children, who claim to have been in the parsonage at the time of the burning, are being investigated by the county prosecutor.

VALENTINO BACK IN "A SAINTED DEVIL"

First it was Valentino in Booth Tarkenton's "Monsieur Bonaparte." Now it's Rev. Leach's "A Sainted Devil," adapted from the author's amazing serial, "Jones Kid" by Forrest Halsey.

The same production staff that made "Monsieur Bonaparte" made this one, and made it even better. The same production staff that made "Monsieur Bonaparte" made this one, and made it even better.

"A Sainted Devil" is a romance of South America—a story of Don Alonzo Castro (Valentino) and Julietta, his courtly trained wife, played by Helen Hayes, who is stolen from him by bandits at the outset of the production on their wedding night.

The star has the role of a handsome young playboy who becomes the father of the neighborhood, making friends with none, always waiting for his "day" when he'll even up the score with the bandit who has deceived him of the one he loved best in the world.

It's a great story this best Valentino production to date by far. Nita Naldi, Lorraine Lagrange, Doreen Delaney, George Toland and others play in support of the star. You haven't seen "A Sainted Devil" in wonderland for constipation. I have often worked in one hour and never again. Fisher Drug Co."

WHY TWIN FALLS SHOULD GIVE THANKS

At this season of the year it is worth while to turn from our regular vocations and ask ourselves whether we have something for which we should return thanks. As we cast our eye back over the years which Twin Falls has written since a year ago there is every reason we believe for thanksgiving. Just to help those of us who have forgotten some of the things which have come our way in the past year allow us to refresh your memory along this line.

First, and perhaps most important, the Rogerson-Wells railroad has been started and practically graded and ready for the rails all the way to Contact and we are assured that this road will be in operation to Wells by July of next year. This is a dream of the residents of this part of Idaho for the past fifteen years and now it bids fair to be realized.

The big dam at American Falls has been assured and the bids are now being advertised. This wonderful project will give a great deal more stability to our irrigation system than heretofore and will also bring under cultivation much arid land in southern Idaho. These two projects alone should be sufficient evidence for giving of lasting thanks and yet the story is just begun.

Then again the enormous crops and livestock production in this county during the past year perhaps amount to about $12,000,000. This production has swelled our bank clearings to a higher level than they have been since the World War and business generally has gone ahead by leaps and bounds during the year which is rapidly drawing to a close.

Mortgages and debts of every description are being wiped out and there never has been such a tremendous liquidation in the history of Twin Falls county. We would not try to make people who live across the boundary line of our state believe that our business and financial conditions are back to normal at this date, because they are not, but these conditions are rapidly righting themselves and we are convinced that prospects are the best now that they have been here for a number of years. Business men tell us that the volume of business has been very encouraging and the signs of the times point to greatly improved business in every line. Real estate has been moving rapidly in this city and county during the past six months. Many new families have come to our tract and every condition points to progress and improvement.

But best of all the spirit of the people is changing for the better and this spirit is much more hopeful than it has been for the past two or three years. We are great believers in the attitude our citizens generally take toward a community when you come to figure on its future. If that attitude is forward looking and the future is full of hope, then nothing short of disaster or famine can prevent that community from going ahead at a rapid pace. We believe firmly that dwellers on the Twin Falls tract have set their faces steadily toward the rising sun and the success of this tract and this part of Idaho is firmly fixed.

Beyond a reasonable doubt we are standing on the brink of an era of progress and prosperity unprecedented in the history of the Twin Falls tract and the promiser land is just ahead and if we will we can enter that Garden of Eden and partake of the fruits of the vine and the fig tree.

HORN OF PLENTY

Red Letter Days like Thanksgiving may lose some of their thrill and glamor as we grow older. But it is a comfort to know that there's always a rising generation to whom Thanksgiving is an event of importance not far behind Santa Claus.

Originally when the pioneers were wearing knee breeches and shooting turkeys with blunderbusses Thanksgiving was a solemn occasion—a day for thanks that Providence had blessed with abundant crops to preserve them from starvation.

No longer are people grateful for necessities. Thanks are raised only if the horn of plenty disgorges luxuries. One reason is that, while we have business depressions, we no longer have, for contrast, hard times as they thought of hard times in 1873.

The pinch is not as tight, even at its worst. Largely it's a matter of thoughtlessness. If we pause to ponder our material prosperity, unprecedented in any other country or any previous civilization in mankind's long history, we realize that we have reasons galore for thanks. If the early pioneers had had our brand of prosperity, our standard of living, they'd have thought they were passed on to the Promised Land.

America as we have it was born of hardship and human sacrifices. We are the Chosen People. Bring on the turkey—or must it be a bird of paradise before we admit gratitude?

"What—what did you say, Oliver?" asked the sailor.

WARRANTS ARE MUCH REDUCED IN TWIN FALLS

City Debt Grossly Smaller Rapidly Several Delinquent Taxes Will Be Cut Off Covered Drain Pipe Is Permitted.

A reduction of $2500 a month, of $45,000 was made in the amount of warrants of the city, which were $100,000 at the beginning of the administration and are now only $45,000, according to the report of City Clerk James L. New, submitted to the city commission in the time of a session of the city commission Monday evening which took steps to ward eliminating certain delinquent taxes, gave A. M. Sande a permit to put in a drain pit and referred several complaints about spraying charges where it was alleged by complainants that they had no trees to spray.

The report of the city clerk which is published elsewhere in the Times today shows a satisfactory condition of the city financial affairs.

The question of occupational taxes, which has been discussed for some time was extended last evening. It was pointed out that the city has no special law, and that any more than any other line of business either in the form of police guards or extra fire protection except such as is provided for by law at their own expense. The reason existing in other cities for this sort of license was said to be that the city was not allowed to collect such license and plumbers' license. These cases were discussed and it was decided that no such license should be collected by the city. A. M. Sande was ordered to draft repeal ordinances in these cases.

Miss Katherine and Julia Hines and M. F. Hinson presented payment for spraying certain trees which they alleged they have not. The matter was referred.

Mr. Sande appeared in behalf of the Twin Falls Feet & Ice company in regard to the corrected drain. Others on the petition were Simpson brothers, M. C. Hink, L. J. Brockendrick and C. G. Hinson.

DEATH CALLS PIECE OF SOUTH IDAHO

James Fitzgerald, Leading Citizen of Piler and Twin Falls, Passes Away at Mayo Hospital Where He Went for Treatment for Cancer; Was Active in Educational and Political Lines

James Fitzgerald, prominent pioneer citizen of the Twin Falls county and one of its most active citizens in social affairs and political matters, died last night at the Mayo hospital in Rochester, Minn., from peritonitis which developed following a second operation for cancer, on Nov. 18. The only daughter, Mrs. O. J. Childs, of Piler, with him and will return with the body, after which funeral arrangements will be made. James Fitzgerald was born 60 years ago near Watertown, New York. He graduated from the Princeton normal school in 1887 and remained there some years near Watertown. Later he came to the west and married Miss Clara M. Nelson of Portland, who passed away in this city last March. He taught in Spokane and Dayton, Wash., for a number of years and 10 years ago came to the Twin Falls tract, taking up a Carey act claim near Piler. He served several years on the Piler school board and in 1916 moved to Twin Falls, where he also served on the school board of independent district No. 1. He founded the Fitzgerald Motor company of this city. He never recovered from the effects of the sudden death of his wife last spring.

On the development of cancer he went to the Mayo hospital where the first operation was performed October 24, and the second November 18. Mr. Fitzgerald was a man of wide reading, of unimpeachable honesty, and of undoubted public spirit. He always struggled to forward the interests of the community, especially along educational lines. He was a democrat in politics and took a keen interest in political matters.

SACK REGULATION FOR SHIPPING IS GIVEN TO PUBLIC

For the information of growers and shippers, it will be well to direct their attention to the recent ruling in regard to the use of second hand sacks for shipment of produce to California, said Edgar J. Gilson, local cultural and food producer inspector, last evening. He added: "Inasmuch as the government records show that 1923 carlot shipments to Los Angeles alone, from Idaho, were 1925 cars, we can get some idea of the extent their guarantee regulations may have on our shippers."

"Cannibalizer" means has ruled on the use of second hand sacks as follows: "Practically clean second hand sacks, unpatched, not deteriorated in strength may be used. Also sacks having small holes in them may be used, if the holes are neatly sewed up. Sacks that have been used before in past years, may be used again if turned, shaken, and laundered; provided they meet the other requirements as to strength, freedom from holes and excessive stains."

"As the price of new sacks is advancing, the use of second hand sacks, will mean in some cases, quite a saving, for the sack can be prepared for use at no expense of from 2 to 3 cents apiece."

"However, Twin Falls and west end shippers considering the use of such sacks, should get in touch with the inspector, in order that no misunderstanding may arise as to the use of the same."

"Of course, all sacks used for shipment to guarantee districts, must be kept away and free from contamination with other vegetables, hay, or cereal straw."
