BURLEY JURY FINDS FARMER WAS SLAIN ON HIS ROAD HOME

BODY OF IDAHO MAN FOUND IN DRIFTED SNOW

Sidney Cochran, of Hoglar, Falls to Return from a Visit to Neighbor; Hunt Produces Gypsies Find.

BURLEY, Jan. 5.—A jury was the verdict of the coroner's jury Saturday in the case of Sidney K. Cochran, 48, of Hoglar, who was found lying in the drifted snow Sunday. According to the jury Cochran was killed by a bullet instrument at the hands of an unknown assailant. It was at first thought that he had been thrown from a horse, but discovery of the dead man's hat and coat more than a mile from the spot where the body was found, dispelled this theory.

Cochran's body was found about three-fourths of a mile from a neighborly house in a lonely canyon rarely visited by human beings. It had lain there for several days, or ever since the afternoon of New Year's day.

The Cassia county sheriff office is working on several clues but refuses to give out information until someone can give definite information upon which a case can be built. Whether or not Cochran had any enemies who might try to seek vengeance upon him when the opportunity presented itself is unknown. He was a bachelor and had no relatives in the county. He was a little settlement in the town of Burley, and was a member of the local church. He was a well-to-do man and was well known in the community. The coroner's jury was composed of Attorney C. W. Thomas, Ralph Smith, court reporter, Dr. C. S. Rice, local physician, and L. B. Callaghan, coroner.

BURLEY, Jan. 5.—Lying for more than 24 hours in the snow where he had evidently been left from his horse, Sidney E. Cochran of Hoglar was found in death last Sunday.

Cochran, it appears, had gone to the home of a neighbor on the morning of December 31 and did not return until 4 p. m. of that day when he got onto his saddle horse, which was quite treacherous and fell for him. Nothing more was heard of him, as he was a bachelor and lived alone, the neighbors surmising that he had returned safely to his home. Later, on New Year's his horse had wandered to the neighborly home and they, becoming alarmed because it was still saddled, went to hunt for Mr. Cochran, who they found lying dead in the snow near his home where it is thought the body was found.

WAGON DRIVERS WANT INCREASE

Men Go on Strike, Asking Wage Boost; Suffering Expected.

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—Inter-city suffering was feared as 3000 coal wagon drivers went on strike today for higher wages and better working conditions.

The public schools have a reserve of 2000 tons of coal which will last about two weeks. If the strike lasts longer than two weeks the schools will be forced to send classes, officials said.

There are many thousands of homes with only a few days' supply on hand, coal dealers stated, and in some homes there is only 24 hours' supply. Drivers worked overtime during the past few days in an effort to furnish sufficient coal to the schools, public buildings and homes to tide them over the strike period.

The present wage is 70 cents an hour. The strikers first asked for $2 a day raise and a clause exempting them from carrying the coal to delivery points. The final demand was an increase of 31 cents an hour.

The strikers simply cannot afford to meet the money demanded. A Frank O'Brien, president of the Chicago Coal Merchants' association which includes the 400 coal yards involved, stated today that the strike was a surprise to me as the negotiations were still going on when the strike was announced.

A meeting of coal officials will also be held at the same time and officials hope that an agreement will be reached before the situation becomes aggravated.

ROME STREETS PATROLLED BY ARMED TROOPS

Militia With Machine Guns Placed on Guard in Italian Metropolis; Situation Described as Outwardly Quiet Today.

ROME, Jan. 5.—MILITIA equipped with machine guns patrolled the streets of Rome today in the 48-hour dead line, during which in a dramatic threat made in the chamber of deputies last night, Mussolini promised to "clear up" the whole situation, only to a close.

"There is no doubt that Mussolini has all Italy guessing. All day yesterday, troops equipped in the full regalia of war marched through the principal streets and guarded railway stations.

Despite this, the situation was outwardly quiet, although innumerable forecasts of drastic measures were uttered.

No newspaper appeared yesterday on this morning and because of this Mussolini was able to maneuver without disturbing public tranquillity by the announcement of sensational news.

Ex-Premier Giolitti remained in Rome after adjournment of the chamber Saturday and feeling favorable to the veteran politician will help Mussolini in his crisis, together with former ministers Orlando and Balanda.

The resignations of Sarrochi and Casati came in reply to a second letter the men resigned under protest. (Continued on page 3)

GILLIS, OF TWIN FALLS COUNTY, ELECTED SPEAKER OF HOUSE AT OPENING LEGISLATIVE SESSION

Local Man Thanks House for His Election to Prominent Position; Pledges Impartiality and Best Service; Cassia County Legislator Chosen President Pro Tem of Senate.

BOISE, Idaho, Jan. 5.—W. D. Gillis, of Twin Falls county, was elected speaker of the house of representatives and John McMurray, of Cassia county, president pro tem of the senate, in the organization meetings of the two houses of Idaho's eighteenth legislature which immediately followed inauguration ceremonies Monday.

In the senate, no candidates were presented by democrats or progressives, all joining in making the election of Mr. McMurray unanimous.

R. W. Katerndahl, of Clark county, placed the name of the republican choice for speaker in nomination. He spoke briefly, expressing the belief that Mr. Gillis possessed in large measure the three predominant qualities of a presiding officer, honesty, fairness and experience. C. B. Moody of Jefferson county, former adjutant general, nominated the progressive candidate, Linka Williams of Minidoka county. Robert Goulter of Valley, democratic leader, was nominated by J. P. Boyle of Ouster.

The vote was strictly party lines, resulting in 45 votes for Gillis, 32 for Williams and five for Goulter.

Speaker Gillis, escorted by the chief by the minority leaders, briefly thanked the house for the honor of his election, pledged his best service and abject impartiality, and expressed his desire that the governor's request for a short legislative session be carried out, not so much for achieving a degree of economy as to insure properly careful consideration of all legislation.

Caucus convened. When the republican caucus convened Sunday night, a permanent chairman and secretary were selected and then John Sarnoff of Gooding county, considered a possibility for the speakership, filed the nomination. (Continued on page 3)

War Damage Question Is Still Deadlocked, Claim

PARIS, Jan. 5.—The question of whether the United States shall be reimbursed for war damages under the Dawes plan remained deadlocked today, on the eve of the meeting of the committee on reparations, the United States learned.

Secretary of State Hughes is understood to have replied to a second British note, outlining America's position, which is that the matter is open for arbitration.

The British oppose in principle America's claim to have the Dawes payments, and Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, in the Baldwin cabinet, is expected to debate the matter at Wednesday's meeting.

A proposal for a compromise settlement is said to have been sent to London by Colonel James A. Logan, before Churchill's departure.

The United States not only does not want the justice of the claims to abate the reparations payments arbitrated, but will vigorously protest if on the other hand the debate is raised at the reparations conference.

Brooklyn Club Has Good Prospects for Coming Season; Record of Last Year Is Sensational in the Extreme.

BROOKLYN, Jan. 5.—There are baseball fans with whom it is possible to argue concerning the outcome of the 1925 pennant chase, but none of them live in Brooklyn.

The athletes under the wing of Wilbert Robinson were the champion of the major circuit during the past season. Accrued little chance of attaining a first division berth they surprised all the critics by winning around among the leaders throughout the greater part of the summer, finally giving the Giants the scare of their lives and winding up in second place.

HENRY FORD says we eat too much. He says we don't exercise enough. No one will deny that these are two common faults. Overweight and indigestion are perhaps our most serious physical ailments. POWER REPORT OF CANAL CO. IS PREPARED

Extent of Possible System, the Amount of Electricity That Can Be Generated, Cost of Construction and Cost to Consumer Are Set Forth in Detail by Engineer Berg and Manager Smith.

An elaborate report on the suggested diversion power plant on the Twin Falls canal system has been completed today by Engineer E. Berg under the direction of Manager Burton Smith. It would appear from the report that the canal system now would be insufficient in itself to furnish Twin Falls city along with electrically during winter months, while at the same time the canal would furnish only 2400 horsepower.

On the other hand the report indicates that sufficient electricity could be generated during the winter to provide for farm household uses and that in the summer the amount of power could be provided for pumping in addition to farm uses. The following synopsis of the report was prepared today by Mr. Berg and approved by Manager Smith.

At diversion of low canal in Section 27, T. 11 S., R. 18 E. There has been developed at the present time a maximum of 11,250 H. P. and a minimum of 2,400 H. P. The cost of the plant at this point is $628,000.

In order to distribute the power to the various points on the canal system, a transmission system would be installed. Assuming that seven power distribution districts are formed, the cost of the transmission system would be $110,550. Assuming that seven power distribution districts are formed, the cost of the transmission system would be $110,550.

The yearly cost of operation and maintenance, including interest and depreciation, would be nearly $100,000. In order to distribute power to some 500 possible rural users would require 500 miles of low tension power lines. The cost of this would be $320,000.

It would be noted that the minimum or winter output of this plant is only 2400 H. P. The maximum output is 11,250 H. P. The cost of the plant is $628,000.

PHEASANTS LACK FOOD DUE TO SNOW AND FROST

The recent cold weather and deep snow have made it almost impossible for the pheasants to find food on the Minkola tract, according to H. V. Croston, secretary of the local game association and manager of the tract, and help has been asked for feeding grain to the birds.

The game department has promised to furnish grain to the pheasants, equal in amount to the funds raised locally for that purpose. Ducks have arrived, large flocks and are said to be suffering also from the prolonged cold weather.

While that condition does not exist on the Twin Falls tract, it is said the bottoms of straw stacks in the Hovey tract are being trampled alive with pheasants, the ice-covered fields making it impossible for them to dig for the corn, etc. Many brave the dangers of the farmers' barnyards in search of food.

Asbes for Sidewalks Being Used by Many Residents of City. Owing to the difficulty of smashing the ice which is transforming so many sidewalks into skating places, over which those without skates must waddle in a undisciplined way, a number are using asbes, by spreading it over the surface. This is especially effective where there is a thaw, as the asbes work down into the ice and form a rough surface. This method of disposing of asbes makes less work for those hauling away debris from the city.
