VANDAL TEAM MEETS O.A.C. HOOP ARTISTS

FILER QUINTETS TO TANGLE WITH LOCALS TUESDAY

Tonight at the high school gymnasium on the Twin Falls Mounds and Filer Wildcats will tangle in a doubleheader of boys' and girls' basketball. The two local institutions are meeting in what is expected to be an evening full to the brim of good basketball.

Both Filer and Twin Falls are undefeated so far this year. Twin Falls has beaten Kimberly and Paul, while Filer romped on Kimberly and Gooding. Both teams are in close competitive scores that left no room for doubt.

In Shoshoni and Atkins the Vandals have won their first two games. They are now in the lead in the conference. The team is made up of three boys who ran away with the title last year and two freshmen. The two seniors are not quite as good as the others, but they did enough on that first try to show what sort of work they can do. It is felt that they will be able to play during 1925.

The Angles have an experienced lineup back and this year, last year, the team has been playing out as one of the most consistent and valuable performers in Pacific Coast basketball. Playing close to home, the Angles have won all but one midwest forward. Pete is fast and his stocky team mate a close second for whatever honors there are. The Angles are now strong, both offensively and defensively. It is worth becoming interested in them for their increasing to increasing its precision, and machine-like effectiveness.

Nevia, Kelly and Marin all played well in the first game. The Angles basket and that they have found their true form. There is still something to be desired in the way of teamwork, but the Angles are improving and their defects are rapidly being overcome under the watchful eye of the long mentor.

Do you refuse to hazard a guess as to Tuesday's victor. The teams are so evenly matched judging by their records so far that such a prediction would be useless.

"Seven o'clock is the time set for the opening whistle.

WALLS BEING CRUSHED.

HERKIMER, Jan. 19.—When Dean Inc., known as the "loony team," took the pupils of St. Paul's cathedral school to the hills at the beginning of the week and defeated the Gonzaga university Bulldogs, 37 to 23, they were not thinking of the financial problem that did the mischievous. The Vandals started the game strong but soon after the first whistle they lagged. The Bulldogs came at the half of the week and defeated the Gonzaga university Bulldogs, 37 to 23.

The Idaho lead was shattered and finally overcome and the Spokaneans went to the fore. The Vandals returned to the hills and the game again挂半 at half time were on the long end of a 21 to 14 score.

The Bulldogs are a bunch of hard fighters and the Vandals are not scoring runs of Eddie Nedros and John Miles, Idaho forwards. These two men split scoring honors with Nedros leading. Nedros was credited with seven field goals and Johnny followed with six. Then, one of them had a bunch of free throws to his credit. The lone remaining basket was hooped by Neal Nelson, center.

WALL LIKE GRAY.

HERKIMER, Jan. 19.—Herman Gratz does not care for his job as a painter. When the walls brought him "mudfaced" in gray, he struck the servant on the chin and knocked him down. The servant got up and burst out laughing. Rumors regarding condition of the cathedral dome, which is slowly crushing the walls, which is slowly crushing the walls,

IDAHO POTATOES BRING RECORD PRICE

Idaho potatoes recently brought the record price on the Chicago market when they sold for $3.70 per hundred pounds. These potatoes were grown in Twin Falls county and show the results of fine packing and growing the proper kind of products in order to top the market. This message which was sent from the Kansas City market to the Chicago Packer states that this is the highest price paid since the war for potatoes. In contrast to this, just ordinary potatoes picked and marketed in the usual way brought only one dollar and twenty-five cents per hundred on the same market.

"What is believed to be the highest price paid for potatoes in Kansas City since war times was secured Monday of this week when Thomas J. Murphy sold a straight carload of Idaho baking potatoes in bushel baskets to the National Produce company at $3.70 per 100 pounds; delivered at Kansas City. There were 600 bushel baskets in the car, half Rurals and half Russells (Netted Gems), and each variety was divided as follows: Half sixty potatoes to the bushel, one-fourth fifties and one-fourth sevens. The potatoes were uniform in size, smooth and attractive.

"The price is more remarkable when the present condition of the potato market is considered. It goes to show says Tommy Murphy, that if potatoes are properly packed and graded there is a demand for them, at a price far above what ordinary stock will bring."

PARDON BY PETITION

We have no doubt that many democrats, progressives, prohibitionists, socialists, and other "ists" and other cogs in other republican gear wheels, will read the Idaho Statesman with greater sympathy since the group of the republican party alluded to as "one of our big political machines" has been given credit, (or debit) for E. R. Dampier as a "big cog."

Why flatter Dampier?

If justice was served in the matter of Dampier's conviction for sending obscene letters through the mails, why didn't the court give him a sentence in keeping with the offense? In our opinion, it should have been heavier, if Justice was served.

The fact is that a lot of serious-minded men believed that in this case Dampier was the victim of political enemies, and had a lot of reasons for thinking so. The fact is also, that a lot of men signed that petition who are not in the state house, are not of the republican faith and as yet, have never been "cogs" in anybody's wheel.

Now, in mitigation, we would explain ourselves thusly: taking as our premise a great truth evolved by Boise's mayor, E. B. Sherman, last Tuesday, when he was hard pressed by the "Inquiring Reporter" of the Capital News. Opening his mouth, the mayor said: "The law shall apply to one person just as it does to another."

That is just the point.

If the Statesmen were an entity in the physical sense and through purely circumstantial evidence had been convicted of violating the eighteenth amendment or Section 2622 or 2606 of Idaho's Compiled Statutes, which make it passe to possess or drink any intoxicating liquor—even on New Year's Eve in a public cafe—we wouldn't hesitate to help out-to a "pardon by petition." The entire state house from the governor down would be very ungrateful if they did not stand by the Statesmen under such conditions.

William C. Redfield recently said, in the Saturday Evening Post, "The printed page reflects the human qualities, the knowledge, the ignorance, the wisdom or the prejudices of the man behind the pen, or, to be quite modern, one should say the man behind the typewriter."

He said a mouthful.

It might also apply to petition signers. All power to the Statesmen as it goes on its way—a power for good. Let's hope that it will never misuse the mails or permit any of its personnel to violate the Statutes or the Constitution, nor even the Eighteenth Amendment, —Idaho Pioneer.

Hi Officer

H. Miller Officer! Hand me your gun. Shake on the good that you're doing. Out in the weather that's waiting, or raw you are for. What's that? It's broken. I'm sorry.

Keeper of peace and director of right, credit is due you from all. Right on the job through the daytime or night, and just as it should be.

For you're a policeman, come to call. Just as it should be. They don't stop to think. Who guards the little ones who come home from school? Just who is the safest here?

There's a problem the world's got to meet, and everyday better we know that you are the man who keeps peace in the street by keeping you a safe guard.

So, Mr. Officer, we go and we stop, according to whatever you know. We want to shout, you're a regular soul, and there's no harm in letting you know.

—Idaho Pioneer.

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I.—Introducing "So Big," Mrs. Nellie McPherson, daughter of fortune. Her life, as young people in Chicago in 1918, has held some surprises, but she has been generally enjoyable. At school she was popular, and her teacher is Augustus Henpeck, butcher. His son, Alvin, is a boy of promise, and Nellie, sixteen years old and already distinguished, becomes a schoolteacher.

CHAPTER II.—Nellie secures a position as teacher at the High Prairie School, a small town in the mountains living at the home of a truck farmer, old son of Klims. Nellie survives a cold winter, and finds her teacher's spirit a lover of beauty, like herself.

Shivering and shuddering though she was, Nellie had set her will against it. "I won't go down," she said to herself, shivering with the cold. "I won't let the world see me in my kitchen stove like n—e—e a peasant in one of those dreary Russian novels.... That sound stuck up and horrid.... The Pools are gods and kind and decent.... I have a godly and kind and decent teacher.... I have a godly and kind and decent teacher.... I have a godly and kind and decent teacher...."

"But I won't dress behind the kitchen stove!" declared Nellie, who had been taught to do so. "I won't let the world see me in my kitchen stove like n—e—e a peasant in one of those dreary Russian novels.... That sound stuck up and horrid.... The Pools are gods and kind and decent.... I have a godly and kind and decent teacher.... I have a godly and kind and decent teacher.... I have a godly and kind and decent teacher...."

"I was trying not to appear pleased to appear stolid and Dutch. Like the people from whom I came, Nellie thought, or, if I'm not mistaken, the Indians prefer to be simple. But there's another called 'The Three Musketeers.'"

"He was trying not to appear pleased to appear stolid and Dutch. Like the people from whom I came, Nellie thought, or, if I'm not mistaken, the Indians prefer to be simple. But there's another called 'The Three Musketeers.'"

Kiwanis Observes Tenth Anniversary

Court of Honor Leader succeeds Thomas M. Robertson. Who Declines to Serve Another Term; Conditions Satisfactory at End of Year; More Troops to Be Organized.

Following the firm and final declination of Thomas M. Robertson to serve another term as court of honor leader, the Falls Boy Scout Council, that body yesterday afternoon selected Ray W. Gardner to take his place. Mr. Gardner is a member of the Falls Boy Scout Council and the Snake River Council. He would have considerable work to do, which will be done, he said, to keep him from devoting as much energy as he should to the presidency.

Passes and others, to accept his offer by his declination.

KIWANIS OBSERVES TENTH ANNIVERSARY

District Trustee Speaks on History of Organizations; Hollister of San Francisco Speaks on Mental Efficiency.

The Twin Falls Kiwanis club observed its tenth anniversary on the anniversary of its organization, an appropriate program.

District Trustee M. G. Bailey spoke briefly on the classification of the organizations and stated that with every man to the same line of business getting together from week to week better co-operation was secured.

The national president of Kiwanis drew away with racial and denominational prejudices. He spoke of the work of the Kiwanis clubs in their cities that's splendid co-operation with the chamber of commerce. Some criticism has been offered on the civic club, but the speaker stated that the club was a prominent member of their Kiwanis club and that he was moved to speak on the subject.

Secretary George Caldwell read a speech written from the Kiwanis club stating that Rev. E. O. Hollister was a prominent member of their Kiwanis club and that he was moved to speak on the subject.

Mr. Hollister, who was a member of the Baptist church and the local club was urged to lend him every assistance as a brother Kiwanian.

Carrie M. Wilson, mental program committee introduced Mr. Hollister of San Francisco as the speaker for the day.

He spoke on the day's topic, "How to Develop Mental Efficiency and How to Develop Success." "Business is brain," said Mr. Hollister. In every city there are two merchants on opposite sides of the street selling the same kind of goods at about the same price, but one succeeds and the other fails. Why? "It is because his brains and the other does not."

Only 8 per cent of the men who enter business succeed. This is very hard to understand. The reason is that we have the same knowledge acquired we would soon become mental geniuses. The average man has less than 5 percent of his acquired knowledge.

He gave a striking example of concentration by placing 40 numbers on the wall and when he was asked what was written after each number as suggested by the members of the club he stated that he had only had time to read each word through the list of forty and some of them were long words. He stated that the more time he spent in deep concentration and any member of the club could do the same after ten hours of training.

Twin Falls will grow in proportion to your co-operation.
