Albert B. Fall's Son-in-law Must Testify Concerning Deposits of Large Sums in Banks to Fall's Credit; Teapot Dome Suit Closes On.

FEDERAL COURT ROOM, CHIEF JUDGE W. W. WATSON.—The government attacked back and won a point in the Teapot Dome suit today when Federal Judge W. W. Watson ruled that M. T. Eberhart, non-in-law of Albert B. Fall, must answer questions regarding deposit of funds in a Pueblo, Colo., bank to Fall's account.

Eberhart refused to answer the question of Owen J. Roberts, government counsel, concerning Eberhart banking in Fall's account to amounting $30,000 worth of liberty bonds to the former cabinet officer's account. The court's ruling was based on fear of incriminating himself.

Henry A. Wills, counsel for Fall, and Eberhart waged a verbal battle for more than two hours over the legal back to the court judge. Eberhart adamantly refused to testify, but ultimately adjourned court at the conclusion of the arguments to study over the matter.

Government counsel was cheered by the decision because of the setback they received yesterday when the court ruled certain government testimony was inadmissible.

Non-in-Law Refuses to Answer.
The small court room was filled with spectators who hoped that Fall would be called to the stand today. A camera man took motion pictures of the court scene this morning. Eberhart looked the stern and testifies that he had possession of certain bonds but was not asked to testify. He refused to sign the affidavit which would be principal in the transaction. He then refused to answer all other questions posed to him by government counsel.

The court sustained the witness refusal and Eberhart was discharged.
Government attorneys were disappointed because they had hoped to subsequent ruling of Judge Kennedy that he could refuse to answer other questions.

Banker Bought Bonds.
A. S. Booth, of the "First National Bank building," followed Eberhart on the stand and testified he bought from Eberhart on May 29, 1924, thirty bonds in the name of Defense council then reserved the right to make a motion to strike out this testimony if government counsel failed to properly link up the transaction with the present suit. Booth bought the bonds for the M. D. Char-cie Estate company, he testified.

All Railroad and Carrier Rates to be Investigated By U. S.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 17.—The interstate commerce commission today announced the inauguration of a sweeping investigation on all rates, including freight, express and passenger, charged by all common carriers for transportation in inter-state commerce.

The investigation, ordered by the Smith-Hugh resolution passed by the sixty-sixth congress, was urged by the administration, as a principal feature of the Coolidge fair relief program.

All-railroads, steamship, companies and other common carriers subject to the interstate commerce act were cooperators in the formal submission of the rates to the commission served today. Every railroad and the government of railway state was formally notified of beginning of the probe.

The object of the investigation was announced by the commission as follows:

"To determine to what extent and to what causes it may be due, the common carriers caused undue or unreasonable advantage, preference or prejudice to be given to certain categories in interstate commerce on the one hand and interstate or foreign commerce on the other hand or any undue, unreasonable or unjust discrimination against interstate or foreign commerce."

"To make in accordance with law, such changes, adjustments and distributions of rates as may be found necessary to correct any evils found to exist."

"The commission is authorized to particular attention to investigation of discrimination which may exist between the public and the public authorities, but the order of the commission did not mention this phase except in so far as it may be interested in the public interest."

The commission invited the public generally to submit suggestions, and carriers, whether individuals or organizations, or the public authorities, state and federal; to submit suggestions, whether in the form of a letter or otherwise, to the commission at any appropriate time and place, and to the extent of their ability, to furnish such information as may be necessary to enable the commission to carry out its duty.

Past Year Has Witnessed Great Improvement in Conditions.

DUBLIN, Ireland, Mar. 17.—The recovery of the Irish republic has been very marked during the 12 months which have passed since last state of Ireland.

Not only is this the case in many of everyday life when it is manifest to the common sense of the people and orderly conditions and in the actual recovery of the economy which has suffered during the former years of instability, but it is also true in respect to the political situation of the country which has been the result of the practical solution of national business.

The standard size of the Irish export and the correct percentage of output in the Irish republic has now been brought to a point of greater

Coolidge Gives Up Appointment Of Warren As Attorney General And Names Old Vermont Friend

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 17.—President Coolidge today announced that he had decided to nominate John G. Sargent, Ludlow, Vt., and former attorney-general of the state of Vermont, to be attorney general in the place of his first choice, Charles Becker, Warren, who was twice rejected by the senate.

Sargent is expected to receive the confirmation of the senate without opposition.

It was a combination of circumstances that prompted the president to abandon the fight—first because Warren apparently had made it clear he did not wish to accept a recess appointment and, second, that the president did not wish to insist that Warren take such appointment in the face of senate opposition. It was indicated at the White House that the president believed had sought to convert Warren to acceptance, Warren would do so.

The nomination of Sargent was announced immediately after the president had announced Warren's nomination to accept the offer of a recess appointment.

Senators Curtis and Robinson, republicans from Vermont, called on the White House to inform if the president had any further business to do with the nomination of president Sargent, this ending previous contract for a recess appointment and the senate over the nomination of Warren.

The senate is expected to adjourn tomorrow after a routine confirmation of the recess appointment.
In his letter to the president declining the offer, Sargent had said he had deeply appreciated the president's confidence but felt his duties would now consist of a public career.

The text of Warren's letter follows:
"I am sorry that I am unable to accept your offer, but I am deeply appreciated when you evidenced it by tendering me so important a place in your administration. I am sure you will be satisfied with my expression of confidence in your nomination as attorney general."

President Coolidge today yielded to the senate's expression of will by withdrawing his nomination of Warren, attorney general.

Warren was twice rejected by the senate but Coolidge today gave up his efforts to make Charles Becker Warren, attorney general.

Swift & Company Produce Plant, Nashville, Tenn.

Every-Day Service

Butter, eggs, and poultry are every-day items of household purchase. Their story is more than "every-day."

Swift & Company's 1925 Year Book, which has just been issued, tells about our produce plants located in the best farming communities, how we buy cream and produce the best grade of butter, which goes under the Brookfield Brand.

It tells how, in order that nothing may be lost, we use the buttermilk mixed with grain to feed chickens so that they are good enough to carry our famous Premium Milk-Red Chicken and Golden West Fatted Rowl brands.

The growth of the produce business from a haphazard, itinerant occupation and its development into a scientific industry are fascinating. The story will be found on page 39 of the Year Book. There are many other interesting stories, also.

SYNOPSIS

Malone, a London newspaper reporter, is called by the editor because he has no heroic deeds to his credit, appeals to his editor for a dangerous assignment, and is sent to interview Professor Challenger, who has recently returned from South America with a story...

The shadow of a giant figure had stolen across the path of Challenger. The man sprang to one foot with a gasp of astonishment as Challenger, with a cold, unsmiling face...

"I fear," he said, talking out his watch, "that I am a few minutes too late. When I gave you this envelope I must confess that I had not intended that you should open it, for it had been my fixed intention to be with you before the hour. The unfortunate delay can be ascribed to a number of causes..."

FILER RECORD STRIKES AT BUHL

In an editorial spasm last week the Filer Record took an awful fall out with Buhl basketball fans because they rooted for some other team than the Filer Wildcats during the recent tournament which was held in the West End city.

The following is the editorial from The Record: Filer basketball players and fans were sadly disappointed with the antics of the Buhl rooting section at the basketball tournament held in the west end city last week.

Tersely expressed, their attitude towards Filer was rotten, but despite this, the Wildcats made a reputation on the floor that will not soon be forgotten.

With Filer within but one point of winning over Rupert, the eventual winner of the district championship, Buhl, Filer's own neighbor, could not see her way clear to cheer even once for the Wildcats, and thus aid in keeping the title in this district.

When one is invited to another person's house as a guest, one ordinarily expects to have his host sit in his face. Of course, the host has it in his power to do it, and maybe, get away with it. Buhl did this to Filer, virtually.

Common decency would demand that all teams entering the tournament have an equal chance from the host town, but this was not the case. Filer was rudely singled out by the Buhl cheering section, much to the dismay and embarrassment of Filer citizens, and doubtless by scores of Buhl's population.

When one is invited to another person's house as a guest, one ordinarily expects to have his host sit in his face. Of course, the host has it in his power to do it, and maybe, get away with it. Buhl did this to Filer, virtually.

Municipal Power Is Explained by Noted Engineer

Barry Dibble Tells Council That City Should Build Plant as Needed and Should Sell as Nearly the Whole Load as Possible; Twin Falls Is Favorably Located for Publicly Owned Plant; Angur Falls, Rock Creek and Clear Lakes All Good Sites.

That Twin Falls is favorably situated for municipal ownership of power; that in constructing a plant it is unwise to build at once a structure for every possible need, but that the power plant sufficient for present requirements should be constructed and added to as needed, according to the policy of power companies; that the Idaho Power company, by reason of its long transmission lines is relatively expensive, and that its cost for providing transmission facilities for some places is comparatively high.

Mr. Dibble said that before he entered the electrical business he was employed by private electrical companies, and that he had been interested in municipal ownership. He said that the average rate at Rupert and Burley were lower than at Twin Falls. The plant which furnished power for these towns had been constructed at a cost of $450,000. The same sort of plant now would cost from 30 to 50 per cent more built on the Minitola site, but that this cost is not a fair comparison because the amount of power at the annual peak could be generated by a cheaper form of plant. The plant was built in 1912. It is a privately owned plant which it costs over $1,000,000 to run. The city would save $50,000 a year by the company's plan to construct the plant on improvement. The city made large profits on the investment in the transmission system, when a small town and afterwards issued $17,500 bonds. It was invested in the system and cleared from $25,000 to $35,000 annually from the system. These towns owned only the transmission systems; they did not own the plants. The plants were bought by the government. The city would save $125,000 a year, paid by the power prices.

Costs of the System. In addition to the $450,000 for the power plant, the city would have to pay for the transmission lines valued at $275,000. The dam cost $600,000. In this regard, he said, that the city would save $100,000 a year by the power plant built primarily for the purpose of irrigation and only incidentally for power, which is a by-product. Had the dam been built for power alone it could have been constructed much more cheaply. However, the government charged up 75 per cent of the cost to the city. He charged only a profit of five per cent to purchasers. It carried a great deal of overhead, but however, he stated, and was in every way in the safety measures as modern as the Idaho Power company. The two generally used the same appliances.

Power Company Problems. He said he did not want to be unfair to the power company. It has no taxes, which the government plant does not. Its long transmission lines increase expense. It has some old and inefficient plants. The Idaho power figured high on transmission line construction. When they figured with it on power lines from American Falls, the government built for $120 a mile, but the city lines which the power company figured would cost $100 a mile.

Several Good Sites. Mr. Dibble said that in behalf of the government he made a survey of the Snake river in 1919. Angur Falls and Rock creek both presented good possibilities. The dam at Rock creek, perhaps, $200,000 to $300,000 could be built at Angur Falls. The water could be run to the power plant through a canal at reasonable cost. One of the advantages at Angur Falls, he declared, consisted of the fine foundation for a dam. The foundation is frequently the greatest item of cost. Rock creek and Angur Falls power could be generated if necessary by the same plant. He spoke highly of Clear Lakes, where he said a dam, conserving water and raising the level could greatly increase the horse power available.

FILER, Idaho, March 17.—Two new members were taken in by the Filers' Bureau club at their meeting today. They are George Anthony of the Idaho Power company and Eugene Deane, both of the Filers' club. They were heartily welcomed by Vice Chairman W. C. Newman, who presided at the meeting. In the absence of Chairman E. W. Borngren who is in Salt Lake City on business.

Prof. George Tucker was named on the district agricultural committee for the Snake River region. His appointment will be forwarded to District Governor Vanhook by Secretary August Sidam. A large attendance was present and much enthusiasm prevailed.

Artesian Banquet. Last Friday evening the agricultural students of the Rural high school gave a banquet to their fathers and friends. Among the speakers were Principal George E. Donnan, who encouraged the boys to make the most of their opportunities and showed that there were much greater than previous generations.

Conditions in the Snake River country of the Boy Scouts was shown to be flourishing since at the regular quarterly meeting held in June last evening and attended by Thomas J. Robertson, Arthur J. Peavy, Roy W. Gardner of this place and representatives of Idaho, Jerome and Pinedale. Charles F. Zedler of Jerome presided on financial conditions and showed them to be excellent; an item of interest being the fact that the two towns that were closed last year had cleared up and disbursed the other towns that had temporarily closed the expenses.

DAWSON SENTENCE SUSTAINED IN THE SUPREME TRIBUNAL

While Paul Dawson is awaiting the determination of his appeal in the federal court of appeals, at San Francisco, from conviction in Boise, he will have an opportunity to spend some time in the legal custody of Twin Falls county. Dawson was convicted of illegal possession here in 1923, and sentenced to three months in jail and to pay a fine of $200. The case was appealed. Information received today from the supreme court says that the decision has been affirmed.

RUPERT TURKEY SALE IS HELD NON-CRIMINAL

Jury Acquits F. H. Farmer Who Was Charged with Illegal Conversion of Property. Judge Bothwell Returns Verdict After Hearing Arguments from Arguing Four Cases in the Day in Supreme Court.

Verdict of not guilty was returned in the case of the state of Idaho, against F. H. Farmer, charged by E. L. Carlson with embezzlement of a carload of turkeys, it was stated today by Judge James H. Bothwell, of the firm of Bothwell & Glasgow, who is back from Rupert where the case was tried, and where Judge Bothwell was called to send Attorney William Ward Mattinson in the defense. The fact that Farmer sold the turkeys was not questioned but the jury evidently decided that they were sold as partnership property and not as property of the landholder.

THE EMBROIDERER COULD NOT TAKE PLACE AS CLAIMED.

Argued Four Cases. Judge Bothwell went to Rupert immediately on his return from Boise where he argued four cases in the supreme court on one day, something that the justices declared was unprecedented in their experience. The last and most important of these was the Buhl Highway district against the U. S. Fidelity & Guarantee company and Russ W. Alfred, growing out of the service of Alfred as cashier of a defunct bank in which the district received judgment for $73,076.18 in the district court here.

Others represented were the plaintiff—in the case of—Nobright against Boley, et al.; Great against the Oakley State bank, ownership of an auto loaded on, and Miles against Johnson, which was sent to recover $3000 paid on land alleged to have been sold through misrepresentation.
