GOVERNMENT OF GEORGIA WINS IN TEST

Socialists Vote Against Hindenberg and New Tariff Bill Which is Much Like Our Protective Tariff; Move for Censure on President Fails

BERLIN, May 20.—In its first test of strength in the reichstag since President Von Hindenberg's election, the government today won on a vote of 214 to 120.

The test was on a motion of censure introduced by the socialists, as a result of their displeasure with the government's candidate for president and likewise because of its pro-union grants to the big industrialists and agrarians in the new tariff bill.

The government victory was rendered sure, when the democratic and folk party withdrew their votes from the candidate, the test could scarcely be called decisive, though there is now no doubt that the latter regime is other than solidly entrenched for some time to come.

COLUMBUS, O., May 20.—The personality of William J. Bryan, militant war horse of the fundamentalists, dominated preliminary maneuvers to the general assembly of the Presbyterian church here today.

Bryan arrived on an early train and went into conference immediately with representatives of the fundamentalist group who are seeking to throw the New York Presbytery out of the denomination for harboring Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, modernist minister. Despite his recent controversies with university and college audiences in the east where, during one lecture, fatigue forced him to deliver his remarks sitting down, the congressman appeared eager for new battles.

Bryan came here from Pittsburgh where he is understood to have learned that the failing health of Dr. B. J. McWhin, Presbytery fundamentalist, will make it impossible for him to permit his name to be placed in nomination.

Virtually all presbytery conferences today were occupied with discussions of the moderator situation. Dr. W. O. Thompson, president of the Ohio university, and Dr. Harry C. Torker of Kansas City, Mo., were being mentioned as men who could be elected.

FILER NEWS

FILER, May 20.—The commemorative activities of the Filer Rural High school were completed here with the graduation exercises on Thursday night. The senior class play, "Fitzroy," was given on the night of May 7 and 8 on the new stage in the high school gymnasium. Crowded houses surrounded both performances. The beneficiaries received were given of the following Sunday night at the Methodist church: Rev. Groat of the local Methodist church gave a masterly sermon on the text, "Ye Are the Salt of the Earth." The church was filled to capacity and many guests were present.

IDAHO FARMERS ARE NOT TO BLAME

Fully recognizing the brilliancy of the presentation of Idaho's unlimited resources by Ralph Edmunds of Idaho Falls, which is being reproduced, The Times must dissent sharply from his conclusions in two respects. It is convinced that he is mistaken in attributing all, or even a majority of farm failures to inefficiency of the farmers of Idaho. It is said that the farmers of this state are the most highly intelligent and best educated body of agriculturists in the world, and this seems to be true. Yet the majority of them have suffered hardships and many have failed through the long period of depression. Something else than their inefficiency must be the trouble. President R. E. Shepherd came far closer to the truth when he laid it to the after-war conditions and the world-wide depression resulting from the destruction of billions of dollars worth of property and the killing and maiming of millions of human beings. Aside from this, eminent writers say that war times produce on the part of the people as a whole something similar to the exhilaration that accompanies intoxication, and effects from undue straining such as men obtain when making desperate efforts to save their lives from immediate physical danger; and that this is followed by a period of universal relaxation and depression, in addition to that which is the consequence of casualties and financial destruction. The depression caught men and women in all lines of business; in banks, in mercantile establishments and in factories. It caught those who invested unwisely on the best of information obtainable. That some bought wisely and did not make the wrong guess on what would happen does not mean that farmers, bankers or merchants who guessed wrong were inefficient in their own lines.

The other criticism on the speech is against the seeming implication that where political or economic conditions are wrong, or where railroad rates are too high, we must keep quiet and not protest. This policy would eventually have the most far-reaching and disastrous consequences so far as political liberty is concerned, and in the long run so far as economic progress is concerned.

These criticisms go to the superficial and incidental features of the splendid address, which so far as its main feature and purpose is concerned is superb and unanswerable.

ACRES OF DIAMONDS

(Address by Ralph Edmunds)

Each year there is held in Chicago an International Seed Show and the entire world competes for the prizes. For five years the state of Idaho has taken forty-five (45) per cent of all cases offered at that show in competition with all of the countries of the globe. Here is where the mineral content of our soil comes in again to prove that we have the richest soil on earth for our seeds; have a better color, are heavier and have a better germination than do the seeds of any other country on earth. That is why Bingham County, Idaho, produces eighty-five percent of all the Grimm alfalfa seed produced in the world and that is the reason that the upper Snake River valley produces most of the seed peas used in the gardens of America. When we have properly developed our seed culture we will command the markets of the world and they will pay us prices that will spell prosperity for all of our farmers. We have only started as a seed producing state. (This statement was modified later, when Tommaster C. D. Thomas said he had made the same statement to the Salt Lake City delegation last week, but had later learned that this was no longer true, as the Salmon tract is taking the lead.)

Today we have many inefficient farmers in Idaho. Their places are rapidly being taken by efficient farmers. The generation that settles a country never remains to enjoy its full prosperity. The men who settled the Mississippi Valley surrendered their farms at a better class of farmers. Our inefficient farmers must fall by the wayside. They must fail for they will not adopt modern methods and proper rotation. Their places will be taken by the man who appreciates the fact that this land is too valuable for the growing of hay and grain and who will raise seed crops, and stock his farm with sheep, cows, hogs and chickens. Poultry and dairy production spells prosperity when conducted in connection with the other lines suggested. Each forty acres in this valley can be made to produce $8,000 gross each year. Certain forty-acre tracts are producing this amount and they all can be made to do the same for the soil of Southern Idaho is all alike. We have no poor soil in this state. When this soil will produce five times as much as will the average soil of the United States why should not all of our farmers succeed? If they do not succeed it is a safe conclusion to arrive at that they are either lazy or inefficient.

I know of two brothers who came to Idaho some eight years ago. They each bought eighty acres of land, running into debt for a large part of the purchase price of their farms. They have farmed in a highly efficient manner and today they own six hundred acres of the finest land in Idaho and they made every dollar that they invested off their farms. On their farms you will see large, red barns and comfortable dwellings. They do not own a cent. This year they cleared over $30,000, and with the money bought two more eighty acre farms. Each year they buy out a couple of their inefficient neighbors. Eight years ago a certain young man was working for wages near Idaho Falls. At that time he contracted for forty acres of our best land, paying nothing down. He has done nothing but farm and feed stock on his farm. Today he owns the farm clear of mortgage, has built a fine new house, drives a good car and has over $2,000 in the bank.

could give you hundreds of just such instances to prove that these 3,000,000 acres of irrigated land in Idaho are each and every one of them one of diamonds if we but use the right methods to bring the diamonds to the surface. We have acres of diamonds right here under our feet.

We are now producing $176,000,000 from our lands. Did it ever occur to you that these same acres can be made to produce $600,000,000. We are but twenty-five percent developed and our farmers are about fifteen percent efficient. Within ten years this land will be owned by efficient farmers and this valley will be producing more wealth, each year, than was ever before produced by a like number of acres in the world's history.

Idaho is just a big rough diamond—just a great sleeping giant. Shall we make these dreams come true during our lifetime, or shall we sleep upon our rights and leave it to some other generation to enjoy the blessings that will come from this possible development? If we but turn our eyes to the rising sun of opportunity we can bring this about within the short space of ten years. Within ten years Idaho will be producing two-thirds of all the dairy products alone. The people of Idaho will then be producing each year another fifty millions. The seed production will reach a figure that would be hard to estimate. The other things that will be bringing untold wealth will be our rapidly developing mines, our timber and the millions of tourists that will visit us when they know the glorious truth about the scenery and climate of Idaho. There is more of the glory of God written in our mountains than is to be seen in all the balance of America. The Creator lavished upon this state in scenic grandeur all the wealth of his imagination. He wielded his brush with a prodigal hand when he painted Idaho—His greatest masterpiece.

Over in the eastern part of Idaho the prospect of a possible usually make that trip. All the way from Salmon City up to the famous Redfish Lakes one is struck by the beauty of the Sawtooth range of mountains. Just beyond on the middle fork is the famous beauty of the Salmon River mountains with their rugged peaks and valleys.

Our great mines are just being placed in the hands of the General Agents and the First Motor Company. There is more wealth in the central Idaho mountains than is stored in all the bank vaults of America.

Up at American Falls is to be erected the greatest dam that the world has known since the days of civilization. When completed it will create the largest artificial lake of water in the world. It will cover an area of 100,000 acres of our land and will insure us against drought and trouble.

Twin Falls has at its feet dozens of the world's greatest scenic wonders in the Shoshone Falls and the Blue Lakes. That great water fall should be your pride. During the late summer there is but little water going over the falls. It would be a good idea to place most of the water under a fine penstock of the falls when they are in the full glory and request the amount to come back in May or June and view this impressive sight.
