

HOW EXCESSIVE TAXES BLIGHT A NATION'S LIFE

Productive Effort Stopped If Government Takes Undue Share of Profits, Says Treasury Official.

WEALTH IN RUSSIA FILED BEFORE THE TAXGATHERER

Men in America Prefer Golf to Giving Fruits of Three Days Work a Week to Income Taxes

The blighting effect of excessive taxation, leading to a nation's economic destruction, is described in the following extract from the "Tax Lawyer," Association Journal by Gardner B. Wilson, Under-secretary of the Treasury. Citing possible effects on the Ford Motor Car Company, he declares that "the value is so large and its future so uncertain that it is conceivable that collection of inheritance taxes may check, if not destroy, that unit of policy which has created and expanded that industry and thus produced so much income for the national purse; there is to any government if it collects one hundred million dollars once in estate taxes and destroys a source of income upon which it can rely for many years to come." The success of the Ford Company does not mean simply that Mr. Ford and his son have grown wealthy. It means employment of tens of thousands of men and women, and the creation of products and vessels are brought into being; that the public has received as efficient and inexpensive means of transportation; that the farm is in touch with the city, and the worker is with his office." Mr. Wilson says is part:

"Wealth Taxes Oppression" Upon first impression it might appear that a nation could take all the wealth of its citizens and all of their property. The Soviet government proposed to appropriate all instrumentalities of trade and commerce. Yet, when the state reached out to take all the wealth of its citizens and left nothing but a few tangible objects, such as gold and jewels, which were easily transported to other countries, wealth was lost. Wealth is to be taxed, but not so heavily that capital in productive business no longer gives a net return commensurate with the risk, capital will go out of productive business. Men are compelled into tax-free securities, and find other ways of avoiding the tax. If income tax rates are too excessive that a man's ability to do more than three days a week for the nation's welfare will become discouraged and decide that the result is not worth the effort. Less income will be produced and less will be realized from the tax.

The tax collector came to the Treasury from a small farmer. He owned a few acres which in 1913 were assessed at $500 and on which the tax of $10 was levied. In 1921 the tax assessed due to inflation was $12.50 and the tax to $12, but the farm failed to produce any more. Taxes exceeded the rental value of the land and more than the net earnings of the property were taken by the state. The days losses farm was abandoned and now produces no tax.

"Often there comes to notice cases where a particular improvement is not made, because after deducting taxes the risk exceeds the value of the expected return. Men have dropped business, spent their winters in Florida, and they have determined to retain under present tax rates is not

"Under some Tax Lawyer, Nation Unsound methods of taxation may actually destroy the very garment of property which it should be the principal interest of a government to foster. When it reaches the point of saturation, a nation has begun to die. If taxes are raised too high, a country will slowly but surely destroy itself. It will use its daily consumption of oil, coal, and gas to sustain life—depends on the select of initiative and adventure in its people, will finally disappear. One or more of three things happen: The standard of living falls, which means a lowering of the standard of living; or capital accumulations for extensions, improvements and new undertakings must diminish, resulting in a slowing up of progress and loss of eventually taxable revenues; or, thirdly, a slackening of effort on the part of the citizen will take place when too large a part of his earnings is taken by taxation."

"The effort of taxation should be to find the tax which will continue to raise money over a period of years. invariably, with an excessive tax, its yield has fallen off year by year, while each successive tax is reflected in a slowing up of production. If the Treasury is to be assured a continuous stream of revenue, our citizens must prosper. If they are to prosper, the appropriation by the state of their earnings and property is based upon economically sound principles."

His mother looked at him and said, "Well, whose little boy is this?" "Why, I'm sorry," he replied, "I don't know who you are." "You ought to know who I am," she said. "I tell you I am. You ought to know my name, if you don't know my face."

London's First Electric Sign.

The first road electric sign was constructed and displayed in London about thirty years ago. This is a road sign, which consisted of a lighting stand, which consisted of a lighting up of lamp by lamp so that the effect was that of the words being actually written out. The first advertising device on present-day lines showed this device, which was represented as taking soup, and they raised their spoons to their mouths in a most realistic manner.

BANTAMWEIGHT TITLE BOUT IS ON TONIGHT

Eddie Shea Meets Charley Rosenberg in a 15-Round Benefit Match Tonight; Seven Boxing Titles Changed Hands During Past Year.

(P. MINN.)—NEW YORK, July 22.—Seven boxing titles this century have been placed this year and an eighth may be recorded tonight when Eddie Shea, the bantamweight champion, meets Charley Rosenberg, who is defending the bantamweight title for the first time in a championship match.

Retirement caused a change in title when Eddie's brother, John, died, forfeiting the crown. Pancho Villa's death caused a vacancy in the flyweight championship and the others passed on "in the order of seniority of getting a title."

Rosenberg will have to carry a jinx that has been attached to him since he became titleholder two years ago. The title-hands changed seven times in the past five years, and Eddie Shea, who preceded Rosenberg to the championship the first time, is defeated.

Chicago's Billie Hornsby and Bottomy will be on the ring.

Ken Williams' home game against the Indians yesterday was the best and moved the A's out of first place.

Tom Meany came in from third in the 11th inning on Duncan's infield hit and scored the run that gave the Yankees a five to four victory over the Tigers.

The Cubs went on a hitting rampage and beat the Braves, 15 to 3.

The White Sox split even with the Red Sox at 3-3 and 3-3.

NEW YORK—Neil Kaplan, featherweight champion, and Duke Horner, California challenger, signed articles to meet for the title in a bout at Waterbury, Conn., on Aug. 1. Match will be for $15,000 and winner is to get $5,000.

THE TWIN FALLS HAILSTORM

The farmers on the Twin Falls tract should feel grateful that the hailstorm did not cover any larger acreage than it did. The damage has been variously estimated from one to two hundred thousand dollars and we feel that this is rather conservative. But we should not lose sight of the fact that the crops on this tract will bring more than twelve million dollars this fall if nothing happens to come between now and harvest. Had this storm swept one-half of the tract, instead of perhaps something like a twentieth of the acreage then we would have more serious grounds for real complaint. But farmers on the south side are exceptionally fortunate in that such a small acreage was in the path of this hail and wind will perhaps lose the larger part of their crop and yet the number who will thus lose is small compared with the total number on the tract who are engaged in agriculture.

There is no doubt that this was the most severe storm of its kind that has swept this city since it began some twenty years ago and the terrific force of the wind and hail did tremendous damage in a very short time. But the remarkable thing is that more damage was not done to property such as buildings and business houses.

Many other sections which were not damaged by the wind and hail will be greatly benefitted by the rain. Two miles west of Twin Falls the bean crop is not injured in the least as far as we could see last evening and the heavy downpour of moisture will be beneficial. The storm seemed to have hit hard in streaks rather than sweeping the whole tract. Twin Falls city appeared to be the center of the storm and more damage was done here and the immediate neighborhood than in any other particular section.

The Northwest is extremely fortunate in not being damaged at all. The west end of Twin Falls county suffered no damage and the extreme east end was not hit by the hail. Word from Hazelton, Eden, Murtaugh, Hansen, Jerome, Gooding, Filer, and Burley indicates that the hail did not strike in those sections at all.

Growers will realize something from the insurance on their crops where they were badly damaged but this will not be anyway close to what they would have received had the crops been insured and marketed at face value.

Twin Falls is not the only city that has suffered disasters this year, and just as such cities as Santa Barbara have overcome these disasters so will the Magic City outlive and outgrow such a storm as struck us yesterday. Always remember, "It might have been worse."

FARMERS TO PLANT HAIL STORM AREA

Fields is good, with a few exceptions where the wheat fields are badly cut, the losses are something like $100,000. District Manager James Stelle of the Amakwakaw Sugar Company is out on all day surveying and no statement can be made at present. H. W. Hensel was available pending his completion. W. T. Stelle, assistant district manager, has been sent to the area and will give further definition in detail after the completion of the survey, but that comparatively speaking losses were not very high, that beans suffered less than other crops. Farmers have concentrated on the tract previously in the Muttough neighborhood.

Beans in Doubt.

Oats and Barley to Replace Many Fields Badly Damaged by the Storm; Some Owners Seek Information; Damage Less Than Believed. Last Evening; Beets Seen Relatively Little Hurt.

Arising from the shock of yesterday's hailstorm, farmers in the immediate vicinity of Twin Falls are ready to buckle down and plant crops that are mature before it is time to take the place of those which have been destroyed by the hail storm yesterday. There will be much oats and barley to be sown, with areas comparatively few, except in a strip east and north of the city. Beets seem relatively little hit, and a small part of the beet crop is still standing.

The same is true of the wheat crop. The rapidity with which barley and oats grow in this country under irrigation is well known. H. O. Miller, agent this morning that Carl Hughes, in 1910, on raw land, not heated and manured like this field is now, had 10 bushels to the acre, and raised 56 bushels to the acre. Mr. Hansen says that the crop on the same ground matures 10 days earlier than the same crop would in the 20 year history of the tract.

Chickens Are Killed.

The old, as stated in the Times yesterday, were all killed, and it is learned also killed a number of chickens on farms. The loss of 21 was reported from the Patrick Wm. farm, and 100 from the Wm. C. farm. The latter was preceded by a sudden downpour of rain that amounted almost to a foot.

The general appearance of the field cloudiness and the fowl caught a little shelter from the clouds sat down and were unable to reach cover.

The condition of the onion crop in the central strip of the storm is hard to determine at the present time, and no statement can be made at present. Hensel was unavailable pending his completion. W. T. Stelle, assistant district manager, has been sent to the area and will give further definition in detail after the completion of the survey, but that comparatively speaking losses were not very high, that beans suffered less than other crops. Farmers have concentrated on the tract previously in the Muttough neighborhood.

Beans in Doubt.

"The bean crop in a few small areas has been salvaged. In others, however, even in the half-hurt field not in bloom, it is believed that the crop suffered little injury. Where the field has been completely flattened off, the damage is serious. It was stated today by H. T. Blake, of the Southern Idaho Bean Growers' association, who was present, that the damage will be impossible to determine the extent of damage for another week."

Apples Badly Hit.

The apple crop in the path of the hailstorm was completely flattened and utterly destroyed. H. O. Miller, who has a large orchard four miles east of here, a mile north of the original orchard on the tract, says that his trees were in the middle of the half-hurt and some of them were hit by the few big hailstones that fell on the orchard.

The orchard, he said, is about one-half mile from the orchard, where he had been four miles straight east, he would have missed the hailstorm. He carried some insurance, Mr. Miller said, on all of his orchards, but the tract on which he helped reclaim, he never carried full insurance before and never lost anything by hail.

Miller said he had been up to his toes, as he took out only enough, though to cover the cost of spraying.

The storm, Mr. Miller said, largely covered the orchard, and there was no insurance on most of the orchards in the strike district. The insurance in the most instances the insurance in the strike district will not cover the losses, there is more of such insurance in the strike district than in any other in the 20 year history of the tract.

The pilot of the utilization of the X-ray in the treatment of the eye was a patient of Dr. John G. Venter, a Buell chiropractor, Monday evening.

Chairman A. A. Rice of the board of commissioners, 16, whom the physician referred to as Superintendent Fred W. Heckwick, stated that the results for the X-raying had been very good, but did not state any cure was effected, as far as medical knowledge goes, but he said, "I will take a day or two to get a final report."

J. B. Keel, returning from his trip on the north side said that the storm there was a great benefit to the country.

There was a great benefit to the country.

As neither letters nor telegrams bring news of the patient or the doctor, it is not known, however, that they are not coming, however, and that they are not their troubles twisted and bent.

BIG CELEBRATION July 25th

Of course you will be there and if you go dry stamp and mail a child for the benefit of the hospital.

Some say they will completely recover. Others say that they are hardly alive. Most people believe that they will take a day or two to get a final report.

J. B. Keel, returning from his trip on the north side said that the storm there was a great benefit to the country.
