Way to Judge Age

A moving picture man delights to tell of a proposal that happened while he was directing one of his latest pictures. It seems that a young writer had laid his heart at the feet of the leading woman and had been coldly turned down.

"Perhaps it's best, after all," he remarked, acidly. "After all, a man of twenty-five would soon tire of a woman who hovers around thirty-two."

"But I'm not that old," gasped the woman. "Whatever led you to believe that I'm thirty-two?"

"Well, perhaps you're not," admitted the young man, but it certainly struck me that you must be somewhere near the freezing point."—Los Angeles Times.

NEWS OF THE SPORT WORLD

WASHINGTON HAS A REAL MANAGER IN BUCK HARRIS

BY HENRY L. FARRELL.
NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—After Buck Harris had surprised the baseball world last year by winning a pennant and a world's series in his first year as a manager, some observers who were not swayed by sentiment said that the young leader of the Washington Senators was with the aid of luck and the counsel of Charlie Griffith, the owner of the club.

In the eleventh day of the pennant race when the Senators were being led to high speed to beat out the New York Yankees, Griffith occupied a box near the Washington press and it was thought that he was having an unofficial seat with the board of strategy.

"Harris did have some luck last year. Every champion team has to have some luck," said one of the men who ran the team and he would not run and Griffith didn't have a word to say about it," a veteran official who has been in active contact with the players for years, said recently.

"Harris is one of the smartest and greatest managers I have seen in a career of twenty years," he continued. "I know because I happened to have several controversies, that Harris is and has been the manager of the club and on several occasions he did not use words in talking Griffith that he was the boss and that his word was the last word." The players all know that Harris is the boss and that he has made a great manager of him and a great team of the Senators. It was along in mid-season and Washington was just a second division ball club, the team was enjoying a winning streak of four or five games which was good for Washington—when, Gino Cocolin and "Spark" Pligg" made these out to fight on the bench.

World Series Play By Play at the Times

The Twin Falls Daily Times as usual will give the world series by magazine from the Times window, play by play. Our special leased wire has been extended to the Pittsburgh baseball park and the big opening game with each of the succeeding games will be sent direct to the Times office and same will be given to the fans more direct than any other service. The public is invited to listen to our reports and then read the story by the best sport writers on record.

Henry Farrell, sports editor of the United Press will direct the work of covering the world series games at Pittsburgh and Washington starting Wednesday. Neither Farrell nor his work need any introduction to sport page readers. This is the sixth world series he has covered for the United Press clients. Farrell will handle play by play description of each game.

Frank Getty, whose reputation as a sparkling feature writer who extends back through previous world's series will handle a daily special story on the series and will contribute to the wealth of supplementary "hall talk" and "sidelights" that will go to make up the United Press report.

It will be recalled that Getty's story on Walter Johnson's last defeat at the Giants' ball park during the series last year, was handled by sport writers as one of the writing classics of the baseball year.

Fans who follow these two men will get all the news of the big series games the same day it happens through the columns of "The Times."

Watching the Scoreboard

Yesterday's here—Harry Helmsman, best pitcher set at this in the times up and took the American League batting championship away from "Fris Slesker." The Tigers landed fourth place by taking a double header from the Browns at 10 to 4 and 11 to 6.

In an old fashioned slugging match the White Sox defeated the Indians to 3 to 2. Monte Stoffe a base and won the American championship with 42 stolen bases.

The Pirates divided a double header with the Reds 4 to 2 and 10 to 1. SCHUBERT's error spoiled a shutout for Doushain in the second game.

The Cards knocked the Cubs down into the cellar by beating them 7 to 0.

TWIN FALLS MAN WRITES VALUABLE SPORTING SERIES

"The Pools of Willy Creek," another story from the pen of Henry L. Grabbin, of Twin Falls, appears in the October number of Outdoor Recreation, which recently published a narrative by the same author entitled "The Snake Hen," and "Auntie's Outdoor Recreation" during the next few months will run several more in the same series. Among them being: "The Pursuit of the Idaho 'Gladys' Bark," a pleasant tale "The Snake Hen," and "Auntie's Outdoor Recreation." All are rather long narratives dealing with hunting in southern Idaho.

Colored photographs are used as illustrations for "The Pools of Willy Creek" which is a story dealing with fishing experiences in Barraman Valley. The pictures, which were taken by the author, reveal the beauty of the streams found in that locality.

Grabbin has recently been made a member of Outdoor Recreation's "Where-Go-Outing." In this capacity he will advise tourists, come and others concerning the section of Idaho "Willy" which is most favorable.

The September issue of Outing, published at Columbus, O., contained a fishing story by Grabbin entitled "The Trout of Warm Springs Creek." In the near future Outing will publish the following additional stories by the same author: "After-Save-You-Gramps," "Snake River Dicks," "Shooting Trip in the Land of God Burgals," and "Trailing That Bird Called the Phoebe."

The Sunday Capital News of Boise, had a valuable historical article by Grabbin on Rock Creek, Idaho, the celebrated Indian character of the Twin Falls country.

Potato and Vegetable Market in Idaho J's Stronger Past Week

Daily, Julying sales of most vegetables, potatoes have held within a range of $2.25 per 100 pounds. Long Island Green Mountain, an export, moved as high as $2.50 in New York city. Among other potatoes the Idaho Green Mountains and New York Round Whites are making their appearance in city market quotations. In the middle-west, Idaho's weakness was noticeable.

Reports from Wisconsin estimate the market outlook for the central part of the state as the best in years. Average was reduced somewhat from that of 1924 but the yield and quality of the crop are good and the potatoes nearly free from disease, growth cracks and other troubles. According to some local estimates a yield of from 150 to 200 barrels is likely in the producing sections of the north central states and in the heavy August section there was an increase during the week and price declines were the rule. Northern Round Whites closed at $1.70@1.80 if, o. b., and Idaho Whites dropped to $1.25 in Northern Idaho.

The general market situation in Idaho is better than it was a few weeks ago. The large potato consuming centers differed little from the week before. Shippers have entered in volume, rapidly, averaging close to 1000

Plans at Pringle, Idaho advanced the meeting of the week, falling more closely into line with the better northern shipping sections. Light movement in western Idaho, with the local market at $1.50, with a few sales slightly higher.

Orange industry of the firm market portion of the previous week. New York, yellow varieties at $2.25 per 100 pounds mark were slightly higher than a week ago and the $1.50 mark in the same time. In western New York, yellow varieties at $2.25 per 100 lbs. Idaho's weakness was noticeable. White varieties from California and the middle west brought top prices of $2.25. This is equivalent of 170 cents of Spanish onions arrived in New York city during the week and was holding in consuming centers at $1.50 per crate. Shipments increased and were making a daily average of nearly 200. New York, Massachusetts and Indiana were the heaviest shipping states with 29,000 cars, 25 cars and 128 cars respectively.

Apple Market Firm. The market outlook for apples continues fairly bright. A firm tone pervades city markets during the last week of September. Foreign trading was not active. Northwestern extra fancy bright apples strongly held at $1.50 per bushel. In California, Ontario and Iowa mostly $1.50@1.75. Wisconsin $1.75@1.85 and Delaware $2.50@2.50 bush.
