NEWS IN BRIEF

SOUTH LOSES STAR PLAYER OF BASEBALL

Nick Tullop, Home-Run King of Atlanta Team, Probably Will Be Regarded by Yankees, Who Own Him.

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 6.—Southern league baseball fans here have seen the last of Nick Tullop, home-run king of the Atlanta Braves.

Nick closed the season with a record of 22 home runs. He has never been made by a player in the Southern league and it is the hope here that the New York Yankees, who own him, will doubtless recall him for service next year.

Cullop's debut in the Southern league was more in the nature of a "loan." The Crackers had just traded over Ben Paschal, another hard hitting outfielder to the Yankees, and were not had shape for a conference which could hit.

Experts who have watched both clubs are of the opinion that the former is the better player. He is a natural player. He is a natural fly ball hitter and a money player. He has been coming in from the States for some time.

After the baseball season closed here, Cullop went to Florida and at last report was knocking the ball to all corners of the lot for Frankie Frisch's Crosstimmer team in the Florida Sunshine league.

Twentieth Century Club Entertained by Kimberly Club

An interesting program by the Pioneer club of Kimberly was presented at the regular meeting of the Twentieth Century club at the Jacksonian Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. E. M. Wolfe, president of the local club, introduced Mrs. W. M. Arnold of the Kimberly club, who took the chair and presided during the program.

The first number being a paper on the Development of the Constitution, by Mrs. Buchanan of Kimberly. The speaker went to old England and the introduction of the Magna Carta from King John in 1215, to the Petition of Rights obtained in the reign of Charles the First, in the Bill of Rights granted to King William and Mary, an address from which we obtained some of the fundamental principles on which our Constitution was founded.

Reclining in this country with the Virginia colony first settlement in 1607, the speaker traced the growth of civil and religious liberty in America, mentioning in detail the contributions of men and ideas by Virginia, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New York and Pennsylvania. The whole resulting in the spirit which demanded and inspired our present constitution.

Consent among those mentioned after the calling of the convention by Hamilton were James Madison and Benjamin Franklin, the latter being more than thirty years old and the oldest man in the convention, she also told how after months of work, the constitution was finally completed and signed September 17, 1787. She spoke of its march through all the vicissitudes of the Civil war and the changing conditions in the development of a new country.

It was a compact, lucid and interesting discussion of a subject always full of interest for Americans.

The double-decker was a decided attraction and the games were fast moving. The Jerome boys' team returned today from Salt Lake City to visit for a few days at the local high school gymnasium, the Jerome high school basketball team will clash in a double-decker game with the Filer boys' and girls teams. Neither the boys or girls Filer would have been defeated yet this year and the Friday night contests are expected to draw a great deal of spirited fight on the part of all the players.

HOREMANS MAY LOSE A TITLE

Young Jake Schaefer Threatens to Wrest Billiard Crown from Belgian Who Recently Had Taken It From Former.

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—Young Jake Schaefer, a twenty-one year old champion of wrestling the world's billiard championship from Edward Horemans, the Belgian who won it from Schaefer only a month ago.

At the end of the second hour of their three-hour match, Schaefer held a 500 to 375, thus making it necessary for Horemans to run 928 billiard balls in the first hour before Schaefer runs 500.

Schaefer's play during the present match has been steady but not brilliant. His average run for the first two hours was 50 to 44. His best run was 210, made just before the end of the last night's play and he won out a short time later with an unfinished run of 123.

The first hour is to be played this afternoon.

ENTANGLEMENT CLUB TO HOLD BANQUET ON FRIDAY NIGHT.

Mrs. Potter sang beautifully for members. Mrs. Merrill responded by an encore after giving most graphically a reading taken from the Constitution.

Mrs. Wolfe then summed the club and the business meeting, continued briefly, after which adjournment was taken and a social hour followed to give the members of the two clubs an opportunity to know each other better.

Idaho Must Get Closer Markets, Says Shepherd

President of All-Idaho Congress States That It Is Time to Begin Preaching Doctrine of Greater Idaho; Cost of Marketing Products too Great; We Must Devise Better Marketing Plan; Resources, Health and Scenic Possibilities in Gem State Are Unsurpassed Anywhere; Rim-to-Rim Bridge Fully Financed.

"The North and South Side tracts of the Twin Falls project are about to be joined in holy wedlock and when this takes place it will be the greatest union which has been consummated in Southern Idaho," said R. E. Shepherd of Jerome here last evening before one of the largest chamber of commerce dinners held in this city since the Oregon Short Line railway officials gathered here over a year ago. "It is time to begin preaching the doctrine of a Greater Idaho but this cannot be done successfully unless all or at least a majority of the citizens of the state are in thorough sympathy with this suggestion. We must preach and teach the gospel of prosperity until our own citizens have acquired complete confidence in our state and its possibilities. We must establish thrift. Taxes must be reduced. Then outside people will be glad to come and share our prosperity, but just so long as our people are trying to get out of the state and we are harping on our shortcomings we cannot hope to bring outsiders in here to buy our land and settle up our barren tracts. We must set our own house in order by developing a neighborly spirit. We must cultivate the habit of praising other counties and cities and thus work together to build up not only our own particular section but instead the whole state. Prosperity is largely a mental condition. We have the same land in Idaho that we had in 1920. It has the same intrinsic and economic value that it had a few years ago but we are feeling different today."

Southern Idaho was well represented at all this banquet and speakers and delegates from Coeur d'Alene, Blaine, Pocatello and practically all the towns in this part of the state were present last evening and agreed with Chairman R. E. Shepherd of Jerome that this is the time to act together and teach and preach a greater Idaho. John W. Wilson, president of the Twin Falls chamber of commerce, presided and introduced the speakers. Among these were Dean Daniels of the University of Idaho, speaker of the year 1925, who will pass through Southern Idaho early next month and will have a splendid exhibit. If Mr. Murray, who has the franchise to construct the Rim to Rim bridge, spoke very briefly and George Lewis of the Idaho bridge company of Portland assured those present that Mr. Murray and his associates were thoroughly financed for the construction of the bridge. In speaking of their ability to construct this bridge let us state he said, "We have constructed six bridges within the past five years and all of them are large than ours. Since 1917 we have constructed 2,000 bridges. The bridge will be 100 feet long and will have a roadway 27 feet wide."

Twin Falls Well Represented at Ogden Stock Show

OGDEN, Jan. 5.—Idaho representatives in the Showman division by W. S. Brown, Charles Norton and Harry Buchanan of Salt Lake, E. A. McClure, E. G. McClure and T. S. McMaster of Twin Falls, Arthur H. Murray This Acceptance — Frank Murray, general acceptor of the contract for the bridge construction from rim to rim over the Snake, was first this morning by Bachelor 23. Murray. Work had started on the bridge before the completion of the accepting and Mr. Murray said that part of the preliminary work, including the survey at each site, had been completed before the paper was completed and put on file.

STIFF SENTENCE GIVEN TO TURNER AND TO KELLY

In the Honorable I am being over my sad fate today; As the winter sun declining Will not add to me a ray.

I detected that I had committed the crime for which I stand, And like the victim under sentencing I must surely go on jail.

I must serve six months of lonely For the house that I disdain; While Kelly has four months only, I find my jail time too mean.

The above was not composed by Frank Turner in person, himself, but was written by the Times poet laureate, after the reading of D. Wheeler, who delivered the "Sunged Speech" of John Kelly. This is supposed to be an expression of the sentiments that stirred the breast of Frank Turner this morning, when Frank Turner, J. L. Hinchey imposed a penalty of six months in jail and $200 and four months in jail. Both denied acceptance of two and a half dollars of bounty in 1925, near the same which was stolen in Loveland, December 18, 1925, and admitted that to accept that sum or attempt in a battle. The case happened in the month of May, 1925, when the liquid substance under the seat of Harry Sheen's car was found. The jury found the men guilty and the fellow who admitted partial guilt got away most easily.
