Clean in the bin, in the stove, in the chimney, in the air.

WHEN my cold weather comes, I must remind them, my families in Twin Falls, to keep their coal in their bins. Most people never think how coal is what makes it unnecessary for them to buy anything else. They think they can't live without it, but they have a way to keep their bins full all winter, because a house is not a home without warmth. It was the cold of January.

BRUINS ARE READY FOR FIRST GAME

Local High School Basketball Team Will Meet Gooding Here Tomorrow Night in First District Contest of Season.

The Twin Falls Bruins basketball squad will have its final workout tonight in preparation for the first district game of the season tomorrow night here with the Gooding players.

Last minute practice indicates the team is in good shape and confidence is expressed for a winning effort in the playoffs. Coach Platman has been exerting himself to the utmost in the hopes of winning the high school championship of the local league.

Some fast work has been exhibited by the boys in the past week. Miller, chief center, probably will play. He has been kept out in the morning through his lack of stamina. Others are Miller, Hooper, Fravelle, and Goss. All are coming to the fore.

Gooding has a fast team and it is known that the visitors will keep the local team on the jump throughout the game.

The game starts in the local high school gymnasium at 7 o'clock. It is expected that the contest will attract considerable spectators as Twin Falls always has shown a keen interest in basketball and many are anxious to see what the team can do after the fatal season in football.

IDAHO GAINS FORTY-ONE PER CENT

Idaho came back in 1925 and it is doubtful if there is an agricultural state in the union that shows up as well and has as good a record as that of our state for the past year, all of which goes to show the recuperative power of the state and its people.

According to the recently announced figures of Julius H. Jacobson, United States statistician for Idaho, the increase in value of the agricultural production of Idaho for the year 1925 was 41 per cent over that of the previous year.

The story can best be told by the men and women of Idaho who stayed by the ship, who worked and sweated, and thought and planned and figured and who never felt faith or confidence and who were not beguiled to leave the state by stories of pastures new, but in their faith stayed on the job and made good and to those faithful people belongs the credit of having brought the state back to the position where it rightfully belongs and to those who have given the credit of making Idaho the one white spot on the commercial map of the west showing that business is good and that all is well.

The story went out regarding Idaho that many thousands deserted, left and abandoned their homes, their business and their farms, to the extent of some 60,000. Maybe they did but there always has been doubt in the minds of the conservatives that the desertion totaled that number. Be that as it may, they are coming back, and they are welcome. Idaho is big, it is generous, it is forgiving and there is no time or inclination for the "I told you so" spirit. Those who have stayed on the job and who have made good are happy, but not intolerant and the fated calf is ready to be killed as the prodigal returns.

We are proud of that showing of that 41 per cent gain in agricultural production. The percentage of return in other industries has been as great, but when all is said and done Idaho is a "firmer state," and as such she is sound, stable and reliable, and she can't be beat.

Idaho has room for many more. Idaho is on the threshold of the greatest development that the growing northwest has ever seen and the man on the job now and the man soon to come, is the man who will be benefited.

The right hand of fellowship is extended, the welcome is as broad and hearty as the 82,000 square miles of territory that go to make up the state.

IDAHO RATE ASSOCIATION GIVES AIMS

This association has been organized by a few of the heavy producers and shippers of Twin Falls, Pocatello, Caldwell, Parma, Boise, Wallace, Orofino and the Coeur d'Alenes for the purpose of protecting the interests of every section of Idaho in transportation, rates and service.

Statewide organizations are now taking up the problems that confront us in trying to develop our natural resources and build up our infant industries.

The Idaho Home Industries Association, with a membership of nearly one hundred manufacturers, producers, and distributors from all sections of the state, is actively engaged in educating the people of Idaho to the use of our own products, and they are getting results.

The All Idaho Congress is consolidating the chambers of commerce, boards of trade, commercial clubs and other civic organizations into one great statewide chamber of commerce for the purpose of advertising the resources of the state, selling Idaho, first to ourselves and then to the world.

These organizations are going to exert immense influence in building Idaho, but to realize, in full, the development and growth that should flow from the activities of these organizations, their work must be supplemented, bolstered up and protected by an organization with sufficient power of membership and financial support to accomplish the adjustment of transportation, rates and service to which we are just entitled and without which we can never hope to grow permanently.

There is no state in the Union in which transportation, rates and service will play a more important part in speeding up or retarding development and growth. All of our products find market at great distances. All manufactured articles, that we do not ourselves produce, come to us from long distances. Our freight, express and parcel post rates, therefore, of the highest rank in the United States, both inland and national. On many of the products of the range, forest, and mine, we are entitled not only to commodity rates, but to the application of the zone or blanket rule.

This rule, firmly established by the carriers and recognized by the interstate commerce commission as just, proper and desirable, provides, in many sections of the country, great zones of blanket covering large territory and great differences in distance, to yield, from which freight rates are the same to all sections of the country.

The logic of this rule is that it affords an equality of opportunity to manufacturing plants scattered over large areas and to producing territory at greatly varying distances to reach their markets on identically the same rate basis.

CANAL LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE FILES ITS FULL REPORTS

Various Recommendations Are Made in Statement Issued Last Evening, After Final Meeting Before Stockholders' Conference.

Monday, with cessation of increase in assessment, continuation of the work on various special applications of the water in excess from Blackfoot down the river; stopping of wild drilling; except in cases where owners pay no or give, accuracy; funding of floating debt; amount of interest on deposit; action against bondholders with such bonds as property to be taken in some and full publicity of all interests.

These are urged in the resolutions from the first meeting of the legislative committee of the canal company for submission next Tuesday at the meeting in the Olympia. The resolutions contain the following demands:

It is resolved, that our board of directors be and they are hereby directed to take prompt and effective steps to ascertain the exact location of lake storage water from Blackfoot to points where it from the lower river and that same is not to be used for any other purpose and not be used for the company.

To After Full Investigation of the various reports that are made from various sources, that the collection of claims in order that the account may, if possible, be closed without loss.

It is further demanded, that we strenuously oppose the further drilling by the company of domestic wells for individuals or the extension by the company of water logs and land unless the land owners first pay, or else proper and adequate security for the cost of such wells, or of the location of the cost of reclamation which is to be met by them.

Would Land Holders? We urge that the debt of the company now represented by notes held by individuals be funded through some plan that will result in the payment in equal annual installments extending over a period not exceeding five years of the lowest interest rate obtainable.

We endorse the practice which has been followed for a number of years of the reclamation of water by the company in the reclamation of water bogged lands and the prevention of seepage, and commend the board of directors for including in the budget of the company for this year an amount which seems to be adequate for that purpose.

Play Sink Holes. The report of the manager shows that there are on the tract a number of what he calls sink holes, which places on individually owned lands where the water belonging to this canal system, in considerable amounts, sinks into crevices and is lost, not only causing waste of water, but is a criminal offense under the statutes of our state, but the all-ability creates or increases seepage and damage to lands below. We believe it to be the duty of the board of directors to have a plan of sink holes existing to have such waste of water stopped and urge that the manager of this canal system be directed to take action against the land owner as will bring about that result.

We urge directors to see that it is collected. In order that we may be kept informed in regard to the affairs of the company and especially as to the proceedings of the board of directors, we request that the board at the close of each meeting have prepared a statement setting forth the business transacted at that meeting in which in their judgment will be of general public interest and especially as to the "general newspapers of the county.

File Pledge. We are opposed to a continuance of the practice of carrying a floating debt in the form of notes of the company since for short periods of time

Representative Francis W. Phillips Jr. of Pennsylvania, told Congress that prohibition enforcement methods had improved the country unfavorably.

He is resolved, that our board of directors be and they are hereby directed to take prompt and effective steps to ascertain the exact location of lake storage water from Blackfoot to points where it from the lower river and that same is not to be used for any other purpose and not be used for the company.

It was announced at two times that the play was called off here following the storm, that the show would be given for ticket holders only during the winter, since there has been no list of those purchasing tickets for the production since the meeting last evening decided that the only thing to be would be to make a general admission charge of 50 cents with tickets sold where needed.

TULLY MARSHALL IN 'KILLED' AGAIN

Tully Marshall, wearing a dark overcoat, was seated in a dark corner of a stage at First National's New York session, where "The Half Way Girl," this week's feature of the Olympia theatre, was being filmed.

"Oh, why don't they hurry up and shoot me?" replied Marshall. "I have been waiting for days to get to this."

"Mr. Marshall, please," came the voice of Director John Francis Dillon, "you are to be in the picture."

Marshall's dejected expression vanished as he walked on the set where Lloyd Hughes engaged him in a terrific battle which ended with the shooting.

"There," he sighed as he walked off the set. "Now, I feel better. He was 'dead'."

Horis Keaton and Lloyd Hughes are featured in "The Half Way Girl." Also in the cast are Robert Warwick, Sam Hardy, Sally Cruise, Charles Reid and Tony Crane.

Salmon Case in U. S. Supreme Court on Taxes

Declaring that "interest should not be allowed at all except from the time of the entry of a decree, and certainly not until a patent was granted by the United States Government to the State of Idaho," Justice H. Haskinson of this city and Charles J. Williams of Washington, D. C. in a last appellate from the U. S. circuit court of appeals to the U. S. supreme court in the foreclosure action of the Commonwealth Trust company, of Pittsburgh, against the Glavin and Laura M. Glavin, says:

"Now, then, we must give the contract an equitable construction and give a construction to the articles of equity which will lead to the substance of the subject. In this instance, to hold that the mere filing of a notice is sufficient without the furnishing of an ample supply of water in an adequate ditch, following the giving of the notice, would be making a literal construction of the words; it would be an extremely technical construction.
