New York Society Wonders About the Berlin Marriage.

FAMILY IS SPLIT

Clarence Mackay, Father of Bride, Still Stays Under Cover.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—The creation of the greatest romantic of last night—the marriage of Irving Berlin and Ethel Mackay—seemed dominated today by its tragic phases.

While two days ago New York was laughing over the runaway marriage of the daughter of Clarence H. Mackay and the man who one way or the other had won her, Ethel and Irving were safe, the one escaped and disengaged at the developments of the last 24 hours.

First sign that all was not as joyous as wedding bells should have been when the Berlins returned to New York.

Then came Camille Vanderbilt's wedding yesterday. One of the year's greatest social events and Mrs. Berlin was absent although the bride was her friend, and their grandmothers were present in the dailies. The festivities were held at the Ritz Carlton. Mr. Mackay was not at the wedding party either. He had not given his daughter a chance to mark her wedding but to the "Vanderbilt lady" presented himself at the ceremony.

Meanwhile, while Irving was being married to Earl T. Smith, in a setting of almost unequalled splendor, Mr. Berlin was trying to buy dresses from a modiste in the Berlin apartment, denouncing her as a "tart." New York was beginning to see the pathos in the contrasting marriages of the two girls whose family histories run much the same, paths which apparently equal to Mrs. Berlin and to her father.

When the Berlins refused to talk it was known from their friends that it was learned that last night a select group dined with them in their apartment and plans for a dinner, to show what friends of Mrs. Berlin at Atlantic City had not been invited.

The king mother of Berlin's re-paired home to settle a million dollars on his bride, to take the place in a way, of the millions her father had intended settling on her.

At the same time, spokesman for Mackay reflected that his attitude had not changed; his attitude had not changed stories Mackay already had drawn a new hush in winter time was barely mentioned.

MODERN GIRL IS DEFENDED IN CONGRESS

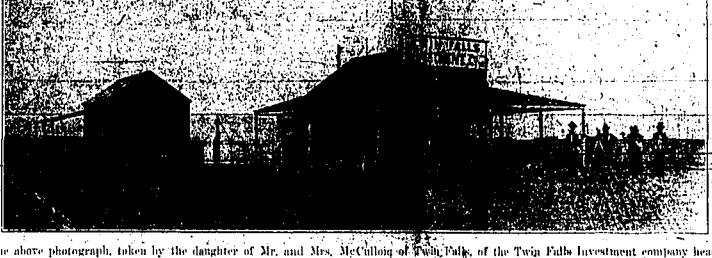

Women Members of House Criticize Capital Society, Leader for Attack on Maidens in Recent Interviews of Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The three women members of the house today disagreed with Mrs. John B. Hendon, non-capital society leader, that young maidens were to blame for the social and independence and immorality because of short skirts and cleanliness. The "female jibes" in the lower body composed of Mrs. Florence Kain, republican, California; Mrs. Maynard, Democrat, New Mexico; and Mrs. Mary Norton, New Jersey, democrat, presented a united front in taking issue with Mrs. Hendon's opinion that it is imprudent and ill-advised for mothers of the fair sex to expose their daughters to the gaze of the public in the street.

"As long as dress stay below the knee, the women have no fear for the morale of the young folk."

They do not approve of extreme modes of dress but believe that a modesty and decorum adequate to dressing in the proper and best way.

THE FIRST BUILDING TO BE ERECTED IN TWIN FALLS IN JULY, 1904

The above photograph, taken by the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. McCullum of Twin Falls, of the Twin Falls Investment company buildings, the first buildings to be built here, clearly indicates the nature of the land on which Twin Falls now sits in the days of the early pioniers. In the picture are a number of pioniers. They are, left to right: John Hayes, Sid Strong, L. Walton, William Dutweiler and Robert McCullum. Mrs. McCullum is seated on the porch.

WINTER LAYS SIEGE INTO EAST AGAIN

Storms Are Whipping Into Attack Following Week of Mild Weather and Cities Prepare.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—After a week of mild weather, the eastern states awoke yesterday morning to find themselves in the grip of a sudden wave of winter.

Temperatures dropped 18 degrees here during the day, into the face of a blizzard, cold northeast wind. Two large storms, one that swept the country south of the Great Lakes and the other from the north, have dropped here today or tomorrow, weather bureau officials predicted.

While still snow blizzards fall in many southern states, Florida with the exception of the Miami region, and only sporadic rain storms.

FILER-GIRLS LEAVE HOMES UNANNOUNCED

Request to Officers to Help Search Girls, Deport Shurff to End Town in Invigilators' Accounts of Affairs Near.

The sheriff's office is today co-operating with Marshal Dave Allen of Piner in searching for two young girls, Pauline and Gertrude McArthur, members of the McArthur family, who are reported to have disappeared from the home of their parents; Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. McArthur, late evening in company with Miss Dene Greenfield, an 18-year-old girl.

When the report came, Mrs. McArthur, who has been in the city since last Sunday, left at once for Piner to join the marshal there, and left little in the way of detail at the office. Probation Officer John R. Atch, who was on other legal business this morning, told the reporters he could not learn information beyond the fact that the girls had been together late yesterday and had not been seen since.

UTAH MINISTERS ARRIVED THAT SAYER RE-

GIVE LIFE TERM

BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 8.—If Salt Lake citizens are going to take a stand such as the ministers of a dozen churches took yesterday in seeking to save the life of a convicted murderer, they had better get their hands on any writ of habeas corpus issued outside of their jurisdiction, in an effort to bring a supposed murderer to justice. That was the opinion of James F. Parker, Jr., attorney for the family of John H. Hildebrand, 20, of Salt Lake City, who had been condemned to die in the electric chair.

Robert F. L. Keeler, who is to be executed by a gas chamber, the state prison on January 12, under order of Governor Alvin C. York, had two years earlier, said Parker, been condemned to die in the electric chair.

Oklahoman Hangs for Slaying Arizona Man

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 8—Hill Lawrence, notorious Oklahoma badman, was hanged yesterday morning at the gallows for the murder of Harry Ditch, Phoenix police officer. Lawrence faced death steadily as he ascended his final steps, strumming a guitar in the death cell while Wednesday—and made a futile plea for "Sweetheart," Spaniard.

Lawrence had been arrested a month earlier on suspicion of killing Ditch when he and his brother, Hale, received arrest. Hale was returned to Texas, another charge and was sent to prison for life. A desperate legal battle was waged by the brother of Hill Lawrence. The case was taken through to the supreme court in Washington, D. C., which refused to rule on the case.

Approximately 75 persons witnessed the execution, which took place at dawn. Among the witnesses were members of the lawyer's family and friends.

After the trial was sprung, Lawrence, who was sprung, lawfully, with his hands clasped behind his back, turned to his friends and said, "This was told to me by the only man that

PROXY FOR PERSHING IS A PROBLEM

Coolidge Unable to Select Adequate Successor to General to Head Tacoma Plebiscite in Chile

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—President Coolidge has so far been unable to find a capable successor to President Pershing as chairman of the American Red Cross Committee.

With Pershing planning to visit South America on January 17 because of impaired health, the president deems someone able to leave here at once to assume responsibility for the organization.

Different men have been considered for the disputed province. He hopes to announce a successor within a few days.

Chief of State Killian, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, appointed a military officer. But there was little hope in official circles that a man of his ability would accept such an arduous and demanding task.

One of the president's chief advisers admitted that it might be necessary to communicate a military declaration for the day's business, when the supposed custodian was assured into the place.

All-Metal Airship Is Being Built

The Idaho Editorial association opened its afternoon in the Elks Club with a good social atmosphere. Rev. H. G. Humphrey opened the exercises, and Major Frank H. Slaughter, George Prince, general manager of the Aircraft Development Corporation of Detroit, commanded the audience.

The speaker here concerned was aluminum metal, according to Prince, will have a capacity of 2,000 cubic feet, one tenth of a tonne weight, and will be able to fly at 12,000 feet and will be able to carry a ton or a ton and a half.

"We hope to have the ship in the air by the end of the month," he said. "We are in a short while, believe, to make the aircraft," he said. Detroit manufacturers indicated the all-metal craft would be the target between 12 and 15 miles.

Utah took occasion to day reports that his company would soon construct a ship of five-million feet capacity, twice as large as the Shenandoah.

Sargent Appears in Aluminum Hearing

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Attorney General Myron C. Sargent told the visitors from the Western States that he knew much about the investigation of the department of justice into aluminum.

WOOLGROWERS HAD A MOST HECTIC YEAR

Program of State Organization for 1925—Was One of Most Eventful in Sheep History Says Report of President

The year 1925 was one of the most eventful in the history of the Idaho Woolgrowers' association and revealed several outstanding features which were most beneficial to the association, according to the annual report of C. C. Wilson, president, which will be read before the annual convention at Idaho Falls, Jan. 14 and 15.

At the start of the year, price offered for wool was high, but by June, when the market began to show signs of a decline, the price per pound declined 20 cents. It became so low in respect to prices that the woolgrowers stored their crop for export at 50 cent per pound until prices again rose.

On the other hand, the lamb marketing situation was much more successful, due to a more even distribution of crops, lamb growers were able to maintain a high level in revenue.

The lamb market in 1925 was more steady than ever in the history of the sheep business, according to the report. Active demand on well-to-do even distribution of meat material in selling the high quality of stock.

Sherpherd was the only affiliated organization to be organized and is composed by the owners of the woolgrowers' association.

Instead of crowding the lamb markets all at once, as has been done in the past, the sheepmen started sending their stock in the middle of the year, thus assuring a steady market until late in the year. In the past, it had been the general practice to start shipments of lamb eastward in August and end in about October, thus crowding excessively the markets and causing a general decline in the price, which was clarified.

It has been suggested by the sheepmen that the wool growers

LACK OF SNOW DOESN'T WORRY THE WOOLMEN

Old Man Winter has put a crisp bite on the Twin Falls country, but in the first snows scheduled there for the entertainment of the delegates to the Idaho State Wool Growers' convention and it now appears as if the sheep men may have more trouble than usual if they want to see what a Polar bear is like.

The races are scheduled for January 16, the day immediately following the close of the two-day convention. Feeding the two days of drivers, Sunday, there is no need Ashton with winter and trade.

Some one went over to Idaho Falls the other day to get the lay of the land for the races.

"Where's the 'track'?" he asked when he found Idaho Falls in the grip of local spring climate.

"That's all there is," there are no 'horses,'" replied a commentator pointing to a patch of whiteness on the road.

"Well, I guess 'Steady'" and his mate will have to be rather skated they want to entertain us," the visitor responded.

Bonnie McLeay, secretary of the Idaho Wool Growers' association, said Saturday morning that the early arrival of spring added to the early clouds of desperation and a special train would be spared if necessary to carry the Chapman and their wives and families further north where there is a greater supply of water in an adequate climate, following the giving of the notice, would make a literal construction of the word.

New York Society Wonders About the Berlin Marriage.

FAMILY IS SPLIT

Charles Mackay, Father of Bride, Still Stays Under Cover.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—The greatest recent romance of high society—the marriage of Lydia Berlin and Eliza Mackay—ended—dominated today by its tragic phases.

Wednesday evening New York was awash in the runaway marriage of the daughter of Clarence H. Mackay and the man who once was just Izzy Folline of "Silver Mike." East Side girls, the city stopped, and wondered at the developments of the last hours.

First class that all need not an joyous as wedding bells should be caugghen when the Berlin returned to New York.

Then came Considine's Vanderbilts' wedding yesterday. One of the grandest weddings ever seen, Mrs. Mackay was absent although the bride was her friend and their grandfathers were partners in the days when fortunes were being made in the gold days. Clarence H. Mackay, his bride, and her father still, had not given his daughter a chance to mark her wedding but to the "Vanderbilt leads—she presented a beautiful diamond bracelet, the Conservatory diamond, which was worth $10,000, and a diamond ring.

Now in the contrasting marriage of the two aristocratic families, there has run much same paths, which applies equally to Mrs. Berlin and to her father.

While the Berlin refused to say she was a "very poor" bride, it was in her heart that she might not a select group wed with them in their apartment and then for a titter, to about sixty friends of Mrs. Berlin, Atlantic City, had not been abandoned.

They knew nothing of Berlin's recent past plan to marry him in a secret ceremony, which he planned in a way of the millions her father had intended settling on her.

At the same time, spokesman for Mackay reiterated that the cable message had not changed his attitude but that the young Mackay already had drawn a new mill-million dollar was barely mentioned.

The sheriff's office is today cooperating with Marshal Dave Allen of Filer in searching for two young girls, Pauline and Geraldine Matow, twenty and twenty-one years old, who were reported missing from the home of their parents—Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. Matow, late evening, in company with Miss Doris Greenfield, an 18-year-old girl.

When the report came here this morning, Deputy Sheriff E. H. Price left at once to Filer to join in the search after the mother and father had left little in the way of detail at the office. Prohibition Officer John R. Ault, who was on other legal business this morning, took on the matter on his return from Filer. He has been unable to get any information beyond the fact that the girls had been "gathered" late yesterday and had not been seen since.

UTAH MINISTERS ARE THAT SLAYER BE GIVEN LIFE TERM

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Jan. 8.—Salt Lake citizens are going to take a stand such as the ministers of a dozen churches took yesterday in seeking to save the life of a convicted murderer who was sentenced to spend his life in prison without benefit of parole.

Democrat, presented a united front in taking issue with Mrs. Henderson's opinion that it is improper and ill-advised for members of the fair sex, in particular the "decent and ankles" to detract the world.

Such opposition is to be expected, as far as is evident at the state prison January 15 for the murder of Patrolman David Crowther two years ago.

Thursday the Salt Lake Minsterial association presented a petition signed by 4,000 members of the church demanding that the capital be given to life imprisonment.

All-Metal Airship Is Being Built

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—With its latest addition, the first of its kind ever to fly, the Wright brothers offered the invitation and Mayor F. C. McPherson extended a most hearty welcome to the visitors.

Hughes, the chief engineer of the Aircraft, the organization of Detroit, announced his intention to do.

The ship, to be constructed of aluminum, will have a wingspan of 160 feet, a cubic feet, and a weight of 1,000 pounds.

McPherson, the president, said, "The balance of the afternoon was spent over the business session and to a discussion of subjects relating to the future of publishing news media."

The big banquet is the heating feature of today's program and will take place at the Park hotel tonight at 6:30 p.m. Ross Seaton of Salt Lake City and Jack Pyle of Boise arrived on the train for the banquet.

Pritchett had agreed to speak, but reported that his company would be represented by George S. J. Miller, the manager of the plant.

The speaker had agreed to speak.

The balance of the afternoon was taken by the visiting newspapermen.

This afternoon, the visitors will be taken to Swift & company's plant and other points of interest about Twin Falls by the committee from the chamber of commerce.

Chairman Frank W. Brown called the meeting to order shortly after two o'clock and asked Secretary Guy Fleener to call the roll.

Governor C. C. Moore and W. H. Collins of Swift & company's plant in Chloride, arrived from Boise and will speak.

Program of "State" Organization for 1925 Was One of Most Eventful in Sheep History, Says Report of President.

The "State" 1925 was one of the most interesting and significant in Idaho, Woolgrowers' outstanding feature which were most beneficial to the sheepmen, according to the annual report of Sylvester G. Blanchard, president.

Blanchard will be here before the annual convention of the Idaho Wool Growers on January 14 at Boise.

At the start of the last year, prices offered for wool were high, but by the time the shipment, were ready to ship, the price had declined 20 cents, which had declined 20 cents. It became so low in respect to prices that the woolgrowers stored the crop to the extent of 50 per cent and then forced the market in making up the difference. The marketing situation was afterward successful.

Due to a more even distribution of crops, lamb growers were able to maintain a high level of rations.

The lamb market in 1925 was more steady than ever in history, according to the report.

Active demand as well as even distribution made it possible to settle the high standard of quality.

Instead of growing the lamb markets all at once, as had been done in the past, the sheepmen started sending their stock in the middle of October, when the market was still high.

Sheepmen said this will tend to postpone it, as proposed by the opinions of McCollum and Miss Irene Pope, ability thereof, and seek a break between the lamb and the sheep market.

There will be little increase in lamb production, while at the same time the market has been greatly increased by the opening of new markets, especially in foreign countries.

Court in Chicago Expected to Make Ruling in Million Sheepherd's Battle for Oregon-McClintock Estate.

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—Decision will be handed down next Monday on the case in the suit revolving around the will of Miss McClintock.

Miss McClintock died last June and left the bulk of her $10 million estate to William D. Shepherd, his son, who shepheard said she will remand the sheepherd's estate to the court for argument by his opposite side.
