UTAH SLAYER MAY ESCAPE NOOSE AGAIN

Juror Who Helped Convict
Seyboldt Was Averse to Death Penalty; Slayer
Has Escaped Five Times
But Must Pay With Life

Tomorrow Unless Stay Is Granted.

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 13.—The fate of Ralph W. Seyboldt, condemned to be executed at the state prison at McAfee tomorrow night by a narrow thread. Early this afternoon, with less than 18 hours intervening before the convicted slayer can be hanged, the state parole board went into executive session to consider what is regarded as the last hope in evidence for his favor.

Only the transcript of stenographic notes taken during the hearing in the death-penalty case will be considered at this, probably the final session of the board. It is also intimated that a majority of the men favor holding to the previous decision not to further interfere with plans for the execution tomorrow morning.

City Attorney W. P. Fullard was called upon unexpectedly last night to answer an appeal to save Seyboldt's life. He was brought from a Salt Lake hotel by Rev. James G. a local pastor. The city attorney seated in his home when he heard the words, "If Ralph W. Seyboldt is executed Friday morning it will be just deserts."

"Just Justice to Death Penalty." If the man evades facing the rifle at the last minute, it will be due to the fact that one of the jurors who helped him to previously escape justice now sits in the陪审团. In any case, this was made known at a special meeting of the board of pardons, the members of which were hastily summoned by Governor George E. Shoup yesterday to hear possible new evidence.

The juror in the case is C. D. Burnett. In 1922 Burnett was on the jury called for service in two murder trials. The first, Farley, was a holdup attack on the part of three southern states to pay some $25,000,000 of repudiated Civil war debts to British bondholders.

Senator Jim Reed, Minnesota, argued that the trial that the court could cause undue jurisdiction over the repudiated Confederate and reconstruction bonds and order southern states to pay.

U. S. Asks for Facts of Italian Attack on American Citizen

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—An investigation of a report that an American citizen was attacked by the Italian consul at New York City has been carefully observed by the British Secretariat of State, according to a cablegram received from Bernkelman by the Royal Observatory at Greenwich.

It was alleged that the American was attacked for failure to return his passport, which had been seized after the secession of the Italian consulate. The American had entered the consulate, mistaking it for the Hungarian office adjoining it.

FAIR HANT SHES ECLIPSE

LONDON, Jan. 14.—Whitish novae watched in awe, the sun went into total eclipse this morning, as it was carefully observed by the British Secretariat of State, according to a cablegram received from Bernkelman by the Royal Observatory at Greenwich.

MANY LIVES ARE LOST IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 14.—Secretary of War, General Alvaro Obregon, 75,000 persons had perished in the recent Yaqui floods and that 9000 others were homeless. The property loss was placed at $6,000,000.

Bull fights and other festivals are being held to raise funds for the flood relief.

Earlier reports estimated that 600 or more lost their lives in the floods.

CHAL-MINEO NATIONALIZATION
London, Jan. 14.—Nationalization of British coal mines was proposed today in a gigantic scheme submitted by the miners' federation to the national committee investigating the coal mining industry.

Two More Miners Escape Alive from Awful Explosion

WILBURTON, Okla., Jan. 14.—The Dogan McConnell mine, No. 21, today reluctantly gave back two lives, two more of the 101 miners originally entombed in it.

After veteran miners and rescue experts had decided that there was no hope of the entrapped miners being alive, Cecil McKinney, white, and Tom Hollis, negro, came out.

Weak and trembling from 22 hours imprisonment in the mine, McKinney crawled out before an amazed crowd of nearly 2000 spectators and two hours later, Hollis was dragged out and restored to consciousness by a pulmotor.

This makes 10 of the 101 miners.

Basque Woodchopper Is New Heavyweight Champion Offered by Frenchman with Appropriate Trimmings and Fixins; Paulino Is Poor Fighter

BY HENRY L. GARNETT

—NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—In a new and fancy situation, with all the appropriate trimmings, Georges Carpenter started bouting over the American heavyweight championship.

As a standard staple, like his blindfold to offend, and as a novelty to amaze, the "French" Paulino Basque woodchopper, feasted in the French restaurant, Madame, as the new heavyweight champion.

Carpenter always has been able to get better than peak places for him self but it he's able to sell his services to any promoter for any price, he's bound to be away with a line of foot soldiers in Europe.

Paulino, attached to the firm of DeGrazia and Carpenter, Inc., probably due of the world's most hideously ugly face, has come in two years to make any fighter history. They don't devon them fast enough in Europe to turn a raw neophyte into a world's champion in two years.

Paulino, 26, from Bent Staged, "The wolverine," now Basque in this, a powerful 20 round bout in Paris two years ago against George Cook, the so-called Australian champion.

Cook, who has been beaten in every bout he's ever had, is the most recent scoundrel, not only hold off the wild shaggy Basque for twenty rounds but made him look foolish.

Previously Cook had made him look just as foolish in another 20 round fight.

—Paulino Looks Like Chaffan.

Paulino is the same type of a man, big, awkward, fierce as a quail, however, who was imported from Chile several years ago and who has been simple, dignified, his face a smile.

If he's a maniacal specimen of manhood he is an amiable fool and awkward, but not foolish like a dog, and makes no impression. In fact, nothing but the primitive savagery of his Piripon offensives and defense whatever.

Fights and Fighters

—NEW YORK.—Tommy Pernell, Cleveland, weight-welder, has cancelled his bout against Joe Damato, Baltimore, scheduled for Friday night at the Riccardi Garden. The two were to have fought for a return-round bout to the Jack Delaney-Bob Fitzsimmons heat.

MONTGOMERY, N.Y.—Cancelled Dick Evans and Morris Schlesinger, midgets, were not strong the fans they beat efforts, the boxing commission stopped their bout in the ninth round and announced that the referee would not be present pending an investigation. The pair, of Paul Delaney, midgetweight, in the semifinal bout, was also held up when he ended up graciously after the first two punches delivered by Freddie Baschenek.

HODGIN DISCUSSED FOR GOVERNOR

Discussion of Shad L. Hodgin, former mayor and former president of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, for the place now occupied by Governor C. C. Moore, continues to agitate politics. In the Statesmen of Monday, the matter was put up to Shad by a reporter at the close of an interview boosting Twin Falls and this is what happened:

"It is too early to talk about politics," Mr. Hodgin said in response to questions. "The situation is not clarified, and there are no clear-cut issues."

"I prefer not to discuss the question," he continued in answer to a direct query about the governorship. Mr. Hodgin has been mentioned in some quarters as a possible gubernatorial aspirant on the republican ticket, but he refused to commit himself, saying the people did not care to be hurried in making their decisions.

WHY NOT TWIN FALLS TOO?

The following suggestions made by one of the Boise newspapers concerning a landing place for mail airplanes is worthy of consideration by folks in Twin Falls because this same air mail route will pass over this city and there is no reason why a stop should not be made in this section of Southern Idaho.

There should be no hesitating about the bush in the matter of Boise taking advantage of its aviation opportunity. The municipal air board has gone over, investigated and recommended the best site for an aviation field. Its selection has been approved by aviators and men experienced in flying.

It is satisfactory to those who hold the government's contract to deliver mail in this city via Elko, Nev., and Pasco, Wash. They are even willing to take a chance on landing now when slight improvements are made.

Boise has the same opportunity now with reference to aviation that it had 30 or 40 years ago with reference to acquiring a railroad. It made a mistake then with regard to a steam line. Let it not blunder again with reference to an air line.

This city has been given the rare distinction of being placed on a feeder air line to a transcontinental trunk line.

Its air board has made a thorough investigation on available landing field that can be taken within the jurisdiction of the city. The cost of the field is within reason. The location is excellent.

This is the time for Boise to get on an air mail route and to get there right.

All that is needed now is courage to support, combined with conviction and action!

All of the above arguments sound very plausible but there is no good reason why the same arguments should not be used to further an airfield for the Magic City. We will be right on the route from Nevada to Boise and if we are to keep pace with the rapid progress of the day we must get on an airline sooner or later. It is really up to us just as the editor of the Capital News states that it is up to Boise in the above article.

WASHINGTON DAILY NEWS LETTER

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Speaker-Writer

WASHINGTON. That is to say, that the representatives own it. That's no joke. The average member of Congress is so sure that each term has been his public office, and an inner private office, that he has only one for himself and when he returns may drift in. Some representatives have partitions put in but that costs money.

Such is the whole explanation of the proposal to spend $10,000,000 for new office buildings for the lower house, which is all right except in comparison with the Senate.

WASHINGTON. The nature of their official status is the secret of many a Washington comedy. The diplomatic corps here even to look interesting in anything Congress does, but the truth is they're considerably perturbed by the negotiations in the House of Representatives to cut off their drinks.

In all the United States high-power beverages are locally available, but not in Washington, D. C., because there are no bars.

"Essentially they're foreign territory." Within this people drink beer, but they don't drink beer. The diplomatic corps here, however, are not allowed to do this, and if you do, you're forbidden, no more drinks.

SPOKEN FROM THE HEART OUT

In an effort to link practice with preaching, the Sunday school teacher asked her class of small boys to recite appropriate quotations from the scriptures as they added their names to the offering list, the regular collection. The young ones were in a week in which to find and memorize suitable texts.

On the following Sunday the teacher announced the Superintendent of the congregation that he might witness the ceremony.

"Under his inspiring eye, the scholars advanced, one by one, each with a coin ready and the brow furrowed by the effort of trying to remember the quotation he meant to deliver."

"First, Tom was lifting his hand, and as he deposited it in the plate, he said:

"The Lord loveth a cheerful giveth."

"Beautiful!" said the teacher approvingly. "Now then, Harry, what are you going to say?"

"The Lord saith, 'what is made fat?'"

"'What?'

"'Who is afraid to be poor?'"

"'Jobby!'"

"'Freely thou have received, freely give.'"

"'Yah, god is lifted, Tommy, it's your turn!'"

Tommy's hand came slowly forth from his pocket, bringing a penny.

"A foot and his money are soon parted," said Tommy—Chautauk Times.

Adam and Eva the Delayed Chautauqua Play Proves Success

Those who attended "Adam and Eva" and as many as could get into the high school auditorium last night did attend, fell captive with interest for the time they waited for the final notes of the Ethel-White chautauqua play delayed from its original date.

The plot was in a broad way true to life, a family with real, intimate, compact, looking to "dad" for support, but able to take care of itself when dad was away, and the wife of the city. All the cast was good—Harry Siegler as John King, the father, was an ideal average parent with money; Corinthia, the maid, by Josephine Weller, was a picture; Mrs. Lincoln and Vicar Gartland, as the married daughter and her husband, came out well. Lord Andrew Gordon, theoretically a Scotch nobleman, as the son of the family, and the brilliant recent arrival—the most interesting character, an Englishman, was a fine character, who had the good sportsmanship to give up the heroines without a murmur when he found that another had another. The part was well done by Frederick Monti. The part of Eva, the heroine, was portrayed by Anita J. Wright, while Albert Moore as Adam Smith, the hero, was the star of the show.

There wasn't any villain—the family had, of course, used to leaning on father and formed a plot to get him to go to Brazil in behalf of his firm, which dealt in sugar. He discovered the plot and also discovered that Adam Smith, a young associate, had ideals of family life. He therefore appointed Smith his father, to train him, to take charge of his went to Brazil. In order to meet tall expenses, Smith trained the family, claiming that the King concern had gone bankrupt; but the family jewels and fell in love with Eva. They all started to raise chickens and were indignant when she came home. The rest you know, or should.

Imaginary Land
The name "Hyperborea" was given by the ancients to an imaginary people, favorites of Apollo, who lived in the far north of Europe. North West Virgin placed them under the North pole. This favored race dwelt in a terrestrial paradise under a cloudless sky, and enjoyed a fruitful land, untroubled by disease, poverty or death. The Hyperboreans were said to live in an atmosphere composed entirely of feathers. Herodotus and Pliny both refer to this fiction, but say it was suggested by the amount of snow and ice in the northern regions of Asia. The word "Hyperborea" has been used by anthropologists to designate certain people that dwell in the northeast of Asia and in northern America. Arctic people cannot be classified either as Mongolians or as North American Indians—Exchange.

The two classes in public speaking under the direction of Miss Alice Miller Kepp have finished on the subject of stage production. In order that it might be understood more fully each class has been read in three plays. The plays of the drama class are: "The Riddle," "The Master of the House," "The Play," "The Maker of Dreams," by Gilpin Down and "The Dear Departed."

The afternoon classes are: Zora Gale, who read "The Law by Harry Alder, and "The Order of Silence" by Father Gallagh.

The three plays which were worked out by her will be presented for the public on Friday, January 25.

Each class will be given a copy of the plays in the school library for three days beginning Monday of the first week to the next semester.
