HEAVY SEAS PUT VESSELS IN DISTRESS

At Least Two Ships Are in Grave Danger in Mid-Atlantic

TWO LIVES LOST

Members of Crew, Which Made Rescue Attempt Are Drowned.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Out in the mid-Atlantic where seas have reported rolling to 50 feet high, at least two ships with some 60 men aboard are in grave danger and two lives have been given by the crew of the American SS, President Roosevelt, in a heroic attempt at rescue.

Radios reported others, apparently less serious instances of distress during the night and kept the other alive with the hurried effort to report on the disasters and to bring help.

For the second time the International radio week broadcast has been broken into an Atlantic station gave the order to clear the air for mercy messages.

In all, three ships in the apps to distress numerous vessels have been reported delayed, including the liner Leviathan, en route here from Europe with many notables aboard. "The epic of the ocean liner" from the French liner's deck, which reporters termed, resounding the disappearance behind a curtain of smoke of the British freighter, Antinoe with the Roosevelt almost alongside. The Antinoe for a time was feared to have gone down.

At 8:45 P.M. the night a new message came from the Roosevelt. It told of having again sighted the Antinoe, the latter vessel entirely disabled, her engines not working and her lights except her hand lanterns.

The Roosevelt had made gallant efforts to remove the crew from the derelict ship. A lifeboat had been launched in the harbor late during the night. A few days earlier, however, it again the Antinoe, when two sailors were drowned.

The rescuers had to be abandoned temporarily but at last reports came that the Antinoe was still afloat.

The second ship in distress was CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—The seismograph at the University of Chicago today registered an earthquake between 1:46 and 2:39 a. m. The tremor was felt in the Twin Falls area and was short but no distance nor duration could be ascertained.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Jan. 26.—Business was unimpeded by the announcement of the latest tremor, which was last heard yesterday. The visitors boarded a ship and sailed for Catalina Island for a day's outing.

They will not return until tonight and the business of regulating the price of fish and meat will be regularized tomorrow.

K. E. Barnes, Biltmore, president of the Pacific States Biscuit, Egg, Cheese and Poultry association, told the delegates upon opening the doors that he would be more uniform about shape and price.

George Makins, founder of the lumber and saw organization, said, "It was a 'fowl' disaster that the delegates did not bring along their specialities."

"But we know our hams and eggs men, but we want the chores done to keep their distance," he said. "Our wives are with us."

Officer Shot While Arresting Lunatic

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Jan. 26.—Deputy Sheriff Archie Hoffman was shot in the left hip here yesterday in attempting to arrest J. J. Dick, Gandy, a mental patient, believed to be insane. The gunman was unpowered and ledged in the county jail after a battle with officers. Deputies Joseph Turner and Joseph Turner were uninjured.

A bullet from Dick hit Hoffman's head and another, shot in response to the vegetable pistol, was seen flying.

When the officers sought to take him into custody, he opened fire with a revolver. Hoffman's weapon was not believed to be a firearm.

Opposition to Air Force Plan Made

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Secretary of War Davis' proposal to make all aerial corps members of such a branch of the national defense by Major General Mason M. Patrick, head of the Army air service, were brought to the house military affairs committee again today.

The plan, which was voted in the Army air service, Davis indicated adoption of a bill embodying the Moro now round recommendations of increased annual flying pay as the remedy for the aviation situation.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 26.—The house military affairs committee today formally asked Major General Mason M. Patrick, army air service chief, to draw up and present a bill to the Senate.

Senate Message Re-closes.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 26.—

The house military affairs committee, after consulting with the committee of naval aviators, will consider the proposal.

After the proposal, a motion was made to adjourn and other time-killing tactics yesterday, an agreement was sought today to determine what should be taken up now.

When it was voted out, it was suggested that the bill be referred to the committee on arbitration.

Major General George K. Dunn, assistant secretary of state for international air mail, gave the Senate committee a copy of the message to Congress.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—A secret report on the material and personnel condition of the United States navy was submitted to the house naval affairs committee by Assistant Secretary of the Navy Frank L. Evans.

The report, also to disclose serious weaknesses in the nation's first line of defense, was prepared last August by Rear Admiral Robert E. Cominent, commanding officer of the fleet, and Representative Thomas Butler, chairman of the committee.

An inquiry into the entire navy may follow pursuit of the document by Butler, in whose office Kephart was given by Riddleberger, who had given a favorable report of the document to the committee.

Dempsey to Appear in Denver Exhibit

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Stern Justice stared, gulped and took a long breath when

Miles Dempsey, heavyweight champion, was escorted into a traffic-court atrium in a flannel red bathrobe, a pair of silk pajamas and silk hose and slippers.

The young lady who told the court she was the daughter of a railroad inspector in Toledo, O., was entering the third day of a party in her honor at the home of her sister, Miss Velma

Kennedy, when

Dempsey, a used for fresh air and had climbed into her car, placed several bottles of "diplomatic liquor" in the coupe and started off, the driver was seized by an amateur, and the car crashed into a lamp-post.

In about an hour she had collected a half dozen police cars in her wake and when she wear a more conventional costume.

ITALIAN DEATH APPROVED

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26.—The treasury

Birthday Dinner—Mrs. E. A. Wilson entertained with a delicious party on Sunday, complimentary to her daughters, Betty and Vivian, who are the guests of Mrs. Martha Wilson of Pittsburgh, was guest of honor. The guests were seated at three attractively appointed tables, each having a centerpiece of flowers. The menu included baked ham, ham, baked beans, biscuits and gravy, etc. Guests included Mrs. James Maxwell, Marion Wilson, Marjorie Woods, Mrs. Virginia Hart, Peter Wall, Martin Wilson, Betty Wilson, Vivian Wilson and Howard Berg, Harriet Sinclair, Arthur Prather, Ed Debus, Harry Hamann, Kenneth Kriekamp, and Helen Dray.

Fun-Hunting Club—Mrs. Paul Thompson and Mrs. Helen Roberts entertained with a "fun-hunting" party at the home of Mrs. Thomas J. Lincoln Monday evening. Mrs. Felix Plunkett presided over the brief business meeting and the remainder of the time was spent socially. Fun was the evening's motto. The hostesses served a delicious two-course meal at the close of the evening.

B. P. W. C. Luncheon—The regular monthly luncheon of the B. P. W. C. and Professional Women was held Tuesday noon in the "club room." Miss Gladys Terhune was in charge of the program. Owing to the illness of Mrs. Katherine Prout, who was to have spoken, Mr. C. E. Lish spoke in her place on the "Y" and "V" subjects.

Music Teachers Association—Grace Gandy was hostess at the Twin City chapter of the Idaho State Music Teachers' Association at her home on Eighth Avenue east Monday evening. Mrs. A. Gustafson presided at the meeting. The purpose of the association, an method of teaching and other interests of musicians were discussed. The next meeting of the association will be held in four weeks.

Bridge Luncheon—Complimentary to Mrs. Mary Ellen Newman, Mrs. A. J. Peavy entertained with a charming bridge luncheon Monday, in her home on Seventh Avenue north. The table was elegantly arranged with a white table cloth and all appointments and the menu, Mrs. Peavy presented Miss Newman with a lovely silver prize. In the bridge games George Bradley received a victory.

Evening Party—Complimentary to Miss Ethel Tobe, both Sunday afternoons with her parents, Misses Alice and Marie Anderson and Miss Carol Tobe, was held at the home of the latter Saturday evening. Dining formed the evening diversion. Attractive Valentine decorations the rooms, the menus further enlivened the color scheme and decor.

Settle Up Case—That the misdeeds complained of had against John Dietrich by his wife, Mrs. Dietrich, as set forth by H. G. Dietrich was the result of a general misunderstanding is the opinion of officials. It is said to have been settled. According to the version of the county attorney, John Dietrich, son of the famous farmer near Castleford with the understanding that Dietrich would have the strays away by January 1 and it was so stated at a stale hold interview, he would not be held responsible for the condition. The Burnett boys, moved it and stated it was in fact each.

"Unusual interest has been manifested throughout the present school year in debating and forensic activities, particularly in interscholastic debating contests, according to the state commissioner of education. The World Court, entrance of America into the League of Nations and the Child Labor amendment are among the favorite subjects for these words wars which have been and are being waged by Idaho high school students.

Resources and scenic beauties of the Lost River section of Idaho are attractively described in a portfolio which has just been completed by Arco high school students and transmitted to Junior Red Cross headquarters at San Francisco, where it will be translated and sent to the Chifari high school, Chifari, Italy. This story of Idaho grandeur is sent in exchange for a portfolio extolling the beauties of Italian scenery in and about Chiari which was received at Arco through the Junior Red Cross last fall.

There is a tremendous fight on in this nation between the motor busses of America and the railroads. With good roads and millions being appropriated to construct more hard-surfaced highways every year the problem grows in proportion because when you get back to the basis of taxation the railroads pay a huge share of the taxes of the nation and yet they are being taxed by the people in order that a new industry may arise and take their business from them. It is strange that they are gasping for breath and looking this way and that for a friend who will help pilot them over approaching bankruptcy. In our opinion the only hope for the railroads is to place the tariff so low that the motor bus cannot meet the competition. No doubt the one cent a mile excursions of the railroads is a scheme to defeat the motor bus in its infancy. But when the government constructs boulevards for the motorist it certainly is a temptation for the truckmen to immediately put on a freight and passenger service in competition to the railroads which are very often paralleled by these splendid paved roads. Herein the plot thickens.

YOUTHFUL MURDERERS

Americans, strangled in a street car, jolting along in a bus, or seated within their family-circles in the evening, find themselves facing a question that leaves them a little panicky, once its significance has begun to impress itself upon their minds. For these Americans usually have newspapers before them, and in those newspapers they have seen history's most amazing era of crime recorded, day after day, for the past few years.

They have seen a long list of murders, robberies, distinguishing crimes, and, in fact, law violations of all sorts. They have read of crowded jails and swollen court dockets, and of long lists on the police blotter, have scanned editorials crying out against the general lawlessness, and lately they have witnessed a popular magazine devote a number to crime.

In that number was depicted, with the irony of satire, the crime wave that sweeps America today, and the startling part of it was that the subjects were almost all young.

The satire was not misdirected, for it is usually youth that perpetrates the crime of today. The average age of the criminal is below 30, and lately the average has been lower, so far as ages are concerned. And murder, on the part of mere boys is increasing.

During the past two years American society has witnessed an appalling list of murders by young boys. Never before, at least in comparatively modern times, have so many boys in their teens, or rarely out of them, been behind prison bars for murder. There is something ghastly in the combination of immaturity and the power to kill; and society, perhaps for the first time in the history of the world, finds itself afraid of its young and taking steps to protect itself against them.

And when they are caught, in most cases, they tell their revolting tales with naive crudity that seems to indicate that they neither appreciate their own situation nor the havoc wrought by them. It is this ominous phenomenon that causes civilization to wonder what causes its children to crime.

There is the case of Gordon Pirie, 20 years old, and a murderer. He killed his chum, George Nye, robbed him of $5.60, hid the body under the bed they both had slept in and fled.

Nye had come to spend the night with him. Pirie arrived at 4 o'clock in the morning and found Nye, who had been in bed since 1 o'clock. He awoke early in the morning—it was Sunday—went out and bought the papers. They read what they wished, talked a while, and then Nye fell asleep again. According to his own confession, Pirie took an ax and killed his chum simply because he took a notion to! And after that, although he later denied it, the time was weighing on his mind, he went to a nearby show.

THE STORY THIS FAR

Joanna, pretty, soprano, shop girl is informed by husband, her employer, that an unknown man has given her a gift. She is surprised. There are no "strings" to the gift, she is not even to know the name of her generous benefactor. She is shocked. She is a girl of good character, unable to comprehend how she confronts banker suggestion to sell the gift. She is told that she must do so, or face legal action. She is told that she can't tell her employer, the master banker, man of influence, nephew of the banker, her first check and ardently informs her that he intends to make twelve dollars. Joanna leaves the bank and goes to her father—a cheap side-store—to buy a new coat.

"This is but a burlap, but it is a brightness that brilliates him."

"So that's how it gets to you. You don't know anything about a rich gentleman?"

The Rev. Mr. Blodgett was able to attend church Sunday afternoon after almost a six weeks' absence from the flu and pneumonia. He was well enough to walk Sunday afternoon by Ernest D. Blodgett of Twin Falls, whose address was kindly furnished by all who attended.

Gen. Peet and family have moved from the A. T. Scott ranch in the mountains over to the old drug store.

John and Anna, an elderly couple, have moved into the hillside district of Albermarle, who has been visiting the past week with his sisters, Mrs. J. E. Calvert and Mrs. John Taylor. John Murphy now resides in California, where he has recently married a girl.

O. D. Bellwood is busy getting ready to move his stock of drives to Kimberly. Mr. and Mrs. Bellwood have been here for nearly seven years and have made many friends in both the business and social circles who regard greatly the removal.

Members of the church at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hall Wednesday evening. After the regular practice hour an informal gathering was held in honor of Mrs. O. D. Bellwood, who has just returned from a healthful vacation in California. The party was well attended.

Clarence Murphy from New Zealand was in town on a short while Wednesday evening.

John and Anna, an elderly couple, expect to conduct the Sunday morning services and the evening services will be in charge of Miss Eva Brown.

Miss Flora Weber, nurse at the county general hospital visited Saturday and Sunday with friends in Hinton.

'Country Boy' to Be Opening Play for Taylor at Lavinger

"The Country Boy" is the play selected by the Taylor players to open at the Lavinger theatre next Monday night. The opening play will run three nights.

R. Forris Taylor, states that he plans to produce two new plays each week, the changes to be made by the audience.

Taylor is the owner and manager of the company which played in Boise three months last summer, and which is now in Pocatello in its eighth week, playing to capacity audiences at the auditorium theatre.

Workmen are now engaged in making necessary changes in the Lavinger theatre. The seating arrangement has been changed to a reserved seat section and a general admission section. More comfortable whistling entertainment of the company will be made available to the public.

Asked about how he accounted for the phenomenal success he had in his previous tour, Taylor said:

"I made in this section of the country, in the course of my tour, many performances. The seating arrangement was 'all you can eat' prices.' The room is divided into sections, and the audience is seated in boxes. The room has a large balcony.

J. H. S. Moore, who resided in the room as the result of a recent accident, is still in the hospital.

Mrs. Anna is also on the sick list.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster Gaffick enter.

Induced at their beautiful new ranch home southwest of Pocatello on Saturday evening, with six tables of cards.

The conclusion of the game will be followed by a dance.

EDUCATION COSTS THE NATION TWO BILLION DOLLARS YEARLY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Billions of the wastes and increases in efficiency in the expenditure of the nation's $29,000,000 annual bill for public school education is to be the keynote of the work of the National Education Association at its 75th meeting of the Business Administration of Schools section, according to an announcement issued from its headquarters in the department of the interior this morning. The association is appointed to the joint action of secretary of commerce Hoover, secretary of the interior Work, and Dr. Frank W. Billings, president of the department of agriculture and president of the National Education Association.

It is the unanimous opinion of the members of the commission that although the American people have faith in the public schools the cost has been more than tripled in these years. If they can be assured that education is good, and wholly and that the product is the best that money can buy.

For these reasons the first questions which will be dealt with by the commission will be the need for nationalization of present day methods of school administration with the practice in New York in large industrial and commercial establishmenets. It is suggested that the new federal commission hopes to point out the need for legislation to effect without any depreciation of the quality of education given. Such a bill would result in making additional funds available for the expansion of the school plant without adding to the present burden of the taxpayer.

The annual cost of public education has nearly doubled during the past five years and is almost four times as great as it was in 1910.

The increase in cost of course is explained by the loss in the value of the dollar and by the rapid growth in school attendance but by no means all of it. Some of it has certainly resulted from the increased influence of the public in the educational field, the part of the public more interested in better schools, modern equipment, creative facilities, increased extra-curricular activities, better pay for teachers in order to attract better men, an enlarged health care program, teachers' aids dental, medical clinics, and a host of other demands indicating a very positive belief in the public school as an institution which is essential to the welfare and progress of the country.

The commission has accepted Dr. E. C. Gundersen, as its permanent president and has accepted the invitation of Secretary Work to establish its headquarters in the department of the interior. The other members are Hon. John J. Ticer, commissioner of the bureau of elevation, and Dr. Thomas E. Flinck, temporary chairman of the committee of Pennsylvania, distinguished Secretary of Work of the interior department; Elmon H. Goudwin, resident president of the chamber of commerce of the United States, and Eric L. Follett, president of the board of education of the state of Colorado, designated by Secretary Hoover of the department of commerce; Professor George D. Shryock, chairman of the board of education of Omaha, designated by Dr. Follett to represent the department of agriculture, National Education associa-

SIZEMORE CASE SHOWS TANGLE IN THE LAW

Misunderstanding of Situation Result in Binding Over With-out Preliminary, and Delay in Filing Transcript and Information Which Raises Several Legal Issues.

There are acute tangles in the sketch of the presentation of Frank Sizemore, that have arisen in the case for failure to bind over at the preliminary hearing to set the trial straitened out by tomorrow morning; until which time he has taken the under-advised course:

Sizemore was arrested on October 21 and was charged with illegal possession, second offense. He was brought before Justice W. S. Mattingly at a plenary hearing and held for preliminary, without setting the date. On receiving information regarding what happened, Prosecutor J. W. Taylor understood that Sizemore had entered a plea of guilty and had given preliminary on a second offense charge.

The law provides that a man shall be arraigned during the next term of the district court, which in this case would be January 26. Since there is a term change from one month to another however, and that had sundry possible bearings on the case, Transcriber Delay.

The prosecutor waited for the filing of the transcript following which he informed the court that the transcript was filed. In the meantime, however, Judge Baldwin had gone to the hospital, and another question had arisen. Judge Baldwin says that the record should have been filed in the office of the clerk of the court for the duration of the term, but as a matter of fact it does not. It is stated, "The January term was to convene at 10 a.m. on January 18. About half an hour before the time of the commencement was filed in the district court."

Attorney G. V. Larson filed a motion to dismiss on the ground that the law demanding arraignment during the next term of court had not been complied with. The question is whether the November term of court had actually been adjourned before or check January 18. That is, that question does.

Another Angle.

But there is another question, which apparently has not been raised. Prosecutor Taylor had as stated, misinterpreted the situation in the previous court, due to what he had learned of correct information. Sizemore, however, had apparently been advised of his rights and the two transcribers had preliminary in felony cases, such as alleged second offenses in possession.

When Mr. Taylor observed that the transcript had not been filed, he asked the court if that is supposed to be done, and that it appeared Justice Mattingly who had sent up a transcript without a preliminary or waiver and the Justice replied, "Well, I don't know about it." Which Mr. Taylor had actually done under his apprehension of facts.

Mr. Taylor admitted the insincerity of the transcript in the meantime, and Judge Baldwin said, "I think you are right, but I am not going to print a ruling on that question whether the transcript was filed or not filed in time to comply with the provisions of the statute, but not waiving the objection to the failure to hold preliminary."

BLIND ORATOR GIVES LECTURE HERE TO CLUB

N. C. Banks Urges Stern Adherence to Principles of Anti-Gubbin and Necessity of Some Inspiring Form for the Bank Boys.

The man who inspired the late application of the amendment to the Constitution of the Twin Falls Rotary club last evening at the Imperial hotel, N. C. Banks, who lost both eyes and hands in an explosion, delivered his lecture on "Opportunities, Encouragement and Inspiration." Mr. Banks expressed his belief in the importance of our forgotten, who founded that nation upon a noble base and whose stern determination to achieve a heroic end was the power of that nation. He paid a tribute to Washington and many of the other pioneer settlers and builders of this nation. He also spoke of the splendid spirit which the Knights and Ladies clubs are fostering.

Mr. Banks told of his and expected in the explosion which took his sight and his limbs from him. After that sad experience he turned to King James of Scotland, who had a standing invitation to give a concert to benefit in Harrow College on St. Paul's Day in April, 1567. He has been buried in Pittsburgh, Washington, D. C., and Boston, Italy, of the United States.

Mr. Banks' son, D. E. Dowall, some two months ago was accompanied by Mrs. M. G. Dowall. A number of young were present during the dinner by Mayor J. W. Taylor.

Chairman John A. Hobson asked J. H. Masters to present the speaker and soon after the latter had known him for a number of years in Utah.

GAS PUMP PERMIT SYSTEM IS TO BE ENTIRELY ALTERED

Journal, Buhl, on in City Hall on Method of Handling Matters Has No System Worked Out Yet Time for Parking May Be Replaced.

The dead line was fixed by the Twin Falls city commissioners last evening on the indiscriminate issuance of gasoline pump permits, after which it was decided to put off the parking system.

Walter White, State engineer for the place of business on Second Avenue south, and the time-honored "Neve's Auto," marked the end of one era if not the beginning of another. He was not a specialist in gasoline pumps, but the tendency to impose on perplexed streets with tanks must not be stopped, it is said.

The council had been growing weary of the practice of issuing permits in out-of-order and in various directions that this sort of thing must stop. Last evening it decided to take John Shewey's motto that "we do a thing is to do it well." He has no time for that sort of work.

Commissioner Lester suggested that not only is there a tendency to掌管 the streets, but also there is a tendency to put-shoulderized "No Parking" signs in front of the council joined in. Mayor Ashton said that he had written to one about the traffic problem, where it is said to have been solved. The Shewey's auto company is gathering momentum effectively. It is said that so far the best plan for solving the traffic problem is to limit parking to, say, one hour. A policeman goes up and down the street and enforces the spot for each car. He is to turn in his car and run it in.

Mr. Roberts had already bought his place without worrying of the consequences of the new system, and was pleased to install it.

The council granted a permit to Louis E. Plemann to run the Reed hotel in the Hill White building, held up a request from J. G. Gandy, who wanted to run the Ranch, and accepted the report of Mr. Berg that the Fifth avenue paving was completed.

POWER SITE LEASING IS HELD LEGAL

City Attorney Stephen Hobart, Twin Falls, and Statutory Agent for Title Option on Clark, latest possibility is suggested that in later proposed Hazard Contract as drafted might nevertheless vote of people.

What the city of Twin Falls has done to take option on the Clark property is to make a preliminary arrangement with the owner of Clark. At least Frank L. Stephan has evidence in an elaborate opinion filed with the city council in which many county commissioners have signed, that the city will have the right to take option on the Clark property for a period of one year.

Mr. Stephan said that the city has agreed to pay $10,000 to the owner of Clark, and that the city will have the right to take option on the Clark property for a period of one year.

Robert Shankel Gets Exclusive Agency For Aberdeen Coal

ROBERT SHANKEL, Proprietor of the Aberdeen Coal Company of this city, has just secured the exclusive agency for ABERDEEN COAL in Pocatello. This makes two yards in the Gate City which are managed and operated by Mr. Shankel.

Since Mr. Shankel acquired these two yards in Pocatello it makes four yards under his management in Idaho. The Twin Falls yard, the Buhlyard and the two yards in Pocatello. Mr. Shankel states that he intends to establish a string of yards from Pocatello to Seattle. He expects to move his family to the Gate City at some later date when he can get his affairs in shape here.
