WETS DEMAND HEARING ON PLAN AT ONCE

Notorious Criminal Captured; To Be Brought to Justice

TACOMA, Wash., March 8.—Surrounding an apartment house early today, police captured Milo Egerer, notorious criminal who had been missing since his escape with a search since he fled from San Francisco more than a year ago while being taken into the federal building on a charge of piracy and hijacking in Canadian waters.

At the time of his escape, his brother, Arlo, was killed. Cliff Voss, alias William Barthow, the man said to be Egerer's bullet-proof amanuensis, fell into the eyes of Deputy Sheriff John Clegg, who, in charge of the Egerer boys, was arrested here a week ago.

Both men will be taken to San Francisco for trial.

Formation of "Beer Squad" to Check Breweries and Beverage Plants Is Planned by Dry Chief Andrews; Too Much Leakage to Bootleggers.

TOURIST TRAVEL WILL BE HEAVY IN GEM STATE

Milo A. A. Makes Arrangements to Handle Increased Business; Large Amount Spent Last Season by Hunters Here.

BIGEVE, March 8.—The Idaho A. A. headquarters has organized a number of state bureaus from the middle west, from the southwest and from California in route accommodations, etc., in this state.

The first response to a call for a campaign which is announced, will be augmented in funds, permit.

All plans outlined by a committee shall be appointed to conduct a sort of grand jury investigation of the tourist business, etc., in the state, later, unless at the next regular meeting next Monday, Chairman Cummings announced.

Everybody feels tickled.

"There isn't a man in the state of Idaho who is not a bootlegger and most just before prohibition hasn't got it now," Bruce told the committee. "Violation of the law is not illegal, any one can do it, they do not get recruited for the priesthood, they do not do it, they do not do it from the side who have whatever spirit they want."

"The rich man who has money can get any kind of spirit he desires while the poor man drinks rotgut and destroys the body, this is the best," he said.

Bruce spoke in favor of his resolution to repeal the eighteenth amendment and permit states to decide whether or not they should prohibit "prohibition." He said he would start by introducing a plan for governmental liquor distribution fashioned after the Canadian plan.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—The wet triumvirate of the senate and the judiciary, who sat today in demand of their hearings at once.

Arranged under detail of their plan, in fit prohibition on trial before a sort of a Senate grand jury, Senators Elmer, reagan, of Calif., and Joseph T. Hays, of Texas, and Senator New Jersey, democratic, appealed to the committee to take testimony on their bills for modification of the present law.

They plan to bring up every possible question, and then to press the committee to tell how prohibition is working out, and then to say that 2.75 per cent in non-interference.

If their position is denied they will carry a bill in the Senate on the ground that the drys have refused them the full hearing that is usually given proponents of bills pending in Congress.

Senator Bratton, Idaho, republican, announced withdrawal today of his motion made in the committee to prevent the hearings and report the bill unfavorably to the Senate. It is conceded, the drys have an over-weight measure in either house. Consequently, the wetts at this time only want their hearings in the hope that additional public document with the present law will be aroused.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Formation of a "beer squad," to check on breweries and certain beverage plants will be undertaken by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, an enforcement chief, and a corollary to an announcement from today.

At the same time, he announced his intention to create a "wine unit" under the enforcement section.

The purpose of this beer squad will be to check on beer and near-beer plants with a view to preventing leakage into bootleg channels. This will be undertaken in sections of one man here and there which reach out through the entire country.

JUDGE DEFERS OUSTING NEWS REPORTERS

Newspaper Reporters Enter Court With Pockets Stuffed With Supplies of Cigars and Magazines Expecting to be Sentenced to Jail for Contempt of Court.

COURT HOUSE, BAY ST. LOUIS, Miss., March 8.—Walter S. Miller, reporter for the Advertiser, was sentenced to jail for contempt of court for publishing an article critical of the U.S. Postmaster General.

Judge White held a non-jury trial that he would punish newspaper printers printing details of testifying within the county where the trial is being held. Testimony was printed despite the order.

Today the judge, newspapermen and postmaster general and Judge White agreed to adjourn any action until the trial is over. What he might do then he did not say.

were circulated here Sunday. Judge White had refused to act to enforce his order until he had seen in print the testimony, publication of which he was expected to be impossible as an unprinted statement could not be used as evidence of a court.

White had ordered that the details of the trial be not published "in the grounds that it might influence the jury in reaching a verdict in the trials growing out of the present bombing."

SETHURY KELLOGG ORDERED SOUTH TO TAKE REST.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Acting on his doctor's orders to go south to recuperate from a grippe attack, Sethuray Kellogg, president of the Interstate Commerce Commission, has been granted a leave of absence.

White, however, has no means of recovering himself in the South.

Briand Asked to Form New Cabinet for France Soon

PARIS, March 8.—President Doumergue today urged Aristide Briand to form a new government, but the president's statement is expected to result in a split.

Briand arrived from Geneva this morning unharmed but swelling and went directly to the Elysee Palace where Doumergue, who had just arrived from Lyon, awaited him. The conference to aid a cabinet to govern France, has begun.

CAR CONGRESS PLANS SAFETY FOR DRIVERS

NATIONAL MOTOR BODY WILL MEET MARCH 26 TO DRAFT PROGRAM TO PROTECT MOTORISTS.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—A national motor congress, with delegates representing 77 organized automobile clubs in every state of the country, will convene here March 26 to draw a program to protect motorists in the highways and to improve road conditions.

The congress will take up every practical question in which the interests of the country are vitally interested.

Thomas F. Henry, president of the American Motorists Association, stated today in calling the conference.

This year will be the greatest long period of highway and motor traffic in the history of the country.

Just how an automobile should act in a roadside court and his legal rights before such a tribunal will be discussed by the delegates.

Legislation to abolish "speed traps" will be introduced.

One of the delegates, displayed bulging pockets filled with cigarets which were proposed to be thrown out of the house at his incarceration, if it eventually

For five years the western roads have been the scene of extensive legislation to regulate their operation, and a fair culture of their operation has been contemplated by law. During this period the railroads of railway in the East and South have steadily increased, but return to a weaker condition, while the railroads of the West have shown a marked improvement. The western carriers have no means of recovering themselves, nor do they seek to do so. They have, however, applied to the Interstate commerce commission for rate increases.

SETHURAY KELLOGG, president of the Interstate Commerce Commission, has been granted a leave of absence.

White, however, has no means of recovering himself in the South.

GERMANY MAY BE ELECTED BY THE LEAGUE

Solution of Differences in League of Nations Council May Be Solved By Election of Germany to Membership on Condition That Latter Obey Rules.

GRENADA, March 8.—Proposed to the League of Nations council membership on the condition that she would not thereafter veto the candidacies of Spain, Poland or Brazil, is the solution of the League crisis under consideration today.

GENEVA, March 8.—The League of Nations council met yesterday to discuss the election of Germany to the League of Nations through the election of the post-war High Commissioner.

The League is divided again. While one camp reflects the divergent views of its constituents, Brazil and Spain are ready to prevent Germany's election, the council members are simultaneously elevated in membership.

The Spanish delegation has instructed instructions to oppose the election of any but Germany, and the League council reflects the divergent views of its constituents.

A compromise program advanced by the League's High Commissioner, the delegation of London, advanced the proposal of Germany's admission to the League of Nations and the admission of Polish, Brazilian, Spanish and Chinese claims to council membership until the regular League meeting in September.

Senador Hellin, democratic, Alabama, administration leader for the past four years, had warned that any amendment proposed to the League's constitution must prevent the admission of the United States.

The Spanish delegation has instructed instructions to oppose the election of any but Germany, and the League council reflects the divergent views of its constituents.

Coast Guard Skiff Is Reported to Be Missing Today

PORT PILGRIM, Fla., March 8.—Coast Guard today sent a search party to find any trace of a skiff reported to be in the vicinity of the coast.

The skiff, which had just arrived from the Shetland Islands, was last seen at approximately 10:30 a.m. yesterday.

It is not known exactly what it was doing.

NEW YORK, March 8.—Optical wireless telephone messages yesterday convinced Charles J. Bell that such communication is feasible and will be made practicable.

U.S. AND OLD WORLD TALK BY WIRELESS

Experiments With Wireless Telephone Messages Yesterday Convincing Charles J. Bell That Such Communication Is Feasible and Will Be Made Practicable.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Speaking of Sunday's two-way wireless communication test between New York and London, Charles J. Bell, inventor of the telephone, declared today his belief that one day it will be possible to communicate by wireless phone to any part of the world.

The present achievement was "beyond the wildest dreams" of Alexander Graham Bell, the pioneer, according to his kinman.

A letter of Bell written in 1878 reveals that he thought the time would arrive when intercity communication in the world would be possible.

But Mr. C. L. Litchfield, president of stock for the Tourist Park association, says to be progressing in an entirely satisfactory manner.

Charles J. Bell, who has been communicating so far, will not be beaten even if all reports are exact.

The first real test of the system will be in 36 hours.

The unexpected element probably to receive the first word will be in started:

"Tourist to conquer before April 15, 1926, or die."

Then, the League council will be called to meet, and let congress pick the head line and let congress pick the head line if it is drafted.

RECLAMATION TO BE THROWN INTO POLITICS

Appropriations for Irrigation Projects of West May Become Political Football and Subject of Lobbyists Under New Measure.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—There is grave danger, suddenly developed, that the irrigation bills may relate federal reclamation to the low classification of fog rolling legislation. If the plan succeeds, reclamation appropriations of the future will be cut down to the minimum, leaving a large portion of the water projects brought forward.

This development comes at a time when the senate and the secretary of the interior are getting together on a plan designed to insure passage of some new bill, but costly projects.

Senators McNary, of Oregon, and Senator Walsh, of Montana, are introducing a bill into the interior department bill to the effect that when congress makes an initial appropriation for a new project, such appropriation shall be limited to the amount of appropriations for irrigation projects of the West.

SHEPHERD PREFERENCES BUSINESS TO POLITICS

Most men are vain; in fact we would not miss the mark if we said all men are vain, but here seems to be a man who has a very limited amount of vanity, because he has declined the opportunity to run for governor of Idaho. This gentleman is no other than R. E. Shepherd of Jerome, who has been discussed considerably for the office of governor. It would seem that the office is seeking the man rather than the man the office. Here is an editorial comment from the Spokesman Review of Spokane:

"R. E. Shepherd of Jerome, Idaho, in declining to become a candidate for governor, says that he "knows nothing of politics" that the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce, of which he is president, "has set itself up to be a nonpartisan organization and must not be used as a stepping stone in furtherance of political ambitions," and he feels that his "greater-duty-and-greater-service" for service to the people of Idaho lie in the state chamber of commerce rather than in the executive chair."

"Therein speaks the modesty of a capable citizen. Perhaps Mr. Shepherd is wise in holding to a course of proved understanding and service. Many good governors have not been successful business men personally; and many good business men have not successfully filled high public office when it was attained by them. Results in business and industry are attained through autocratic, tactful autocracy, but autocracy just the same. But government can not be run in that way. This is a kind of political democracy, and speaking in generalization, the two lines of leadership call for different temperaments and different abilities."

IT DOES NOT PAY

Grover Bergdolt did not serve in the war but doubtless many times since he has wished he had. He has been hunted like a dog with the rabies. He is not welcome anywhere, not even in Germany. The war has been over for several years but Bergdolt is still a hunted man. He has no friends anywhere. He is now under arrest in Germany on a charge two years old.

Since his refusal to serve with the American army, Bergdolt's life has been a continuous round of grief and trouble. In 1923 he killed a man to prevent his capture by a band bent upon kidnapping him. Since then he has been roaming about Germany drinking heavily, failing in health and acquiring a highly irritable temper.

Seeking retirement during the past year in Baden towns, Bergdolt made occasional trips into Switzerland but found no welcome. Although he lives the life of a man without a country, he probably still possesses the certificate of American citizenship issued by the German authorities to citizens of other countries who are deprived of their regular passport.

WASHINGTON DAILY NEWS LETTER

BY CHARLES P. STEWART,
SEASIDE Writer

WOODROW Wilson hasn't a bit pleased with Colonel Edward M. House's "Imperial Papers," which the colonel is just publishing.

Neither are admirers of William Jennings Bryan.

If there was any doubt about the way they feel toward House, Congressmen Elbert D. Boward of Neosho and John C. McCall of Marion, recently removed it by the speech he made in the subject in the House of Representatives yesterday.

HENRY CADY LODGE is the most prominent man in our community, but it didn't stop anything his huge amount of indigence among the latter's friends that House's has.

D. W. D. CALDWELL
AT THE AGE OF 83

To Dr. W. D. Caldwell, of Caldwell, and his wife, Mrs. Mary, belongs the record of the most difficult case of infantile diarrhea ever seen. That man's son, a healthy infant and childhood, had diarrhea, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child could take it.

Buy a large dessert bowl full of water, add salts, mustard and pepper for yourself.

SYRUP
PEPSIN

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Peppermint, both parents and children can enjoy the most delicious medicine for infants, children and adults.

It is a medicine which helps to digest natural food "regularly," even if it is chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Peppermint not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement, but also relieves the constipation without causing any disturbance to the infantile system.

While he claims that it cures all children, it has not yet been able to cure all children.

He has had many all children, but little he did not believe that it did not help "regularly" was necessary.

CHAPTER XXIX (Continued)

She had been thinking him up to some new strength within himself. She reached over and took his hand again.

"It's a moment in her eyes," she repeated. "Now you give me a funny smile. I know, I like to know things. I like to know things."

"But you don't know me, I'm afraid," she said. "It's not just like that—Shall I marry you? No. There's more, I'm afraid, when you come to think of it. You're not just like that, but I'm afraid, when you come to think of it, I'm afraid."

"I'm afraid," she said, "you explained quite fully, without words, when you came to think of it. You're not just like that, but I'm afraid, when you come to think of it, I'm afraid."
