Mr. and Mrs. George O'Neal entertained with an attractive dinner party at their home Wednesday for several teachers of the Buhel school, the exchange students from the High School of their son, Forrest Eugene. Guests included for Misses Herzen, Johnson, Glendora, Pomery, Hulekowen, and Condit, the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. O'Neal, and June, Georgia, and Anna, the children. The table was set with a birthday cake in yellow and white holding eight yellow candles. At either end of the table were yellow bows at sweet peas. The place cards bore Easter greetings. Following dinner the entertainment was spent with cards. Mrs. O'Neal was assisted in serving by Miss Condit.

The members of the Epiphany Guild met Thursday evening at eight o'clock at the home of Mrs. James Smith No. 101. Mrs. Alice Wheling assisted hostess. Mrs. E. L. Atkinson presided over the business session. A very favorable report from the bazaar and dinner held Saturday under the auspices of the Guild was made at this time. Mrs. Wheeling read a chapter from the study book. The bazaar was opened with various refreshments during the social hour.

The Presbyterian Missionary Society entertained with a delightful one-o'clock luncheon in the parlor of the church Thursday. Mrs. J. L. Breckinridge, the president, introduced the toasts, Mrs. G. C. McRae, to Mrs. W. F. Gamble, "The Spirit of Mission in the Past"; Mrs. Charles Dwight, "The Power of Mission in the Present"; Mrs. D. Irwin, "The Glory of the Future". The luncheon was served by Mrs. Drachen, "Transportation Charge". Musical selections were given by Mrs. G. M. Hall and Mrs. T. J. Douglas, a duet, and Mrs. Glenn Huie, two solos. "Sunday and Sunday" and "The Bells" were the best received. The rooms and tables were tastefully decorated with early spring blossoms.

The members of the Buhel and Professional Women's clubs of Burley and Rupert were entertained by the Twin Falls club members on Friday evening. The room was attractively decorated for the occasion in Easter colors. Miss Ada Winkington in a charming manner extended greetings to the visitors and Mrs. Ida Dryer, "The Queen of the Club", was the most cordial hostess. The twin clubs exchanged decorations for the duration of the meeting. The Twin Falls club members were present. Refreshments were served and a birthday cake, with eight candles and three small candies.

Mr. Deameran.
The club was entertained with all possibilities by host in Twin Falls April 3. Twin Falls was fortunate in having students place in each of the four sections of the district contest which was held last Friday. The students from Twin Falls gave the following selections: Mr. Deameran, "The Little Sister"; Mrs. Anthony Kid, and Mr. Lt. Lamb.

A Little News.
The program committee of the Student Association of the high school is planning a gathering for Saturday in the nature of a novelty where the different parts are acted out by students instead of being published with the name of the person. One of the interesting features of the program will be the costume in which the students of Coach Neal and Coach Harry will be impersonated by students. All the other departments of the paper will be fully edited.

Junior Play.
The new high school auditorium was comfortably filled last Friday evening when the Jesters gave their annual play. Members of the class "and the class adviser, Miss Bobenek and Miss Schaeffer, were well pleased with the play. We are to express our appreciation of the services of Mr. Holmes who directed the orchestra, in the place of Mr. Harry, who was with the basketball team at Boise.

Mr. Joseph Lewis Slugs.

Mr. Joseph Lewis, representative of Gilman and Company, distributed the students with a number of coins at a special assembly Tuesday morning. The coins were well received and were well treated favorably. The students were glad to know that they would have the pleasure of hearing him again before long. After he had given the coins he was requested to say a few words regarding the work of

"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for some time and I would not be without it in the house. It has been a great help to me. I have to have a doctor to get on my feet a great deal and your medicine has been a great help to me. I am hardly able to do my housework now but I am doing it now. I have to do what I can and go out nursing besides. I have also used the Sanitary Wash and found it good. I am sending you $1.00. I live at 109 Davis St., Greenwich, Mass."

Vegetable for Weakness.
"I have found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a valuable medicine for weak lungs. I am sending you $1.00. I live at 109 Davis St., Greenwich, Mass."

Hundreds of letters like these are received by the Pinkham Medicine Co., 109 Davis St., Greenwich, Conn., from Mass., Maine, Calif., and from Pennsylvania to Washington, from Texas to Illinois and from Rhode Island to New England. The compound has improved since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

BUHL NEWS

By M. M. VAN PATTEN

The weather has been very inviting for the boys who plan to go on for baseball and track. Last evening the week 32 boys reported for baseball and 20 for track. It is early in the season to make any predictions regarding the strength of the school either in baseball or track. Some new equipment has been acquired with the help of the parents and the toasts, Mrs. G. C. McRae, to Mrs. W. F. Gamble, "The Spirit of Mission in the Past"; Mrs. Charles Dwight, "The Power of Mission in the Present"; Mrs. D. Irwin, "The Glory of the Future". Transportation charges. Musical selections were given by Mrs. G. M. Hall and Mrs. T. J. Douglas, a duet, and Mrs. Glenn Huie, two solos. "Sunday and Sunday" and "The Bells" were the best received. The rooms and tables were tastefully decorated with early spring blossoms.

Plot Bared

Mrs. Atherton French, 24 Oberlin, of KIRKWOOD, was third of her kind. So she asked Carl B. Buhl, 22 Oberlin, to hire a gunboat to kill the Duke. But when he got to the city he discovered by mistake and tried to hire him. The two were arrested and have confessed, according to Mrs. French.

There is a great shortage of pitchers. A number are trying out but only one or two have had any experience. Mr. Neal has been fortunate with his finds. He has signed with the Nampa high school, with the Nampa high school, two games will be played at Nampa May 6 and 7, two more games will be played at Buhl April 29 and 30. Those who make the trip to Nampa for baseball will have the opportunity to attend the meet with the hope that some of the Buhl high school boys will be competing at the meet.

Miss Ada Winkington in a charming manner extended greetings to the visitors and Mrs. Ida Dryer, "The Queen of the Club", was the most cordial hostess.

SHALL WE CLOSE THE SUGAR FACTORY?

There is grave danger just now that the Amalgamated Sugar factory will not operate this season in Twin Falls county unless a greater acreage of beets is contracted in the very near future. The president of the factory was here recently and stated that if the people of southern Idaho did not wish to have the factory in this section they had better plan to move it to some other place. One farmer stated that it would be a calamity to this part of Idaho to allow the sugar factory to cease operation even for a year. This farmer want-on-to-explain how much the presence of this sugar factory means in the increased valuation of the land in this section. If this factory should be removed for any reason every acre of land in Twin Falls county would be worth just that much less and yet no fair-minded American can ask this concern to remain here and lose money on their investment. The tonnage of beets is too small to operate this factory satisfactorily to anything like capacity or even to half its capacity and yet the sugar beet crop is one of the safest and perhaps the best paying crop in year in and year out that is grown on the Twin Falls tract.

Farmer after farmer stated last evening in a get-together meeting here that they had made money on sugar beets for several years, not just for one year. The citizens of Twin Falls county should make a determined effort to secure a larger acreage planted to sugar beets in order that the county will be assured of this fifty thousand dollars tax income, besides the huge sum which this factory pays out every year for heats, labor and other necessities to run the factory. Let's do something today.

SENATE POLL-GOOD INDEX ON PROHIBITION

The poll of the senate which reveals a big dry majority is a better index to popular opinion than the newspaper poll started, with the endorsement of Congressman W. D. Upshaw, dry congressional leader, on March 10. The senators, who are just as honest as other folks in expressing convictions, never wholly get their ears from the ground. Two reasons for dry apathy were the fact that they already are in possession and, therefore, less dynamic and belligerent than those outside; and the fact that they were advised not to vote by some of their leaders who did not agree with Congressman Upshaw as to method, in endorsing the National Editorial association poll. The poll does not necessarily indicate that the senators believe in prohibition; it indicates they think the people do.

Though perhaps technically incorrect, the statement of Senator Borah that it would take "a congressional amendment to change the Volstead act" is substantially true. The law cannot be constitutionally changed so as to permit the sale of intoxicants. At present it forbids the sale of any liquor containing more than one-half of one per cent alcohol. In old days statutes, ordinances and court decisions frequently placed the dividing line between intoxicants and non-intoxicants at two per cent alcohol content; and two per cent dispensaries were frequently operated in dry cities, counties and states. It is possible that congress could pass an amendment permitting the sale of liquids with not to exceed two per cent alcoholic content and be upheld by the courts, but certainly it could not go above that mark and get by. On the other hand, there is no enthusiasm anywhere over such a change. Nobody is asking for a law permitting sale of two per cent liquor. It does not "ouch the spot."

Certainly the proposal to permit the sale of light wine and beer, which would contain from four to eight percent alcohol, would be unconstitutional, and as this is the only proposal widely discussed, Senator Borah is substantially correct in saying that an amendment to the Volstead act would be unconstitutional.

To get a change in the constitution, it would be necessary to have two-thirds of both houses vote to submit the matter to the states and get three-fourths of the states to vote for the change. No such thing is even remotely possible, hence those who talk of changing the law are either deceived themselves or are seeking to deceive others. Repeal of prohibition is not a live political issue.

The National Editorial association and the 700 newspapers connected therewith, acted in good faith in taking the poll and were not responsible for the fact that the drys did not vote, as Upshaw hoped that they would. But the generators know how the people would vote at the polls and their interviews generally show how the constituents stand in the several states on this issue.

Farmers Describe Advantages of Beet Crop Here

Banquet of Business Men and Farmers Hear Subject of Sugar Beet Growing Discussed; Growers Express Confidence in Beet Crop and Urge Large Acreage For Sugar Beets; By-products of Beets Stressend and White Fly Pest Under Control Is Belief.

An interesting meeting of about forty representative farmers of the Twin Falls tract was held at Tom's Cafe on Thursday evening, at which time a round table discussion was held concerning the sugar beet industry and its by-products. The men of their personal experience in raising sugar beets were cited by the various growers present at the meeting, which proved in an highly enlightening, quite effectively proving that sugar beets are one of the farmer's best bets from the standpoint of cash returns.

W. E. Petzold stated that he had raised beets for seven years and found that period that beats paid the highest return. One or two years most other crop would beat him, but year in and year out, they turned the most profitably.

C. McFarland stressed the by-products. Feeding cattle on sugar beets in winter made up for the loss and keeping them out of mitigate thus building up better families and better homes, besides making good profits. Instead of burning up straw, make them into fertilizer. He thought more farmers should raise some beets even if he took a loss one year to insure keeping the factory here.

J. E. White told of some of his experiences with sugar beets and the crop he had on northern Colorado.

Glen Whitney thought the chamber of commerce should devote more of its time to the industry. That the city of Twin Falls reaped many benefits from the sugar beet operation, the business men also being put forth very little effort.

Mr. Noe Sheep have a brief report of water conditions showing that the water supply seemed adequate for all requirements.

James Hulme of Idaho said that it was necessary to keep beets from freezing in the fall of milk 22-23 per cent when pulp is fed. He stated that the by-products of sugar beets would pay for the cost of growing them.

Albert Bevington, a retired man, said that he liked the sugar beet crop and feeds more money than paid for all the labor on the beet field.

W. L. Husted said that he had been a member of the beet field for the last ten years. He advocated an association of farmers to assist the sugar company in securing sufficient acreage each year to meet the needs of the factory, and that it would be almost impossible to interest capital again in any enterprise on the Twin Falls tract if the sugar company were forced to move through the state.

J. J. Husted said that he liked the sugar beet crop and feeds more money than anything else he raised. He was endeavoring to interest his neighbors and hoped that the acreage would increase every year.

W. L. Husted suggested that each farmer who had signed a contract increase his acreage. He had already done so.

Charles W. Collier said that he was taking care of the main office, writing letters. That he had increased his
