

WILSON FALLS IN STRONG OPPOSITION TO PROHIBITION

FRENCH DEBT SOLUTION IS NEAR, BELIEF

Preliminary Agreement Reached by Mellon and French Legation; Ratified by Cabinet on Presentation by Premier Briand

Paris, April 20.—Preliminary agreement for funding the $120,000,000 French debt to the United States has been reached by the French ambassador, Henri Briand, and Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon. Premier Briand told the French cabinet today that the preliminary agreement had been reached and was unanimously ratified.

The agreement, Briand said, has not yet been signed. The preliminary agreement before the cabinet and was unanimously ratified. Willing Briand was reporting progress toward settling the French loan, but he said he was not sure of all time on the local house where 21 would pay 30.5 francs compared with yesterday's closing quotation of 27.5 francs.

Today was the fifth consecutive business day in which the franc had established a new low record. The present amazing slump began last Thursday.

The cabinet's final decision and decision were not made public until the French cabinet met today. It was understood that Briand and Mellon's agreement would be approved by the American debt commission, but the definite nature of the cabinet's approval indicates that the French government is positive in its intention to accept the preliminary agreement.

It was understood that the provisional agreement was substantially in line with the terms of the agreement which was reached in Paris in 1916. France would pay $25,000,000 yearly for five years, representing an increase of $5,000,000 yearly over the interest payment now being made. The $100,000,000 annually which has been paid to the United States for some years represents interest on the $200,000,000 of the 4 1/2 per cent bonds purchased by France at the close of the war. This debt, it was understood, would be cancelled when the borrowed debt under the new agreement and the amount of $25,000,000 would be applied against the total.

France was understood to have relinquished the advanced claim which would have provided that if any time in the future the amount of the French debt should change there would be an appropriate alteration in the French debt payments. In effect this would mean that the French debt to the United States dependent upon German reparations payments to France.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Secretary of Treasury Andrew W. Mellon said the French ambassador, Henri Briand, had indicated that the French treasury had reached a "working basis" for the funding of the French debt to the United States. Briand said that a "tentative agreement" had been reached. The treaty today set the stage in effect as far as information received from the French debt commission is called into question.

COLD WEATHER AND THE POLICE RULE STRIKERS

Jersey Governor Continues Hands-off Policy; Striking Textile Workers; In-statement Speech Is Prodominating Issue

PASSAIC, N. J., April 20.—The New Jersey textile mill strike again is well through another peaceful day. The combination of near freezing weather and the presence of scores of armed policemen and sheriff's deputies near the mills kept the strikers in apparent respect of order.

The forces of the law outnumbered the strikers three to one. In Passaic there were pickets at all the mills. It was so cold in the Passaic valley that the policemen and strikers jumped up and down and rubbed their hands to keep warm.

The issue of freedom of speech continued to dominate the strike. While Governor Moore of New Jersey maintained his hands-off policy and asserted that he had no power to interfere unless the officials in the strike area went beyond a denunciation of "outrages," Governor Albert Woodard, Maryland graduate and strike leader with his own content that the issue here is national.

Constitutional freedom of speech and of assembly are involved they say, pointing to the injunction obtained by the Passaic town fathers which restricts the strike leaders from even discussing the strike. Woodard said that the critical moment has come. We will test this injunction this week.

His followers admit that he courts arrest, but his speech on the right of freedom of speech in the court as the central issue. Governor Moore's expression of support for a denunciation of "outrages" who, he declared, were "the leaders of the strike." The governor said he was willing to act as mediator in the strike.

DESTRUCTION IN WAKE OF LAVA STREAM

Avananche of Molten Rock Sweeps through Plantations of Hawaii; Natives Perform Ancient Rites to Appease Wrath of Legendary Godesses

HONOLULU, April 20.—Behind a dense pall of smoke, a new avalanche of lava is crashing its way through the forest toward the rich agricultural lands on the Kilauea cone of Mount Loa.

Occasional rifts in the clouds give observers a glimpse of a line of the molten red and gray forest as it presses on toward the deserted plantations.

Scientific observers are hampered by the smoke screen but from glimpses of the flames of fire and new spurts of lava, all the elements of the volcano for their applications, natives are bewildered and frightened.

Passengers on an inter island steamer saw the new eruption. They were told that the lava flow was the most devastating area. The crater they said flared like a great torch and the eruption and quakes followed.

Aunt Harriet's Share in Her Grand "Party"

Aunt Harriet lived in a remote Kentucky village, and was locally famed for her quilting. For many months she had been sewing her slender seams "to give a grand party," she said.

At last the great event came. All Aunt Harriet's friends, dressed in their best, were present, and the evening was most enjoyable, the only drawback being the mysterious absence of the hostess.

Meeting her the next morning one of the quilting guests of the night before spoke rapturously of the party.

"You certainly did you enjoyed yourself?" queried the old lady, becoming very confidential. "So it really was a success? Yes? My! I certainly should like to have seen it."

"But why were you not there, Aunt Harriet?"

"My Lord, child," answered Aunt Harriet, her face with shining with delight. "I had to stay in the kitchen and wash the dishes—Everybody's disgrace."

EARLY SPRAY FOR FRUIT TREES GETS DEAN'S APPROVAL

"The experience of the last two years, especially has demonstrated that control of the apple blight, or apple scab, can only be satisfactorily obtained by ventilation on the first frost of winter," said Deputy Inspector E. V. Gilson, the controller. "Also the present method of spraying cannot apply here in another way of saying, late sprayed apples assumed alarming proportions this year and will undoubtedly have a serious effect on the marketing of winter fruit this year, unless the practice can be avoided. We must get the worms early."

Hence the following recommendations from M. L. Dean, head of the bureau of plant industry in Idaho, which should receive the careful consideration of all fruit growers in this territory:

Mrs. Gilson quoted the following from a circular received yesterday from M. L. Dean, director of plant industry:

"The time is at hand when efforts should be completed for the application of the early spray for apple blight control. I mention this early spray because experience for the past few years has taught us that the double early spray is the only safe method to get real cooling mist control. Control now must have been by the double early sprays you can get it."

Late sprays are dangerous because they have a poisonous result upon the apple that is considered to be of assistance by the trade, especially in the foreign territory. Inspections will be made by the Federal Plant and Disease Control and fruit showing this condition cannot be shipped, hence early control apply a double early application. The first should be applied as soon as the petals begin to fall, with mixed varieties such as Jonathan and James, repeat in ten days. Use four to six gallons of spray, with mixed varieties such as Jonathan and James, repeat in ten days. Do not use more than six pounds, but use it thoroughly. Spray early and thoroughly, thereby avoiding late applications. Thoroughness warrants efficiency. Watch for the spray dates of the department, then follow care fully.

BALL CLUB TO ARRIVE HERE TODAY

Sports Writer for The Times Named Official Scorer for Twin Falls Club By League President.

Zamloch Expected to Schedule First Workout Wednesday; Lincoln Field to Be Used for Practicing.

Class baseball is scheduled to enter Twin Falls this afternoon with all the glory and pomp befitting its position. It is to be in the role of the Twin Falls baseball club of the Lincoln League.

Carl Zamloch, the Twin Falls manager, has five or six other players with him and is scheduled to arrive shortly after 6 o'clock. Training will start Wednesday afternoon on Lincoln field. It is believed, however, that the complete team of nine players will permit Bill Hartke to complete his heavy parlor operations at Athletic park.

Official Scorekeeper named Vernon E. Allen, sports writer for The Twin Falls Times, has been named official scorer for the Twin Falls club by President Fred S. Syc of the Lincoln League, and reports of the Times report says will be able to see the complete team of nine players together with occasional figures indicating the batting and fielding percentages not only of the Twin Falls club, but of all clubs in the league.

Mr. Allen was formerly with the Salt Lake Tribune sports staff and in addition has been in the employ of The Star-Tribune, the Denver Times and The Rocky Mountain News at different periods during the past seven years.

Principal business of the afternoon following the arrival of the baseball delegation, will be the selection of a place to play in Twin Falls. High officials have made some preliminary negotiations in this connection but explained this morning that the matter will be left almost entirely to manager Zamloch and his players.

May Practice Wednesday. It is expected that Zamloch will call a short workout for Wednesday afternoon and that by Thursday a regular training program will have been outlined and a possible schedule to include a few practice games will be announced.

Several local fans have been practicing recently and are said to give Zamloch an opportunity to watch them do their stuff and, according to a communication received this morning, Bob Wilcox, is coming from Portland to present his talent for consideration by manager Zamloch.

The pills, reports have it, are in motion to look over all of the local fans and will not deny anyone who may desire to try out, at least a chance to show enough stuff to make the squad.

Coming Over

Tom Fernie famous English golfer will soon have his American visit with Gordon Lockhart, another British visitor, to compete in a series of matches. They will play in Boston, New York and several other large cities, moving some of the best players in the country. Fernie is shown below getting in shape for the season.

TRACK MEET IS RESUMED

Old Jimmie Phyness, who ruined the Twin Falls High school invitational track meet Saturday by ending a downpour of rain to scatter the gallery and performers, had his first training afternoon and let the sun shine, while the athletes returned to their labors.

The second attempt started at 2:25 o'clock was a continuation of the former meet rather than the starting a new one.

When the starter's gun barked on the first event of the afternoon, the meet and Phier were in the lead with 9 points each, and Twin Falls was running second with 5 points.

Bill had 4 points, Phier 3. After the first three events of the afternoon, Twin Falls had 16 points and Phier and Rupert had increased their total in 14 points. Bill had answered 5 more points for a total of 9.

50 Years of Meat

Fifty years of the meat industry, and the part Swift & Company has played in it, are outlined in an interesting way in the Semi-Centenary Number of Swift & Company's Year Book.

The story of the world's greatest live-stock industry is a story of Romance, Science, and Progress. The trek of vast herds of cattle—the "cow towns"—dramatic frontier days—all have a part in this history of vast development.

An interesting account is also given of Public Benefits Resulting from Cold Storage. How the Breeding of Quality Cattle Has Been Helped by Modern Packing Methods.

CANAL BOARD EXPECTS TO TEST DECREE

Sentiment Favors Securing Interpretation by Court of Order of Judge Walters as Applied to Recent Developments; Favors New District.

Details regarding the proposed increase of irrigated acreage of 50,000 acres were laid before the canal board this afternoon by J. W. Walters, general manager and representative of the interested companies. The board expressed a desire to no more fully into legal issues involved, while expressing warm sympathy with the idea.

Steps will be taken by the Twin Falls Canal company to secure an interpretation of the Foster decree of Snake river water in given years ago by the district court in which Judge Walters presided, in order to apply it to present conditions on the river. It is claimed by the Twin Falls Canal company that actual application of the decree has been deprived of from 110 to 210 second feet during the irrigation season and that this will make a material difference in the amount needed in a short year. The company also claims that the measurement of water is carried on under the wrong system and by the wrong method.

Shredman Has Not Retired. In regard to measurement, W. G. Shredman, reclamation commissioner, has decided that the Twin Falls Canal company has acquired the present system to a decree which jeopardizes its rights, but he has made no ruling relative to the interpretation of the Foster decree. The method of securing an interpretation of this decree as applied to present conditions has not been determined. In the matter of measurement, the Snake river districts are with the Twin Falls company, but in the matter of the Foster decree, they take the opposite position.

Problem of 50,000 Acres. The matter of the proposed irrigation of 50,000 acres more which is arousing great interest, the board members favor if the board decision and distributing problems can be carried out. There is a sentiment that the matter should be fully presented to the stockholders of the canal company for decision and that as many facts as possible relative to all angles of the case should be ascertained.

Starts Water at Dam. President T. M. Baird and Manager Burton Smith returned this afternoon from a committee of five meeting at American Falls, where it was sought to bring out the differences regarding water losses and gallons from Blackfoot down. They reported that no agreement had been reached. Water is being held back at American Falls, they said. Mr. Smith said that while he believed the 50,000 additional acreage would require much study into details. The matter of the siphon for water asked by the Clover tract was up for discussion without determination at present time.

ARTESIAN HOLOWATER WELL ISSUE

Question Whether Well Put Down by D. B. Moorman Interferes with Previous Ones Owned by the Artesian Hot Water Co., Given Preliminary Hearing Before Judge T. Bailey Lee.

Whether the well put in by D. B. Moorman et al and operated by a pumping station is an interference to a previously sunk artesian hot water well is a question tentatively presented yesterday in Harley by Judge T. Bailey Lee, in a motion for injunction by the Artesian Hot Water company. Walters & Barry represent the company, while Holsen & Chapman and W. L. Dunn, attorneys for Mr. Moorman. The action grows out of an old injunction suit started in 1917 by Jim Bowers and Sarah Bowers, his wife, to prohibit Mr. Moorman from putting in a well. The district court of Idaho granted the injunction and permitted the sinking of the well, but left open the issue whether after it had been sunk it would prove an interference to the older well. The Artesian company, present owner of the older well, now asserts to be a fact, while the defendants deny that it is. Both were operated by Jim Bowers. Judge Lee appointed Engineer C. L. Stevenson to make an investigation and report in two weeks. Final hearing will be held May 3.

OREGON TRAIL TO HAVE NEW PUBLICITY

Valuable Views and Records Furnished by Jacob Fluogerman to New York Herald.

That the Idaho section of the Oregon Trail will receive much advertising this summer is the opinion of C. E. Hulse who has been in close touch with the National Highways association in working out maps and plans during the last winter. "Since the middle of March I have had twenty letters, from various sources asking about the old Oregon Trail," said Mr. Hulse. "Most of these letters deal with historical points and I think that one of the most puzzling things that people who have been to the road which led to the California gold fields along the trail refer to." "For a good many years I have gathered considerable data about the trail in Idaho," Mr. Hulse explained, "and some of this I began making a series of purely historical narratives covering each section of the old trail as I could trace with accuracy. "I did the work at first as a hobby and because of my great interest in preserving the history of Idaho's share in the Oregon Trail, but I find that it soon did both my pleasure and my duty. It is now being prepared for publication and it is of increasing service to many organizations. I think a great deal of publicity will come to southern Idaho this summer through Trail articles."

The New York office of the Highways association notified Mr. Hulse that the department of the Colorado bill providing the honor of representation will be made. Should the bill become law, a large number of Memorial coins will be made to commemorate the Old Oregon Trail.

FLY TABOO AND RESTRICTION ON DOGS IS PLAN

Protest against conditions alleged to exist in lots 15 and 16, block 123 on Fourth avenue west, relative to flies and dogs from livestock and owned by another developer from 20th and 24th avenues north resulted in an interpretation of the ordinance by Attorney Frank L. Stephens, to the effect that if a balance, such should be made, and that, further, all refuse in all stables, yards and the like should be kept in airtight receptacles. The police were instructed to enforce the ordinance. Having observed the case, the council turned next to dogs. The board, on suggestion of Commissioner T. J. Bourne voted to have the city attorney draft an ordinance to have owners of canines keep them up from half an hour before sundown to half an hour before sunrise. On suggestion of Commissioner W. T. Leslie, instruction was given to impose a fine of $25 for allowing dogs to roam.
