CUBS TAKE PIRATES FOR DRIVING

Apperson Shines in Outer Garden; Heffner Struggles Through to Victory; Field in Bad Shape.

Alfred had abetted by Industrial Park Apperson, who you will notice, took such pains to get the center garden, the Bruins returned to their old stride at Barley yesterday afternoon and defeated Peacocks 6 to 2, in the eighth of a three game series. The victory, coming with the defeat of the Colquhans at the hands of the Blues, put the Blues more in line with the unflattering leadership of the league.

Condition of the Barley & Apperson was a disappointment to Twin Falls fans but the players made the best of the situation even though the infield was covered with an inch of dew! In which had been scattered on the night of game.

Jim Heffner was on the mound for the Bruins and was perfectly effective and effective in his performance by the club helped him through the game although James, himself, was hardly what might be termed a crutch.

Cunningham pitched a neat ball for the Pirates and got along nicely with the exception of the fifth, which was the Bruins took two doubles and two singles for three runners. Aside from that frame, the game was nilly.

This afternoon at 4 o'clock the clubs meet at Athletic park in the second game of the series.

Don't forget the Sunday game at 4 o'clock.

Missionary Tells of Cold Spells in Alaska

Watching the thermometer, slaving, cool, and heating to one's breath, every one here in Winthrop, Alaska, are the excited, current events in the life of Rev. Robert H. Marquis, a missionary at Nunami, Alaska, according to a report received by the Presbyterian board of national missions.

Mr. Marquis had been a Sunday school teacher in Winthrop, but took his wife and child to Alaska last summer, and now tells the board he likes his new work, despite the Arctic conditions.

"We are experiencing some real Alaska weather," he writes. "It went down to 75 degrees below last night and has only warmed up to 10 below in the middle of the day, so we are spending most of our spare time carrying coal. When it goes down to between 40 and 50 below zero, a fog develops; that is, every bit of moisture freezes, and the colder it gets, the more fog, so that at night one can hardly see a light a block away. On the higher elevations they do not have the fog."

"The steel trail has drifted a good deal, on the last trip the mill gears had to break trail first, with one horse and then another, and then take the steel, which made some going. On the outgoing trip I had a wheel break on a middle-aged married woman. She froze her nose. She was determined, however, to go to the next trail camp, even though the driver wanted to return to the one he had left."

"On the return trip he brought a young woman with a three-month-old baby. While the driver was breaking trail she would go along with a flashlight to show him where the trail was. She had the baby wrapped up in a rabbit-skin rug in the sled near a footstool, but it became too warm, so that she had to take some of its wraps off."

Good Start. Attached to the early morning train going east was a car for laborer. The latter got between this car and the one in front was closed, so that no one who belonged in the front passenger car would stray into the special car. A passenger standing on the back platform of the regular passenger coach, peered curiously through the lattice work and the open door into the car beyond. A sign in the balustrade car promptly blazed out, "Hoo, hoo, hoo." Immediately the car closed its door, and "Hoo, hoo, hoo," they went in chorus, in soles, in drink, for all the world like a cattle train loaded with sheep. It ended in a host of laughter from all the men and as the car pulled out of the station it was evident they had put themselves in good humor for the day's work.—Springfield Union.

FARM REVOLT AGAINST FORDNEY TARIFF

BY JAMES D. WHEELAN

The defeat of the Haugen bill, for farm relief, is the culmination of an effort on the part of the farmers of the middle west to get governmental aid to secure some benefit from the protective tariff. The Corn Belt Farmers' association, and the republican legislature of Illinois, both declared by resolution that the farmers do not get benefit from the Fordney-McCumber law as at present administered. Congressman Ransover, republican from Iowa, said May 10, "The ineffectiveness of the tariff on agricultural commodities, in which there is a surplus, and the continued distress of agriculture is conceded." Friends of the bill cited figures to show that the farmer dollar is now relatively but 60 per cent of the pre-war farm dollar.

Congressman Haugen, himself a lifelong republican, was not content with generalities, but drew many figures to prove the same thing from the agricultural reports. Notwithstanding the high tariff on wheat, a large part of the time between June 1921 and April 1926, the Canadian price was higher than the American price. Haugen assumed that when the American price was higher than the Canadian it was partly due to the tariff, though many experts say that fluctuations of this sort between Canada and the United States are mostly due to local conditions in the two countries. However, at no time, as shown by Haugen, was the difference equal to the tariff plus the Canadian price, and transport cost.

In butter, say the present price of 1926 to April 1, the average New York and Copenhagen prices were just the same, 80 cents, Mr. Haugen showed. The tariff was 12 cents a pound and water transportation one cent. So if the tariff were fully effective, the New York price would have been 92 cents. As a matter of fact, it was not effective even a penny. Last year's butter exports exceeded imports by a considerable per cent. On the other hand the protected trumps collect full tariff on manufactures. On corn, a great crop in the Mississippi valley, Haugen showed from agricultural reports that for the current year, so far, the Chicago price has averaged 77 cents. The Argentine price in that country has been 75 cents a bushel, there is an Argentine export tax of a cent a bushel and the freight would be 11 1/2 cents. This would mean that, without any tariff, it would cost 87 1/2 cents to lay Argentine product down in Chicago. The tariff is 15 cents a bushel, hence if the Argentine corn was really a competing factor, and if the tariff were effective, the American corn ought to bring $1.02 1/2 cents on the Chicago market, or 25 1/2 cents more than it did bring.

Haugen showed a lot more things, all along the same line. The writer believes that there are serious constitutional and economic objections to the Haugen measure as presented, but the facts cited by its author show very clearly why the farmers want some direct assistance when they cannot be relieved from the Fordney-McCumber affliction.

WHAT PROHIBITION HAS DONE

Increased the deposits in the savings banks by hundreds of millions of dollars. Built thousands of homes from money which heretofore went into the saloons. Freed millions of women and children who were slaves and sufferers. Made incomplete working men competent by giving them clearer minds and healthier bodies. Put out of business hundreds of breweries and distilleries, thousands of saloons and hundreds of dens of vice. Made less poverty than the country has known for many years. Made hundreds of missions and relief agencies unnecessary because there are so few drunkards and drunkard's families to care for. Closed homes for drunkards and cures for drunkenness for lack of patronage. Has taken the drunkard from our streets and made his appearance a curiosity and a cause for comment. Has not alone depleted the numbers in our jails and prisons but actually closed some of the jails in the smaller towns because there are no prisoners. Improved the general health and moral life of the entire nation.—Johnston Myers.

WASHINGTON DAILY NEWS LETTER

BY CHARLES F. STEWART
NRA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—The Congress asked him, point blank, the other day, "Will your bill raise the price of food?"

There's no denying it will add to prices," was Haugen's answer. "But," he added, "my bill, say the considerations referred to above, would act as a brake on the advance." "But," he continued, "my bill will reduce the price of food."

Just how stiff the increase will be, Haugen admits he can't tell. "That's one of the things about a tariff," he said, "that you don't know how far it will go until it is put into effect."

That's the argument.

CONGRESSMAN GILBERT S. HAUGEN of Iowa practices it. As the plan's author, he, if any body, ought to know how it will work.

Congressman Clark of New York

The Mint's Sidelines

The United States mints make other objects besides coins. All of the medals for the army and navy are turned out by the mints. Medals of all the Presidents, the Secretaries of the Treasury, the Secretaries of the Mint, have been designed and executed by the mints. Recently the mints inaugurated the practice of making medals of the Under Secretary of the Treasury. Congress has authorized the mint to make up 40,000 medals to commemorate the arrival of the first batch of Norse implements of the gold and silver of the Northwest which is to be celebrated at the Scandinavian Centennial in Minnesota next summer.

At the last session of Congress there was a flood of bills seeking to have commemorative half dollars issued. The prior session authorized the mintage of the Hargrave half dollars, and of 5,000,000 half dollars to be struck at the mint at the St. Louis National Banking, which will serve as a monument to the valor of the soldiers of the South. On the Fordney coinage act, General Lee and Jackson, the two leaders of the Confederate forces in the Civil War.

A Flood of Coins
With the 150th anniversary of the great battle of the American Revolution approaching, medals were passed last winter to issue coins commemorating the stand of the minutemen at Lexington and Concord and the battle of the Clouds fought at the Battle of the Clouds in Vermont. Proposals were made to pay tribute in a similar way to the battle of Bull Run, the victory at Yorktown and other events.

American history, such as the 50th anniversary of the founding of Stoughton, Mass., and the 50th anniversary of the admission of California to the Union.

Fearing that the growth of this practice would open the way to counterfeiting and that the price of the mintage of the coins more than offset the profit, Secretary Mellon opposed the issue of these medals. His opposition was not entirely successful in his effort. He insisted that the practice introduced confusion into our system of coinage, brought about an unnecessary expenditure and satisfied a very ill-defined demand because the public really has no desire to collect anything but the commemorative coins.

However, Congress felt that these great events were worthy of commemoration and authorized the issue of all of which are to be sold at a premium so that the promoters of these events might receive funds for their efforts to defray part of the expense thereof. The records of the Treasury show that the special coins, as a general rule, are seldom absorbed in circulation. The Monroe coin issue was a dismal failure—217,000 of the 250,000 struck off were turned back to the Treasury for melting up.—Journal American Bankers Association.

HOME, DAD AND THE BOY

BY FRANK H. CHOLEY

The Conscientious Dad

MAV his little innocent? He is the one Dad in every home who really provides the full responsibility of following a modern American boy.

It is never for constructive suggestions and is kind of help from anywhere.

Each year sees a larger number of such Dads and a corresponding better way of doing it.

It is the man who is constantly seeking the best, physically, mentally, socially and spiritually in order that he may press on to his life.

He knows that how boys live affects the character of their lives; that they unconsciously tend them and they become their fathers; and that they will not have so many lodges at the end of their lives, but that they will have many friends and many friends.

And when the Great Creator comes to write again Dad's chapter, he'll note that daddy signed or lost, but how he played the bag.

An Amazing 15-Minute Test

that will give you a wholly new conception of motor car value

THIS Overland Six is offered on a basis that it will outrun, out-pull and out-accelerate any other car of its size, price or class.

We'll place a car at your disposal. Drive and test it yourself. You choose the road. You pick the hill. You fix the traffic point. You name the rats, the turns, the mud, the sand.

What you'll find will be a revelation. Without any swaying or slipping or wandering... the car fairly hugs the road. You offer a surprising feeling of stable equilibrium—its performance will thrill you to the finger tips.

You surely owe it to yourself to find out what this Overland Six offers before buying any car today.

A new departure in motor car engineering

This car has tremendous power—performance ability never obtainable in any car of this size or price before. Full 40-horsepower is delivered in a straight line from its low-awing engine through to the rear-end shaft. The result is a speed capacity that is positively amazing.

It took 3 years to design and build the Overland Six. And in addition 12 months to test it. We doubt if any car ever built received more careful study from the engineering standpoint.

It embodies the major advantages of 18 of Europe and America's finest motor cars plus many others our own engineering experts developed.

The Overland Six will turn in a forty foot circle. Rear springs are under-slung and 52 inches long. 141 square inches of braking surface provides an ample safety margin.

It has more inside space. More cubic feet than the average car of this full.

The result is ample comfort for 5 full-size passengers... with plenty of room to step in or out... room to stretch your legs with the utmost ease.

The seats are wider, the doors much broader. All features you'll certainly appreciate when you inspect real cars of this price.

Under ordinary production standards this Overland Six Sedan could not be sold within $300 to $400 of its price.

Yet, because of the tremendous purchasing power and production facilities of the great Willys-Overland organization, it now sells for only $535 f.o.b. factory.

To spend more is extravagant. To pay less means a great sacrifice in comfort and performance.

Get the utmost for your money. Ride in this car... test it in comparison to the value others offer. In fairness to yourself come in and see this remarkable automobile; buy no car until you do.

WHAT THE CORN MARKET DID IN 1925

Twenty per cent more corn was produced in 1925 than in 1924, according to the corn survey of the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation. An increased production of 267,000,000 bushels brings the 1925 figure to 2,667,000,000 bushels. This, plus the carry-over of 1924, makes the general marketable 1925 corn crop of 2,934,000,000 bushels the largest in five years. While the corn crop was nearly a failure in the southwest and the average field was lost in almost the entire cotton belt, the corn belt itself, in practically all sections north of the Ohio and Potomac rivers, produced an excellent crop of 4,000,000 bushels.

The large excess production, however, and the fact that there is fewer live stock on the farms and some curtailment in feeding operations, have made corn plentiful and low in price. Prices dropped steadily from the top price in January of $1.22 to 92 cents in November in Chicago. Receipts fluctuated steadily with an upward trend beginning in October.

The United States is the main nation of the world, producing 70 per cent of the entire crop. New uses for corn promise to increase consumption of this grain appreciably. Particularly significant is the manufacture of corn sugar, which is increasing in commercial importance.

PREVENT CHOLERA AMONG SWINE HERD

Approximately 4 per cent of the hogs on farms in the United States died of cholera last year, says the United States Department of Agriculture. In round numbers the loss amounted to 2,200,000 hogs valued at approximately $20,000,000. Cholera strikes each lot more than 100,000 head of hogs often in the house.

While the disease is highly contagious and is difficult to control, the losses have been much higher than they should be, since a preventive serum is available for the most part. Experts. This serum, used before animals get sick, combined with strict sanitation and thorough disinfection after outbreaks, is the most effective known control measure.

Dr. C. E. Lipp, a South Dakota veterinarian, says that although cholera if it has not already been done, all accumulations of corn must be burned. Then remove the manure in fields where the hogs are allowed to feed. Instead, the lots should stand vacant during the winter. Put all yards early in the spring and the hogs now frequently pasture for a time. Sprinkle the yards as soon as they are clean with air-dried lime.

After yards have been cleaned and disinfected, the pens must get similar treatment. Scrape out all manure, feed and dried accumulations with a hoe or spade. Use strong flowers, troughs, walls and partitions with a solution of sleep oil made by adding three tablespoonfuls of oil to each gallon of water. Use a spray pump if possible because it drives the disinfectant into the cracks and corners. Repeat the process of cleaning intervals, allowing free circulation of air and plenty of sunshine. After completing the disinfecting of the interior of the house should be thoroughly whitewashed.

Such a cleaning is not expensive and does reduce the mortality of cholera next year. Even though no disease has been present on the place for the past season such a process is well worth while.

Essential Fall Factors for Success With Pigs

A special effort should be made at this season to keep the fall litterers clean and healthy. The sows and pigs should be furnished with shelter from the cold winds and the cold night. Experience has shown purchased breeders that they cannot rely on the temperate winters and that shelter will prevent pneumonia, bad colic and general ill-health. A moderate quantity of straw or leaves should be used for bedding—not so much that the pigs will not be able to get out of the pigs' way.

When the pigs are old enough to eat feed them in a creep. A little solid corn or silage makes a good feed to start them on. Extra feed pays at this time, the animal husbandry at Clemson college say, because the pigs are making a cheap gain and will be in good condition for weaning. Forage can be supplied at this time by rye and rape. It is especially desirable to have enough forage to carry the sows and pigs until freezing weather. If forage is not available, a more liberal use of a good protein supplement is necessary at this time because the hogs are depending upon the feeding of their supply.

Don't feed live. A little time and trouble will rid the house and hogs of these parasites. Cruds oil or a good contact dip will result.

Sows After Farrowing

The sows should be made to take some exercise and should be fed a minimal ration consisting of 40 per cent linseed, 40 per cent homestead or similar material, and 20 per cent common salt. To this may be added 25 to 30 per cent of a mixture of potassium iodide for every 100 pounds of the other ingredients.

Live Stock Hints

A horse eats nearly five tons a year. If his head is left free, a horse that stumbles is less likely to fall.
To make a horse lift his foot, pinch the wart just above the knee.
There appears to be no economy in trying to raise pigs without grain.
Extra time spent with sows when due to farrow will pay big wages. Put in part of the night in the hog barn when necessary.
Lien should never be permitted to remain on the hog any longer than their interest is known.
Under winter conditions fat meat is worth relatively little in comparison with lard. When the pigs are on pasture, however, it has a relatively higher value for the young pigs than for well-grown sows.

Winning and Holding Good Will

There is no more enthusiastic group of motor car owners in America than the tens of thousands of owners of the Oakland Six. The reason they are enthusiastic is simply that this car does everything they call upon it to do, better than any other they have ever owned. Brilliant speed—flashing acceleration—unmatched smoothness—rugged trim—these are built-in Oakland Six characteristics.

In addition, the car offers every advanced feature, including Body by Fisher, air cleaner, oil filter, full pressure oiling, interchangeable bronze-backed bearings, Four-Wheel Brakes and the Harmonic Balancer—all at prices ranging from $1025 to $1295.

By sheer surplus value, the Oakland Six is winning and holding the good will of all who buy it.
