FIRE THREATENS LIVES AT ARSENAL

Blast Toll Set at Eight As Rescuers Continue; Twenty-Three Missing

Arsenal Area Devastated Following Saturday's Disaster; Shells, Fired by Flames, Delay Work of Relief Crews; Naval Secretary Present.

DOVER, N. J., July 12.—Fire started in another magazine at the Lake Denmark arsenal this afternoon, after it had been believed there was no danger of further destruction. Rear Admiral Plunkett informed newspaper men.

He said that there are 20 unexploded magazines left at the arsenal, a survey had shown. They contain shells, most of which, he said, are loaded.

And scenes which revealed those of the European war zone, the army and navy set about the task of finding the dead and missing from the Lake Denmark, N. J., naval arsenal explosion.

A combated force of soldiers, sailors and marines, was organized to penetrate the area where the arsenal stood and to survey the ruins in an effort to determine how many bodies might be entombed there.

The first patrol entered the danger zone for a preliminary survey soon after 7:30 a. m.

It was estimated that the damage, the result of a single bolt of lightning, has been officially estimated at about $35,000,000—$10,000 to the Lake Denmark navy sector and $50,000,000 to the Pittsfield army arsenal which lies a half mile from a valley over which burning shells were carried by high winds.

Navy daret to penetrate the navy reservation from which huge shells whirled through the air and burst with showers of shrapnel until this morning. Fire, which followed the first explosion, still burns, heating and touching off the immensurable shells and powder stores. Not until navy and army officers are convinced that the last explosion has taken place and the explosives are inert will the details be sent into the area to search for the dead and any who may have lived through the inferno.

Chicago Scene of Further Shooting as Gangsters Stago Robber; One Is Arrested.

CHICAGO, July 12.—Gangster claimed three more lives in Chicago's west side ballparks early today and one of the gangster, Thomas McWain of Muskegon, Mich., has confessed his part in the killings.

McWain was arrested on suspicion as he drove an automobile away from the scene of the shootings. He was alone at the time but paid his companions, whom he knew only as "Ed" and "Tom" and who had met only recently, die in shooting.

According to McWain's explanation of the killings, he and "Ed" held up Louis Rocco, a taxicab chauffeur, and shot him to death and drove away in his automobile, they came upon Mrs. Marie Blaine, 23, and her fiance, Fred Hahn, 25, who were standing in front of the girl's home. In attempting to rob the couple, Hahn's resistance angered them and "Ed" shot both of them.

Authorities are holding McWain of his confession and are looking for "Ed" and "Tom."

EXPLOSION IS INVESTIGATED BY NAVAL MEN

Inquiry Into Cause of Blast May Shed Light on Responsibility.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—A navy "survey" was under way today at Dover, N. J., to determine to what extent an "act of God" was responsible for the tragedy of the ammunition depot explosion there, and to what degree human fallibility entered into it.

The great depot, spread over 60 acres, within striking distance of the naval base of New York, was the most important great such a facility both in the lightning storm of Saturday night.

Its storage house and subterranean chambers were designed to avoid explosion and to prevent their spread. If one shell went up, but in spite of all human precautions a large part of the $300,000 plant with its $10,000,000 worth of explosives exploded.

There had been little time for investigation as to cause of the disaster, but the most common explanation was that the first explosion had been an unexpectedly huge that fractured fragments of fire detonated a neighboring storage house which in turn kindled others.

Robert Simpson, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Simpson of 228 Ninth avenue north, died early Sunday in a hospital in Colorado Springs, as a result of injuries received in an auto accident on the streets of that city late Saturday afternoon.

He did not recover from the congestive heart failure he had last Sunday, his son, Sinclair Weeks, said in making the announcement.

A late statement issued from the summer home had disclosed the fact that Mr. Weeks' illness was due to an attack in the brain addition to the heart condition.

The father was secretary of the United States War Department from 1901 to 1905. He was also secretary of the United States War Department from 1905 to 1909.

Mr. Weeks was born in Lancaster, N. H., in 1842. He was a member of the United States House of Representatives from 1873 to 1875.

Weeks survived at his summer home here last month, hoping that the change of climate might restore his fast falling health.

His career in the republican convention of 1914 he was elected to Charles Evans Hughes as chief for republican presidential nominee.

Weeks was born in Lancaster, N. H., April 11, 1840. When aged 17 he was admitted to the bar at Lancaster, and later went to the Naval Academy at Annapolis from which he graduated in 1861, and for two years served in the navy.

For the next six years he was land commissioner for the Florida Southern railroad. In 1865 he married Mrs. Martha S. Weeks. Two children were born to them—Charles Weeks and Katherine, now Mrs. J. W. Davis.

Drop Three to Idaho Falls Outfit; Zamloch Beaten, 7-4; Bowers in Bad Luck.

Having been roundly trounced by the Spauls at Idaho Falls, Hill Leard's game stopped out to retrieve some of the games just here in the recent series, the Bruins arrived here to nurse their hurts shortly after noon today.

They are to open a three-game series with the Ogden team on Monday morning afternoon.

Manager Zamloch fought an up-hill battle yesterday when he took the mound himself in an effort to avenge the unfortunate defeat of Bowers on Saturday afternoon. But the Idaho Falls avastmen just had one of those days when they hit anything and everything, and Hill Leard's team was no exception.

In Saturday's game, Ogdens had been out-let under his belt until the last half of the ninth inning, when it wrisled out and Hill Leard sprang it. Ogdens was partially responsible for acting himself out on in this game when a wild throw in the ninth led to the winning run.

However, the hit factor was not all that bright and said it in the game.

Rosenberg's hand is well on the road to recovery and with the club once more returning to the hitting strick, it is expected that Ogden will be in for some tough going during the coming series.

The Browns worked a triple steal with Walter Johnson in the box, but the Senators won, 8 to 3.

The Cards defeated the Braves, 7 to 2, in the first game of a double header, but lost the subsequent 12 to 2.

Grimes bested Blake in a pitching duel, the Robins beating the Cubs, 2 to 1.

The Indians evaded the verbal by winning from the Yankees, 8 to 5.

The completion of the Idaho Falls series marks the halfway point in the playing of the Utah-Idaho league schedule.

All things considered, our Bruins haven't done so miserably even though they have been in a slump for the past four games.

It is to be hoped that the boys will return to their early season hitting form and, once they do, a lot of shiners will have a strong chance for our fall club.

Leode Becker, according to league figures, has retraced to the top of the league list and leads Tait of Pocatello by one point.

Manager Zamloch has (been) worried, suffice it to say that Zam has a way of making things appear Sappors or W. Scott Hill to make the race according to present rumors. Hill announced today that he had left the republican party and would work with progressives.

Announces as Democrat. Former Senator Nugent announced as a democrat, saying that he had been a progressive democrat in Idaho. In the senate and on the federal trade commission and would run on his record as such. He said that he had Gooding in 1918. Gooding had been in 1920 and he had returned to "play out the rubber." Senator Nugent was appointed by Governor Alexander to temporarily hold the Senate seat in 1913. He was later nominated and elected that year, to fill vacancy. In 1920 he was beaten by Gooding by 12,000 majority but points to the fact that he ran more than 20,000 ahead of the junior senator.

FRANK B. GOODING.

Commission had expired early in 1924 and the republican senators expected to hold up confirmation of any progressive democrat. President Wilson might appoint him after the inauguration of President Harding. The packers and other interests which had Wilson were especially anxious that they should be done. The president knew that senatorial courtesy was strong, and he expected Nugent to bid before his term expired. To get let Gooding in a month or so earlier than would otherwise have been the case. Increased the probability, made by one, at a time when R. R. is a no-difference outcome, and made it necessary for the senate to either confirm the appointment or break its own rule of courtesy. Nugent was confident that the consent of the commission was required by democratic rule about two years ago, when in the course of ratifying the republican pact control and that the publicity of evidence which had previously always prevailed.

Gooding is bitter. Despite the fact that Gooding has many enemies in his own party, who he thought he if nominated and who are fighting his nomination, the junior senator is getting ready for the battle with the republicans. He has always characterized his title loss in the republican camp as a divided house. John Peterson, former attorney general, and Captain A. H. Connor, great attorney general, if united they might win. Six years ago Gooding might have been defeated at Potomac and had not been real fighting qualities. He had them, went out and was awarded the senate by the Harding landslide. His victory in the convention appears to depend this year on the division of his own party's vote and the character of their campaign.

WAREHOUSE MEETING TODAY

Warehousemen from nearly a dozen Idaho cities and towns are discussing the demands of state and federal law at a meeting called at the clubhouse and Professional Warehouse Club today afternoon by Commissioner W. H. Kitchens, who presided. H. L. Shugler is also present from Boise. There was discussion of a plan regarding the necessity for supervisory records of special dealers. This industry opposes the issue of shipping proceeds to central warehouses when taking an outstanding receipt. The question of having warehouse receipts on industry filed outside the warehouses was up at present. Commissioners Kitchens said he would appoint a committee to report recommendations on these warehouses.

Later another man, who proved to be Bunn, was brought in or came in and took the other cot. Some time thereafter Thompson came in and found Bunn, who was then conscious, and said he was sick. The man pulled his face and gave him a drink of water. Burns took up a six o'clock and Thompson slept until nearly noon. When he got up he saw that there was something wrong with Bunn and reported.
