

Crippled by Bad Knee, Evangelist Hobbies to Court

AIMEE SOUNDS DEFIANT NOTE

Claims She Will Prove Who Real Conspirators Are.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 20.—Aristocrat of her physician and fishing delirium of her nervous, Aimee Noble McPherson limped into court today to hear the testimony of her own way.

"I will not be down now," declared the militant revivalist, as she hobbled into the court room supported by special attendants. "It is my turn to prove who are the real conspirators in this case and I want the proceedings to carry on."

A trained nurse-attendant, Mrs. MacPherson also, and if she showed signs of weakening her attorney, W. I. Gilbert, planned to request a continuance of the hearing. She contended she is suffering from an infected knee result of a pin puncture which she claims was intentionally perpetrated by one of her enemies.

"The evangelist believes that she has witnesses to prove that her kidnapping story, as told to 'Reddy' Jones, is no false claim," she said.

Charles B. Cross, lawyer and press officer of Douglas, Ariz., was the first of a number of witnesses from the border country where Mrs. McPherson made her reconnaissance last June, to take the stand in defense of the evangelist.

Reed Takes Up Probe of Political Scandal, Calls Chairmen of Committees

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Senator James A. Reed, empowered by the United States senate to expose corrupt practices and excessive expenditures in the nomination and election of senators, today took up the political scandal that has developed in Indiana.

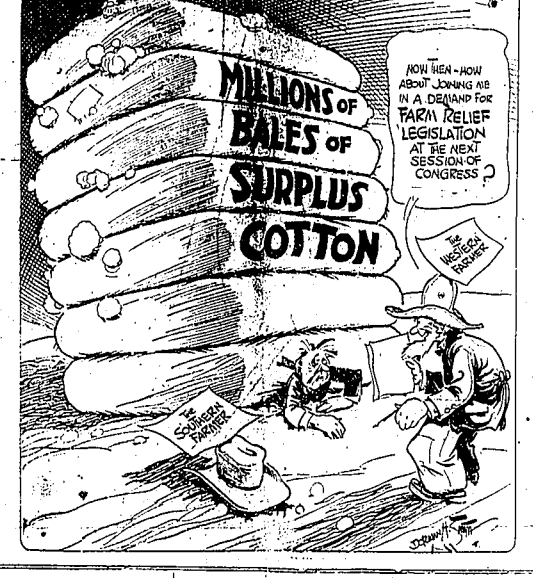

Reed called before his one man inquiry the chairman of the state committees of both major parties in Indiana.

The senate resolution under which Reed has investigated politics in Indiana and Pennsylvania, specifies that he may only in those states where he is directly on the opposing of United States senators. But in Illinois the senate committee chairman said he had the right to investigate Chicago's local methods and there is little doubt that he can do the same for Indiana.

"That would lead him into the details of the Hooper scandal which has grown out of charges by Thomas Adams, prominent republican editor, that the K. K. K. is in the power behind the scenes in the state government," Adams told Reed in a telegram that he had documents to prove that D. C. Stephenson, former head of the Indiana Klan, had sold contracts to many high officials giving him virtual control of the state.

"The K. K. K. in Indiana," witnesses on today's program were of a low level over from Illinois, Reed said he would call the witnesses in the order of their availability, regardless of which state they happened to represent.

Queen Marie Enjoys Gala Day Events

SOMMERVILLE, N. J., Oct. 20.—The queen of the nation, Marie of Romania, arrived today to the grand which for four years has held the body of one of the nation's heroes.

The lady of Mrs. Eleanor Mills, who was shot to death and her third son while she was keeping a tryst with the Rev. Edward W. Hall near New Brunswick, N. J., when both were slain, will be examined for clues.

The exact purpose of the examination was not made clear. Reports that the body of Hall, who was buried in Brooklyn, also will be exhumed, were not confirmed.

Alexander Simpson, special prosecutor, also expected to inspect the body of the woman who had figured largely in the case, as a material witness.

Today's developments were the latest moves in preparation for the trial of Mrs. Frances Stevens Wall, the clergyman's widow, and her brothers, Howard and Willie Stevens, who will go on trial in less than two weeks charged with the double murder.

Shows No Sign of Fatigue from Visits to Various Places of Historic Interest in This Country.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Marie, Roumania's queen, journeyed today to quiet Annapolis on the Severn and to Baltimore, rich in the hospitality of the South.

Closing her day as the nation's official guest, and turning back to the role of "private individual" the sparkling Rumanian sovereign revealed in the prospect of reviewing America's milestones at Annapolis and in visiting for a few hours the city of Baltimore.

Prince Nicholas, was even more enthusiastic. The prince is himself a naval officer and has seen three years service in Britain's navy.

The queen was astir early in her occupation. Generally she rises at her own clock and has least one-a-morning of her-a-morning breathing. Then she goes to a few lines.

The state department, in charge of her tours as national guest, had its routine day ready to start at 9 a. m. with Annapolis the first stop.

The queen showed an abiding interest in the city's war memorial and then to the town hall back to the "magnificent-martinez point of the awning balcony" which will take her as far as the Pacific coast.

A new history of the queen's national trip was expected today, published by the state department, which was held and a state dinner at the White House last night.

If the day was trying, it was more laborious than physical. There were moments yesterday when the queen seemed to her reluctance to show a trace of fatigue if indeed a queen permit herself such a feeling.

The royal party's schedule called for only a brief stay in Annapolis—only a few minutes, a parade of the Naval Academy and a parade of middle. "Then the party was to go to Baltimore for luncheon, a visit to the city's war memorial and then to the town hall back to the 'magnificent-martinez point of the awning balcony' which will take her as far as the Pacific coast."

Impounding of Waters in Big Reservoir Soon to Begin.

AMERICAN FALLS, Idaho, Oct. 20.—Impounding of water in the American Falls reservoir is to be begun within a few days. Removal of the water from the west end of the dam proper is all that stands in the way of starting the gates, and this will be completed very shortly.

For the last three weeks the Utah Construction company has had a force of men at work taking out the center dam and the tank is almost completed. Everything will then be in readiness to start the storage of water, and a number of the gates will be closed.

When they are lowered into place, American Falls will witness the partial submergence of an outlet to which it has been striving for more than a decade, and thousands of water

PEARL DIVERS HAVE ODD ADVENTURES; ONE FINDS HELMET CONTAINING SKULL

SYDNEY, Oct. 20.—In the pearl-diving grounds of Broome, on the northwestern coast of Western Australia, a diver met with many queer adventures. But none was more queer than that which befell Diver Jim Douglas.

Douglas was down a hole to get the gun-proving found for good pearl shells, and the man tending the dynamite line on the lugger above him kept on paying out slack each time he hauled down the net to which he had been striving for more than a decade, and thousands of water top of the water. The whole had become entangled in the diver's line and had towed him for a mile. When the whole slack himself free from the line, Douglas was pulled to the surface. "When I was up," Douglas reported, "I had a bullet in my back. I was holding the helmet and I was on the surface with dilated eyes, and I was shouting 'Freeing through the glass, at the helmet his eyes had had the glacial stare of a skull. The diver's dress had become the coffin for some forlorn diver."

DRY AGENTS IN CHICAGO STRIKE AT BOOTLEGGERS

Administrator Hires a Paid Espionage Corps to Meet Needs.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Cook county bootlegging business, characterized by the use of the "barrel" in the country, ran against a new type of legal snare today and so far is rather puzzled by it.

The new snare is a paid espionage corps, hired by Prohibition Administrator C. E. Vothway, the first ever to employ the tactic.

The espionage system is the result of a new federal rule, which allows the prohibition department to employ spies at the rate of $2 per day to report with the liquor situation.

A great deal of mystery surrounded the method used in picking the informers today. It is said in reliable places that Director Vothway now includes on his staff numerous trained detectives, paid spies and master readers, and warehouse rousters at $20 per week. These warrants have no precedents and are in fact the first of their kind in prohibition headquarters.

Already the new system has produced great results, Vothway said. Here is the combined effort taken as the result of $15 expended to the informant yesterday.

Two cars of pure grain alcohol, valued at $10,000, were tracked through his stills, 130 barrels of mash; and 40 sacks of sugar.

In order to establish authorities said, the government has made no appropriation for paying private informers in the prohibition department. The present system was held up until by local officers.

Hall-Mills Case Turns To Grave for Solution

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—A tropical hurricane now of the Caribbean sea and which has been ordered to hold back the Gulf of Mexico through the Yucatan channel, struck out across Cuba yesterday. It was about 225 miles south of Havana today and is expected to strike in 24 hours. At the same rate, 12 hours more from ten o'clock, it will be in the southern tip of Florida.

Weather experts said the storm appeared not to be of such with extent as the Florida hurricanes of six weeks ago, although it apparently is nearly as intense.

The weather bureau ordered hurricane warnings held at 10 a. m. from Boca Grande and Punta Cera in Cuba to West Palm Beach, Fla., and from Miami to Tampa and St. Petersburg. In Florida, hurricanes of six weeks ago were killed in a similar hurricane at Titusville.

Northeast storm warnings were ordered from Boca Grande up the west coast of Florida to Tampa and on the east coast from West Palm Beach to Titusville.

"Sixty-four winds will increase and reach hurricane force late this afternoon on tonight or tomorrow," said the Florida bureau today.

DOCTORS AND BOARD BOTH STANDING PAT

Physicians Seem Inclined to Pledge Usual Course Regarding Administration of Anesthetics May Get Into Court in Case of Overly Messy Bill.

It will probably take a court decision to determine whether the intangible body, though not removable body, the present board of county commissioners, will be able to withstand the irresistible force of doctors, the matter of the anesthetist, so far as can be heard, the doctors are firm in their determination to engage whomever they please, while the board by its last motion seems to have accepted an ultimatum, if few doctors are complying with the law.

In the event that the board should seek to exploit the use of another anesthetist than the nurse selected by the county, this would throw the matter into the courts. On the other hand should the board attempt to cancel the right of a doctor to operate without using, or at least paying the county nurse, there is a general belief that immediate proceedings would be required to.

So far as can be learned the doctors expect to present a demand. A physician who has taken no active part in the controversy and is a Times reporter regarding the subject is saying some interesting things. It makes little difference, but I think the board is wrong. Here is the point, suppose a doctor is used to having some particular person, say another physician, administer the anesthetic, the employment of another may interfere with his work, whether or not it is known exactly what to count on, even though the use of another anesthetist should prove to be efficient.

WOMEN SHOULD CAST BALLOTS IT IS URGED

Initiation to Attend Reception for Women Candidates Tomorrow Evening is Commanded; Business and Professional Women's Club Has Good Feeling.

Women were urged to register and vote their convictions by representatives of both the democratic and republican parties at a meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club yesterday. Last evening the board the first of a series of book reviews and had an entertaining program.

Miss Ada Wallington, democratic vice-chairman, invited the club members to a meeting and reception tomorrow evening at the hospital luncheon for the three candidates on the democratic ticket for state offices, on the ground that this would be showing courtesy to women and interest in women's affairs. Miss Gladys Tortosa, republican candidate, warmly commended the idea and said that women should take an interest in anything which would create thought and actively along political lines. She said that the idea of a good citizen was to vote Mrs. S. Harmon, of Chicago, and Miss Irena Hillard of Palisades, Calif., were guests at the noon luncheon.

The review of the book, "Bondage," by Gibbs, was given by Miss Geneva Lewis last evening and was much appreciated. Miss Tortosa received a great deal of applause for reading extracts from funny correspondence.

REGISTRATION TO END SATURDAY IN REPUBLICANS' EMBL

Workers of all parties are active in the campaign for registration, which closes Saturday. The fact that there was such a contest in the republican primary got most of that party's voters on the list, while the small registration of the democrats and still smaller registration of the progressives was due to the fact that there was no contest in their party either for officers or delegates. Closing a week earlier than usual has under these circumstances given a great advantage to the republicans. Appointments are being made to all demomats and progressives to see their party friends and get them on the list.
